Northern Sunday School Off to a Good Start

On Monday evening, in spite of the unreasonable weather, the ball was well filled by the students of the Northern Summer School. Others who were there to hear Mr. Carter, M. P. P. of Guelph, and Mr. Thurlow Fraser, of Owen Sound, who is President of the School, the W. W. Prudham, announced that attendance was slightly in excess of that of last year. The visitors were welcomed by the Mayor and the Rev. Mr. S. Carter, who was the first speaker. The Rev. Mr. Carter, although born in England, considers it a great privilege to be in Canada, and there is no place in Canada where it is better to be than in Ontario. The points emphasized were:

- 1 Righteousness covers the earth.
- 2 We are all equal.
- 3 The ballot is a sacred thing.
- 4 Morals are first.
- 5 Health must be preserved.
- 6 Education is a primary importance.
- 7 The pensions of the soldiers should be higher, as they are equal to the officers.
- 8 Monopolies must be killed.

REV. DR. JASPER

Dr. Thurlow Fraser Owen Sound, who had at one time been a missionary in Formosa, and who was a Chaplain at the front, gave a most excellent address. It was interesting from the fact to finish, and those who went well repaid in hearing him describe the conditions in the Western front.

Dr. Fraser stated that the always at home among the young people, but with his living about in Formosa, and after the soldiers' denominational differences disappear in the back ground.

To-day, July 1st, was our birth day as a nation. Our country confessed that it is 51 years old, and great changes have come over Canada during these years. Here was a day when Canada was little regarded by the United States when we had not much faith in our own destiny. The Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, passed a motion in 1894 approving of annexation to the United States, and the London Times stated that it would be better to give Canada her freedom or to allow her to throw in her lot with the United States. Why? Because in the past we did not believe in the future of Canada.

Canada has become known through the war. In Formosa a Japanese General had told him that the Western nations did not judge Japan as great in peace, but as great in war, and it was true that Canada had obtained a world recognition on the field of South Africa, and now upon the fields of Flanders. He liked the country of his birth. He had been over Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and in his mind one of the provinces best Ontario. Here we have no caste, nor class, and the men who stand at the head of affairs have nearly all been born poor.

The remainder of Dr. Fraser's address was about the war as he saw it, and he saw a good deal of it. He described conditions in the dressing rooms, where the mud has to be scraped off the wounded before their wounds can be dressed, how the Chaplains bury the dead at night, as it is not safe to do this work during the day. In one dug out he had heard the discussion "Had Christianity failed?" He maintained that the soldiers have a use for religion, that they appreciate the common things of religion, that they believe in a man being right and doing right. The only thing they care for is the truth. To them outward forms are nothing. These men are there dying for ideals. They have yielded to obedience and hardship and have come to their careers.

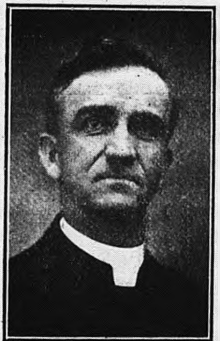

Dr. Fraser stated most emphatically that the most independent men in Canada will be the returned soldiers, who will have no regard whatever for the old watch words. Perhaps in all his address there was nothing better than his closing remarks that in Canada we have two nationalities, French and British, two religions, Catholic and Protestant, and both are here to stay, and it is for us to act fairly and squarely toward the French and the Catholics. The Misses Atkey, Owen Sound, favored the audience with vocal selections and in the audience were many from the surrounding country, from Purple Valley on one side to Park Road on the other.

Men Who Lecture at the N.S.S.

REV. F. W. HOLLINRAKE, B.D., formerly of Westside Church, Owen Sound, now the popular pastor of Barton St., Hamilton, leads the hour on a Study of Life Problems at the Northern Summer School. He is an inspirational leader with considerable Summer School experience. He is being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gilpin.

REV. E. S. MOYER is Treasurer of the Summer School and a Lecturer of a Mission Study Class in Canadian Problems. Mr. Moyer is just completing a successful pastorate at Durham and is moving to Ridgeway.

REV. A. P. QUENTIN is a Kitchener boy who has spent many years in successful missionary work in China. His experience in dealing with the rebels of the last few years shows remarkable statesmanship. Mr. Quentin is expected to speak on Wednesday evening.

Services of Norm Hoover Appreciated

Witley Camp, Surrey
May 27, 1918
To: Mrs. Margaret Hoover,
Warton, Ontario
Dear Mrs. Hoover—I am enclosing herewith for your information a copy of a letter written unofficially, and which has given me great pleasure to give to your Norman on his transfer to the 38th Reserve Battalion on the 28th inst.

I want you to know how fully I appreciate the magnificent support your son has given me during the entire time we have been together. In fact, any success which may be attributed to me in connection with the Bruce Battalion is entirely due to the splendid boys who have rendered such efficient service at all times.

Your son's work and conduct has merited my highest admiration and my sincere wish is that I may always be classed as one of his friends. With kindest personal regards,
Yours very sincerely,
A. McLEAN MOFFAT, Major
Witley Camp, Surrey
May 27th 1918

To: 651085 Sergt. N. E. Hoover, Late 160th Canadian Infantry Bn.
Upon your transfer to the 18th Reserve Battalion I desire that you carry with you an expression of appreciation from me in writing of the splendid work you have done in the Quarter-master's stores of the Bruce Battalion and for the past nineteen months as N. C. O. in charge of accounts. Your work has always been satisfactory and of such high order as to repeatedly call forth compliments from the Local Audit Office.

The 160th Battalion very properly had the reputation of maintaining a high degree of efficiency as regards the interior economy and as pertains to the general comfort and welfare of men. A great portion of this is due to the faithful and painstaking assistance you have given me at all times. The items of economy which have been effected due to your efforts are too numerous to mention and I can only add that in twenty two years military experience in two Armies, I have never received more conscientious support.

I hope that Good Luck will follow you in your Unit and that you will be given rapid promotion which you so manifestly deserve.

I hope that upon our return to Canada that we will again be able to work harmoniously on the big scheme which is of mutual interest to us. Wishing you the very best of luck and a safe return to Canada.

A. McLEAN MOFFAT, Major
Late O. C., 160th Canadian Infantry Battalion

Interesting Letter from a Returned Soldier

Lone Spruce, Sask.,
June 20th, 1918
Dear Sir:—I have had the pleasure of reading your paper from time to time, and in the latest one that I have secured, I notice an article by Major Moffat regarding soldier's land settlement, especially for Bruce boys, and being a native, so to speak, of that particular part of Canada, I was duly interested. If you would like a further insight into this scheme I would be only too willing to do what I can.

First let me say I am not a stay-at-home. I have seen some of the actual game and left Ypres two years ago. When I read this article it made me think of a debate we had in the G. W. V. A. in Winnipeg on the very same subject last winter. The result was the boys turned it down flat.

1st. Can you get a settlement of independent workers like Canadians to be satisfied with those conditions? 2nd. Does this not tend to dull individual ambition? 3rd. Are you sure you have a settlement leader capable of handling the project? If you are going to pool everything you need a Head Settlement, Book-keeping Office and Clerks, a Treasurer, a Bard of Trade, a co-operative handling of all in coming and outgoing business, in fact it would mean committee and sub-committee in one long line, then get it systemized, you say. My advice is, go easy on that for the first few years with men coming out from under the strain of taut nerves and long terms in hospital.

Place yourself in his place, would you like to come back from army discipline to a settlement where you had only so much to say in what you could do? In fact from needful discipline to needless!

If you wish to help as I'm sure you do, why not get behind us, or if you have something big enough, it won't stay down, and I as one, will vouch for my comrades that we will give it hearty support.

For any information write Sec. G. W. V. A. Winnipeg, Man. and you will be assured of the latest developments in regard to soldier settlement in the Western Provinces.

Wishing the boys of my old county an old time "good luck", I am
Yours Truly,
W. A. WYBORN

What the Boys Call Good Interesting Letter from T. Johnston

France, May 29 1918
Dear Mother:—Just a few lines to let you know I am well and hope you are recovering from your accident, and will soon be able to write, for I certainly miss your letters.

We haven't any planes now for fishing on the 24th of May, it rained all day and we carried on as usual. But the 25th we had a big day behind the lines. Old Fritz opened up in the morning and shelled us out of our billets, and in the afternoon there were brigade sports, baseball, football, etc., and a race between an observation balloon and an aeroplane, the latter winning by three burlesque. We had church service on Mothers Day. We don't have the opportunity of attending Divine Service over here every Sunday and we all enjoyed it. The service was held in the wing of what once was a grand chateau, the walls are battered, the windows and doors are gone, but nevertheless it served its purpose as a chapel. A table made of boxes served as an altar, two eighteen pound brass shells polished up and filled with spring flowers, and a little old piano dug up from Somewhere in France, the old place a very decent appearance. Church service is held over here whenever and wherever the opportunity affords. We were going out one Sunday morning on a working party, and as we were walking along we heard the strains of an old familiar hymn coming from a barn. They were holding church service there and I compared it with some of the grand churches in the cities and wondered which body of worshippers were drawn closest together.

Saw a great air fight a short while ago. Three of our planes went after nine of Heinie's, brought two down and sent the rest home talking to themselves. A few years ago we thought it a great sight to see an aeroplane go up and marvelled at the nerve of the man who went up in it, but it sure takes a good steady nerve over here where they have anti-aircraft gunners' guns, machine guns and enemy battle planes to contend with, but our fellows have it, they are like hard boiled eggs, you can't beat 'em.

We were going out on a working party one day as we were walking along a main road we came to a trail with a sign board which read: "Horse transports and Infantry leave this road here." The road is still there. It was awfully muddy and when we got to the job an officer came along and asked if we were the party who had been sent out to fix the road. When the sergeant in charge told him we were the party he said we had better get busy and get the job done as a wagon had gone down with all hands on board, a short distance up the road.

The people of Bruce County have certainly got to take their hats off to Major Moffat for what he has done for the Bruce Battalion. He is the daddy of the Battalion and always was looking after the welfare of the boys, and it was due to his efforts that we had many comforts which other battalions did not enjoy. We were sorry to lose him when the battalion was broken up, and although we knew that his interest in the boys from the old country would never be, yet we did not expect he could keep on working for our interests—but we found he had not come to the end of his resources. We were not gone long before he got busy on a farming community scheme for those who return, and if the boys take hold, as I expect they will, it will be the finest thing that ever happened a few days ago. Was at a swell banquet a few days ago. Amy Spicer, Dan Loney, John Molloy and "Friday" Hetherington are bivouacking in the woods and they sent me an invitation by despatch rider, to come out and lunch with them. We had canned sausage and potatoes, of course we had neither salt nor pepper, brown gravy nor dairy butter to put on them but they were good, then came rice and custard. They had bought a quart of skimmed milk from an old French lady and with a dash of syrup to sweeten things up, we had a fine meal. If we had some of the things we didn't miss much for when we were at home we could make good use of them. "Friday" is the chef and his store is made from an old petrol can with a hole cut in one end and some tin rolled up for stove pipes, but he can cook anything from custard pudding to roast pheasant. Am going to try and get him a job in one of the big hotels in Ottawa or Clavering when we get back. I like to hear a person speak the truth, but when you are sleeping on the hard ground where the big guns disturb your slumbers, and a couple of guys start playing the truth on a mandolin and banjo, "There is no place like home" it is cruel.

Near the cross-roads in a fine looking farming district near here, there once stood a pretty little church with a neatly kept cemetery, where in peace time the peasants would congregate for worship. To-day the church is a pile of ruins, tomb stones are ruined, and fancy iron railings are nothing but a mass of metal. The ground around is torn up in mounds and shell holes and there amidst all this desolation and destruction in a little corner of the cemetery, are two newly made graves with wooden crosses marking the last resting place of two fallen heroes. On the roadside near the church stands a crucifix bearing the image of the greatest soldier the world will ever know, and there is not a rock upon it, not even a thorn in his last earthly crown is broken. How it withstood the hurricane of shells that must have been bursting around it is one of the mysteries of this great war.

I have had a lot of close shaves since I came over here but they always take place on inspection day. A guy came up to me the other day and asked me where he had seen my face before. I told him right on the front of my head where I had always kept it.

A soldier is the worst grocer on earth, he is always ready to kick, and whether he has reason to or not. I have seen us coming out on a wet night, or at least early in the morning and have to wait half an hour for a train. Then the grocer would be in because the train was late, because it was wet and cold, and about everything in general. Presently a long would come the narrow gauge train, with its little gasoline engine and miniature coal cars, everyone piles in, the train starts, and up go the spirits of the men. Someone starts a song, they all join in and a few minutes they have forgotten there is a steady drizzling rain coming down and they are wet to the skin, their minds are all on the hot breakfast and warm feather beds waiting for them back at the billets. It takes little to start them groaning and little to get them in good spirits.

Well, I will have to close now, but a lot on my hands this afternoon, but soap and water will take it off. Love to all

Mrs. T. Dove and baby spent last week visiting relatives in the village. A very enjoyable time was spent at the Public School picnic last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Howard Baldwin is attending the Summer School in Wiarton this week.

Mrs. Charles Gray left for the West this week intending to make her home there. These Western farmers seem to admire our Eastern young ladies for housekeepers.

Miss Alice Taylor, teacher of the Public School, for the last term, is spending her holidays with her parents in Warton.

We are pleased that Rev. W. A. Matthews is to remain as Pastor for another year on the Colpoys Bay and Oxenden circuit.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Another of Walkerton's heroic boys who have done their part so well on the firing line, arrived home last week in the person of Lance-Corporal Wilfrid McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKay. It was known that Wilfrid had been wounded, but it was not until the train he was coming on and he slipped in, quietly on the Friday morning train, giving the family a nice surprise. It was near four on May 11th, 1917 that Wilfrid received wounds that confined him to hospital nearly ever since that time. He received a bullet in the right arm and another in the face. Both wounds have completely recovered but nervous trouble in his left leg has completely deprived him of the services of that limb for the present at least, and he gets around with the use of crutches. On the 15th of May he was sent to the Convalescent Home, where it is hoped that medical treatment may restore him to the use of the limb.

Although whitefish and trout from Lake Huron are selling in Toronto and Hamilton at 15 cents a pound, yet Walkerton which is close to Southampton, has to pay 20 cents per pound over the counter for such fish. The Food Control Board has, we understand, been appalled to, and in the course of a few days it is hoped that arrangements will be made so that fresh water fish, such as white fish and trout, can be laid down here cheap enough to warrant the dealers in selling it to the consumer at the Government-fixed price of 15 cents per pound.

Mayor Johnston and Coun. Liptrap, who paid a visit to Toronto last week to see the hydro people, are not talking for publication but express themselves pleased with the visit. They are satisfied that the Hydro Commission is doing a good job.

The Mayor and Fire and Light Committees are meeting the President of the local power company this week to arrange for a temporary continuation of the street-lighting service.

Mr. Robert Roy, who recently returned from the S. O. at the front, in a letter to his wife, Mrs. J. H. Roy, at K. C. O., on Monday, states that he has been promoted from a company commander to the command of his battalion, the 9th Canadian Engineers.

The rank of Lieut.-Col. will be conferred upon him as a result of this promotion. His successive rise on the promotion list for his leadership in the colony has been a rather steady performance.

It is an immense advantage to understand that a person that is not a poet, or that there is a very genuine in young girls and in persons who are overworked or consumed within doors. It makes the approach in a steadily a manner that it is often well developed before its presence is recognized.

"I feel that in time there is a special use of a time medicine which increases the number of red blood corpuscles thus enabling the blood to carry the life giving oxygen to all the tissues of a body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not disappointed—success in the treatment of this stubborn disease because of this wonderful property. The solution is simple—take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as directed by the directions on the several bottles. With a doctor, treatment will be successful. I can now say it is possible to cure the blood and give the system a new life. My blood needed to have a new turn of activity. I was tired, I was nervous and would leave my head-aches and would have to stop and rest in the way. I often had severe headaches, and at times my heart would palpitate alarmingly. A good friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have reason to be grateful that I took that advice. Soon after the beginning the use of the pills I began to get stronger, and by the time I had taken seven boxes I felt that I was again in good health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to weak girls, and I shall always warmly recommend them."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wallerstein and who established the Separate School here, has been appointed vicar-general of the diocese and rector of St. Marys Cathedral, Hamilton, to succeed the late Mr. Mahoney. The appointment has been ratified by Bishop Dowling and was announced in the Catholic Church-es on Sunday last. After leaving Walkerton, Father Kelly went to Mt. Forest, and from there to St. Patrick's church, Hamilton, where he was officiating when his present promotion came. As a vicar-general is next in rank to a bishop, the post is an important and responsible one in city circles.

James McKay, one of the most skilled blacksmiths in the county, and who was said to have been able to manufacture blades for knives etc, died in the House of Refuge here on Monday last, at the advanced age of 86 years. The deceased, who was a bachelor, came to the Refuge from Winton, where he practised his trade, and owned considerable property. A monument will be erected over his grave in the Walkerton cemetery, where he was interred on Tuesday, the funeral taking place from Myles' undertaking rooms, where services were conducted by Rev. G. C. Rock, of the Baptist Church.

Illich's Estados Unidos Begins was at Sanbulo Beach last week investigating the complaint that one of the cottages had been broken into and flour, entables and furniture stolen. The impression prevails that the thieving was done by military evaders hiding in the woods. A heavy penalty is imposed for helping deserters in any way, in giving them food and this makes the scrub question a serious one for the fugitives from the military service.
The fact that some oars from the cottage are missing lead to the suspicion that some evaders have tried rowing across the lake to get away.

Pte. Percy Ruff returned home on Thursday afternoon, after serving nearly three years with the Canadian Army, having enlisted in July 1915. He served eight months in France and saw considerable fighting. He suffered from rheumatism which affected his heart and has been returned home to recuperate. He will go to the Guelph Military Hospital early in July. Pte. Ruff has many friends in Tara who are glad to see him home again.

Elizabeth, daughter of The governor of the Massachusetts, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Allan Ramsay, returned to her old and only residence of Marlborough.

The residence of Mr. Herman Wooten, 316 W. Derby, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday last. The loss is estimated at $40,000, partly covered by insurance of $15,000 on the building and $25,000 on contents, both policies in the Zenith Mutual.

One of the finest specimens of brook trout caught in this vicinity this year was landed by Mr. Chris. Weis at the rear of the power house of the Pure and Cement Co. on Tuesday morning last. It weighed 2½ pounds and measured 18½ inches. It was certainly a beauty.

The grand ballroom held in the 19th-century building Thursday night was the backdrop of the I. O. O. F. E. was a colorful success and the ladies will not be left out as a result for the Red Cross ladies were present from Owen Sound, Chesley, Holstein, Walkerton and the county districts and everything from the one-step to the old-time reel was danced with enthusiasm. Kelly's orchestra of Owen Sound provided the music—and there are few, if any, better dance orchestras in the province.

The Hanover R. C. Church held another very successful social in the roller rink on Tuesday evening last when they cleared about $400—which is going some in times like these. The ladies worked very hard for the event; but when the receipts were counted they were a very happy, though very tired, little crowd. The social was an enjoyable affair as usual. The Hanover Band was on hand and provided excellent music. The prize winners

Mrs. Patterson secured a book given by Miss. Hahn, and Miss Anna Shuter captured a cushion donated by Miss Nora Bruder.

The garden party held at the hospitable home of Mr. W. T. Ellis, Durham Road, Brant, under auspices of Prospect Hill Soldiers' Aid last Friday evening drew a big crowd and was a big success in every way. The Handover band furnished good music throughout the evening. Mr. David Willoughby, reeve of Brant, acted as chairmen very acceptably. The program consisted of vocal solos by Miss Hilda Ernel, of Waukegan, and Mr. Wm. Ruttle of Hanover, a recitation by Miss Hazel Irwin, of Waukegan and violin solos by Mr. Art. McCartney jr., of Waukegan. All the numbers were splendidly rendered and heartily applauded. A rocking chair, generously donated by Mr. Eli Myles, furniture dealer of Waukegan, brought over $28 and was won by Mr. E. A. Ruttle, Dundak, who held the lucky number. A box of chocolates donated by Mr. Brant lady were carried off amidst much competition by Mr. J. J. Harkey of Brant. A dance, which terminated at 3 a. m. and was well patronized by the young people concluded a splendid evening's entertainment.

The contract for a new bandstand is set $250 and to be greeted between the Town Hall and Post Office has been let to R. T. Robinson. R. T. When the 160th Batt. instruments come to hand our band will be fully equipped.

and that no further shipwrecks should occur. Mr. Griffin, who has been manager of the Canada Bells factory since its reorganization, has been appointed to inspect the different shell factories by the Murphys Board, a lucrative salary and has started on his new duties. His work will consist in speeding up the manufacture of shells from 135,000 to 500,000 a month. His office will be in the Traders' Bank building, Toronto, and he intends, among his wife and Kiddies to that city. We are glad to hear that Mr. Griffin has secured such a splendid position, but his removal will be quite a loss to Chesley.

At the meeting of the Cheesley Council on Monday evening a by-law was passed fixing the tax rate of the town at 36 mills on the dollar as per the finance committee's recommendation. This is 1 mill higher than last year, and the rate was increased for the year for the increase. Last year the County tax rate was 3 and one-third mills, the town seven and three-quarter with an additional mill for war tax. The arguments for patriotic purposes, Y. M. C. A. and Good Roads make the increase. The County tax can safely be raised and has no effect on the market. It is to be hoped that relief will come when the war is over.

his companions have lost their lives by the mines exploding but John Peterick of His Majesty's ship Idaho has so far escaped unscathed and he thinks good luck will continue to follow him. He is a fine type of English-Canadian. It is illuminating to talk to him. Crimes Against British Seamen

(Mail and Empire)
In the London Times are published details of a number of cases of German crimes against British seamen. The stories are from the official Admiralty records, and when one reads them he will understand and sympathize with the action of the British seamen in declaring a boycott after the war against Germany. A British passenger steamer, carrying 77 passengers and a crew of 217, was torpedoed without warning 140 miles from land at 11 o'clock at night, and at once took a list to starboard. Her boats were lowered as quickly as possible, passengers and crew abandoning ship while the Germans put a second torpedo into the vessel. The steamer then came to the surface, and the boats' companies good-night, and disappeared in the darkness. One of the 17 boats had been damaged while being lowered, owing to the jamming of ropes, and the ships big list. She was considerably damaged before getting clear, and every wave washed over her company, whose sufferings were deplorable. About two hours after leaving the ship a first-class passenger died from exposure and his body was washed overboard. Then a woman died, but her daughter continued to support the dead body, thinking her mother was still alive. An hour later their water tanks and lashed the inside, which was saturated with sulphur. On Saturday night the dock boy died. They awoke at 8 p.m. on Monday, but the weather prevented them from attempting to put in until Tuesday morning. However a couple of fishing boats came to their assistance and towed them in. The liner-keeper died as he was being lifted ashore; two seamen who had gone mad had to be dragged from the boat, which they refused to leave. A trifling died of gangrene a fortnight later in hospital, where the baby also succumbed, after passing safely through all the horrors of the journey.

Firing on the Boats
A steamer was shelled by a submarine and stopped. While her crew were abandoning the ship five men were wounded by shell fire. The Germans came alongside the boats and questioned the master, but refused to supply any list for the wounded men, and told the boats to clear off. The survivors were picked up after having been afloat for 28 hours. Another steamer, after coming under fire of a submarine, signalled that she was stopping, but the Germans took no notice of the signal and continued their shelling. The crew abandoned the ship and, when their boats had dropped half a mile astern of the steamer, the submarine fired four shots at the chief engineer's boat, which was only missed by a very narrow margin.

Two Men Murdered
While two men were coming down the falls of another steamer to join their comrades in one of the ship's boats, a German submarine, lying two hundred yards away, discharged a torpedo at the ship. The torpedo struck the ship's side, and exploded killing both men in the falls, and must have been aimed with this object in view.

A steamer which was torpedoed without warning went down in five minutes. The submarine circled around the wreckage, and then made off. The survivors clung to the wreckage for six hours before being picked up, 64 men losing their lives and only 12 being saved. As a foot note to this record, The Times publishes the account of a meeting held the previous day at Hammeramith by the British and Foreign Seamen's Society. Mr. Gerald F. Perry stated that when the crew of the Tasmania arrived at the Irish shore they were entertained at one of the institutes belonging to the society. One of the men said: "Don't think that the Germans are going to frighten us or any other seamen from our calling. Let them sink away. If there's one ship left we'll sail her, and when there are no more ships, by the saints, we'll swim it."

SOUTHAMPTON

Lieut.-Col. A. E. Belcher has set a good example by presenting to the town of Southampton, an oil painting of himself. It is a splendid piece of art, finished off with a handsome frame and measures four by five feet and will be a nice decoration for the walls of our town hall. We hope that the other men who have occupied or may occupy the position of chief magistrate of the town may do likewise. In Toronto the City Hall is adorned with the pictures of a score or more of former mayors. Lt.-Col. Belcher served Southampton for many years, as councillor for five years, as reeve for four years, and many of the improvements which have come to our town are the result of his enterprising and tireless energy. He has always had and still has, a warm spot in his heart for Southampton, and probably through his individual efforts more than any other has Southampton been heard of in the outside world. He still has many warm friends in the old town.

TRAIN EARLY TO HARNESS

The Collar Must Fit Well and the Food Be Light at First — Food Must Be Increased in Proportion to Work Done.
(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

HERE ARE MANY COLTS approaching the termination of their third or fourth year, that are practically untaught, or as it is usually expressed "unbroken."

The too common practice of allowing such to go "unbroken" until such time as they are required to perform the functions of a horse in the spring, is irrational, and unfair to the animal. Colts should not be "broken," they should be taught or educated. In the untaught or unbroken colt, the muscular, respiratory and nervous system (the organs whose functions are taxed in the performance of the ordinary functions of a horse) are weak and undeveloped from lack of function. Hence a regular course of preparation during the late winter and early spring months, when the time of both man and horse is most valuable, should be given in order to have the colts in such condition when time becomes valuable that they will be able to perform a reasonable amount of work with satisfaction to the driver and safety to themselves.

The colts or colts should first be taught to harness and bridle by being allowed to run free for a few hours daily in a box stall or paddock, with the harness on. It is then good practice to harness and bridle a smart and good-natured horse or if necessary a pair of colts together, and teach them to drive, over the words of command, stand when asked to stop.

When they have become reasonably handy without being hitched, they should be hitched to a wagon. Care should be taken to see that the harness fits properly. This applies especially to collars. The collars should be expedient to work later on, should be worn. Each should have his own, and it should fit properly, not being too wide, so as to allow a narrow, nor yet sufficiently narrow to pinch at any point. The bearing surface should conform thoroughly to the surfaces of the harness systems. The collar, when in contact, except at the bottom, comes in sufficient contact to allow the introduction of a man's finger. The amount of strain given should be so gradually increased in proportion to the work or exercise given.

By such usage the muscular, respiratory and nervous systems gradually gain tone, the muscles with which the harness, especially the collar, comes in contact, gradually become hardened and increased in power of resistance, hence become much less liable to soreness. In many cases, on account of this hardening of the muscles, the development of commercial orcharding, a colt that may have started perfectly at first may now be too large. — J. H. R., Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Preparing for Gardening.

This month begins the active gardening work. Hotbeds should be made and the seed of the early plants like radishes, celery, etc., sown early in the hotbeds, and the long season plants like tomatoes, egg plants and peppers should be started. Many of the early seedlings should be started in the hotbeds which will relieve the necessity of making hotbeds until the first part of next month. Before the first of next month, the hotbeds may be hatched out the latter part of this month.

Hints for the Poultryman.

The flock should be given the opportunity to get out of doors and exercise on fine days. Begin to make preparation for hatching. Clean up the incubators and brooders, get boxes ready for setting hens. Do not set hens in the laying pens where other birds are running. If you want to hatch early, get a good incubator and brooder. Usually chickens of the general purpose breeds hatched during the first of next month make the best winter layers. Where using hens for hatching start them well with some good insect powder before setting, and again about two weeks later.

Care of the Freshening Cow.

This is the month when a large number of cows freshen. Both fresh cows and newly-born calves should receive special attention. Cows expected to freshen should be placed in a box stall for a few days before and after calving. Many valuable cows and calves are lost by neglecting to provide box stall accommodation. This should be found in every dairy stable, or else build a box stall barn for the purpose. A few hours "sunshine bath" each week will make far more healthful stock and improve the dairymen.

Feeding the Dove.

On many farms lambs will begin to arrive about this time. If ewes have been liberally fed for a month before lambing they will likely have more milk. From 1/2 to 1 lb. of grain fed per ewe per day for a month before lambing is generally good practice, especially if ewes are somewhat thin. — Ontario Agricultural College Notes.

WHERE ORCHARDS PAY

Most Profitable Near Cities When Market Is Convenient.

LABOR IS THE BIG PROBLEM

No Province or State in North America Has So Large an Area Suitable for Apple Growing as Has Ontario.
(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

HIS QUESTION will be discussed under four heads: Climate, Soil, Labor and Transportation. The Factor of Climate.

So far as climate is concerned apples can be grown commercially in any part of old Ontario, south of a line drawn from Perry Sound to Ottawa; in fact, there are commercial orchards producing fruit at a profit considerably further north than this. Many people think of commercial apple orchards as being necessarily confined to the milder parts of the province, and to the lake districts, but the fact is worth emphasizing that we have varieties of apples suitable for commercial culture in every county of old Ontario. The winter varieties of the most popular varieties grown throughout Ontario is now very well established, and it is possible to select varieties which will be hardy for any district.

The most serious climatic difficulty in the Province of Ontario is the occurrence of late frost in spring, and early frost in fall. Over difficulties of a climatic nature can be largely overcome by the selection of suitable varieties, or by careful determination with regard to soil, elevation, aspect, etc. It may be pointed out, however, that frosts are more common and more severe over large areas of flat country, than about the topography of rolling and hilly. Large areas of some of the southern counties of Ontario are, therefore, more or less unsuited to commercial apple orcharding because of their flat character. A more rolling country is much to be preferred, so that orchards can be made safer from frost by the better air drainage afforded. The choice of varieties for various districts will be made the subject of later notes.

Suitable Soil in Every County.

So far as soils are concerned, it may be stated that there is an abundance of land in every county suitable for apple growing. Well drained land is essential for successful orcharding, and there is plenty of soil of this type to be had in almost every district.

Summing up Soil and Climate, it may be said that no province or state in North America has so large an area so favorable to soil and climate for apple growing as has the Province of Ontario. If this statement is true it becomes obvious that the present distribution of commercial orchards in Ontario is dependent on other factors.

Most Profitable Near Cities.

Transportation is the most important factor having to do with the distribution of commercial apple orchards in Ontario. In other words, the commercial apple orchards are located within reach of transportation facilities and better facilities have been with relation to large cities and to the developing markets of the prairies, the more rapid has been the development of commercial orcharding. A location near a large city may be desirable, but if better soil and climate are to be found at a distance, the more distant location is likely to be preferred, provided transportation facilities are good.

Some districts in Ontario possess excellent conditions of soil and climate, but are lacking in transportation facilities, and until facilities are available little development can take place in commercial orcharding.

Labor Situation Very Acute.

At the present time the labor situation is acute, and is rendered more so from the standpoint of the apple grower by the emphasis being placed upon the production of exportable food stuffs. The labor shortage will result in the majority of small orchards being more or less neglected. But the large commercial grower of apples has been in difficulty for years over the matter of labor supply. For commercial orchard operations on a sizable basis, it is necessary to be within reach of a temporary supply of labor for apple picking. Otherwise it becomes necessary to build dwellings for men and their families so that a supply of labor may be always available.

The difficulties of the labor situation at picking time can be lessened considerably by the planting of varieties which ripen in succession, and by taking care to get the right proportion of each. A large area of one variety ripening at one time is extremely difficult to handle. — Prof. J. H. R., Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

The Forthcoming Beekeeper.

In March the careful beekeeper will find a great deal to do in the way of preparing next season's supplies. All appliances should be put in the best of shape and necessary new ones secured and prepared before the busy spring season arrives. New supplies necessary should be ordered at once. The beekeeper's supers are his barns, his bees are his harvesters, and given barns they will harvest his crop with less risk of weather injury than farmers expect in almost any other crop. Without sufficient barn-room a percentage of the crop will be lost. Contingencies sufficient for the large crop should also be expected next season should also be ordered at this time. The supplies necessary to prevent war-time conditions when supplies of material are uncertain.

No Gypsies are to be permitted to roam about Ontario this summer.

As the only son on a farm near Midway has been drafted, a sister, a High School graduate, is drawing gravel to put in the Statute labor.

The Strawberry has always been our aristocratic fruit, and this year going at 25 cents per box they have a most exclusive standing.

The minutes of the County Council last week were not explanatory regarding the road between Warton and Lions Head. This now belongs to the Provincial Highway System.

A calf with a red cross on one side while the rest of the animal is white, has been recently born in Montana. It makes a great hit in raising money for Red Cross purposes.

The Order in Council releasing exemption to young men on the farms from the age of 20 to 22 has been declared illegal by the Court of Appeal, Alberta. This decision affects about 40,000.

A lack of knowledge of our conditions leads to some funny things in the county press. Recently we read that three or four evaders are hiding in the wilds of Keppel to escape service under the M. S. A. Well, if any one can hide long in Keppel he will have to dig in and stay in. Then, too when one reads of the evaders taking boats at the Sauble and rowing across the lake it brings a smile. The lake at this point has greater dimensions than a duck pond, and a little brushing up would do the writer some good. Then, too, the Editor who saw a bear, a rattlesnake etc. etc. on the Peninsula, should be glad to see something to relieve the monotony of life. Years ago before the Ontario Temperance Act, snakes were seen in many southern parts of the County.

Constipated Children

Childhood constipation can be quickly banished through the use of Baby's Own Tablets. These tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and in this way relieve all the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Eugene Couture, Knox Bridge, Que., writes:—

"Baby's Own Tablets have been marvellous in the case of my baby. She was constipated and feverish but the Tablets soon regulated her bowels and made her well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Mrs. Manchester (nee Pearl Cameron) is visiting her parents here.

Misses Mary and Olive Rodgers called on Mrs. Walpole the other day.

One of the worst storms ever experienced here was on Thursday evening about eight o'clock when the snow came down and also the log barn and hay house on Wm. J. Walpole's farm were blown flat, one stone foundation is crumbled down and stables destroyed. In the others the stables are left and only one end of the stone wall will have to be repaired. In the house one window of shingles was lifted and one window upstairs blown in. In places while the hail and rain poured in. Mr. Walpole will try to raise one barn again this summer.

All who heard Dr. Sirs on Tuesday afternoon enjoyed her address very much.

Buy Men's and Boys' Clothing Now!

When we say that the materials from which our Men's and Boys' Clothing are made were bought months and months ago, and you know, if you have paid any attention to market conditions, that we must have bought them at a price much lower than we could buy them for to-day. And when we say that we are selling them at our usual percentage of profit, based on what we bought them for, it means better materials as well as a big saving to you.

The Farmers Club are holding a picnic in William Walpole's grove, Monday afternoon, July 8th, and it will be a big event. President Hal-bert of the U. F. O. will deliver an address and McAlena Highland pipers will furnish music. A large attendance is expected. Everyone is invited. Bring your basket and enjoy the day.

The Tobemory Branch of the Womens Institute held a special meeting on June 24th in the Harbor Methodist Church. It was decided to make an autograph quilt to raise funds for the Institute. It was also decided to send $50.00 to T. Eton Co. for yarn to knit socks for soldiers and material for autograph quilt.

LOST—On June 28, between the stone school house on the Diagonal and the 19th con. Keppel on the County line, a leather pocket book, containing about $40. There were three $10 bills and one $5 and other small bills. The finder will be rewarded by W. S. PORTER, LAKE CHARLES, or at this office.

The Market Prices—On Tuesday the dealers quoted for butter 35 cents per pound, eggs 38 cents per dozen, hides 13 cents per pound, hogs $17.15 per cwt., beef cattle 12-14 cents per pound, wheat $2.10 per bus., oats 65 cents, barley $1.25. It will be seen that dairy produce is higher than last week and the outlook is for higher prices yet.

May 24th is always a doubtful holiday so far as agreeable weather is concerned, but July 1st has always been regarded as a sure thing. This year, however, was an exception. Overcast were in evidence, and furnace coats were a necessity. There were a number of visitors to town, and a large number spent the day elsewhere.
A few auto loads took in the races at Port Elgin.

On Tuesday practically everyone along the street shook hands with Bob Laurie. Bob was the G. T. R. agent here and left Warton about 9 1/2 years ago for Portage La Prairie where he has been ever since. He has not changed a bit, and is the picture of health. He was accompanied by his young son, James, and spent Wednesday fishing at Pike Bay.

THE SILVER HORDE

might have instructed the captain not to swim so fast.

Boyd stared at her in amazement, but she was smiling at Alce Clyde in the distance and did not observe his look.

"Don't you care even to hear what I have done?" he inquired.

"Of course," said Mildred, bringing her eyes back to him.

Hastily she told her of his disappointment, the obstacles he had met and overcome, avoiding March's anger and retreating from placing the blame where it belonged when he had concluded she should hear him.

"It is too bad that Mr. Marsh should do all that before you came, Boyd. I never thought of this enterprise. Of course I didn't say anything against it, you were so enthusiastic, and you really ought to try something like that. I am sure you have the ability. Why the successful men I know at home have no more intelligence than you, and they haven't half your force. As for this—well, I think you can accomplish more important things than catching fish."

"Important!" he cried. "Why, the salmon industry is one of the most important on the coast. It employs 10,000 men in Alaska alone, and they produce $10,000,000 every year."

"Oh, let's not go into statistics," said Mildred lightly; "they make my head ache. What I mean is that a fisherman is nothing like an attorney or a broker or an architect. For instance, he is more like a sister. Parlor me, Boyd, but look at your clothes!" She began to laugh. "Why, you look like a common laborer!"

"I might have picked up a bit," he acknowledged lamely. "But when you can't I forget everything else."

"I was dreadfully embarrassed when I introduced you to the Berries and the rest. I shrewdly thought you were one of Mr. Marsh's associates."

Never before had Boyd known the least constraint in Mildred's presence, but now he felt the rebuke behind her careless manner, and it wounded him.

"WHY, YOU LOOK LIKE A COMMON LABORER!"

deeply. He did not speak, and after

Ringworm on Child's Head

Don't Distress and Spread Back and Warts—Cure Was Speedily Effectual When Right Treatment Was Recommended.

There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm, and the mother who writes this letter does not fully appreciate what it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend, Ont., writes: "I am going to tell you my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little girl had some kind of head which looked like ringworm. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yolk of an egg. The salve he gave me was put on very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a box, and the first time I put it on she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were nearly all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back, so you can see she is completely cured. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering from similar disease."

Joseph Brenner, J.P., endorses this statement as follows: "This is a true statement. I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins of Grand Bend, Ont., and believe her statement to be true and correct."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 25 cents a box. All Dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Be suspicious of the cheap imitations. Talk to your doctor about a substitute.

LEMONS WHITER AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of arbutin white. Care must be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of arbutin white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvellous to smoothen rough, red hands.

not because he needed more fish, but purely to spoil my catch. The day the run started he bribed my laborer to break their contracts, leaving me short handed. He didn't need more men, but he did that simply to cripple me. I got Indians to replace the white men, but he won them over by a mile. I'll run my plant in spite of him! Wayne Wayland made me up to speak, but Boyd went on unheeding: "You've taken a dislike to me, but your conduct shows that you fear me. You are afraid I'll succeed, and I will."

"Brave talk," said the older man. "But you owe $100,000, and your stockholders will learn of your mismanagement."

"Your persecution, you mean?" cried the other. "I can explain. They will wait another year. I will raise more money, and they will stand by me."

"Perhaps I know more about that than you do."

Emerson strode toward the desk menacingly, crying in a quivering voice: "I warn you to keep your hands off them. Don't try any of your financial tricks with me or I'll—"

Wayne Wayland leaped from his chair, his face purple and his eyes flashing savagely.

"Leave this yacht!" he thundered. "I won't let you insult me. I won't stand your threats. I've got you where I want you, and when the time comes you'll know it. Now, get out!"

He stretched forth a great square hand and closed it so tightly that the fingers cracked. "I'll crush you—like that!"

Boyd turned and strode from the cabin.

Half blinded with anger, he stumbled down the ladder to his launch.

"Back to the plant!" he ordered, then gazed with lowering brows and defiant eyes at the Grande Dame as she rested wearily and serene in her rooming. His anger against Mildred's father destroyed for the time all thought of his disappointment at her own lack of understanding and her cool acceptance of his failure. He saw only that his affairs had reached a final climax where he must bow to the inevitable or—Big George's parting words came to him—strike one last blow in revenge.

It was the hour of his darkest despair—the real crisis in his life. There are times when it costs with fate to make a strong man stronger or turn him altogether to evil. Such an hour will not accept of fortune kindly. He is the reverse of those who are good through weakness. It is his nature to be strong.

But the unexpected happened, and Boyd's blood cooled and he staggered at the sight which met his eyes. Moored to the fish dock was a lighter awash with a cargo that made him stare and doubt his vision. He had seen his scanty crew of six gill netters return empty handed with the dalgan run, exhausted, disheartened, depleted in numbers, yet there before him were thousands of salmon. They were strewn in a great mass upon the dock and inside the shed, while from the scow beneath they came in showers as the handmen tossed them upward from their "pows." Through the wide doors he saw the backs of the brothers busy at work over their tables and heard the uproar of his cannery running full for the first time.

Before the launch had touched he had leaped to the ladder and swung himself upon the dock. He stumbled into the arms of Mr. George.

Through the wide doors he saw the backs of the brothers busy at work over their tables and heard the uproar of his cannery running full for the first time.

"Wayne, my boy, Wayne!" seen his scanty crew of six gill netters return empty handed with the dalgan run, exhausted, disheartened, depleted in numbers, yet there before him were thousands of salmon. They were strewn in a great mass upon the dock and inside the shed, while from the scow beneath they came in showers as the handmen tossed them upward from their "pows." and noticed strange things about the building. They stared at her curiously, as if the sight of a white girl attended by a copper head guard were part of the picturesque story they expected. As she drew near her own house she saw a woman approaching, and while yet a stone's throw distant she recognized her. A jealous lightning of her throat and a stare at her house told her that this was Mildred Wayland.

Cherry would have passed on silently, but Miss Wayland checked her. "Fardon!" she said. "Will you tell me what that odd looking building is used for?" She pointed to the village church.

"That is the Greek church."

"How interesting! Are there many Greeks here?"

"No. It is a relic of the Rumanian days. The natives worship there."

"Do you live here?"

"Yes, in the big house yonder."

"Indeed I tried to find some one there, but you were out of course. You have it arranged very nicely, I see." Mildred's manner was faintly patronizing.

"Beauty and evident refinement of the woman whom she had thought to find so different."

"If you will go back I will show it to you from the outside, Miss Wayland." Cherry enjoyed her start at the name and the look of cold hostility that followed.

"You have the advantage of me," said Mildred. "I did not think we had met. You are new here. I have heard of you from the natives."

"Cherry Malotte, of course."

"I remember Mr. Marsh spoke of you."

"I am sorry."

"Excuse me, please?"

"I am sorry Mr. Marsh ever spoke of me."

Mildred smiled faintly. "Evidently, you do not like him."

"Nobody in Alaska likes him. Do you?"

"You see, I am not an Alaskan."

"Do you know that Mr. Marsh is to blame for all of Boyd's misfortunes?"

"Boyd's?"

"Yes, Boyd's, of course. Oh, let me not pretend. I call him by his first name. I think you ought to know the truth about this business, even if Boyd is too chivalrous to tell you."

"If Mr. Marsh blames any one but himself for his failure I am sure he would have told me."

"Then you don't know him."

"I never knew him to ask another to defend him."

"He never asked me to defend him. I merely thought that if you knew the truth you might help him."

"If how?"

"It is for you to find a way. He has met with opposition and treachery at every step. I think it is time some one came to his aid."

"He has had your assistance at all times, has he not?"

"You have tried to help wherever I could, but I haven't your power."

Mildred shrugged her shoulders. "You even went to Seattle to help him, did you not?"

"I went there on my own business."

"Why do you take such an interest in Mr. Emerson's affairs, may I ask?"

"It was I who induced him to take up this venture," said Cherry proudly. "I found him discouraged, ready to give up. I helped to put me heart into him. I have something at stake in the enterprise, too—but that's nothing. I hate to see a good man driven to the wall by a scoundrel like Marsh."

"Wait! There is something to be said on both sides. Mr. Marsh was magnanimous enough to overlook that attempt upon his life?"

"What attempt?"

"You must have heard. He was wounded in the shoulder."

"Didn't Boyd tell you the truth about that?"

"He told me everything," said Mildred coldly. "This woman's attitude was unbearable. It would seem that she even dared to criticize her, Mildred Wayland, for her treatment of Boyd."

"I shall ask him about it again this evening," she continued. "If there has really been persecution, as you suggest, I shall tell my father."

"You won't see Boyd this evening," said Cherry.

"Oh, yes, I shall."

"He is very busy, and I don't think he can see you."

"You don't understand. I told him to come out to the yacht!" Mildred's temper rose at the sight she saw in the other woman's face.

"But if he should disappoint you?" Cherry laughed. "Remember that the fish are running, and you have no time to lose if you are going to help."

O. S. Presbyterian Annual Meeting

KNOX CHURCH SCENE OF LARGE GATHERING ON TUESDAY - SEVERAL GOOD ADDRESSES

The Owen Sound Presbyterian held its annual meeting on Tuesday, June 25, in Knox church. There were three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening, the morning session opening with devotional exercises in which, Mrs. Jones, Annan, Mrs. Carrie, Owen Sound, Mrs. Chandler, Killarney, and Miss Hall, Owen Sound, took part. Reports of Presbyterian secretaries were given, all showing a forward movement, especially in the work of the Mission Bands. The total receipts from Auxiliaries and Bands sent to the Provincial Treasurer for missionary work was $2,335.48, an increase over last year. The nominating committee was appointed as follows: Messrs. J. B. Fraser, convenor; Patterson, Bessman, Hull, Jones, Hewitson and Burgess. A special appeal is made this year to meet the need of the work in providing more funds. Every auxiliary is expected to increase their giving 25 per cent. It is hoped this request will not be forgotten.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Hon. Pres., Mrs. J. B. Fraser and Mrs. Thurlow Fraser; Pres., Mrs. J. B. Fraser; Vice Pres., Mrs. J. B. Fraser; Sec., Mrs. J. B. Fraser; Treas., Mrs. J. B. Fraser; and so on. The afternoon meeting was opened by devotional exercises conducted by Miss Christie, Mesford, and Mrs. Wm. Gardner. Verbal reports of auxiliaries and bands were given and Mr. Jean Dow, of Honan, China, who has been 21 years in that country, gave a very interesting and comprehensive address which was very much enjoyed by all. Mrs. Elliott gave some very interesting thoughts on Young People's Work. The President, Miss Bremner, in her annual address dealt with some of the most important points of the Provincial meeting held in Toronto, which inspired the workers to more enthusiasm in the great work in which the members are engaged.

The closing words were given by Mrs. H. H. Burgess. The evening meeting was presided over by Rev. P. T. Pilkey. A goodly number were in attendance to hear especially the Rev. A. H. Barker, M. A., of Korea, who told in a very unique way the wonderful progress of the Korean Church. The people are pressing into active service for the Kingdom of God with an unprecedented record.

Mrs. Myrtle V. Rice and Miss Annie McGregor sang very beautifully and were very much appreciated.

Rev. James Dow of Enderby, B. C., closed the meeting with the benediction.

The ladies of Knox church were very kindly thanked for their very kind hospitality during the Convention. The meeting will be held in Killarney next year.

LOCAL NEWS

The Warton Bowlers won the Association prize in Mount Forest which are $40 for any Patriotic League in this town. This was the nature of the prizes in Mount Forest and the local bowlers scored.

Bruce County Annual W. C. T. U. met at Teeswater on the 26th and 27th. Money raised for all purposes by the eight unions in the County during the year, $1800, $1600 of which went to the Provincial W. C. T. U. to be handed over to their workers at the front for the free distribution of nourishing drinks on the firing line. Many good resolutions were passed, one of which was thanks to Sir. William Hearst for standing firm on the liquor question.

Last Wednesday night a public welcome was tendered to Sapper Russell Steady in the Town Hall. A good crowd turned out to greet this returned young hero. Among those who gave an address of welcome were: Mayor McEwen, Rev. J. E. Thompson, A. Miller, Leader of the Scouts, G. Kistner and Dr. Hay. Miss Laurence sang "Home Again". The band furnished excellent music throughout the evening. Sapper Steady thanked the people for their warm welcome he had received and hoped that all the boys would be as well remembered as he.

W. C. T. U. Resolutions At A Recent Meeting At Teeswater

Whereas we learn with indignation that in the counties of Essex and Kent land and labor are being used for increased Tobacco production while conscription is taking young farmers in other parts of the Province who have to leave their fields of grain with the uncertain chance that it can be harvested while at the same time we are facing a food shortage and rigid economies are enforced in the homes.

Resolved—That we protest against this unfair waste of the fertile lands in the said counties, and the labor expended on the Tobacco industry.

Resolved—That we deplore the fact that Sunday has been selected for our National day of prayer, thereby "offering unto God that which costs us nothing" (Malachi 1, 8th, 13th and 14th verses) and earnestly urge that a week day in the very near future be proclaimed for that purpose, when every place of business is closed and every one attend the public places of worship to humiliate themselves before God in repentance and in prayer for the bringing about of peace. (2nd Chronicles, 20th Chap. 1-30).

FINDLEY-NIMMO

On Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian Manse, Brimley, a quiet wedding was celebrated when Miss Agnes Matilda Nimmo became the bride of Stephen Findley of the P. F. O. L. I. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Olan and the groom was supported by his brother Stephen Findley. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur Hall. The happy couple motored to Regina where they spent a few days before returning to their home at Biercrest. Numerous friends here and at Biercrest unite in wishing the couple a long and happy wedded life. Mr. Findley was one of the first of our wounded heroes to return from overseas after serving with the Princess Pata. Stephen Findley, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Findley, was born at Plainfield, Illinois, on March 11, 1882. In 1903 he came to this country with his parents, settling in the Biercrest district. His father was an honest industrious citizen and prospered greatly in the new land. When he died, three years ago, he not only left his sons considerable wealth, but an inheritance of character which was of greater value. Stephen, upon whom fell the care of the house hold, developed the traits of integrity and uprightness that distinguished his father, and was well known and highly respected throughout the district. When war broke out he heard the call of his adopted country and volunteered with the 80th Rifles in Moose Jaw. That he made good in his new calling was evidenced by his being chosen as one of the twenty-two to recruit the Princess Patricia at the front. He was wounded on March 24th, and the latest cablegram to his mother Saturday, April 10th, reported him still dangerously ill.—Biercrest Sask. Mrs. Mrs. Findley is a daughter of Robert Nimmo of this town.

MCCARTNEY—MURPHY

The marriage took place in Tobemory, Tuesday morning of Mr. McCartney and Mrs. H. Murphy, the Rev. Mr. Mercer officiating. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McCartney motored to town tied to Owen Sound where they took the train for London. They will remain in that city two weeks and then return to Tobemory. Mr. McCartney is a returned soldier, he belonged to the 13th Battalion of the 5th Highlanders.

LION'S HEAD

Born—On Wednesday June 26th to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, a son. Rev. A. Remington had a very successful sale on Saturday. He and his family leave next Wednesday for Elmwood, where Mr. Remington is to be minister of the Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Perry are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hocking and Mrs. Moore. A number of sports spent July 1st in town.

Miss K. Laidlaw, who spent the last two weeks on her vacation, resumed her position in the Bank on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tackabery accompanied by their son, Austin, Miss Ida and Mrs. E. Tackabery, are holidaying in Lakefield, Toronto and other points.

The storm on Thursday night did considerable damage throughout this section of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bruin and family spent the 1st of July at Allenford. Mr. and Mrs. W. Weatherhead, Warton, are visiting friends here and at Cape Chin.

Road work has commenced throughout the Township also in the village. Mr. Wm. Hatchart spent a few days of last week on business in Guelph and other places.

Keppel Council

The Council of the above Township met at Claverham on June 20th. All the members present as a Court of Revision of the Assessment Roll, Mr. Cruikshank being elected chairman. A sum of $50.00 was taken off the Assessment of Philip Meyer, two dogs were struck off and one put on the roll. A few names were changed and the roll declared finally revised.

Council met for regular business. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The business consisted chiefly in auditing and passing orders for road work.

A by-law was passed giving the Maple Leaf Telephone Co. permission to use the 21st Concession from Lot 1 to Lot 26 and part of the 20th side road for Telephone purposes.

Orders on the Treasurer were issued to the sum of $1000.00.

Council adjourned to meet at the School House of S. R. No. 6, Owen Sound.

COLPOYS' BAY

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kalbfleisch and Misses Evelyn and Isabelle motored to Owen Sound last week.

Mr. Fred Lemcke has invested in a five passenger auto. Now all the young ladies can smile on Fred.

Miss Alix Edge, Teacher of our public school for the past year, left for her home near Durham last Saturday. She was very kindly remembered by the scholars Friday morning when Miss Eunice Poste read an address and Wilfrid Whitcher presented her with a very pretty ivory jewel case and hair receiver. Though quite taken by surprise Miss Edge replied in a suitable manner. While here Miss Edge was very willing to do what she could in assisting in the choir and S. S. and she will be missed, but our best wishes go with her to her new school—wherever it will be.

Mr. Caleb Brown met with quite a serious loss last week while driving a colt and leading a span of horses an auto in passing struck the hind leg of one of them, breaking it so the poor animal had to be shot.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Brown last Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Matthews has been stationed on the Colpoys Bay and Oxenden circuit for another year. The work is prospering on the four appointments, congregations larger, and missionary givings have increased from one hundred and fifty dollars to five hundred dollars.

Mr. Fred Christopher and son, of Chesley, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lemcke.

Mrs. Andrew Weir left this week on a visit to Harrison. She motored there.

Mr. C. E. Whitcher Sundayed in Toronto.

The news came that Miss Gladys Laundry (formerly teacher here) underwent an operation at the Hospital in Niagara Falls last week, for appendicitis. Miss Laundry's old friends hope she will soon be as well as ever.

Mrs. C. E. Whitcher arrived last Monday from Pierce's Hospital, Buffalo, where she has spent the last four months. We are pleased to report that she is feeling much better, and looks it too.

Mr. Sydney Gilbert and Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, of Purple Valley, motored to near Markdale last Saturday, returning Sunday. Misses Irene and Bessie Elmer and Ray are visiting their friends.

grandparents, while Mrs. Gilbert is in Buffalo. Mrs. Gilbert underwent an operation in Pierce's Hospital last week and the last report was that she was doing as well as could be expected.

Mrs. Harry Potter is again suffering with a very sore arm from blood poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Caudle and Marguerite visited Mr. and Mrs. T. Marson Sunday and Monday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Balsom and children, who have been visiting relatives here left Saturday for Chesley to visit Mrs. Balsom's sister.

Mr. J. Crawford and Mr. Alex Caudle motored to Allenford Monday.

the handle which contains the batteries, colt, wire and button, as shown in the second cut. It is small and has two metal terminals—short distance apart. In use, the terminals are placed against the horse and the button is pressed. The horse then receives an electric shock which is much more effective than an ordinary prod.

YOUNG COLT NEEDS SHELTER

At Night Animal Needs Protection From Cold and Storms—Allow Liberty Night Mowing.

When the nights become cold and frosty the young colt should be sheltered each night, but allow it its liberty again the following morning. It never pays to confine a colt unnecessarily, as it needs lots of exercise, fresh air and plenty of good feed in order to develop bone and muscle and to grow into a large shapely animal.

Half of a horse's growth is made during the first twelve or fifteen months of its life, hence during this period the aim should be to secure a uniform and proper development of all the parts of the young animal. Keep the colt in a shelter, growing condition every day during its first winter. Feed liberally; it is costly economy to stunt the colt by stony feeding. The growing colt should never be in high flesh, however, but just in good growing condition.

SOME KNOWLEDGE IS NEEDED

Foolish to Think That Anyone Can Successfully Manage Farm Right From Start.

While it is well to encourage the "Back-to-the-soil" movement, especially among young people, it is foolish to think that anyone can manage a farm successfully from the first. It requires careful study and practical experience in each year out, but the person who has industry and common sense will succeed in the end.

From 1000 to 1500 Attended Each Picnic. Enthusiasm Ran High.

A Farmers' Picnic! Yes, and the biggest and best picnic pulled off in these parts for years. There was "some crowd" at Oxenden last Thursday, it looked like a Fall Fair or a big 12th of July celebration. There were buggies and autos by the hundreds, and the people had come from every point of the compass—Eastnor, Southampton, Owen Sound, Amabel, Keppel and Warton. The weather was simply ideal, and the waters of Colpoys never looked more peaceful. Nature contributed her part most ungrudgingly to the success of the undertaking.

And why shouldn't the farmers have a picnic. They have put in overtime since the spring work began, and now is the only breathing spell before haying and harvest. And they did picnic. They met their friends, and they enjoyed war-time rations under the shade of the cedars, and were loath to go home when the "curfew tolled the knell of parting day."

But the gathering was more than a picnic. It is a get-together movement. The farmers have enjoyed an era of great prosperity, and they know that the time has come when they can paddle their own canoe, and they intend to do so without fear or favor from the politicians. The movement is spreading, and those who have not yet joined better get in while the going is good. The keynote of the whole meeting was organization, so that a greater weight can be used in favor of those who are conducting the basic industry of the whole country. Indentally they also intend to put farming upon a business basis, and the man they are after, is not the retailer, but the wholesaler, who toils not, neither does he spin. These picnics, which are being held all over Ontario, are like the rising of a tidal wave, and those accustomed to criticize will do well to sit up—for there is a transition stage right on hand. Of course there are plenty who still remember the Patron movement, and say that the farmers "cannot stick together," and who look forward to an early collapse of this whole movement, but it strikes the writer that there is considerable in this movement here to stay, and all that is needed is wise leadership. The President of the Club said to The Echo we are not in opposition to the town for we want the best relation towards them.

The picnic at Eastnor on Monday was another big success. It was possibly the greatest gathering of people ever seen on the Peninsula. They came from every direction, and there were many there from Amabel and Keppel. These picnics, and the autos get people acquainted who had hitherto been strangers to each other. Mr. N. S. Landon presided, and President Halbert spoke along practically the same lines as at Oxenden. McLaren's Highland Pipers added much to the success of the day besides a concert staged by Warton's Star Comedian.

The Oxenden Picnic

The program was to the point, the music and those who took part were farmers. On the platform were Mr. Geo. B. Ottowell, Pres. of the Oxenden Club, Mr. N. S. Landon, Pres. of the Eastnor Club, and Mr. R. H. Halbert, Pres. of the United Farmers of Ontario.

Mr. George Ottowell was chairman and welcomed the audience with the following address:

Ladies and Gentlemen—As President of this Farmers' organization of the Clavering Branch I have been asked to act in the capacity of chairman. After much persuasion I have consented to do so. I think I have the distinct honor of being the first President of a Farmers' Club in this district.

Nearly four years have passed since the first Club was organized in the Ottawell Settlement known as the Clavering Club. It started with a membership of 10 and today we have a membership of some eighty and sister organizations on either side. Farmers are anxious to come into our Club. For what reason, we might ask ourselves, the answer might be given, "We, the farmers, are commencing to realize there's a real place in public life for us and to get there we must be united and see that our interests are not neglected, and to establish an equality of citizenship and seek to elect as representative men of principle, to our Houses of Parliament, men to legislate for the masses, not class legislation, but men that understand the condition and need of the agriculturists in this country. We can easily see the great need of better representation for the farmers."

It has been stated that the farmers are asking for exemption from Military Service as a Class. We maintain that the farmers are giving just as good service by the strenuous efforts put forth to meet the need of food stuffs. We are not asking any distinction, only enough meat left to man our farms, not to do unnecessary improvement, but just to do work that is absolutely necessary for production of food while our boys have gone to fight for right and justice.

We are not going to see them want for food as long as we have it in our power to help them, no matter what efforts we have to put forth. We have before us fathers, mothers and near relatives by the score who will not shrink from their duty to the last degree of their strength to maintain a supply of food for our brave boys and all that are engaged in this terrible conflict for humanity's sake and sacrifice to the last man, if needs be.

As my address is lengthening and there are many speakers and other forms of entertainment on the program there seems little time for introductory remarks. There is just one thought in regard to the keeping of this day, that is the 4th of July, Independence Day of the great republic to the south of us. I hope we can all realize and appreciate the stand that our north neighbor has taken to go into this terrible struggle to suppress and subdue this terrible monster of civilization.

Now we have many speakers, many of talent, so I will not ask you to forget the condition and need of

Greatest Speech Farmers Ever Heard

R. H. Halbert, President of the U. F. O., with coat off, hit one from the shoulder

Who is R. H. Halbert? "He is a farmer like ourselves," said Reeve Landon, that was enough and had he received a better hearing. Who is he? "I am a Tory," said Mr. Halbert, "if you want to know my politics. I was born that way and brought up at the feet of Gamaliel." What kind of a speaker is he? Well for speed he is like 100 Liberty motors put together. The writer took Sir George E. Foster by longhand, and took him verbatim, but this man can get all around the track before George E. Foster gets well started, and Sir George E. Foster is supposed to be able to talk faster than any other man in Canada. It would be just about as easy to catch up to a shooting star for a longhand writer to keep up, and the best shorthand writer in Canada would be a block or two behind him at every turn.

Sparks from Halbert's Anvil.

"I am glad to see the women here. A young man, just married, went on his honeymoon alone, and when asked for the reason, said that he was excited and couldn't think of everything."

"I make my living just the same as you do, by feeding pigs, and you have stopped in a hog pen to make $10 and then allowed another person to take it out of your pocket."

"I will apologize to The Globe, they object to my statement that the press is subsidized. I will say then it is misused and acting like soothing syrup upon the people. You know we have converted The Globe, it is a Tory paper now."

"The Farmer never sets the price. Take some eggs and butter to the merchant, and he sets the price he will pay for them, and then if you want to buy something from him he sets the price again."

"The Farmers did not go to Ottawa to ask exemption as a class"

"The politicians at Ottawa told us that we would not stick together, that is Quebec and one, that all they had to do was to raise the race and creed cry and the farmers would crowd around them like a flock of sheep."

"A C. P. R. trainman told him that he paid $8 per year to belong to his society, but there are too many farmers afraid to invest 10 cents to join and extract from the remarks that which may apply to the betterment of our community. Let us take courage, push on and the outcome will be satisfactory.

On behalf of the U. F. O. I welcome you all to these grounds, urban or rural residence, especially Mr. Halbert, of Toronto, President of the United Farmers of Ontario, whom I know will delight and give us much information in regards to this very important question of Farmers Organization. I thank you very much for your kind attention.

Mr. G. H. Loney

Mr. Loney, when called upon to speak, remarked that there must be a mistake, as he was no speaker, although he was President of this Club. He remarked however that he can do lots of work, but speaking is not in his line. "It affords me," said Mr. Loney, "pleasure to welcome you here today. The farmers have been sitting in the back ground long enough, they have now got their eyes open, and are coming to the front."

Mr. N. S. Landon

Reeve Landon, of Eastnor, was well received, and after saying, "Ladies and Gentlemen" he did not forget to add "Fellow Farmers." "I suppose you think that there is nothing up on the Peninsula but ground hogs. I am a sample of what is up there, and about 40 of us are here to attend this picnic. This whole affair is organized from special standpoint. Politics have separated us long enough." And then Mr. Landon paid a deserved compliment to the President of the U. F. O.

a Club. They first want to see how they can get the money back." "This country has given $50 to railroads for every one dollar it has given to agriculture."

"They tell us that we are not producing enough. Well, we work all night, and the farm now is like heaven—there is no night there."

"Respect your calling and then we can compel the Premier to sit up and listen."

"The farmer has an 8 hour day, it is 8 in the forenoon and 8 in the afternoon, and he does chores the balance of the time."

"If a farmer were paid 30 cents per hour he would be able to retire at 65 worth $43,000."

"In Canada we are supposed to have a government by the people but subsidized interests rule Canada like the autocracy of the Old World."

"Four thousand farmers walked to the Parliament Buildings, which we had helped to build, and we were refused admission. We thought that the men we sent with were our servants, but we found that they were our masters."

"You never can get a farmer to sit in the front seat where he belongs, he always wants to sit in the back seat near the door."

The Speech Itself

R. H. Halbert thought it a good thing to get together at this picnic even though they would be censured for taking a few hours away from their arduous duties.

"We at a gathering of this nature are supposed to make a speech without saying anything. Well, perhaps some men can do this but I cannot."

"In times like these there should be no parties. Grit and Tory should be buried. Not the individuals, but the spirit. It is supposed to be dead in the Union Government, but is it? (Cries of No! No!)—Farmers have been hoodwinked for years by the politician. They have not been told the true meaning of the term."

"The subsidized press has for long years been pouring the honeyed words into the ears of the populace and they have acted like soothing syrup. Politics, contrary to the general opinion, is not Grit or Tory Government, but the laws upon the statute books. Partisanship is the view, but politics is the science of government. Talk politics morning noon and night, but for goodness sake leave partisanship alone."

Did Cramer Engineer It

It has been said that the delegation which went to Ottawa from the Ontario farmers made arrangements to meet the Quebec delegates there. This is a falsehood. If there was any design in having the two parties meet there it was of the planning of Hon. T. A. Cramer, for he set the dates, as far as we are concerned. I was chairman of the deputation and know the facts.

"The farmers cannot be lined up as a rabble at any person's beck and call as some have said. Nothing so infamous has been ever done the agriculturalists as when the door was shut on our faces by the people at Ottawa, who should by all known laws of justice be our servants. They have taken their stand as our masters."

Changed Views of War

Referring to the fact that American troops on the streets of Toronto had been lustily cheered, the speaker declared that the war must certainly be working mighty changes.

AUCTION SALE

Young Cows and Calves

The undersigned has been instructed to offer for sale at the stables of the St. Alban's Hotel, Warton, on SATURDAY, JULY 13th, 1918, AT 2 O'CLOCK P.M.

ABOUT 8 OR 10 YOUNG COWS AND CALVES

TERMS: Five months credit will be given on approved joint notes. 1 per cent. per annum discount for cash.

G. W. BRADCOCK, Auctioneer

"Not so many years ago the hue and cry was sent to the very heavens that we did not want any truck nor trade with those Yankees. Now the same people who voiced this opinion are cheering the Yankee troops as they are going to fight beside our boys."

"The daylight saving bill was ridiculed inasmuch as it was not accomplishing what its name implied. 'The only man that ever saved daylight was Joshua and we have no Joshuas at Ottawa'

The benefits of organization and the great need of such action among the farmers were outlined by the speaker. Three reasons were named, on account of the need of social recreation which the meeting together would give, to secure their rights and because every trade and profession from the bootblack to the preacher is organized. Many of them are in opposition to the agriculturist.

Question of Immigration

"Speaking of our rights we do not even get a doubtless with the Doukhobor and the Galician, who by the way, are exempted from military service. They have been helped on honest grounds in the West, and kept up until they could obtain a living from their farm. Have any of our boys been treated with the same compassion? Have they had their way paid out there and put into a house already built for them and provided with food and clothing? No. They have had to shift for themselves as far as the Government is concerned."

"It is not patriotism to unload the public treasury and allow it to be robbed by capitalists and monopolists. They tell us the wonders the hydro-electric is going to perform for the farmer. It is said that he will be able to accomplish more than ever with its aid. Well, if our day is to be made any longer the company with an excellent plant and an increase in the Georgian Bay business."

The above will be interesting reading. This removal of the whole plant has been a rumor for six years, but conditions have now reached the stage that we better bestir ourselves. The company's warehouses in both Warton and Owen Sound are played out, and the company intended to rebuild for their whole trade either here or in Owen Sound. They will centralize their work, and it will be in either one place or the other where the warehouses, shipping and general offices will be located. This town does not want to lose its position as headquarters for the Dominion Fish Co. The company are considering the erection of their old plant here as well as in Owen Sound, and if the organized bodies in the town can prevail upon them to remain here they will have performed a good service."

"The men who are shouting patriotism the loudest are not always the most patriotic. Joe Flavell said 'To hell with the profits,' but he consented to inject brine into the bacon. The last refuge of a coward and a skunk is a cry of patriotism."

"Our country is mortgaged, and the second mortgage is being placed on it in the Victory Loan. You, as farmers, if you are not thoroughly organized, will pay the lion's share of the debt in increased taxation."

"The Chamber of Commerce, which refused to have anything to do with us farmers, is having a banquet in Toronto soon, and one of the toasts will be to the farmer. Who will reply to it? For we will be like the label on the beer bottle, on the outside. The reply will be given by some lawyer or capitalist who knows no more of agriculture than a hog does of making Johnny cake."

Day of Individualism Past

We must have guns and men to man them. We also need men to stand behind the men at the guns. The world has been crucified by greed and lust for power, and it will never be saved until the money changers have been called off. The day of individualism is past. Civilization and co-operation have always gone hand in hand. The future belongs to the progressive races of mankind."

"While we have supposedly had in Canada a government by the people, the monopolists and subsidized interests have ruled more despotically than the autocrats of Russia. We have borne the heat and burden of the day long enough. We have rooted in the garbage cans at the back doors of the legislative halls for the crumbs of justice with which we have hitherto had to be satisfied until we can afford to no longer. We have carried on our backs, barons, knights and sirs, and we are coming to the dawn of a new era. If blood be the price of sovereignty, have we not paid in full? Let us be careful for only by eternal vigilance can we hope to maintain our liberty."

Full fuel for fighters. Save it.

Will Dominion Fish Co. Move their Plant to Owen Sound?

(Owen Sound Times)

"The visit here last week of prominent members of the Booth Fishing Co., of Chicago, of which the Dominion Fish Company and the Dominion Transportation Company are subsidiary concerns may result in a big change being made in the company's arrangements on the south end of the Georgian Bay. The company was composed of Messrs T. W. Triggs, general manager; C. W. Koehler, chief engineer, and W. D. Clark, superintendent of the fishing department. They were accompanied from the Sea by Mr. John J. Noble, manager of the Dominion Transportation Company, and the Dominion Fish Company. While here they met Mr. John McAulay, superintendent of the company's plant at Warton. Mr. F. N. Rutter, superintendent of the Owen Sound division of the C. P. R., and Mr. S. L. Squire, of the Fishery Department of the Provincial Government. While the details of their visit are not generally known, it is a safe conclusion that they consider that reconstruction of the docks of the company's plant, at the north end of the C. P. R. slip, the erection of a large freezer building and a warehouse with local offices attached. This would mean the concentration of the company's shipping business at this port and would involve a large expenditure of money. Nothing definite can be learned as to the immediate prospects of the work being undertaken, but in conversation with those who are in a position to know, it is a safe inference that the not distant future will see a very large undertaking launched to supply the company with an excellent plant and an increase in the Georgian Bay business."

The above will be interesting reading. This removal of the whole plant has been a rumor for six years, but conditions have now reached the stage that we better bestir ourselves. The company's warehouses in both Warton and Owen Sound are played out, and the company intended to rebuild for their whole trade either here or in Owen Sound. They will centralize their work, and it will be in either one place or the other where the warehouses, shipping and general offices will be located. This town does not want to lose its position as headquarters for the Dominion Fish Co. The company are considering the erection of their old plant here as well as in Owen Sound, and if the organized bodies in the town can prevail upon them to remain here they will have performed a good service."

Mr. John Clancy and children, of Durand, Mich., were holidaying with this former's brother, Mr. R. J. Clancy. Mr. Clancy, who is a former Greenock boy, has made exceptional progress up the ladder in the G. T. R. service. He is now train master at Durand, which is an important divisional point across the line. Before entering the railroad service, Mr. Clancy took a course in the old Walkerton Business College.

A sad drowning accident occurred at Paisley on Saturday afternoon, the victim being Gordon Bailey, the only son of Mrs. Joseph Bailey, Gordon, who was a bright lad of ten years was bathing in the swimming pool near the Saugeen bridge and got beyond his depth. His body was found in about fifteen minutes and Dr. Hunsan and George did everything in their power to resuscitate the lad but without success. Besides his mother, Gordon leaves one little sister, Margaret. His father died about six years ago. Mrs. D. McKerscher is an aunt of the lad and on learning of the accident, Mr. and Mrs. McKerscher went to Paisley Saturday night.

Tony Mercy, a local veteran of the Franco-Prussian War of 1871-72, celebrated his 72nd birthday this Thursday in a hale and vigorous state. Tony was born in Lorraine, France, in 1847, was a drummer in the French army at Sedan, and after witnessing the disastrous defeat of his troops, fled from the battlefield. For some remarkable demonstration of heroism he was made an officer, but was taken a prisoner a few days later by the Prussians and placed in an internment camp. The story of his escape from bondage after only a days incarceration is a tribute alike to his craftiness, and to the slipperiness of the prisoner the enemy took. The fact that the war records don't stop and dwell with any particular emphasis on Tony's case shows a carelessness on the part of historians that is almost painful to contemplate. As the Prussians, however had set a price on his head, it is proof that they didn't underestimate the value of the man who had escaped, and as money was scarce in those days, Tony must have had to do some artful dodging to elude the Jews, who were plentiful in that district and had the same failing for cash as ever. As Tony had the charm of seeing his birthplace Lorraine, pass into the hands of the Prussians, he is trying to live through the present war to see it pass back again, after which he will be content to take the easy and cross the border.

At a meeting of the School Board on Monday evening Miss B. Gries was engaged as assistant teacher in the continuation school and Miss A. Tugman as principal of the public school. Miss Cornforth handed in her resignation which was accepted. The Board will advertise for a principal for the continuation school and a teacher for the primary room of the public school.

The Devotion Service at Tara cemetery on Sunday afternoon was marred by the rain. The Oddfellows had arranged to have the Salvation Army Band from Owen Sound for the occasion and many others from out side towns would undoubtedly have been in attendance but for the inclement weather. The most successful Garden Party of the season was held on the beautiful grounds of Mr. John Crawford, Esq., at Arvon, last Friday evening.

The household united between Tara and Dunblane moved to be an exciting affair and the large crowd thronged around the house. Dunblane was in all well and several fine runs before the Tara youngsters had a look at him. In the last three minutes Tara pulled together and scored the second victory 7-2. Tara's presence of the being played off. After the game a good programme of songs, speeches, recitations, etc., brought a most enjoyable evening to a close. The proceeds of the gate amounted to $215.00 and at the booth to over $800.00. The Garden Party was under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Arkwright Methodist Church.

An old pioneer of this district passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Allan Ramsay, on Wednesday of last week, in the person of Mrs. J. Barber at the advanced age of 89 years, 11 months and 19 days. Her maiden name was Margaret Morrow and was born in the County of Down, Ireland, in 1845. She came to Canada settling near Peterborough. In 1848 she was married to Mr. James Barber and seven years ago they came to Doris Township, settling on the Bruce Line. Here they resided until thirty-three years ago when they retired to Tara.

How Is Your Appetite?

Lack of appetite during the summer months is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people—especially women go too long without food and so naturally become food weary, listless, and it is no wonder that they complain that they are constantly tired and unable to stand the hot weather. This simply means that the digestive system is not doing proper work, and that the nutriment that should come from the food is not being distributed to the various organs of the body. In other words the blood is growing thin and watery.

You need a summer tonic and in all the realm of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills now and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good, your strength will return and you will no longer complain that the hot weather tires you out.

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old time energy.

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

couldn't have a barrel of suds prescribed for his ailment, when a thimble full of the moisture would do. As a record is kept of all such prescriptions, any pillman making a run on booze is liable to do some high financing in court.

Of the three military appeals in Class B, which were heard before the Walkerton Tribunal on June 12th, Oscar E. Sognmiller, druggist at Midway was exempted from military service, while the applications of Talbot, Russ, grocery clerk of Walkerton and Al. Kih, farmer of Formosa, were disallowed, which means that the latter two will show up into khaki.

Over 600 autos were counted at the Carriack campmeeting near Decemerton on Sunday afternoon as against 100 horses and rigs present. As nearly all the cars belonged to farmers the way times have changed since the days when the agricultural slogan was "keep the autos off the road" shows how contradictory life is in this particular stretch of cow country.

Two military police who have been operating in Walkerton and vicinity arrested John Herman near Midway, last week, and had him removed to London where he will be arraigned as a defaulter.

Mr. Moses Fibinger, reeve of Carriack, will appear before Magistrate James Tolton in Walkerton, this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to answer to a complaint laid by a Dominion policeman, in which Moses is accused of having made some disloyal and seditious statements.

Dornoch and its vicinity lost one of its pioneers and representative men in the person of Phillip McIntosh who died at the ripe age of 87 years, 10 months, at his daughter's residence, Mrs. D. McDonald, in Bentinck, on June 20th. The deceased who was born in Dornoch, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, came to Dornoch in the year 1812 with his parents and therefore spent his whole life in the community.

conducting the business of general merchant and for nearly forty years being postmaster at Dornoch in which work his integrity, carefulness and accuracy were ever acknowledged. His wife died a little over a year ago, since which time he has been an invalid at the home of his daughter. Four daughters, Mrs. D. McDonald, of Bentinck; Mrs. McLean, wife of a Gospel Baptist minister; Mrs. Wagner, of Victoria, R. C.; Mrs. Blake, of Toronto, and one son, Mr. George McIntosh, of Collingwood, are left.

Mr. George A. McGeath's Ford car was taken from his lawn during the early hours of Monday morning. Mr. McGeath discovered, after a search next morning, near the Grand Trunk station with one of the axle broken, joy rides with stolen cars has been quite a popular pastime in Toronto and other cities for some time but it seems as if it is just coming "the vogue" in Hanover now. Probably those who are responsible for the theft did not realize what a serious affliction they were committing, for Toronto Magistrates hand out stiff penalties for this sort of thing.

Major George H. Musgrave of Hanover, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Order, the second most coveted decoration bestowed by the British Army and only superseded by the Victoria Cross. The news was received in a telegram by Mrs. Musgrave on Tuesday.

The marriage of Miss Tena Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Messerschmidt, of Hanover, to Mr. Robert Herbert, of Mitchell, took place in the Lutheran church, Toronto, last Thursday. Rev. Mr. Miller officiating. The bride was attired in grey silk, and her "going away" suit was of navy blue. They were unattended. The church was nicely decorated with fern and flowers for the event. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert spent their honeymoon at Buffalo and upon their return will take up residence in Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. William Ahrens, of Hanover attended the wedding.

CHESLEY

Last Thursday afternoon, while cleaning a dress with gasoline in the summer kitchen of her home, the wife of the editor of the paper met with a painful and serious accident by the gasoline in some unaccountable way igniting while she was pouring the gasoline she had been using from one vessel to another. Some of the gasoline splashed on the front of her dress and Mrs. McDonald was in flames. She was in immediate danger of being burned to death but with great presence of mind hurried to the dining room and wrapped a thick rug around her body to protect the vital organs. She held the rug tightly to her body with her hands and arms. Miss Adelle Willsoughy, who lives opposite, heard her calls for help, rushed over, put out the remaining flames and phoned for medical help. In smothering the flames Mrs. McDonald's right arm from the wrist to the ends of her fingers was badly burned, as was also her right side, and her left arm from half-way between the elbow and wrist to the tips of her fingers. Mrs. McDonald is a woman of good vitality and has stood the shock splendidly. Though the burns cover about one-sixth of her body, the two doctors who were called in are hopeful of her recovery unless complications set in. A preparation, known as Paracel, which is being used for dressing Mrs. McDonald's burns by the attending physician, means a long siege of suffering but the patient is bearing up bravely and is thankful to Providence that her life has been saved. It is also expected she will have the full use of both hands. Had Mrs. McDonald rushed out into the air where the flames would have been fanned into a greater blaze, instead of wrapping the rug around her to smother the flames, she would not likely be alive today. Both her daughters had left the house only a few minutes before the accident occurred.

Our townsman, Mat Johnson, received a telegram on July 1st containing the sad news that his son Pte. M. E. Johnson was officially reported admitted to the Fifth General Hospital at Rouen on June 23rd with gunshot wound in lower extremities. Another son, Thomas, was also quite severely wounded last summer and his son Herbert died of wounds. Mr. Johnson is surely having a bad share of trouble out of this world war. His many friends here will hope to hear shortly that Pte. Johnson's wounds are not serious.

The Inspector of the Underwriters' Association which classifies the fire insurance of a municipality, will surely put Chesley up a notch after the test on June 26th. He drops in unheralded unpreparedness being his motto. Vice Chief Kreiger with both straps

Country School Teaching Has Aid

Keeps the Brain Brighter and Work is Much Less Monotonous—Opportunities for Getting Close to Nature—Country Children Are More Studious

(Toronto Star Weekly)

Every occupation seems to have its own special advantages. At least this was the philosophical way a young woman put it to me. She had large intelligent blue eyes, and a face that wore a smile, and polished manner that spoke refinement. We met by chance.

We soon grew friendly and talked on generalities, finally considering the present conditions of business and the way that women have been brought so prominently into commercial life. It was then that she reminded me that every occupation has its own advantages. "Look at my work, or profession as some may choose to call it. I am a country school teacher, and I presume you wonder why I do not teach school in the city. I am city bred and know city life. I can have a position on the teaching staff of the city schools but I much prefer the country."

To be real frank I was surprised to learn that she was teaching in the country, and I felt like saying, "Why do you prefer the country, shut away from the city advantages and comforts? And her attractiveness and education, her ability, all made the subject the more puzzling to me.

"I presume you are like all my friends," she went on, "you wonder why I seclude myself in the country when I can have a position on the city staff," and her big blue eyes seemed to take on a new brightness. "Well I'll be glad to tell you why I prefer it. First let me explain that I know city life. I have always felt that the country-bred boy or girl has the advantage over the city-bred people, for they have an education in living close to nature that the city people cannot acquire.

"Next, I chose teaching as a profession because I liked it and believe it has wonderful possibilities. I am convinced it is the noblest calling on the earth, barring none. Its only drawback is the small remuneration it brings to those who are engaged in it. School teachers are nation builders.

DEVELOPING BRIGHT BRAINS
"But why do I teach in the country, you still ask? Possibly one reason is my love for nature, my love for the big out-of-doors. True I know that one may go on Saturdays from the city to the country, but that is only a makeshift. The fields and woodlands I love to see in their winter garb as well as in their summer deckings. But the scope of teaching in the country is broader than in the city or town. The latter can give you but one grade, a monotonous ever and over teaching of the same things that dulls one's interest. Unless you exercise great care you become rusty, parrot like in the repetition of the same thing over and over again. You are liable to become intellectually rusty, if not lazy. In the country you have the entrance and you have the little tots of the primary grades and all in between. The variety heightens the interest. In a town grade the

Save the Children

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer. In most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand, to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer with lame muscles and stiffened joints because blood impurities have invaded the system and caused rheumatism.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Try it.

children in each grade are very near the same age at all times. For example the likes and dislikes of children from eight to ten years are so similar, even if each term does bring you a new class, that you lose interest in your work, term after term and year after year, you pursue the same lines and subjects. But in the country you have a little bit in your care (true almost in the case of school life) and you watch it develop. You become interested in it. And with such a mixed school the work is bound to become interesting because of its variety. It is the kind of work I enjoy and I much prefer the work for the lower grades to that of the higher.

"You may not be familiar with country school work, but the School Garden Course, inaugurated by the O. A. C., but now under and supported by the Educational Department of the Province, is a feature of school life that is not only practical, but unusually interesting. The teacher with the least spark of love of the outdoors in her will grow enthusiastic about it. I do, and so do my pupils. It brings you into closer touch with your pupils, and the teacher who does not get into close touch with her scholars does not know what she is missing.

It is this close touch that furnishes you the golden opportunity, for, in addition to sowing seeds in the ground, you may sow high and ennobling thoughts into their young minds that will not come forth for some years, but so sure as they live, some day that sowing will bring forth blossom and bloom and bear fruit and some an hundredfold.

"The various prizes offered for this garden work stimulate a keen competitive interest in the work, and it is all such an agreeable change from the ordinary school work. See, too, what a wonderful effect this will have on the future farming community in our country. The up-to-date agriculturist of to-day farms a much with his head as with his hands. The time is past when the farmer simply plows his fields and sow his grain, and waits for a kind Providence and favorable weather to bring him a harvest. To-day he studies the chemical make-up of his soil, he studies fertilizers, he considers climatic conditions, crop rotation, moisture, drainage, seed selection, etc. all of which have an important bearing on his production. So you see how very essential that these children should have a good start. I know you say the many of these will go to the city and take up vocations at which this instruction will not be needed. I will admit it, but up to the present time has there not been a very great deal taught in our schools that is far from practical and the knowledge gained about the farm is not wasted.

"It would be a surprise to you to know just how much more interest country pupils take in their work than do the children who live in the towns and cities. They are more studious and make more progress. The country children ask so many more questions than do town children that the teacher must keep up with her general reading to be able to answer their queries.

"Of course I know all about the inconveniences of the country compared with the town or city. But there are many weeks that are simply charming in the country—the spring, when all is new and full of life."

SOUTHAMPTON

Summers come and summers go, but just as sure as the summer is the annual visit of Mrs. Kemper of Dayton Ohio, who for a score of years now has been spending the summer season at Southampton Beach, and she always receives a glad welcome from her many friends here. This year she has taken one of Mr. Walker's cottages at the Beach, and her daughters, Mrs. R. W. Huston, and Miss Elizabeth R. Kemper, both of Dayton, Ohio, are with her this season. Miss Byrne, who has previously been here with Mrs. Kemper, is expected along later in the season.

Mr. Roy McVittie, who has been teaching school at Mindemoya, on the Manitoulin Island, is here for the summer vacation. Ray is in the 19 year draft for military service, so he doesn't know whether he will return to school teaching when the fall term begins or not.

Mr. and Mrs. Malbie Melver accompanied by Mrs. Albert Varley, Mrs. Swallow, and Wm. Shular motored up from Port Stanley last Thursday and spent a week with relative and friend in town. Mr. Melver, who has been doing well in his fishing business on Lake Erie, says the basin this season have been the heaviest for some years.

Mr. Murchison, of Ripley, was here on July 1st trying to engage Indians to pull his flax crop, which is an extra good one this year. He didn't seem to be meeting with much success in securing help, but states that machines may now be had, though not perfect, will pull the flax much faster than by hand.

In the death of Mrs. Edward Stockfish on Wednesday June 28 a bright and promising life was brought to an early close. Annie Boddy was a native Southampton girl, and held this good will of one and all. Four years ago last Spring she was married to Mr. Edward Stockfish. For the past year she has suffered from pernicious anaemia and despite the best loving care and attention, she continued to decline until the end.

LAYING HENS REQUIRE LIME

Shell Forming Material Necessary in Egg Production—Oyster Shell Most Suitable.

Lime for shell-forming material is necessary in egg production. Some idea of the extent of the need is obtained from the fact that an average flock of 150 hens will produce 137 pounds of egg shells in a year. The grains fed supply a portion of this, but the supply is too small in proportion to the number of eggs a hen should be able to produce.

Oyster shell is most suitable for shell making. Old plaster may be used as a substitute. Egg shells may be saved, broken up fine and fed. Dry bones may be broken up and fed. The habit of egg eating often is caused by a lack of shell-forming food.

FEED AND WATER FOR COWS

Attention Should Be Given to Taste and Needs of Each Individual in Dairy Herd.

Do not feed the dairy herd as a herd, for cows differ in their food requirements just as human beings do. By feeding all cows in the herd alike, some are sure not to get enough to the greatest profit and others will get more than they can use to advantage.

Cows need much water and should be induced to drink two or three times a day if possible. The average milk cow requires nearly 10 gallons of water a day and more than two-thirds of that must come as drink and the balance from water in the feed.

Eat at least one wholesome meal a day.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! it is harmless.

Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer?

The tax rate in Chesley is now 36 mills. Chesley is making good progress.

The price of wheat has been fixed at $2.40 per bushel in the United States.

Dr. Cody, Minister of Education, says that the teachers must have higher salaries. The teachers will agree with him.

Our County tax this year is $4284-tax of $547.90, which makes the total tax $4832.28.

The Owen Sound Council has appointed a committee to select a site for an aerial landing place. They want to get ready for mail delivery.
They are evidently taking time by the forelocks.

A number of Ontario towns have contracted for wood in Algonquin Park. They anticipate a fuel short-not made any move, and it is up to every citizen to look out for himself.

It will be too late to think about this next winter, the thinking and acting should be done now.

At their picnics the farmers said very little about prices. President Hal-bert scarcely mentioned the retailer, the nigger on the fence he has no use for in the wholesaler. He evidently was satisfied with the present prices and has no kick. The one thing he did talk was politics. He calls politics the "science of government". He is correct there, but President Halbert intends to make his politics a little bit more than a definition or we failed to understand him.

The Farmers Picnics in this district have been a great success. What is the reason? What will be the result? We will allow others the privilege of answering these questions. One thing is sure so far as North Bruce is concerned and that is if the Farmers throughout the whole riding are as well organized as they are from Allenford up then they will be a distinct factor at the next elections because the outlet for these meetings — on politics as well as buying and selling. One thing is sure, any politician who has his ear to the ground knows that there is a storm brewing.
It is a social standpoint the picnic was the greatest success. These withers brought people together who have been utter strangers.

W. P. L. NOTES

An official reply to an inquiry says:
"It is not necessary to obtain a license to serve refreshments at lawn socials, bazaars, tea meetings, public or private luncheons, etc., even where 15 or more persons are present, but the Canada Food Board Orders must be observed."

The Ladies sent a parcel to ex-chief Wilson and a reply was received saying that it was reported that he had been "killed in action". Everyone remembers this efficient ex-chief and will learn the news with regret.

The W. P. L. has decided to support a Belgian child during the war at a cost of $3.00 per month. Also a Canadian prisoner of War, and a Serbian prisoner of War each at cost of $2 a month. On Monday evening they also gave a grant of $25 to the Salvation Arm Funds.

There are many Serbian prisoners of War who are now without a country to send them support, and without this support they are underfed. Accordingly a great effort is being made in the Allied Nations to send them support. Anyone wishing to contribute to this fund can send their donations to Mrs. S. J. Cameron.

The following letter was received at the meeting Monday evening.
To the Secretary of

The Womens Patriotic League
Dear Madam:—We have the honor of presenting your Society with enclosed cheque of $40 which was won by our Club at the Mount Forest Tournament.
Wishing your organization every success, we are

Yours Sincerely,
The Warton Lawn Bowling Club.
Rev. J. E. Thompson, President
G. E. Reckling, Sec.-Treasurer
Needless to say the ladies appreciate the gift from the two risks who brought honor to the town in winning the prizes, and also the kind thought that prompted the Mt. Forest bowlers to give their prizes in money to this worthy cause in helping the boys at the front who will see that even in our sports their welfare is uppermost in our minds.

OLIPHANT

Oliphant is assuming its usual summer characteristics. Autos are constantly coming in laden with eager looking children, and pleasant-faced seniors and loads of supplies. Furniture and baggage are being transported daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mair, of Buffalo, have joined the house party on Montrose Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell, of Cincinnati
U. S., have again taken up their abode on Smoke House accompanied by their three children.

Dr. and Mrs. Nichol and family, of Brantford, are in their cottage on the south shore and Mr. and Mrs. Greig of the same town are visiting them.

Mrs. Heather has joined her mother and children a Bide a wee camp.

A merry party from Waterloo spent the holidays on the 1st of July at Mr. Bechtle's cottage "Merry-go-round" and Miss Biggs is remaining there for some days.

Miss Watson, and niece of Galt, is spending a few days at her camp on Sylvan Point. Later Mr. Warren and family of Toronto will occupy it.

Mrs. McAllister and family of Toronto, with her daughter, Mrs. Heather of Kitchener, are in Mr. Manley's cottage for the rest of the season.

Mrs. Humphrey has joined her sister Mrs. Foster, from Waterloo in the summer cottage owned by Mrs. Hay.

Miss Dunham and niece of Warton, are spending a few days on Rabbit Island.

Mr. W. H. Hopkins, of Tobermoy towed Mr. T. J. Walsh's boat down from that place and spent a short time at Oliphant on Monday.

Miss Christie McKenzie returned to Detroit on Saturday. Her two weeks holidays passed very rapidly.

Mrs. R. G. McDonald is going to remain at home for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. King and daughter, of Hamilton, are here now and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Kitchener with their two nephews. Mr. and Mrs. Beasley of Hamilton motored out for a week end with Mrs. Beasley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark and the Misses Clark of Toronto, are settled again in their summer home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Owen Sound were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M.
McKenzie over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull and family of Toronto are in Mr. Nelson's cottage on the island.

The Misses Hayes and Flemings have also arrived and are in their comfortable island cottages.

Mr. McCreedy, of London, landed the "giant bass" at the dock last week.
It was a beauty and none larger has been caught here for twenty years.
He presented it to friends.

The storm on the 1st drove the water higher than it has been for many years. Several people living near the shore were somewhat worried, but when the wind went down, the lake resumed its normal condition.
However the water is higher this year than it has been for several years previous.

Mr. G. Eyre, of Hope Bay, visited his mother on Monday.

MAR

Quite a number from here attended the Farmers Picnic at Centreville on Monday.

Mr. Joseph Adams had two very successful bees last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney McKay and family, Lions Head, visited Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sunday.

Miss Nettie Weir entertained a number of her friends at a quilting Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams and family Adamsville, spent Sunday at Joseph Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Weir accompanied by Mrs. James Caldwell and Mrs. A.
Weir, sr., left on a motor trip to Palmerston and Harrieston Wednesday.

Mr. Roy Hardman met with a serious accident Saturday while blasting a stone. The fume went off hitting him in the hand and eyes.

The average man appreciates his wife's temper so much that he doesn't like to have her lose it.

WHERE WILL LABOR COME FROM FOR CAMPS THIS FALL?

(Canadian Lumberman)

It is a pertinent question just now with woods operators, where are they going to secure men for the camps during the coming season? Time is passing rapidly and August is drawing very near, when the first contingents will be leaving for the bush. It is alright to adopt a trust-to-lock policy in some things, and to take no thought of the morrow in others, but when the present labour situation is reviewed, a very different attitude may have to be adopted.

The output of timber last season fell off twenty-five to forty per cent of what was taken out the winter before, and every year since the outbreak of the war there has been a decrease in the quantities of logs reaching the different mills. The help problem was perplexing enough last season, but it will be worse this year owing to the rigid provisions of the M. S. A., and the thorough combing the country has received of all eligibles for overseas service. The one compensating advantage is that under the new anti-loafing law, every man, no matter what his nationality, must work. This has helped out in some mills, and in one northern centre it is reported that about five hundred rich Austrians and others who had been making good money and carrying a round their persons, were forced to find employment.

In the engagement of help, employment bureaus have always played an important part. These agencies have been denounced by some companies as being unreliable, extortionate and dishonest. While many firms have employment managers of their own, they have found it necessary, particularly of late years, to use employment bureaus in order to get sufficient men for the camps. With the competition it has not been any part in a storm. The agencies are far from perfect; they will not always stand the test of inspection as to their systems and business methods, and too often they have mere money making as their end. But until some better plan is devised it looks as if the employment bureau will have to be resorted to by logging concerns.

I have been stated that the Ontario Government intends taking over all the employment business, now then regulation has been enforced, and distribute the labor as needed. The provincial authorities have certainly done remarkably fine work in connection with the Organization of Resources Committee and scores of persons, young and old, have been sent to the farms. Whether in a more extended sphere, matters would move as freely and satisfactorily is an item of conjecture. Supposing several companies applied to a government bureau at the same time for an equal number of hands, how would the limited available supply be divided up, or would the companies that came first be served first and no men be left for the others? One can foresee all sorts of confusion and misunderstanding might arise were the provincial body to undertake exclusively what is now being done by private enterprises.

There can be no forced regulation of wages the same as there is of food, but there might be some move adopted to prevent certain practices which employment agencies have tried to use in the past, by intimating to a gang when sending them to camp "Well boys if you do not like it up there you need not stay. Just come back and we will see what we can do for you somewhere else". Labor of the kind that works in the woods is restless enough without being encouraged and abetted in its uneasy attitude by scheming employment agencies. On the other hand there seems no quick and available way of getting rough labor except through these mediums.
One northern firm, who wanted a few men the other day to peel hemlock bark, and its man to every town and city in the neighborhood offering the highest wages, and not half a dozen hands were secured. The representative then came to Toronto and made his wants known, and the wages that would be paid. There was not much difficulty in getting all the help that was required.

Another difficulty in the way of abolishing the employment bureau is that the foreigner knows nothing of any other system, and when he strikes a large centre the bureau are the first places he visits. Time has become established this custom and it will take time to eradicate it. The foreigner is always suspicious of the government, after painful experiences in Europe, and naturally think that all powers that prevail are alike. Thus he may fight shy of government operated bureaux. There are many sides of the question to be considered, and it is hoped that the best means available will be provided for the good and welfare of the lumber industry as a whole.

Buy Men's and Boys' Clothing Now!

When we say that the materials from which our Men's and Boys' Clothing are made were bought months and months ago, and you know, if you have paid any attention to market conditions, that we must have bought them at a price much lower than we could buy them for to-day. And when we say that we are selling them at our usual percentage of profit, based on what we bought them for, it means better materials as well as a big saving to you.

S. J. PARKE,
Treasurer of Warton

WANTED—A girl for general housework, no washing. Apply to Mrs. James Symon.

The Young Girls Red Cross were the recipients of a large number of roses from the beautiful rose gardens of Mr. Alex. McNeill, which they sold to the bowlers and others for quite a large sum, and the money goes towards the Serbian and Belgian Prisoners' Relief Fund.

MILLER LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd were here last Sunday. Mr. Boyd officiated at the Sunday service here instead of Mr. Eltherington.

Mr. Angus Rouse and his brother Pte. J. Rouse made a trip to Warton this week.

Mr. S. C. Weatherhead made a trip to Lions Head on Tuesday.

Mr. John Boyle was a visitor to Lions Head on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rouse passed thru here on Thursday morning on their way home.

Mr. Herbert McMaster, of Ferndale, was up here on Thursday.

Mrs. D. Martin, Mrs. H. Eech and family were at Stokes Bay on Friday.

Mr. J. Boyle, who has been spending some of the road money here is making a very good job of the road.

The rain played a trick last Sunday on the people going to church. Some got as far as Mr. M. Sadlers' and a few got to the church. As each party thought that they were the only ones out they had two services, one at Mr. Sadlers' and one at the church.

Mr. M. Sadler, who had his windmill destroyed by the God Friday storm, two or three years ago, has it all repaired and in good shape for pumping. He has also built two large cement tanks to hold water in reserve.

—Mrs. Thomas Lee and daughter, Guelph, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keefer.

The many friends of Mrs. George King will regret to learn that he went to the Owen Sound Hospital this week where he will undergo an operation.

The regular meeting of the W. M. S. was held in the school room of St. Paul's Church Tuesday evening, July 9th. Reports of the annual meeting of the Owen Sound Presbyterian were read by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Patterson, sr.

Miss Marion Heughan, who is a niece of Mayor McEwan's and a cousin of Mrs. R. Ward's, has had an exciting experience in the danger zone. The Walkerton Herald says:—An echo from the big German offensive of March has reached town in the form of a letter from Nursing Sister Miss Margaret Heughan, who was on duty at a base hospital in France when Fritz sprung his big surprise attack and made his most sensational advance of that year. The town in which her hospital was located was captured by the Huns, who haven't shown any too nice regard for Red Cross or Hospital work. The fact that Margaret and the other nurses assisted to get their patients away safely before vacating the spot themselves, demonstrating that she had to show some speed in getting away before the Boches came in. She seems to have won by a neck, as she was able only to rescue merely the clothes she had on, the rest of her belongings falling into the hands of the foe when they cleaned up on the town. After tramping 20 miles she and some of the nurses concealed themselves in an old cattle shed and here they remained until picked up some hours later by a Red Cross wagon and conveyed far back of the lines to the safety zone.

There was very little business before the Council Monday evening. A communication was received from the Mount Forest Casket Co., wanting to know if the Judge had given his decision yet re the Canada Casket Co. Plant. The Council passed a motion authorizing the construction of a sewer on Scott Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Urbahott returned home Monday evening after a month's visit to friends in Alberta and British Columbia. Fred likes the West, if he were a young man he would pack up and hike for that country. He enjoyed the trip through the Rockies. In speaking of the crops he stated that parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan will have good crops, but generally speaking the outlook is not good, particularly in Southern Alberta.

On Monday afternoon Mr. John Dawson, who lives near Hepworth, had his horse tied to a post near Crane's garage. A car going into the garage frightened the horse which broke the line with which it had been tied and bolted up the street. The car was soon put by and it rushed to pieces but the horse was not injured.

Mildred turned her head. "To be frank with you, I never liked this enterprise of Boyd's. Now that I have seen the place and the people—well, I can't say that I like it better."

"The country is a bit different, but the people are much the same to Kalvik and in Chicago. You will find no unscrupulous men and unscrupulous women everywhere."

Mildred gave her a cool glance that took her in from head to foot.

"And vice versa, I dare say. You speak from a wider experience than I." With a careless and she picked her way toward the house, a few friends were already assembling.

She was angry and suspicious. Her pride was hurt because she had not been able to feel superior to the other women. Instead, she had found herself in the weak reserve of Hammond, while Cherry had been simple and direct. She had expected to recognize instantly the type of person with whom she had to deal, but she found herself baffled. Who was this woman? What was she doing here? Why had Boyd never told her of this extraordinary intimacy? Boyd must either give up Cherry or—

During the talk between the two young women, Constantine had kept at a respectful distance, but when Mildred had gone he came up to Cherry with the question:

"Who is that?"

"That is Miss Wayland. That is the richest girl in the world, Constantine."

"Humph!"

"And the pity of it is she doesn't understand how very rich she is. Her father owns all these canneries and may more besides and lots of railroads. But you don't know what a railroad is, do you?"

"Maybe him rich as Mr. Marsh, eh?"

"A thousand times richer. Mr. Marsh works for him the way you work for me."

"She sure has more than you do," he added with a reluctant nod.

"Maybe that's how Mr. Marsh, eh? While men all work for Mr. Marsh. He no work for nobody."

"No; it is true. Mr. Marsh knows how rich he is, and that is why he wants to marry her."

The broad wheeled smile, his soft eyes crinkling at the corners.

"Mr. Marsh want marry her?" he repeated, as if doubting his ears.

"Yes. That is why he has fought Mr. Emerson. They both want to marry her. That is why Mr. Marsh took Mr. Emerson's machinery and lived his men away from him and cut his nets. There have each other. Do you understand?"

"He savvy?" said Constantine shortly, then strode on beside the girl "Mr. Marsh all the time Mr. Emerson got marry you."

Cherry gasped. "No, no. Why he is in love with Miss Wayland."

"She no do marry her?"

"Then Mr. Marsh will get her, I dare say."

After a moment Constantine announced with conviction: "I guess Mr. Marsh is had man."

"I'm glad you have discovered that. He has even tried to kill Mr. Emerson. That shows the sort of man he is."

"It's good thing you got marry," said Constantine vaguely. "The father say if woman don't marry she go to hell."

"I would like to think that," laughed the girl.

"That's true," the other affirmed stoutly. "The price he say so, and price don't lie. He say man takes a woman and don't get marry they both go to hell and burn forever. Bimble little baby come, and he go to hell too."

"Oh, I understand. The father wants to make sure of his people, and he is quite right. You natives haven't observed the law very carefully."

"He say Indian woman stop with white man, she never get marry, none more. She go to hell, and baby go too. You s'pose that's true?"

"I dare say it is in a way."

"By gosh! That's tough on little baby," exclaimed Constantine fervently.

CHAPTER XX.

ALL that night Boyd stayed at his post, while the canvas building—battered and bowed to the strains of the day's work and the gasping breath of the furnaces. As the darkness gathered he had gone out upon the dock to look regretfully toward the twinkling lights on the Grande Dune, then turned doggedly back to his labors. He would have said Mildred word, but he had not a single man to spare.

At 10 o'clock the next morning he suggested into his quarters and then, as he lay in bed, was a great thankfulness that Big George had not found him wanting. The last defective machine was mended, the last weak strength was added, and the plant had reached its fullest stride. The day might come now in any quantity; the rest was but a matter of coal and iron and human endurance. Meanwhile he would sleep.

He met "Fingerless" Fraser emerging, decked royally in all the splendor of new clothes and spotless linen.

"Where are you going?" Boyd asked him.

"I'm going out into society."

"Clyde is taking you to the yacht, eh?"

"No. He's afraid of my work, so I'm going out on my own. He told me all about the swell society of Marsh's place, so I thought I'd jump up there and look them over. I may cop an interest."

He winked wisely. "I see you look like a gentleman. I'm glad to see some blood. He says there ain't one that's got less than a couple of millions in his kirk."

Boyd was too weary to do more than turn his head and look at the man. He seemed to have gone far to save a young woman seated in a patch of wild flowers, plucking the blossoms with careless hand, like a child in the beauty of the bright air.

She was dressed, yet looked so prosperous that Fraser instantly decided:

"That's her! I'll spread my wings with this one. Good morning!" he bowed.

The girl gave him an indifferent glance from two fearless eyes and nodded slightly.

"If you don't mind, I'm sorry to interrupt you. I'm out for my morning walk. It's a nice day, isn't it?"

She did not answer but ran on glibly: "My name is de Beauville. I'm one of the New Orleans branch. Think my canny down a yonder."

He pointed in the direction from which he had just come.

"I thought that was Mr. Emerson's cannery," she said.

"Oh, the ideal! He only runs it for me. I put up the money. You know him, eh?"

The girl nodded. "Yes. I know Mr. Clyde also."

"Who, Alton?" he queried with reassurance. "Why, you and I have got mutual friends. Alton and me is pals. He shook his head solemnly. "Ain't he a scoundrel?"

"I beg your pardon."

"Yes, ain't he an awful thing? He ain't married, is he?"

There a ring uttered swallow all right, all right! I like him."

"Are you very intimate with him?"

"Am I? I'm closer to him than a horse's tail. When Boyd ain't around I'm him, that's all. Is that your yacht?"

"No. My father and I are merely passengers."

"So you trailed the old skeezicks along with you? Well, that's right. Make the most of your father while you've got him. If I'd paid more attention to mine I'd have been better off now. But I'm a wild!"

Fraser winked in a manner to inform his listener that all worldly wisdom was Boyd's.

"I wanted to be a jockey, and the old party cut me off. What I've got now is made all by myself, but if I'd stayed in Bloomington I might have been president of the bank by this time."

"Bloomington? I understood you to say New Orleans."

"My old man had a whole string of banks. Fraser roared heartily.

"Tell me—Is Mr. Emerson ill?" asked the girl.

"I'll enough to lick a den of wildcats."

"He intended coming out to the yacht last night, but he disappointed me."

"He's as busy as an ant hill. I met him turning in just as I came out for my constitutional."

"Where had he been all night?" Her voice betrayed an interest that Fraser was quick to detect. He answered calmly:

"You can search him! I don't keep cases on him. As long as he does his work I don't care where he goes at night. He's a good fellow."

He resumed that he was a good fellow. "There seem to be very few white women in this place," she said after a pause.

"Only one, I'm told. You people came. Marsh you've crossed her trail?"

Mr. Emerson told me about her. He seems quite fond of her."

"I've always said they'd make a swell looking pair."

his eyes eloquently. "I'm strong for matrimony. I am. It's the crowd blood in me."

She gathered up her wild flowers and rose, saying:

"I'll go with you." He jumped to his feet with alacrity.

"Thank you. I prefer to walk alone."

"Declined with thanks?" he murmured. "I'll need a car and a chauffeur to handle her. I think I'll build a car and a chauffeur and then I'll be some bonfire and then out. She must own the mine."

At the upper cannery Mildred found Alton Clyde with the younger Berry. They were sitting on a bench and talking earnestly with him for several minutes.

"All right," he said at length. "I'm glad to get out of company. The rest is up to you."

Mildred's lips were white and her voice hard as she cried:

"I am thoroughly sick of it all! I have played the fool long enough!"

"Look here," Clyde objected weakly, "you may be mistaken, and it doesn't look like quite the square thing to do." But she silenced him with an angry gesture.

"I want that to me. I'm through with him."

"All right. Let's bust up the governor. Together they went to the office in search of Wayne Wayland.

A half hour later Alton Clyde rejoined Miss Berry, saying that he seemed ill at ease, noticed down the bay with a worried, speculative look in his colorless eyes.

Boyd Emerson roared from his death-like slumber late in the afternoon, still in every muscle. He was in wretched plight physically, but his heart was slow and his mind was clear.

Big George was still at the trap, and the unceasing rumble from across the bay told him that the fish were still coming in. As he was finishing his breakfast a watch man appeared in the doorway.

"There's a bunch at the dock with some people from abroad," he announced. "I stepped them, according to orders, but they want to see you."

"Show them to the office," Boyd rose and went into the other building, where a moment later he was confronted by Wayne Wayland and Willis Marsh.

Marsh began:

"We heard about your good fortune. Mr. Wayland has come to look over your plant."

"It is not for sale."

"How many fish are you getting?"

"That is my business. He turned to Mr. Wayland. "I hardly expect to see you here. Haven't you insulted me enough?"

"Just a moment before you order me out. I'm a stockholder in this company. I put up the money. You know him, eh?"

"You a stockholder? How much stock do you own? Where did you get it?"

"I own 35,000 shares outright," Mr. Wayland said. "I bought it of certain cases upon the mine. And I have options on all the stock you placed in Chicago. I said you would borrow from me when the time came."

"You think the time has come to crush me, eh?" said Emerson. "Well, you've been swindled. Only one-third of the capital stock has been sold, and Alton Clyde holds 35,000 shares of it."

The old man smiled grimly. "I have not been swindled."

"Then Clyde sold out!" exploded Boyd.

"Yes. I paid him back the $10,000 he put in, and I took over the 25,000 shares you got Mildred to take."

"Mildred?" Emerson started as if he had been struck. "Are you insane? Mildred doesn't own a share. Alton never told me who put up that money."

"Don't tell me you didn't know?" cried Wayne Wayland. "You knew all the time. You worked your friends and then sent that wretched snapper to my daughter when you saw you were about to fail. You managed well. You knew she couldn't refuse."

"How did you find out that she held the stock?"

"She told me, of course."

"Don't ask me to believe that. If she hadn't told you before she wouldn't tell you now. All I can say is that she acted of her own free will. I never dreamed she put up with $25,000. What do you intend to do now that you have taken over these holdings?"

"What do you think? I would spend ten times the money to save my daughter."

The old man was quivering.

"You are only a minority stockholder. The control of this enterprise is still in my hands."

"That's what brings me here—and your friends! I'll break you and your friends if it takes my fortune."

"I can't understand your attitude of me, but my associates have never harmed you."

"Your associates! And who are they? A lawless ruffian, who openly threatened Willis Marsh's murder, and a loose woman from the same place?"

"Take care," cried Emerson in a sharp voice.

The old man waved his hands as if at a loss for words. "Look here! You must know who she is."

"Do you? Then tell me."

Wayne Wayland turned his back in disgust. "Do you really wish to know?" Marsh's smooth voice questioned.

"I do."

"She is a very common sort," said Willis Marsh. "I am surprised that you never heard of her while you were in the upper country. She followed the mining camps and lived as the women do. She is an expert with cards. She even dealt Faro in some of the camps."

"How do you know?"

"I looked up her history in Seattle. She was very notorious."

"People talk like that about nearly every woman in Alaska."

"I didn't come here to argue about that woman's character," broke in Mr. Wayland.

"You have said enough now, so that you will either prove your words or apologize."

"If you want proof, take your own relation with her. It's notorious. Even Marsh has admitted it."

"I can explain to her in a word."

"Perhaps you can also explain that affair with Hilliard. If so you had better do it. I suppose you didn't have anything about that either. I suppose you don't know why he advanced that loan after once refusing it. They have a name for men like you who take money from women of her sort."

Emerson uttered a terrible cry, and his face blanched to a gray pall.

"You mean to say I sent—her to Hilliard?"

"Hilliard as good as told me so himself. Do you wonder that I am willing to spend a fortune to protect my girl from a man like you? I'm going to break you. I've got a foothold in this enterprise of yours, and I'll root you out if it takes a million. I'll kick you back into the gutter where you belong."

Boyd stood appalled at the violence of this outburst. The man seemed insane. He could not find words to answer him.

"You did not come down here to tell me that," he said at last.

"No. I came here with a message from Mildred. She has told me to dismiss you once and for all."

"I shall take my dismissal from no one but her. I can explain everything."

"I expected you to say that. If you want her own words read this. With shaking fingers he thrust a letter before Emerson's eyes. "Read it!"

The young man opened the envelope and read in a handwriting he knew only too well:

Dear Boyd: The conviction has been growing on me for some time that you and I have made a serious mistake. It is not necessary to go into details. Let us spare each other that unpleasantness. I am familiar with all that father will say to you, and his feelings are mine; hence there is no necessity for further explanations. Believe me, this is the simplest way.

MILDRED.

Boyd crushed the note in his palm and tossed it away carelessly.

"You dictate well," he said quietly, "but I shall tell her the truth, and she will—"

"Oh, no, you won't. You won't see her again. I have seen to that. Mildred is engaged to Willis Marsh. It's all settled. I want you to keep away. Her engagement has been announced to all our friends on the yacht."

"I tell you I won't take my dismissal from any one but her. I shall come around this place some day. I shall see you, and I shall have something to say to that."

Boyd wheeled upon Marsh with a look that made him recoil.

"If you try to cross me I'll strip your back with my own hands!"

Marsh's throat felt like a lead pipe. His tongue became suddenly too dry for speech. But Wayne Wayland was not to be cowed.

"I want you again to keep away from my daughter," he cried furiously.

"And I want you to that I shall come around the yacht tonight alone."

The president of the trust turned and followed by his lieutenant, left the room without another word.

Cherry Malone, coming down to the cannery on her daily visit, saw Willis Marsh and Mr. Wayland leaving it.

Wondering, she hurried into the main building in search of Boyd. The place was as busy as when she had left it on the afternoon before, and she saw that the men had been at work all night. Many of them were sprawled in corners, where they had been sitting, weary, snatching a moment's rest before the boss kicked them back to their posts. The Chinese hands were reluctantly performing their tasks, their bodies sagging with the strain.

At the butcher's table yesterday's crew were still stirring, snatching, hacking at the pile of fish that never seemed to grow less. Some of them were giving up, staggering away to their bunks, while others with more vitality had stood so long in the slime and salt drip that their feet had swelled, and it had become necessary to cut off their shoes.

Boyd was standing in the door of the office. In a few words he told her of Mr. Wayland's threat.

"Do you think he will injure the company?" she inquired anxiously.

"I haven't a doubt of it. He can work very serious harm at least."

"Tell me, why did he turn against you so suddenly?"

"Wayland angry with you?"

"I would rather not."

"Why? I'm your partner, and I ought to be told. You and George and I will have to work together close than ever now. Don't let's begin by concealing anything."

"Well, perhaps you had better know the whole thing," said Boyd slowly.

"Mildred does not like you. Her father's mind has been poisoned by Marsh. It seems they resent our friendship. They believe all sorts of things."

"So I am the cause of your trouble after all?"

"They blame me equally—more than you. It seems that Marsh made an inquiry into your—well, your life history—and he babbled all the gossip he heard to them. Of course they believed it not knowing you as I do, and they misunderstood our friendship. That I can explain, and I shall, to Mildred. Then I shall prove Marsh a liar. Perhaps I can show Mr. Wayland that he was in the wrong. It will all be up to me."

"What did Marsh say about me?" asked the girl.

"He was pale to the lips."

"He said a lot of things that at any other time I would have made him swallow on the spot. But it's only a pleasure deferred. With your help I'll do it in their presence. I don't like to tell you this, but the truth is vital to me, and I want to arm myself."

Cherry was silent.

"You may leave it to me," he said gently. "I will see that Marsh gets you right."

"There is nothing to get right," said the girl wearily. "Marsh told the truth, I dare say."

"The truth! My God! You don't know what you're saying!"

"Yes, I do. He returned his look of shocked horror with half hearted defiance. "You must have known who I am. Fraser knew, and he must have told you. You knew I had followed the mining camps. You knew I had lived by my wits. You must have known what people thought of me. I came to you with the people of this country, and I had to match my wit with the wit of every man I met. Sometimes I won, sometimes I lost. You know the north."

"I didn't know," he said slowly. "I never thought I wouldn't allow myself to think—"

CHAPTER XXI.

"WHY NOT?" the girl asked. "It is nothing to you. You have lived, and so have I. I made mistakes, but I don't regret them. I want to fight her way alone. But my past is my own. It concerns nobody but me. She saw the change in his face, and her reckless spirit rose.

"Oh, I've shocked you. You think I was about to kill Miss Wayland. Have you ever stopped to think that even you are not the same man you were when you came fresh from college? You know the world now, and you know the difference. Would you change your knowledge for your earlier innocence? You know you would not, and you have no right to judge me by a separate code. What difference does it make who I am or what I have done? I didn't ask your record when I gave you the chance to win Miss Wayland, and neither you nor she have any right to challenge mine."

"I agree with you in that."

"I came away from the mining camps because of warring tongues, because I was forever misjudged. Whichever I may have been, I have at least played fair with that girl. It hurts me now to be accused by her. I saw your love for her, and I never tried to rob her. I know how long I couldn't have done that. I had tried. I could have injured her very easily if I had been the sort she thinks me. But I helped you in every way I could. I made no difficulties. I would have never been done."

She stopped on the verge of tears.

"Why did you do all this?" he asked.

"Don't you know? Cherry gazed at him with a faint smile.

Then, for the first time, the whole truth burst upon him. The surprise of it almost deprived him of speech, and he stammered:

"What? Then he fell silent."

"What little I did I did because I love you," said the girl in a tired voice. "You may as well know, for it makes no difference now."

"I am sorry," said, gripped by a strong emotion that made him go hot and cold. "I have been a fool."

"No; you were merely wrapped up in your own affairs. You see, I had been living my own life, and was fairly contented till you came. When everything changed. For a long time I hoped you might grow to love me as I loved you, but I found it was no use. When I saw you so honest and unselfish in your devotion to that other girl I thought it was better to let you go. It was selfish in my turn. It was hard, but I did my best. I think I must love you in the same way you love her, Boyd, for there is nothing in all the world I would not do to make you happy."

The girl stood for a moment with her eyes turned toward the river. Then she said:

"I must think. I—I want to go away. Goodby."

"Goodby," he returned and stood watching her as she hurried away, half suspecting the tears that were

ing, and in any case we wished to be prepared. A woman, the older passenger of the Grande Dame was not to be thought of. Besides, if the young man were roughly handled it would make him a martyr in Mildred's eyes. He talked over the matter with Marsh, who suggested that the mother and son should dine alone and spend the evening with him at the plant. With only Mildred and her father left on the yacht there would be no possibility of scandal, even if Emerson were made enough to force an interview.

"And what's more," declared Mr. Emerson, "I shall give orders to clear the high tide. That fellow is a nuisance, and the sooner Mildred is away from him the better. You shall go with us, my boy."

But when he went to Mildred to explain the nature of his arrangements he found her at a furious temper.

"Why did you announce my engagement to Mr. Marsh?" she demanded angrily. "The whole ship is talking about it. By what right did you do that?"

"I did it for your own sake," said the old man. "This fellow Emerson has made a fool of you and of me long enough. There must be an end to it."

"But I don't love Mr. Marsh," she cried. "You forget I am of age."

"Nonsense! Willis is a fine fellow. He loves you, and he is the best business man for his years I have ever known. It is not for this foolish boy and girl affair you would return his love. He suits me, and—well, I have put you foot down, so there's an end of it."

"Do you intend to force me to marry him?"

Mr. Wayland recognized the danger signal.

"Abroad! Take all the time you wish. You'll come around all right. That rebellious you were engaged to, I have said and defended that woman."

He told of his stormy interview with Mildred, concluding "It is fortunate I have found him out. Mildred, I have guarded you all my life. I have lavished every thing my life I have upon you. I have built up the greatest fortune in all the west for you. I have kept you pure and sweet and good—and to think of such a fellow should dare—Mr. Wayland choked with anger."

"The one thing I could stand in a man or a woman is immaturity. I have tried them myself, and my soul shall be as clean as I."

"Did you say that Boyd threatened to come aboard this evening?" questioned the girl.

"Yes, but I swore that he should not."

"Then he'll come," said Mildred.

It was twilight when Willis Marsh was rowed out to the yacht. He found Mr. Wayland and Mildred seated at deck chairs enjoying the golden sunset while the old man smoked. Marsh explained that he had been summoned from his guests to attend to his aunt, who had been ill. Marsh's explanation led him and drew his seat closer to Mildred, rejoicing in the fact that no one could gain entry into this privileged place.

The completion of the arrangement was interrupted at last by the approach of the second officer, who announced that a lady wished to see Mr. Wayland.

"A lady?" asked the old man in surprise.

"Yes, Mr. She came alongside in a small boat with two new women natives. I stopped her at the landing, but she says she must see you at once."

"Ah, that woman again!" Mr. Wayland's jaws snapped. "Tell her to be damned! I refuse to see her."

"Very well, sir," the mate turned, but Mildred said suddenly:

"Wait! Why don't you talk to her, father?"

"That creature? I have nothing to say to her."

Mildred leaned forward and called to the ship's officer: "Show her up. I will see her."

"Mildred, you mustn't talk to that woman!" Mr. father cried.

"It is very unwise," Marsh chimed in apprehensively. "She isn't the sort of person."

Miss Wayland chimed him with a look and waved the mate away, then sank back into her chair.

I have talked with her already. I assure you she is a very nice person."

Willis Marsh squirmed uncomfortably in his seat. He fixed his eyes upon the knot of men at the starboard rail. Then, with a sharp indrawing of his breath, he leaped up and darted down the deck.

Over the side had come Cherry Malette, accompanied by an Indian girl in a shawl and moccasins—a strange, dark, and somewhat sinister-looking creature, twisting her hands and wailing about with frightened eyes. Behind them, head and shoulders above the sailors, towered a giant copper headed breed with a child in his arms.

They saw that Marsh was speaking to the newcomers, but could not distinguish his words. The Indian girl fell back as if terrified. She cried out something in her own tongue, then she turned violently and pointed to her white companion. Marsh's face was white: he shook a quivering hand in Cherry Malette's face.

"What is the matter?" she asked. "What is the matter?"

"What is the matter?" she asked. "What is the matter?"

"Wait! Why don't you talk to her, father?"

"That creature? I have nothing to say to her."

Mildred leaned forward and called to the ship's officer: "Show her up. I will see her."

"Mildred, you mustn't talk to that woman!" Mr. father cried.

"It is very unwise," Marsh chimed in apprehensively. "She isn't the sort of person."

Miss Wayland chimed him with a look and waved the mate away, then sank back into her chair.

I have talked with her already. I assure you she is a very nice person."

Willis Marsh squirmed uncomfortably in his seat. He fixed his eyes upon the knot of men at the starboard rail. Then, with a sharp indrawing of his breath, he leaped up and darted down the deck.

Over the side had come Cherry Malette, accompanied by an Indian girl in a shawl and moccasins—a strange, dark, and somewhat sinister-looking creature, twisting her hands and wailing about with frightened eyes. Behind them, head and shoulders above the sailors, towered a giant copper headed breed with a child in his arms.

They saw that Marsh was speaking to the newcomers, but could not distinguish his words. The Indian girl fell back as if terrified. She cried out something in her own tongue, then she turned violently and pointed to her white companion. Marsh's face was white: he shook a quivering hand in Cherry Malette's face.

"What is the matter?" she asked. "What is the matter?"

"Yes, Mr. She came alongside in a small boat with two new women natives. I stopped her at the landing, but she says she must see you at once."

"Ah, that woman again!" Mr. Wayland's jaws snapped. "Tell her to be damned! I refuse to see her."

Too Nervous To Sleep

Nerves Wrecked by Accident Was Afraid to Go in a Crowd or to Stay Alone—Tells Of His Cure.

Much sympathy was felt in this city for Mr. Dorsey, who met with a distressing accident when his foot was smashed in an elevator.

The shock to the nervous system was so great that Dorsey was in a pitiable condition for a long time. He was like a child in that he required his mother's care nearly all the time. He feared a crowd, could not stay alone and could not sleep.

Because of the weakened and excited condition of his nerves.

Detroit doctors did what they could for him, but he could not get back his strength and vigor until he was fortunate to hear of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is no mere accident that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves to be exactly what is needed in cases of exhausted nerves. It is composed of the ingredients which nature requires to form nerves and create a new nerve force. For this reason it cannot fail and for this reason it succeeds when other remedies fail.

Mr. Laurence E. Dorsey, 35 Stanley street, London, Ont., writes:

Three years ago I got my foot smashed in an elevator in Detroit, which completely wrecked my nerves.

Interacted with the doctors there, but they did not seem to be able to help me. My nerves were in such a state that I could not do anything alone or go anywhere where there was a crowd.

Sometimes my mother would take me and watch me at night, and sometimes I could not get any sleep at all. But one day I saw a picture of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Before I had completely used the first box I could see a difference in my condition. I continued using these pills for some time. The result was splendid. One day I went out on the street and attended gatherings like the people of the street.

I am able to tell you that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done for me, and to recommend it to others who are in need of it. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of a nervous system, at all drug stores. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of a nervous system, at all drug stores.

Voters List 1918, Municipality of the township of Easton, County of Bruce.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted and delivered to the persons mentioned in Section 9 of the Ontario Voters List Act, the copies required by said Sections to be so transmitted or delivered of the List, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality to be entitled to vote at Elections for Members of the Legislative Assembly and at Municipal Elections and that the said list was first posted up at my office at Stokes Bay, on the 6th day of July and remains there for inspection.

And I hereby call upon all voters to take immediate proceedings to have any errors or omissions corrected according to law.

Dated at Stokes Bay this 8th day

COLPOY'S BAY

Quite a number from around here attended the Farmers Club Picnic at Oxenden of last Thursday.

Mrs. Thos. Raudle and children, of Owen Sound, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gilbert and other relatives.

Mrs. Dr. Cavanagh and Miss Irene, of Owen Sound, are visiting at the parsonage. Mrs. Cavanagh is a sister of Mrs. Matthews.

Mrs. Cooper, of Hope Bay has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper all week. Mrs. Cooper arrived in town just after her arrival but is feeling better now.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Caudle and daughter, Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Buckland in Amabel.

A number from here attended the evening sessions of the Summer School held in Warton all week.

New matting has been put down in the church aisle. The church never looked better than it does now, with newly papered walls and ceiling, new hardwood floor, and new matting. So much for having an active Ladies Aid.

INCREASE IN PRICES

Meat Animals Show Advance of $2.7 Per Cent in Year.

Sheep, Lambs and Hogs Have Fair Proceeded Beef Cattle, Veal Calves and Chickens in Upward Price Movement.

Prices received by farmers for meat animals showed an increase of 2.7 per cent in a year, according to the latest report to the U. S. department of agriculture. The report for cattle, sheep and hogs is for the year ending September 15, and for chickens, October 1.

The advance for beef cattle per 100 pounds, live weight, reached during the year under review, was $3.70 for beef cattle in May, $11.06 for veal calves in last September, $10.15 for sheep in May, $15.00 for lambs in last September, $15.60 for hogs in last September, and $1.21 cents per pound for chickens October 1 of this year.

The latest farm price reported is the highest one of the year for veal calves, lambs, hogs, and chickens; the May price was the highest for beef cattle and sheep.

IMPORTANT EFFECT OF WAR

Demand for Horses Has Not Been So Far-Reaching as Great Many Believed, Says Expert.

That the effect of the war on the demand for horses has been important but not so far-reaching as many persons have been led to believe, is the opinion of Dr. C. W. McCampbell, an associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Since the beginning of the war approximately 1,000,000 horses have been exported from the United States," said Dr. McCampbell. "This is a large number when considered in the aggregate, but when compared with the total

Percheron Stallion at Ballsville Farm.

horse population it has not been particularly large—2.4 per cent of the whole or one out of every forty horses.

"The United States government has not made heavy purchases to date and the latest information from the quartermaster general's office states that only horses from six to ten years old weighing from 900 to 1,350 pounds are being purchased.

"The British demand a neater, smaller, better-made, better-galloped and sounder horse than the French and have been willing to pay more for their horses. Most of the horses taken have weighed less than 1,400 pounds—a type for which there is very little commercial demand. Marketmen express the opinion that this class of horses would be selling for $50 per head less were it not for the war demand."

PREVENT DISEASES ON FARM

Loss of Young Animals Can Be Reduced by Cleaning Out Stable and Disinfecting.

A good job for the first rainy day.
From 5 to 10 per cent of the young animals are lost each year from such infectious diseases as calf scours, hog cholera, blackleg, contagious abortion, navel ill of sucklings, distemper and other infectious diseases.

Reduce this loss of young animals from infectious diseases by cleaning the stable thoroughly and disinfecting with whitewash to which has been added 5 per cent crude carbolic acid or 5 per cent coal-tar dip. This is easily applied to the walls, ceiling and floors with a spray pump.

FURNISH CHICKENS PURE AIR

Windows of Hen Houses Should Be Kept Open During Middle of Day
During Severe Weather.

Open the hen house windows in all stages of the severest weather, during the middle of the day, so that the sun and air can get in and purify the house and give the fowls plenty of food and fresh air to breathe. If they can be made to breathe, they will not suffer any harm from the cold, even if it is severe, and will be healthy.

THE WARTON TOURNAMENT

Jupiter Plutus interfered very considerably with the success of the Warton bowling tournament. This gentleman has not been very active for some time, in fact he has hardly done enough lately to square himself with the law that everyone must work, but on Tuesday he got a gentle move on, and it was sufficient to keep him from a distance from attending the Warton tournament, which has acquired considerable fame. However,
Southampton sent 2 rinks, Meaford 1, Owen Sound 4, Hanover 1, and Chatsworth, and the bowlers had just as good a time as if the attendance had been much larger. As the tournament is only about half over as we go to press we cannot give the report in detail until next week. The trophy match had settled down to the finals at the hour of locking up forms, and the honor will go either to a rink skipped by W. Wright, Owen Sound, or James Symon, Warton. All the appointments about the green are as usual as ever. Under unsmiling tent the ladies are serving war time refreshments.

OXENDEN

Mrs. Charles Gray left for Sask.

evening her friends gave her a miscellaneous shower and wished her much prosperity and happiness in her new home.

Miss Hilda Loney A. Shrader and Alvin, Wilbert and Vernon Loney motored and spent Sunday at Park

The Farmers Club picnic Thursday last attracted an immense crowd and all enjoyed themselves. An interesting address was given by Mr. Halbert of Toronto. The Warton band furnished good music. The ice cream booth did a good business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Loney and Mrs. C. A. Loney were at Lions Head last night attending the picnic of the Farmers Club.

NOTICE

Owing to the prevalence of noxious weeds the Council has directed that the By-law concerning the eradication of weeds be strictly enforced, and on and after the 20th of the present month, any one who has not the weeds cut on his property will have his name given to the Chief who will have the said weeds cut and the cost will be added to the owner's taxes.
This law will be rigidly enforced.

TO PREVENT NOXIOUS PESTS

Clemson College Bulletin Gives Plan for Destroying Wood Bore in Barnyard Manure.

(Clemson College Bulletin.)
Barnyard manure may become badly infested with wood bore on account of hay which contains various kinds of seed being fed to live stock. Too often the land is infested with noxious weeds from this source.

This danger may be overcome, says the agricultural extension division of Clemson college, by keeping manure in piles 6 to 10 feet high from four to six weeks. The heat and fermentation produced in such piles has been found to kill practically all the wood seed with the exception of a few on the surface of the pile. These can also be destroyed by putting the surface manure under the bottom of a new pile.
By this method the farmer may safely use the manure from every stable or cow shed.

Bishop Williams Un- folds Honor Roll in Trinity Church

It is an honor to a small parish to have the honor of sending forty members and adherents to the front, and this honor has fallen to Trinity Church.
Three of the forty have made the supreme sacrifice. In the vestibule of the church there is now a suitable honor roll, and this was unfolded by the Bishop Tuesday evening.

The occasion was his annual visit when he preached a most interesting sermon and confirmed a large class.
His subject was Light, and he based his remarks upon the two texts, "I am the light of the world." "Ye are the light of the world."

"Light," said the Bishop, "is a great word in the Bible. It was the first blessing at creation, and it will be the last and will not be taken away. The Apostle says 'God is light.' Millions have worshipped and do worship light, and it has a great significance. (1) It reveals, (2) It purifies, (3) It shows a unity in diversity.

It reveals the world in which we live. This is the most obvious function it would be impossible to imagine world without light. It enables us to see the glory of mountain, lake and river. Light enables us to know what darkness is. Light is a source of great security, the darkness is attended with danger. Wild beasts and evil men have their way. It is no wonder that the whole inanimate nature bursts into song at the return of light every morning.

Our Lord says that He is for the world. Spiritually what light is physically. Christ came to give light on great problems about God—and life beyond the grave. These questions puzzled the great philosophers.

Christ revealed the truth about man—the best kind of life for man to live—"A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." And the highest ideal of human life is this new commandment of love.

Christ also revealed that life beyond the grave was not a mere aspiration. In all ages men have refused to believe that they died when they died. We have proofs of this among the ancient Egyptians, Hindus and North American Indians—but no one ever came back until Christ—this is the proof for our souls to lay hold of.

Light purifies—We understand this is the modern world. There are two sets of motives, one benevolent and the other malevolent, the latter working at night for our destruction, and it is the light that kills them. The light purifies the water of the Great Lakes.

Light is a unity made up of diversity—while light is made up of seven colors.

"Ye are the light of the world." This is the present transition. We are to be a little Christ. We are to do and to be a little of what he was to the world—not in the same degree, but we are expected to approach the ideal.

We must reveal the truth about God.
Our lives should reveal that we belong to God. We must live by the New Commandment, and by love there must be an absence of ill will and presence of good will toward all.

We must so live that our lives are a purifying power. Our lives must also lift others up.

Remember Christ's life was a perfect combination of colors, so our should also be the same. One color alone is not sufficient. Life must be all around goodness must not be in atoms. We must not be good on Sunday and evil on Monday, nor pleasant at home and unpleasant to strangers. The world will judge Christ by what they see of the Christian people."

WAS ATTACKED BY SUBMARINE

Pte. Edward Davis, who returned from England Monday evening, has been raising reports of the Irish Coast. All told with convoys, cruisers, troopships, destroyers, there were 19 boats. On June 25th at 3:30 p. m. the Orissa was torpedoed. This boat was only 200 yards from the troopship on which he was sailing, and at 6:30 the same night they were attacked by two other subs. The convoys and destroyers got them all by depth charges. They could easily tell when there had been a hit.

It will be remembered that Pte.
Davis had a thrilling experience during the great Forcypus fire, when he and eight others had to run nine miles to get to a small lake in which they buried themselves nearly four hours, and they got to the lake only five minutes before the fire.

In August 1916 he enlisted in a Ferry Boat Battalion and was sent to Scotland, where he has been working in the saw mills and bush ever since.
There is lots of good timber there, but it was all planted years ago. On account of age and disability Pte.
Davis expects his discharge.

Lions Head Ladies' Patriotic League

The following letter proves that the Red Cross socks that you are knitting reach the soldiers on the firing line and in the trenches.

Mrs. W. B. Moore, Lions Head.

Dear Madam—I am writing you a short note thanking you ever so much for the socks which I received from you through the Red Cross. They came in very handy as we were just needing socks and a fellow doesn't get a change very often. I did not know there was an address in them till I put them on and felt something in the toe, so was glad of the opportunity of writing to you.

The weather here is very hot just now and we are having some very hard work and it looks as though it will continue for some time. I hear they are calling up all the young men in Canada between the ages of 20-23.
They must just be finding out how hard this war is. If you care to answer this I would be very glad to hear from you. I will have to close now as this is only a hurried note. Excuse the scribble as this is the only pencil that I can borrow. I remain, Yours very gratefully,

GUNNER C. BAIRD,

10th Brigade, C. F. A. France.

Miss Gertrude Moore, Lions Head.

I was the lucky soldier to get those lovely soft woolen socks with your name in them. They came in a box sent by the The Lions Head Girls Orchestra Club. It gives me much pleasure in writing to you and thanking you for the socks, and I wish to thank the Girls Club, through you, for the fine box they sent me. We fellows have been receiving good things almost continually from home and we hardly know how to express our gratitude.

We feel that the people of Lions Head, especially the ladies, have been doing their bit and just a little more, and we hope in some way to be able to show our appreciation and be a credit to them.

I might say that our platoon are still all alive and doing fine. The majority of us are together again under Paddy (Lieut. Pettigrew) in the 1st Canadian Engineer Batt. We all like him fine, and anyone who has been under his command will say that he's the best officer that they've ever had.
This is a beautiful country. I'm sitting on a high hill writing this and I can see for miles and miles. It reminds me a lot of Alberta. We have had exceptionally good weather this last while and both sides have been making good use of it. Our airman keep busy and give Friday very little rest.

Well, I think I'll bring this note to a close and if you care to write to me I'll be very glad to hear from you.
Thanking you once more for the socks
I remain,

Yours sincerely,

H. J. Hamilton.

win Price for the wrist watches which were presented to them by the Society.

London, Ont. June 22, 1918

A card of thanks to the Silver Maple Leaf Society for a gift of a wrist watch and two pairs of socks which I am very thankful for. I have donned the khaki now. I received my first watch very much, but do not care for the boots. They are a pair of cowhides and one cannot shave them.
They have about four pounds of iron on them I think. I expect to get a pass in four weeks. Again thanking you,

Pte. Edwin Price

Warton, June 20, 1918

Dear Friends—I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you for your kind remembrance in the form of a wrist watch and socks. It is nice to be remembered by one's friends when one is departing and it will be a help to me in my future duties in far away lands. I wish your Society every success in its good work.

Oliver Dinnwell

Dear Ladies—I received the wrist watch and socks for which I wish to thank you all. These most useful gifts are much appreciated and while doing my duty on the High Seas they will always bring kind thoughts to the Society and home. I also thank you for your kind wishes and hope you will have the best success in the Silver Maple Leaf Society so that your good work may be continued.

GOOD DIAGNOSIS

Said the doctor as he bent over a patient: "I don't quite like your heart action." Then, looking at the fellow, said, "You have, I take it, had some trouble with angina pectoris!"
"Well, Doc," said the young man, rather sheepishly, "you're partly right but that ain't her name."—Exchange.

Celebrated The 12th

Four Lodges Met and Listened to Speeches and Enjoyed The Day.

Last Friday was the glorious 12th, a district celebration was held in Wiarton, in which four lodges participated, viz. Wiarton, Purple Valley, Cape Croker and Hope Bay. The weather was ideal, could not have been better and considering the large attendance at the farmer's picnic held a few days before, the attendance on Friday was most encouraging. It all goes to show that nothing can keep the people at home on the 12th. The Wiarton brass band, under the capable leadership of George Vogt, gave many patriotic selections, while the Indian Band gave a selection which was much appreciated. The celebration took place on the Public School grounds and the addresses of the various speakers are recorded below. A letter of regret for his inability to be present was read from Mr. W. McDonald M. P. P.

"I welcome you all to the town of Wiarton," said Dr. Charles Wiley, District Worshipful Master, who made a most efficient chairman on this occasion. "I am glad to see so many here when there are so many other celebrations. As I look around me and see such a vast array of speakers I do not intend to consume the time by making a speech."

Sheriff Jermyn
The first to address the audience was Past Grandmaster Jermyn, who said, "I am delighted to see so many present, when we consider that the railroads will not grant us any special accommodation by way of excursions, we can congratulate ourselves by having a large number present to-day. The crowd might be larger, but it could not be better looking. It has been remarked that it always rains on the 12th, we had it before the 12th so there is none to-day. Nature is now at her best, and the Orangemen are also at their best. I am glad that the great principles of the Orange Association which we have advocated for years, are the policy of the world to-day, these are equal rights to all, and the weak to be respected as well as the mighty."

It is true that we have been accused of being a hindrance to the political party or that, but we have not cared. The Orange Association stands out to-day as a bulwark of strength to the British Empire. The Orangemen have given a far greater percentage to the Army than any other organization, to blood and money we have always been ready to do our part. The Orange order will go on and be the big factor in the building up of this Empire."

"The laws have not, always equal rights. When Alberta and Saskatchewan were constituted as Provinces the Catholics were given special privileges, which could never have been given to any class. However the feeling is better than formerly, we are better understood. I may say that if the Church doctrines would permit a Roman Catholic to be as broad minded as we are there is no reason why he could not be a member of the Orange Order."

Rev. J. E. Thompson
The Rev. J. E. Thompson, the next speaker said—"I am here to show my sympathy with what the Order stands for, and because of what it has done in our country."

"I want to congratulate the Orange Order upon their conduct in the war, because it is as well represented as any organization in the land. When the war is over there will be still

James Corrigan Passes Away

In the death of Mr. Corrigan a gentleman for many years a familiar figure on the Peninsula has passed away and at the early age of 59. The deceased was born in Ayr, Scotland, came to Canada when only 10 years old and settled near Palmerston. He went to Lions Head with the late Robert Watt and was engaged with him there for upwards of twenty years. For 35 years he travelled the Peninsula buying logs. About 18 months ago he went to Creighton Mines, where he had an important office in the employment of the International Nickel Co. Four weeks ago he took ill with pneumonia, an abscess developed, and although under the best of care he passed away on Monday. Mr. Corrigan had been with him upwards of three weeks. He was twice married. There is one son by the first marriage, Alvin, living at Richmond, Va., while five sons and two daughters by the second marriage as well as a widow survive. These are Lionel, Hunt, London, Pa., Arnold, Ivan, Creighton Mines and Len and Miss Osta and Miss Julia at home. The body will be brought to Wiarton and interment will take place to-morrow afternoon.

STOKE'S BAY

Mr. Eldridge, of Wiarton, was shipping lumber from our mill last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ebel, of Listowell, visited their daughters, Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. Fred Myles last week.

Mr. W. Fletcher, of Sault Ste. Marie, who was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Smith, returned home last week.

Miss M. McKinney is visiting friends in Wiarton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baines motored to Hardwick Sunday.

Reeve Landon and W. Jenks called here on Friday.

Our road is being greatly improved by the gravel that is being put on. Born-At-Stokes Bay, July 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myles, a son.

Mack Melver did business in Lions Head Wednesday.

E. G. Cross and some friends from Wiarton motored to Tamarac Island on the 12th as a fishing party.

D. Brown and J. Graham, of Port Huron, were visitors here on the 12th.

Harvey Golden went to Tobernony on Saturday for a week's stay.

Mrs. D. Brown and Mrs. Mielhusen were in Stokes Bay on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arthur, of Owen Sound, were in the village on Monday.

We rejoice at the part the Orangemen in the war. And it was this first contingent which blocked the way to Calais. The French had tried to take Vimy Ridge and lost 70,000 men, the British tried to take it and lost 60,000, but the Canadians took it in one hour with more than 1200 prisoners.

It is not, said the speaker, what a nation gains, but what she gives, which makes her great. And what Canada has given will maintain the connection with the British Empire. Canada gave blood to put an end to the Riel rebellion, then the Canadians died upon the fields in South Africa, and now they are dying in Flanders.

In closing Mr. Green remarked that although a Conservative he felt that the Union Government should be brought to account for the manner it had dealt with the Jesuit Novitiate at Guelph. He felt that Sir Robert Borden, who he left for England, might have done something better than to appoint the Hon. Mr. Doherty as acting Premier. That gentleman now wants to hush up the Guelph affair. Under General McBurney's orders a raid had been made upon this novitiate and by the Union Government's orders an apology had been made for the raid. The whole matter must be investigated. If Protestant students in Divinity have to go and fight for this country, why should 32 students in the Guelph Novitiate be exempt?

The Rev. Mr. Crow, missionary to the Indians on the Saugeen reserve, gave a short address in which there was considerable humor. In fact it might be said that he made in this particular line, and in closing he made a strong appeal that the Indians be given the franchise because of the stand they have taken in this war.

Food Board Orders

Relative to public eating places, making certain changes which were found desirable in the application of order No. 25. Under this order a public eating place is defined as including hotel, restaurant, cafeteria, club or club room, private family keeping boarders, boarding house, school, dining car, steamship or any place whatsoever where meals or refreshments are regularly served or sold, to others than members of the family or household of the proprietor or caterer.

At the mid-day meal no sandwiches shall be served. This applied to all public eating places, including railway lunch counters. At the mid-day meal no bread and bread rolls, containing more than 75 per cent. of standard wheat flour shall be used, and no more than a total of one ounce of standard wheat flour shall be served to any person in all products, including bread, buns, biscuits, pastry or other like products.

Order No. 50, dated June 25th, 1918.

This order makes compulsory the use, by bakers, confectioners, public eating places and private households, of substitutes for wheat flour. The order defines the substitutes for wheat flour as "pure and wholesome corn, oats, barley, rice, rye, buckwheat, tapioca or potato flour, bran, shorts, oat meal, rolled oats, corn meal, corn starch, hominy, corn grits, rye meal, rice, tapioca, or any mixture of same and potatoes." Four pounds of potatoes will be considered equivalent to one pound of other substitutes.

On and after July 15, this proportion, so far as places east of Port Arthur are concerned, must be increased (by bakers, confectioners, public eating places and private households) to one pound of substitutes to every four pounds of white or standard wheat flour. Quantities of substitutes available west of Port Arthur are at present too uncertain to allow of a date being named for an increase equal to that required for Eastern Canada, but such increase will be made just as soon as the available supply of substitutes in Western Canada warrants.

Persons at points east of, but not including Port Arthur, must purchase substitutes in the proportion of not less than one pound of substitutes to two pounds of wheat or standard flour, while persons west of, and including Port Arthur, must buy not less than one pound of substitutes to four pounds of wheat or standard flour. Dealers are forbidden on and after July 15th, to sell flour, unless substituted in the proportion stated, or to a greater proportion, are purchased.

On and after July 15, every baker must place on each loaf of bread a label or sticker bearing his name and address, and the words "Victory Bread." The latter expression will be a guarantee that the prescribed amount of substitutes for standard wheat flour required by the Canada Food Board have been used in making the loaf. Bread which does not bear such label or sticker may be seized and forfeited to His Majesty.

This Order makes it an offence for any person to sell or have in his possession any bread rolls, pastry or any other product in which white or standard flour is used, which does not conform to the requirements of the Food Board. The penalty for violation of the new regulations is a fine of not less than $100 and up to $1,000, or imprisonment for a period of three months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Pte. Wilfrid Lennox Returned Saturday

One year ago last May Wilfrid Lennox, who was then a student at Queen's University, Kingston, signed up and with twenty-five others from the University put on the khaki. He belonged to the Ammunition Corps, and after six weeks training in England was sent to France. It was not long, however, before he took the trench fever, and afterwards pneumonia so that last October he has been in a hospital after another. Accordingly he was sent home and his discharge will probably soon follow.

It will be remembered that Wilfrid Lennox was a brilliant student at the High School, and went to Queens with a scholarship in his pocket. His friends will hope that his Canadian life will now have a beneficial effect on his constitution. He was tendered a grand reception at Cape Croker Monday evening.

Gas Was Struck Last Week at Hepworth

A Most Important Discovery, Which May Mean Much to Hepworth and Wiarton.

Another chapter has been written in the gas and oil possibilities at Hepworth. Last week at a depth of 1415 feet gas was found again. This justifies the optimism and hard work put in by Messrs. Forhan and McKillop. The latter, who was three years ago, knows the territory and with experience and sticktivity went at his job, with the result that gas has again been discovered. Mr. McKillop says that this is the best well yet, that there is a 450 lb. pressure, that there is no trace of salt water. It will be remembered that operations began about eight weeks ago, and considering unavoidable delays a remarkable work has been done. This one well has a large commercial value, but the company will immediately drill other wells. This discovery has created great interest, not only in Hepworth, but in other points far and near. Auto loads have come to look at the well from Hahover, Walkerton, Kincardine, Port Elgin, Meaford and Owen Sound. In speaking to The Echo Mr. Forhan says "As yet people hardly realize what an important thing natural gas is to a town from a manufacturing point of view to say nothing of its use for domestic purposes. We have an A1 well, and are more than satisfied, and are going right ahead and will put down several more. It will not take many more like this one until we will have gas to pipe out of Hepworth. As the pressure is so great there is every reason to believe that large quantities of gas will be struck in this territory." Oil may yet be struck and the gas will be tested for gasoline.

LION'S HEAD

Mr. Harry Oswell, who has been visiting friends near St. Marys, returned home last week.

Miss Minnie Hannah, who has been in Detroit for several months, returned home to visit her mother, Mrs. J. McCullough, last week.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

OWEN SOUND

A step in advance has been taken in Owen Sound North by the Presbyterians and Methodists who have agreed to co-operate as one congregation under the name of the United church of Owen Sound North. The church is to have Presbyterian and Methodist ministers alternately for two year terms and begins with a Presbyterian, Rev. P. F. Gardiner, B. A. who comes with ten years' experience and is very well recommended. He expects to reach town today and will conduct both services on Sunday. The services are to be held in the Methodist church. This is certainly a move in the right direction and should result in a substantial increase of interest and influence.

On Tuesday Mrs. Hopkins, of 940 Twelfth street west, received a letter from the Red Cross officials in London, England giving information of her brother, Pte. James Holmes, who after being a prisoner of war in Germany was later reported as missing for nearly two years and had been located at the King George Hotel, Suffolk street, London England. The information came somewhat as a surprise as his relatives had practically given him up as dead. Pte. Holmes left Owen Sound with the first contingent in August, 1914, going to Valcartier for training. He crossed to England with the 15th Battalion and was through the strenuous fighting in which the Canadians first took part. He was taken prisoner at the battle of Langemarck and for over a year remained in Germany, his relatives receiving information from him at intervals. It was known that blood poisoning had necessitated two operations.

Within a few days it is expected that the committees appointed by the Bruce County Council and the Grey County Council will meet in Owen Sound to discuss the question of designating certain sections of the county line between the two counties as County roads. From the Allenford road north to Wlarton and a portion at the south end of the counties, the county line runs through various towns and villages and is much travelled. The county of Bruce has already designated the road from Allenford, south through Tara and Chesley, as a county road and there is an agitation on foot to have this road connected with the county line as above and the two counties interested would have joint jurisdiction over the portion along the county boundary, and of course would jointly pay for construction and upkeep. Mr. Grant, reeve of Tara, has a proposal which he is putting before the government, to have this road designated as a provincial county road and continued on up the Bruce Peninsula at least as far as Lions Head. This road would serve a very useful purpose and would be a big boon to the residents of the Peninsula. With a good motor road to Wlarton and to the Huron Shore, that section of the country would soon become one of the most popular summer resorts in Ontario.

As a result of the registration of June 22nd it was shown that twelve hundred men in Owen Sound signed their willingness to go on the farm to help with the hay and harvesting. Of this number six hundred of whom are capable of resuming operations on the farm. This will be satisfactory news to the farmers of this vicinity and representatives of the production committee of the

When Your Color Fades

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after slight exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anemia—thin watery blood. Headaches and backaches frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present.

The remedy for this condition is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks, and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and good plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail—send 25 cents in advance for a small box or 50 cents for a large box. Write to Dr. J. C. Williams, 100 North Main Street, Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.

board of trade are calling for applications from the farmers who need help. Mr. T. W. Douglas has been given duplicates of the registration cards of the men who stated that they are willing to go on farms and have the information for anyone desiring help. Secretary Menzies of the board of trade will receive the applications. The committee is also asking that those owning autos give their services and place their autos at the disposal of the committee in order to get those who are willing to work on the farms out of positions. This is eminently to be commended for their energy in handling the situation, leaving no doubt in the minds of the farmers as to the fact that help is waiting for them if they require it.

A deputation of bakers among whom was Mr. T. H. Bredin of Owen Sound, interviewed the Food Board this week on the matter of labelling bread. A recent order commanded that, from and after the fifteenth of July, all bread must be labelled, each loaf bearing a label with the words, "Victory Bread and the Baker's Name." The contention of the bakers is that the label is not only useless but wasteful. It will be no guarantee that the bread contains the required proportions of substitute flour; and further that its use will mean an appreciable loss. Extra expense will be involved in affixing the labels; and bakers will not eat them, but will cut them off, thereby wasting a part of the loaf. The waste in the case of each individual loaf would not be much, but in the aggregate it would amount to a large amount, which at this time should not be lost.

It is due to the watchfulness of the Employees of the Northern Varnish Co. that the Company's plant is not now a smoking ruin and probably with loss of life. Yesterday morning they found, mixed with Kauri gum, no less than nine cartridges of exceptionally high explosive power. These cartridges were of Winchester Arms Co. manufacture, of 35 calibre, shot loaded, and for use in automatic rifles. The gum was shipped in cases from the firm of Meyer and Co., of Philadelphia, and is used in the manufacture of varnish. It is melted in a large portable melting pot over a very intense heat and is mixed with other ingredients such as turpentine, over another fire place where the heat is not discovered they would undoubtedly have exploded either the first or the second operation, and if the explosion had taken place in the latter operation, nothing could have saved the building or any of the employees in it, and the results would have been disastrous even had the explosion taken place during the first operation. Mr. Thos. McIntosh is the foreman at the factory and when the first cartridge was discovered he had a thorough search made and eight others were located. The firm from which the gum was received is a reliable one and there is no suspicion that any member of the firm have any guilty knowledge of the fact that these explosives were placed in the packages. But they undoubtedly have in their employ at least one Hun, with all the Hunish proclivities, his name, who, when seeking the case, destined for Canada, an enemy of the Fatherland, took this means of doing what damage he could.

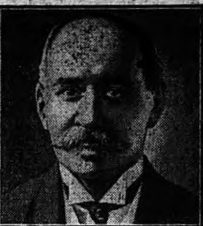

WALKERTON

One of the very earliest residents of Walkerton, and one of the best known and most esteemed women of the town passed to her reward on Thursday morning last at 6:30 o'clock in the person of Mrs. R. H. McKay. The deceased, who has taken four paralytic strokes within the past two years had by her wonderful vitality been able to safely weather three of the strokes, but the fourth, sustained on Sunday of last week, proved fatal, bringing to her a few days later a busy and useful career at the advanced age of 78 years and 6 months. Born in Scourie, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, the deceased whose maiden name was Flora Morrison, came to Canada at the age of seven with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morrison. The family settled in Oxford County near Thamesford, and had six neighbors as family names. McKay, who had come from the same town in Scotland, and one of whose members, Mr. R. H. McKay, then a young lad, was destined to be her future husband, the young couple after reaching their majority settling married in 1846 at London. Two years later they came to Walkerton, where they also resided. Mrs. McKay will be greatly missed, having lived here nearly half a century.

J. A. Cross, funeral director, will have in charge the funeral services.

TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought Quick and Permanent Relief

MR. P. H. MCHUGH
103 Church Street, Montreal.

December 10th, 1917.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years. I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good. Then, I began to use 'Fruit-a-lives'; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, 'Fruit-a-lives' overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczeema and Constipation, and 'Fruit-a-lives' relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health." P. H. MCHUGH.

It was shown that the man had said "we had just as well be under Prussian rule as under Canadian." Magistrate Livingston, in giving judgment stated that, since the order-in-council of April 16, such a remark could only be construed as detrimental to the cause of the Canadians and the Allies, and was the very thing which it was desired to stop. When the life blood of Canadian men and women are being poured out against the Prussians, such an expression of opinion was insulting as well as traitorous.

The department of the naval service at Ottawa Thursday last issued a list of the successful candidates at the May examinations for entrance to the Royal Naval College. The college, which is to be transferred to Esquimaux, B. C., will reopen on Sept. 15. The list of successful candidates includes H. Nelson Lay, of Walkerton, son of Mr. H. M. Lay, manager of the Bank of Commerce here, and who headed the list for all Canada.

Mr. Thomas Rodgers, for many years a resident of Walkerton, and brother of Messrs. John and James Rogers of Brent, died at his home in Hanover on Monday evening last, aged about 60 years. The deceased leaves a wife and a large family.

Major A. McLean Moffat, and Paymaster Farquar Shaw, who crossed overseas with the 160th Battalion, have arrived back in Canada. Capt. Shaw is now visiting at Ferguson with his family, while Major Moffat is reported to have reached Toronto. Both will no doubt arrive in Walkerton shortly.

A case in the county court was tried by Judge Klein on Wednesday last week and resulted in judgment being given against Charles Pedwell, of Lions Head. Pedwell last November bought from Robt. McCormick, a farmer near Lions Head, a quantity of hay which was on the farm of McCormick, and he paid him at different times $600 for the hay. McCormick delivered a small portion of the hay afterwards to Pedwell and before the biggest part was delivered the Sheriff of the County of Bruce seized the hay on McCormick's farm to satisfy an execution issued by the Supreme Court of Ontario by Catharine McCormick against the goods of Robt. C. McCormick. Pedwell claimed the hay as his property, and the Supreme Court ordered that the Judge of the County Court try the question as to whether Pedwell was the owner of the hay as against the execution. After hearing the evidence Judge Klein held that there was no bill of sale of the hay from McCormick to Pedwell and "no immediate delivery followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the hay," that the Sheriff is entitled to seize the goods under the execution. It appears that "actual and continued change of possession" means such change of possession as is open and reasonably sufficient to afford public notice thereof. After reserving the question of costs the Judge decided that Pedwell will have to pay the cost of the interpleader suit. Mr. David Robertson, K.C., for Catharine McCormick, and Mr. O. E. Klein for Pedwell.

Carrick Reeve In Trouble

ACCUSED OF TREASONABLE AND REVOLTING UTTERANCES REEVE FILSINGER IS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL AT WALKERTON.

Walkerton Herald

One of the most sensational cases aired in Walkerton since the commencement of the war was ventilated here by Magistrate James Tolton in the Town Hall here on Thursday afternoon, when Moses Filsinger, reeve of Carrick, and one of the best known farmers and municipal men in Bruce, was arraigned before the court on the charge of having made treasonable and seditious utterances before a number of individuals in the village of Midway. After hearing the evidence adduced at the court here, the magistrate committed Filsinger for trial, bail being fixed at $500. At the Criminal Court provides that so serious a charge as this must be tried at the Assizes, and cannot be disposed of by a County Court Judge, the defendant will, in all likelihood, face a Jury, at the next Fall Assizes, which are scheduled to open in Walkerton on November 26th before Mr. Justice Middleton of Toronto.

Reports reached the military authorities that the Reeve of Carrick had been making some disloyal statements, and two Dominion police officers, J. E. Grieves, and T. A. Muxworthy of London, were detailed to investigate the affair, with two results that the officers visited Carrick, and after probing into the matter, laid an information against Filsinger, accusing him of having made treasonable and seditious utterances.

At the trial here on Thursday last, Mrs. Jacob Schmidt of Midway testified that while she was at the home of her mother, Mrs. Susan Kleophr, in Midway just before the last Dominion election, that Filsinger, who came to settle up some business, began talking about the war, and in the presence of both of them said "Why send our boys over to fight for a fallen Catholic country like France?" She also claims he said, "They were shipping the women over by the cargo for the men to use."

Ed. Kalbfleisch, a Midway hardware merchant, said that Filsinger came into his place about the beginning of June, and Kalbfleisch asked him if he wasn't going down that day to the farmer's convention in Toronto and Filsinger said he was. During the conversation, Kalbfleisch says that in the presence of himself and John Harper, a farmer of Carrick, that Filsinger stated that the boys who were now being sent overseas were being sold in England like little pigs for $8.00 a piece. "I asked him, said Kalbfleisch, 'do you mean to say that Borden is selling the boys and pocketing the money?' Moses said 'I don't know, they may be using it for buying clothes for the boys or for transportation, you hear so many things you don't know what to believe.'"

John Harper said he was present when Filsinger was talking about the Government and the Farmer's deputation that was going to Toronto, and had heard Filsinger's remarks about the boys that were being sold over in England for $8.00 each like little pigs, and declared that he cautioned Filsinger against repeating it.

Filsinger in his own behalf, said he had attended the Farmer's Convention in Ottawa, and that the meeting to Filsinger, he also heard about the pick delegates from Carrick for the Convention in Toronto had been called without his authority. He was present and was appointed chairman, and declared to the meeting that the farmers had as much right to fight as others. He thought the farmers' boys should not be exempted, and that they had no more right to exemption than anyone else. The military authorities, he declared, knew more about it than we did, and asked the meeting to send someone else. They, however chose him as a delegate and it was forced on him. While on the delegation to Toronto he claims he heard about the boys being sold at $8 each. At this juncture Crown Attorney Dixon who was acting for the prosecution, reminded Mr. Filsinger that the evidence of the two witnesses showed that he made these remarks about the sale of the boys before going to Toronto.

Mr. Filsinger replied that he had also heard the same story about the boys being sold like pigs while on the previous delegation to Ottawa. He deplored it as it were, merely repeated them for what they were worth. He protested that he was thoroughly loyal and had always supported patriotic measures by his Council, both in the Council and out of it.

On invitation from Mr. Filsinger, Philip Greas, a farmer of Carrick, declared that while on the deputation to Ottawa, and Toronto with Mr. Filsinger, he also heard about the soldiers being sold at between $8 and $10 each. The reason for these statements, he maintained, may be assigned possibly to the temper the farmers were in, but where they originated as others. He thought the farmers' boys should not be exempted, and that they had no more right to ex-the accused up for trial.

Editorial

It is safe enough to say that the Old Habeas Corpus Act has had more calls upon its friendship the last two weeks than it had for a number of years.

Possibly the last great German offensive is on—perhaps, however, it is too much to expect that it is the last.
The Allied lines are holding, which shows that when attacked are well prepared, a retreat is not necessary.

The re-discovery of gas at Hep-worth is an important event in this district. It is to be hoped that everything that may be dug will be a great service. It will be a good thing for Hepworth, and an excellent thing for the surrounding country.

There have been few things to admire about the Germans since this war began, but we must confess that we take off our hats to them when it comes to the putting an end to a strike. The men here, who want to strike, should have the same privilege that they offered, either go to work or go to the front.

There were not many strawberries canned this year, and there was no reason, they were too high. Of course it will be said that the cold season is responsible for a poor crop, but no matter how good the crop is the public have given up expecting anything to be reasonably cheap. Fruit farming has become a very profitable industry and while the public give evidence that they must have fruit, regardless of the prices. If the public would realize that they can get along without it then we would see something again within our reach very quickly.

The Warton streets are not first class and we know it, and the reason that we are not first class is because our pocket book is not first class. If we had a pocket book well filled, and a tax rate no higher than the foot hills, then we could have good streets. But even as it is a few loads of gravel dumped in all the holes would have a beneficial effect and be far more pleasing to auto drivers.
They would have fewer bumps. It strikes The Echo that a town should have a street commissioner just as much as a water commissioner. A business man, who is a member of the Council, has not sufficient time to give to this work, and it is too much to ask of him to be running all over the town to see after repairs and work here and there. Our present system is a poor one.

DYER'S BAY

Strawberries are a poor crop in these parts.

Mr. Wm. Lynch motored to Warton
last Sunday, returning on Monday.
He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
Robt. Bartley Jr., Mr. Archie Amos and Miss Myrtle Amos. Mr. Amos and Myrtle visited friends at Big Bay, while Mrs. Bartley took the train for Sparta where her parents live.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyndall, Master Lloyd and Mrs. Thos. Tyndall motored up from the Head last Thursday and spent a few days the guest of Tyndall's brothers.

Mr. Chas. Matheson had a very successful raising last Saturday when he erected a fine new sheep-pen.

Mr. Geo. Matheson, of Lucknow, who spent the past few weeks visiting at the home of Chas. Matheson, left on Tuesday for Brantford where he will visit his daughter.

A number from this part attended the bazaar raising at the home of Mr.
Ackerman, Cape Chin.

The Annual S. S. picnic was held on the old grounds on July 10th. The day was ideal and the children and all present enjoyed themselves.

Miss Peter McNair and Sandy Bartley spent the week-end at their homes here.

Mr. Lei Dunham, of Owen Sound, did business here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watson, of Tobermory, visited at the home of Mr.
Watson here this week.

SPRING CREEK

Wm. Campbell, of Port Elgin, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. R. Sock-ett.

Mrs. Herbert Atkins and two chilren, of Stratford, are visiting Mrs. At-kin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H.
Bernes.

Mrs. Leontine and daughter, are the guests of Mrs. Thos. Jackson.

Miss Mabel Lawrence returned to Toronto Friday after spending two weeks with her parents.

Mrs. Crinilla, of Owen Sound, spent Sunday with Mrs. H. A. Nichols.

Kaiser Unpopular In United States

(Mail and Empire)

What shall be done with the Kaiser after the war? The question was put to the readers of the New York Herald and the answers display a unanimity that is astonishing. "Torture him!"
is the burden of the demand. Plainly enough the American people are not fighting this war with their hearts purged of hatred. Indeed, one might say that hatred of the Kaiser and all he represents is stronger within them than any other sentiment, like pity for Belgium, sympathy for France, or general anxiety to make the world safe for democracy. Yet this feeling of hatred is not without a leaven of fair play. Practically everybody wants to see the Kaiser tortured or put to death, but there is a general feeling that he ought to have a trial first. The suggestion is put forward by one writer, with recollections of judicial scandals in the United States, perhaps, that the trial ought to take place in the Tower of London, and nobody seems in favor of allotting longer time to the proceedings than would be required for the readings of the charge and the Judge putting on the black cap.

Anti-German Prejudice Creeps In.
One woman suggests that he ought to be handed over to the women of France for trial and judgment, believing that substantial justice would be done both as regards the verdict and its execution. A practical-minded man says: "Let him stay right where he is and straighten out the terrific tangle he has brought upon his Empire. Then let the German people take up his fate and decide it. St.
Helena would be too easy. He would live well and rest in comfort while others undid his work." A writer who signs "Friendship Gloucester" is not quite decided whether the Kaiser ought to be strangled in the Tower of London or crucified at Verdun, and seems to regret the impossibility of both these sentences being imposed.
Another begins his letter with these well considered words: "We should make that miserable boozed-soaked, brazen-headed lunatic of a rat undergo, with all his family, especially his Crown Prince, the tortures that so many people have undergone." A unity of tortures is there presented the curtain falling on the All-Highest being devoured by a troop of hyenas.

Varieties of Imprisonment.
A New York lady proposes that he should be confined in a dungeon upon whose walls are portrayed the horrors of the Lusitania, the rape of Belgium and some of the unspeakable atrocities of German soldiers, fed on bread and water and left there for the rest of his life. "A quiet loving country woman" would have him put naked in an iron cage "all welded fast" on some mountain-top in Prussia to starve to death. The process of starvation would give him time to beg God's pardon for his sins. The bleaching bones should be left in the cage until they had become dust and blown away. Another writer would have the Kaiser banished to some desert island and cut off absolutely from all communication with the world.
Still another who has evidently given some thought to the problem writes: I would like to have a room built 30 ft. square, made out of two-inch planks, 16 feet high, without any roof, and the floor made of sharp, broken stones set on end, and 12
rattlesnakes, 12 black snakes, 12 copperheads, and 12 pits put into this room, and the clothes to be taken away from the Kaiser, who would be fed the same as the snakes for the reminder of his days."

Indicated for Murder.
A Bronx lady, more merciful, would simply have the Kaiser nailed to a post and the United States army and navy shoot at him. A Prussian woman is anxious that everything possible should be done to prolong Wilhelm's life in order that his mental torture should not be cut short. Should propose that when the war is over the Kaiser, in a cage, should be travelled about the world in order that the people might look at him and hand him something. One correspondent calls attention to the fact that there are three indictments for murder against the Kaiser in various English courts at present, and the Herald editorially notes that recently questions have been asked concerning the advisability of keeping alive the indictments.

What Must Be Done.
Several of the writers make it plain that they have no particular prejudice against the Kaiser, but are willing to give him the same treatment as that accorded the Crown Prince, Hindenburg, Tirpitz and the other leaders of the Prussian war party. The Herald sympathizer is particularly insistent to The Mail and Empire, which was among the very first of the newspapers to suggest that the Kaiser should be made to suffer some physical punishment for his crime. We argued that not only would a criminal trial,

Guard Baby's Health In The Summer

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera, infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery come on so quickly that often a little life is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to pre-sentence and execution be just, but it would have a deterrent effect upon other rulers who might in the future feel an impulse to conquer the world.

A blow from a fist, a cut with a sword, would be just as painful to the Kaiser as to any other man. If he had known when he set out on his great adventure that the penalty of failure would be his own execution, he might never have taken the risk. Unfortunately the custom of making kings suffer in their own person is one that never was as popular as it should have been. We would have saved the world conclusive peace, nothing would have so profound dissatisfaction among the people of the allies as the failure to inflict upon the Emperor of Germany a penalty at least as mild as that which was endured by Napoleon.

MILLER LAKE

Plas. James Brough, who is training in London, is home on a month's leave.

A number of Miller Lake people took in the Farmer's picnic in East-nor on Monday and all report that it was a great day. McLaren's pipe band of Warton supplied the music and it was a treat. Mr. Halbert, the speaker, told the farmers in very plain English just what they were up against, and why they should stand shoulder to shoulder and organize.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Boyle are home on their farm here for a few days.
Lorne is home on a ten days leave from London. We are pleased to see them back again even if it is only for a few days.

Misses Philip Forbes and Abe McIntosh were visitors here on Thursday.

Plas. James Brough left here on Wednesday morning for London. Jim expects to get his discharge this trip on account of a lame leg.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brough were at Hepworth on Thursday.

A few of the Miller Lake people attended the bazaar raising at Joe Ackerman's on Wednesday. When finished Joe will have a very fine barn.

Mr. Frank Steip, of Spyr, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Jno. Noble on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Robins spent the 12th at Dyer's Bay fishing and got 18 nice trout.

Mr. M. Sadler went to Tobernory to help celebrate the glorious 12th.

Mr. C. Boyle was a Warton visitor on Monday.

Mr. W. J. Holmes, who was down at Pike Bay for a couple of weeks, is home again.

HIS SENSIBLE WAY

"Pears like there kid of your'n is powerful dumb for his age," said a hyper-critical neighbor. "Can't he talk a-tall?"
"Shore, he can talk!" replied Mr.
Cap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, Ark.
"But he's tired of saying what cuss words he knows, and so he's keeping still till he learns some more."

The Silver Maple Leaf Society will hold a garden party on Wednesday evening July 24th at Mr. Gordon Lawrences, Con. 15, Amabel. There will be a program and refreshments. Admission 10 cents. July 10 2-w

Are you behind in your subscription to the Patriotic League? If so will you kindly hand in arrears to Mr.
Jackson, the Treasurer. In the majority of cases it is a matter of forgetting it. Please help the officers of the League by keeping up your payment promptly.

Last week Mr. Alexander McNeill placed the roses from his garden at the disposal of the Young Ladies Red Cross Society, who sold these at the bowling tournament and on the 12th of July. These flowers netted $75.40 and this amount will go towards a fund for the relief of the Serbian prisoners of war.

Mr. W. Porter, who is road superintendent for Keppel, stated last week that the colonization work had all been done in Keppel, but there is of course the commuted statute labor work yet to be done. The Echo would suggest that more attention be given the shore road between Oxenden and Big Bay.
This is the beauty spot of Keppel, it is an easy road to be kept up, and it certainly is worthy of more attention.

The Echo is pleased to report that the outlook for good crops in this district is encouraging. Hay will not be the crop of 1917 nor 1918, because there were exceptional years, but it will be a good average crop. Spring grains and roots are looking well. Fall wheat will be light, but what there is for sale will bring a good price. Peas are most promising.

When we went to press last week the bowling tournament was not then finished and it is too late now to say very much about the event. Wright's rink, Owen Sound, won the Trophy prize with Symon, Warton, as runners up; Baines rink, Warton, won the association prize with Bowman, Southampton as runners up, while the Consolation prizes went to rinks skipped by Batcheller, Owen Sound, and Thompson, Warton.

Occasionally letters are sent The Echo for publication from those who have friends overseas, and we are unable to do so because in our judgment there is very little of public interest in them. While a letter may be of particular interest to those receiving it, yet it may not contain much matter of public interest, and in this case the readers of a paper have to be considered.

Warton Wins Suit

Judgment has been given in the suit of the town of Warton vs. Canadian Casket Co. which was tried in Owen Sound at the last Supreme Court sittings. The report is as follows:—

Town of Warton vs. Canadian Casket Co.—J. C. Moore (Warton), for plaintiffs. D. Robertson, K. C., for defendant. Action on a mortgage for foreclosure, immediate possession and payment of $1,022.87. Judgment: plaintiff will take the usual decree for foreclosure (six months to redeem) or if they prefer a decree for sale in three months. As they may elect, the Master of Warkenton will take the account and tax costs and fix the day of redemption. In view of all the circumstances the Master will not tax to plaintiffs any cost of the trial.

In No Danger.

Wife—The fact that there are germs on money doesn't worry me.
Hub—No, my dear, it would take a pretty active germ to hop from the money to you, during the brief time you have it.

with such absorption that they failed to see a shift with a single curtain sailing past the stern of the Grande Dame and make fast to the landing. Still unobserved, the man mounted the companion way swiftly.

For once in his life Wayne Wayland was too confused for definite speech. Willis Marsh stood helpless.

"Don't believe her," he broke out. "She is lying to protect her own lover."

He pointed to Chakawa. "That girl is the child's mother, but his father is Roy Emerson."

"Roy Emerson was seen in Kaitia until last December," said Cherry. "The child is three years old."

"It seems I am being discussed," said a voice behind them. Emerson came in the way through the saloon, smiling directly to Marsh. "What is the meaning of this?"

Mildred Wayland laid a fluttering hand upon her breast. "I knew he would come," she breathed.

Constantine broke his silence for the first time, addressing Mildred directly. "This lady, Miss Marsh, is my sister."

"What for you, Mr. Marsh? He is my sister," she said. "I have heard forward with a frightened soul. 'I tell you how long ago I kill you if you don't marry me.'"

"Now I understand," exclaimed Roy. "It was you who stalked him that night in the cemetery."

"Yes, Chakawa told him what the priest said. 'You must marry me or I will kill you.' My sister was so to tell herself and don't care much, but it isn't right for little baby to go to hell too."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Mr. Wayland.

"The father say if white man take Indian woman and don't marry her she go to hell for thousand year, mother, three thousand year. Another the don't never see Jesus home. That's bad thing!" The broad shock his head seriously. "Chakawa was his good girl, and she go to church. I give money to the priest, ten dollars every year, but he says that's not good."

"You might have avoided quarrelling with him. I think you are very inconsiderate of me."

as a puzzling attention to his own purposes and inclinations. He had come out to the yacht definitely to make good his threat and to force an understanding with Mildred Wayland, but now that he was here and his way made easy he began to question his own desire. Now that he thought about it that note, instead of filling him with dismay, had rather left him relieved. It was as if he had been freed of a burden, and this came to him very soon, he had made up his mind to the struggle that a man makes once in a lifetime, and now, just when he had proved himself strong and fair in the sight of his fellows, he asked him to forego it all. Reasoned in why? Why? Because, he required of him a greater sacrifice than any he had made. What he had shown his strength he wanted to lead him down with golden fetters, and a dependent wife.

It became a fear another girl? She had tried to help him, he knew, in her way and the thought of it touched him. That was like the old days, when he had known her so fearlessly, heedless of what her father might do or say. Somehow he had never felt more convinced of the sincerity of her love than he did now, his self thinking of it as of something of the past. After all, what she had done had been little, considering her power. She had given calmly out of her abundance, without a thought of her own, and a sudden sense of loyalty and devotion to the girl who had really shared his struggles swept over him in a warm tide. It was most unlike her distant worship of Mildred. She had been his dream, but the other was his bone and flesh of his flesh.

For a long time the two sat talking while the thought took gradual form in the young man's mind, and although the deck was deserted, Miss Wayland had now no need to curb her once headstrong voice.

"He could not put into words the change that was working in him, but she saw it, and grasping its meaning at last, she began to battle like a mother for her child. His awakening had been slow, and hers was even slower, but she found her power over him waning her sense of loss grew and grew as he failed to answer to her half spoken appeal."

"Yes, that's what it is. I am beginning to understand things better—at least as far as Marsh is concerned. The rest is only a matter of time."

"What a frightful situation! Why did you ever let father announce my engagement to that man?"

Emerson gazed at her in astonishment. "Pardon me! How could I help it?"

"You might have avoided quarrelling with him. I think you are very inconsiderate of me."

ROUGHAGE FOR SHEEP

Legume Hays Stand at Forefront in Feeding Value.

Not Only is Timothy Unsurpassable to Animals, but it Causes Reliance on Grains is Saved.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

By using the right kind of hay legume of grain, sheep can be wintered successfully and much grain saved for other purposes. Sheep require less concentrated feed during the winter than other classes of livestock. If they are in good condition at the beginning of the winter and if lambs are expected before the spring pastures are open, the grainless ration is to be advised.

Legume hays stand at the forefront as a roughage for sheep. No other roughages approach them in feeding value. The coarsestemmed hays, like timothy, red top and blue grass have very few leaves and therefore are poor sheep feed. Hays having a large amount of timothy in them also are undesirable. Not only is timothy unsuitable to the sheep, but it causes serious cases of constipation. The dry timothy hays work into the wool, causing irritation to the skin, lessening the value of the clip and making shearing difficult. When timothy or other coarsestemmed hay is fed to sheep in winter quarters it becomes necessary to use some supplementary feed to keep the sheep in condition.

If any monotonous hay is fed, supplementary protein feed is needed. Linseed meal is good since in addition to furnishing protein it counteracts the constipating effect of timothy hay. From one-quarter to one-half pound of linseed meal per animal daily should be used, depending on the size and condition of the animal and the other feed used.

In an experiment conducted at the Missouri station and reported in bulletin No. 120, the relative values of clover and timothy hays for wintering ewes were determined.

Fifteen ewes fed 2.5 pounds timothy hay and 0.35 pounds grain per head during the winter lost 7.6 pounds each during the same time that another lot receiving the same weight of grain and clover hays gained 8.5 pounds. The 14 ewes fed clover hay dropped 16 strong lambs, while those fed timothy hay lost 11 strong and 5 weak lambs. The lambs from the ewes fed clover hay gained more rapidly during the first 30 days than did those from the ewes fed timothy hay.

It is not too late yet. I will give you one final chance to save yourself. He shook his head.

"Then I have done my duty," she suggested closer to him. "And you have no regrets?"

"Only one. I am sorry that I can't give you to go out into the world and begin all over it. Mr. Wayland carries out his threat. I may be the poorest of the poor."

"That will be my opportunity to show how well I love you. You can be so poorer than I in this world's goods."

"You at least have your copper mine."

"I have no mine," said the girl, "not even the smallest interest in one."

"But I don't understand."

She dropped her eyes. "Mr. Hillard is a hard man to deal with. I had to give him all my share in the claims."

"I suppose you mean you sold out to him."

"Not. When I found you could not

PROLOGUE

This fascinating romance of society life, politics and the underworld, this problem of the ninety-eight pearls, this tragedy of the missing state treasurer and a beautiful daughter's search for him, holds the reader's interest from the very first chapter to the last and gives the author a high place among the creators of mystery fiction.

CHAPTER I

Sentiment and Clew.

IN my criminal work anything that wears skirts is a lady until she proves her otherwise. From the frayed and shabby petticoats of the woman who owns a poultry stand in the market and who has grown wealthy by selling chickens at twelve cents to the pound or the silk gown of Maggie Tracy, whose diamonds have been stolen down the avenue or the staidly respectable black and middle aged skirt of the client whose husband has found an oddity in her and who has been turned out to leave and frigates and has run off with her—all the wearers are ladies and as such unaccounted by. In fact, by carrying it to excess. It speaks of his wealth and, with a husband who is an unscrupulous and an unscrupulous one day in some excitement that the lady who had just gone out had appropriated all the loose change out of the pocket of his overcoat.

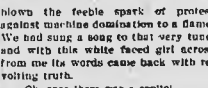

So when Flawes announced a lady I took my feet off my desk, put down the brief I had been reading and rose perfectly. With my right place at my visitor, however, I threw away my cigar and, I have heard since, set my tin. That this client was different was borne to me at once by the way she entered the room. She was pale as a sheet of embarrassment, and her face when she raised her head was white, red and blue.

"I did not send to my name," she said when she saw me glancing down for the card Flawes usually puts on my table. "It was advice I wanted, and I did not think the name would matter."

She was more composed, I think, when she found me considerably older than herself. I saw her looking furtively at the graying places over my ears. I am only thirty-five, as far as that goes, but my family, although it keeps its hall, turns gray early—a business asset, but a handicap.

"Won't you sit down?" I asked, pushing out a chair so that she would feel the light while I remained in shadow. Every doctor and every lawyer knows that trick. Only too often the railing of a woman's veil in my office reveals the ravages of tears or rage or disquiet. My own client, however, leaning to the window an outlined face, with a clear skin, healthily pale. From where I sat her profile was beautiful.

"I hardly know how to begin," she said, "but suppose I tell you—suppose that a man, a well known man, should leave home without warning, not taking any clothes except those he wore and saying he was coming home to dinner, and he—"

blows the feeble spark of protest against machine domination to a flame.

As it's too big to steal away, I probably there still. The ring's hand in the treasury. And Fleming with a sack. They take it out in wagon loads. And over bring it back.

"I am more than sorry," I said. I was too. Whatever he may have been, he was my father. "After all, there may be a dozen simple explanations and there are exceptions to policies."

"I hate politics," she broke in suddenly. "When I read of women wanting to vote and all that I wonder if they know what it means to have to poll to dreadful people, people who have even been convicts and all that. Why, our last brother had a wife—"

"I cannot think of anything except that he had a wife," I said. "That is another thing, too, Mr. Knox. The day after father went away, Carter, our butler, left. He was not there that night, nor was he the next morning. He was gone before the servants came up, and we have not seen him since."

"Your father has not been ill, has he?" I asked. "I cannot think of anything except that he had a wife," I said. "That is another thing, too, Mr. Knox. The day after father went away, Carter, our butler, left. He was not there that night, nor was he the next morning. He was gone before the servants came up, and we have not seen him since."

"He forgot my birthday two weeks ago," she said. "It was the first one he had ever forgotten in nineteen of them."

"Nineteen? Nineteen from thirty-five years since?" I asked. "What I meant was this," I explained. "People sometimes have sudden and unaccountable lapses of memory and at other times they are apt to stray away from home. See your father been worried lately?"

"He has been irritable even to me and terrible to the servants. Only Mr. Carter was never ugly to Carter."

"You have no brothers or sisters?" "None. I came to you"—there she stopped.

"Please tell me how you happened to come to me," I urged. "I didn't know where to go," she confessed. "So I took the telephone directory, the classified part under 'Attorneys' and, after I shut my eyes, I put my finger haphazard on the page. It pointed to your name."

"I am afraid I flinched at this, but in a moment I laughed. 'We will take it as an omen,' I said, 'and I will do all that I can. But I am not a detective, Miss Fleming. Don't you think we ought to have some more information?'"

"Not the police?" she shuddered. "Suppose you tell me what happened the day your father left and how he came away. Tell me the little things, too."

"Why don't you tell me everything?" I asked. She flushed. Then she opened her pocketbook and gave me a slip of rough paper. On it in careless figures was the number "eleven twenty-two." That was all.

"I was afraid you would think it all," she said. "It was such a mean index thing. You see, the second night after father left I was nervous and could not sleep. I expected him home at any time, and I kept listening for his step downstairs. About 3 o'clock I was sure I heard some one in the room below mine. I felt relieved. For I thought he had come back. But I did not hear the door into his bedroom close, and finally I slipped along the hall to his room. I had a queer feeling before I turned on the light, but there was some one standing close to me. The room was empty and the tall too."

"Add the paper?" "The paper had been pinned to a pillow on the bed. When I saw the pin I was startled. I rang for Annie, the second housemaid, who is also a sort of personal maid of mine. It was half past 3 o'clock when Annie came down. I took her into father's room and showed her the paper. She was sure it was not there when she folded back the bedclothes for the night at 9 o'clock."

"Eleven twenty-two," I repeated. "Twice eleven is twenty-two. But that isn't very enlightening."

"No," she admitted. "I thought it might be a telephone number, and I called up all the eleven twenty-two in the city. Annie said Carter had rung back, and she went to wake him, but, although his door was locked, he did not answer. Annie and I switched on all the lights on the lower floor from the top of the stairs. Then we went back together and looked around. Every window and door was locked, but in father's study, on the first floor, two drawers of his desk were standing open. And in the library, the little room next to my writing table where I keep my home money, had been broken open and the money taken."

"Nothing else was gone?" "Nothing. The silver on the sideboard to the dining room, plenty of valuable things in the cabinet in the drawing room—nothing was disturbed."

"Did he know where you kept your home money?" "It is impossible, but I hardly think so. Besides, if he was going to steal there he would have taken it."

"There was a lock on the door?" "I had helped to raise two young Knoxes—holly youngsters, too (the oldest one could use boxing gloves when he was up and the street clock in our end of the state. I wanted to raise other things. The boys liked pets, but Edith didn't care for animals."

"On the day that Fleming came to me about her father I went home in a state of mixed emotion. Dinner was not a quiet meal. Fred and I talked politics generally, and as Fred was an old side and I on the other there always was an argument on."

"What about Fleming?" I asked at last when Fred had declared that in these days of corruption, no matter what the government was he was for him. "That's been frightened."

"Bad egg," he said, jabbing his pointer at it if it had been a politician, "and there's no way to improve a bad egg except to hold your nose. That's what the public is doing—holding its nose."

"Hasn't he a daughter?" I asked casually. "Yes—a lovely girl, Edith, as she is called. It is his only redeeming quality."

"Fleming is a rascal, daughter or no daughter," Fred persisted. "Ever since he and his gang got poor Butler into trouble and then left him to kill himself as the only way out I have felt that the government was in a bad way of it. Hansen, Schwartz and the rest. I saw Fleming on the street today."

"What?" I exclaimed, almost jumping out of my chair. "Fred surprised me quite lately. 'Hasn't he a daughter?' he quoted. 'Yes, I saw him, Jack, this very day in his new black four wheeler, and he was wearing at a policeman's uniform.'"

"Where was it?" "Chester and Union. His cab had been struck by a car and badly damaged, but the driver from behind and leading on. No doubt you could get the details from the corner man."

"Look here, Fred," I said earnestly. "Keep that to yourself, will you? You know I am a very close story, and I'll tell you some time."

"As we left the dining room Edith put her hand on my shoulder. 'Don't get mixed up with those people. If I had been a politician, I'd get out of it. I have only one daughter girl, but her father practically killed Henry Butler, and Henry Butler married my mother.'"

Mr. Schwartz, who has no scruples as to how to get to see that he is a "Schwartz," I repeated to Margery. Henry Schwartz was the name of a party in the state, the man of whom one of the advertisements had said, with the closest approval of the voters, that he was a good man in the scale of humanity that it would require a special dispensation of heaven to raise him to the level of long suffering. But he and Fleming were generally supposed to be captain and first mate of the pirate craft that passed with the for the ship of state."

"Mr. Schwartz and my father are allies politically," the girl explained, with brightened color, "but they are not friends. My father is a politician."

"And you are a woman?" "And you are a woman?" "I'm only a wife and mother."

"In the library Fred got up from his desk and gathered up his papers."

CHAPTER II

Uneasy Apprehensions.

I AM afraid it was a queer hodge-podge of clew and confusion that I poured out to Hunter, the detective, when he came up late that afternoon.

"They're rotten clear through," Hunter reflected. "This administration is worse than the last, and it was a peach. There have been more suicides than I could count on my two hands in the last ten years. I warn you—you'd be better off on this meat."

"What do you think about the eleven twenty-two?" I asked. "It might be that many dollars or the time a train starts, or it might be the eleventh and the twenty-second letters of the alphabet—k-v."

"K-v?" I repeated. "Why that would be the Latin cross—be-ware."

Hunter smiled cheerfully. "You'd better stick to the law, Mr. Knox," he said from the door. "We don't see Latin in the detective business."

Plattsburg was not the name of the capital, but it will do for this story. The state doesn't matter either. We will say that my home city is Manchester, with my married brother, his wife and two boys. Fred is older than I am and he is an exceptional brother. On the day he came home from his wedding trip, which he had been behind me in accordance with a prearranged schedule. Fred and Edith met me inside the door.

"Here's your latchkey, Jack," Fred said as he came in. "Only one stipulation—remember we are strangers in the vicinity and try to get home before the neighbors are up. We have our reputations to keep."

"There is no hour for breakfast," Edith said as she kissed me. "You have a bath of your own and don't smoke in the drawing room."

Fred was on his side and I on the other. I had been there now for six years. I had helped to raise two young Knoxes—holly youngsters, too (the oldest one could use boxing gloves when he was up and the street clock in our end of the state. I wanted to raise other things. The boys liked pets, but Edith didn't care for animals."

"On the day that Fleming came to me about her father I went home in a state of mixed emotion. Dinner was not a quiet meal. Fred and I talked politics generally, and as Fred was an old side and I on the other there always was an argument on."

"What?" I exclaimed, almost jumping out of my chair. "Fred surprised me quite lately. 'Hasn't he a daughter?' he quoted. 'Yes, I saw him, Jack, this very day in his new black four wheeler, and he was wearing at a policeman's uniform.'"

In four years he can have a copy, and I'm going to see that he has a copy. I'll be right by that time."

"In four years?" she said. "Why, in four years you'll be forty, Jack. And it's a mighty unattractive man who gets past forty without being sought and wooed by some woman. You'll be buying."

"I am be thirty-nine," I said, with dignity. "and if I marry—if I do—it will be some girl who turns and runs the other way every time she sees me."

"The oldest trick in the book," Edith nodded. "What's that thing Fred's always quoting? 'A woman is like a shadow; follow her, she dies; fly from her, she follows.'"

"Upon my word!" I said indignantly. "And you are a woman!" "I'm different," she retorted. "I'm only a wife and mother."

In the library Fred got up from his desk and gathered up his papers.

I saw him Put a Leg Over the Law Fence.

can't think with you two whispering there," he said. "I'm going to the den."

He slammed the door into his wife's bedroom Edith picked up her skirts and scuttled after him.

"How dare you run away like that?" she called. "You promised me!" The door closed behind me. I was alone.

I went over and spoke through the panels. "Follow her, she flies; fly from her, she follows." Oh, write and mother!

"For heaven's sake, Edith!" Fred's voice rose irritably. "If you and Jack are going to talk all evening go and sit on his knee and let me alone. The way you two flirt under my nose is a scandal. Do you hear that, Jack?"

"Good night, Edith," I called. "I have put a kiss on the upper hand panel of the door. And I want to ask you one more question. What if I fly from the woman and she doesn't follow?"

"The man's lucky stars," Fred called in a muffled voice. "I had some work to do at the office, and half past eight that night found me at my desk. But, my mind was wandering from the papers before me. After an useless effort to concentrate I gave it up as useless, and at 11 o'clock I was on the street again, my evening wardrobe, the papers in the libel case, and Star against the Eagle untouched and the victim of an uneasy apprehension that took me, almost without volition, to the neighborhood of the Fleming house, for it had occurred to me that Miss Fleming might not have left the house that day, as she had promised, might still be there, liable to another intrusion by the mysterious individual who had a key to the house."

It was a relief, consequently, when I reached its corner to find no lights in the building. The girl had kept her word. As a matter of fact, I looked at the house curiously. It was one of the largest in the city, not wide, but running far back along the side street. A small yard with a low fence and a garage completed the property. The street lights left the back of the house in shadow, and as I stopped in the shelter of the garage I was positive that I heard some one working with a hammer in the empty house. A moment later the sounds ceased and muffled footsteps came down the cement walk. The intruder made no attempt to open the iron gate, and against the light I saw him put a leg over the low fence, follow it up with the other and start up the street with peculiar poiselessness of stride. He was a short, heavy shouldered fellow in a suit and his silhouetted showed a prodigious length of arm.

I followed, I don't mind saying, to some excitement. I had a vision of grabbing him from behind and leading him or pushing him, under the circumstances, in triumph to the police station, and another mental picture no pleasant of being found on the pavement by some passerby with a small punctuation mark ending my sentence of life.

Once the man put a head stopped and lit a cigarette, and the odor of a very strong cigar. "Marion came back. He glanced back over his shoulder at me and went on without uttering a word. We met no policeman, and after perhaps two minutes I saw him disappear into a dark alleyway. By gentlemen of the rubber club since I was going slowly to the left and entered the police station.

I had been so excited to see Davidson when I had seen him during the day that I had not been able to sleep. I was so excited to see Davidson when I had seen him during the day that I had not been able to sleep.

USEFUL CELLAR DOOR HINGE

Strips of Iron Strengthen Doors and Prevent Persons From Walking on Them

Strips of flat iron, one-fourth by one inch wide were used to make serviceable hinges for cellar doors, and a strip was attached to each hinge, curled in the form of a spring, as shown, providing also a practical stop.

Combined Hinge and Stop.

riding also a practical stop, writes M.
E. Doggan of Kenosha, Wis., in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The usual difficulty with such doors is that the hinges are soon torn loose and the doors racked to pieces. These hinges act as braces across the doors as well as stops.

COMFORT FOR HORSES

The faithful horse that breaks the land, tills the crops, hauls them to market and relieves his master of drudgery deserves better care than some of them get.
What is too good for the faithful horse that works in season and out of season to make the farm produce?

Think of your horse when you are sitting around the fireplace or enjoying the evening meal.
See that they are comfortable before you rest for the night.
If you do this you will enjoy your rest better, be a better master and a good citizen.

PUT CALKS ON HORSE SHOES

Necessary During Winter Season to Prevent Animals From Falling—Examine Frequently.

In winter weather it is necessary to shoe the draft horse so as to prevent falling and injury to the animal.
This is best done by using a calk shoe with a heavy toe and heel. This will prevent the horse from falling. A riding or driving horse should not be heavily shod. Care should be taken that the calks do not protrude, for there is danger of injury when the horse is trotting.

The shoes should be examined frequently to see if the calks are adequate for the work the animal is doing. When it is necessary to shoe the horse with heavy calks, special attention must be given to setting the heel calks so that there will be no danger of injury to the animal.

TO PREPARE ASPARAGUS BED

Doubtful Whether Cutting and Burning of Tops is Advisable Where Severe Freezing Occurs.

In many sections the asparagus plants are cut down, as soon as the berries turn red, and after drying are placed in a pile to rot. It is doubtful whether they are burned to destroy any disease germs or insects that may be present. In regions where severe freezes occur it is doubtful whether the cutting and burning of asparagus tops is advisable. The old tops hold the snow and prevent deep freezing and the blowing of soil. Some growers thoroughly harrow the bed after the tops are removed, others throw a slight ridge over the row, but ridging is not necessary unless there is danger of injury by severe freezing during the winter.
Where land is left to stand in the winter, cutting and ridging in the fall are objectionable.

MACHINES THAT SAVE LABOR

Difference in Profit and Loss in Farming Often Represented by Good Implement.

Good implements often represent the difference between profit and loss in farming. One man cultivates a field in one day. It takes another man one and one-fourth days to cultivate another the same size. One man breaks a field in three days; it takes another man four days to break one the same size. The difference is in the implement.
The cost of the implements and their upkeep may not be far from the same.
The time has come for farmers to seek implements and machines that save labor and make money.

COMFORTABLE PEN FOR PIGS

Warm, Dry Place Is Recommended—Give Opportunity for Exercise and Variety of Food.

Always give the pigs a warm, dry place in which to sleep. Do not allow them to sleep on the bare ground. Give an opportunity for exercise, and variety of food. It is impracticable to push them to popular market weights by the time they are seven months of age. The pigs are made more healthy before that time than it is possible to make them after that time.

HANDLING SEED CORN

Care Necessary in Selecting Requires Shelling by Hand.

Picking Out Most Productive Kernels
While in Field and Storing in Dry Place Is Only Half of Very Important Task.

Shelling is one of the important steps in selecting seed corn. The care necessary in selecting and handling corn to be used for seed requires shelling to be done by hand. Selecting the seed from the most productive stocks as they stand in the field and storing them in a dry place free from insects and rodents is only half the job in providing the next year's seed corn supply.

Seed ears should first be rubbed and the kernels from the seed supply.
The small kernels from the tips are less productive than the other kernels on the ear; the blunt, thick, rounded kernels from the butts are just as productive as any of the rest, but because of their shape and size they do not plant uniformly when used in a corn planter with other kernels.

Shelling by hand takes more time and labor, but is profitable. The mechanical corn sheller is likely to figure the germ tips of the individual grains and to thus destroy or impair their power to germinate. No matter how large the required supply, it will still pay to shell it painstakingly by manual labor, because the greater the accuracy to be planted, the greater the ultimate profit.

Each ear should be shelled separatly into a shallow pan or box, and every blemished, misshapen or worm-eaten kernel should be rejected. As the seed from each ear is found satisfactory and sound, and free from poor kernels, it is poured into the general supply, and another ear is shelled in the same way. It is much easier to pick out defective grains from a single layer in a small receptacle than from a large mangled quantity in a bushel measure or a bag.

EMERGENCY WIRE STRETCHER

Farmer Tells How He Made Repairs in Broken Fence by Using History Stick for Handle.

After turning the cows into a field I found that I had a broken place in the fence and I did not have the time to go for a stretcher at the other end of the farm. Finding a hickory stick in the woodpile I sawed off a piece about three feet long for the handle.
I could not take time to prepare a fire for heating an iron, so I flattened the end of a quarter-inch bolt and drove it in one end of the stick, then bent the head to make it rough like teeth.

Several laches from the end I fastened a short length of chain and a Wire Stretcher in Use.

hook taken from a singletree. The hook was bent so that the barbs on the wire could not slip through. When the barbed wire becomes slack it can be tightened by catching it between the claws of a hammer and making a series of kinks. These kinks should not be too short to weaken the wire.—J. L. Pinkston in Popular Science Monthly.

REVIVAL OF FRUIT ORCHARD

Proper Surgical Attention Will Prove Effective—Cut Out Dead Wood and Fill in Gaps.

Old orchards can be revived by proper surgical attention. Cut out the dead wood; fill in the holes and decayed spots with cement; cover exposed wounds with antiseptic tree paint; remove surplus growth from the interior of the tree to let in the sunlight; spray up the top and seal the tree with spray for what all them and always for cooling moth. Give the old trees a chance and they will bear for many years.

PASTURAGE AND LIVE STOCK

Grasses and Clovers on Properly Managed Farm Will Double Crops
Now Being Secured.

Grass and live stock should go hand in hand. There is no farm, which, if properly managed and kept at least one-half of the time in grasses and clovers, and gradually brought under a proper system of rotation, would not produce more, in fact, double the crop, which it now does, and yet constantly be growing better and better.

How Known What He Wants.
Experiments and experience seem to indicate that a hog knows what he wants, how much he wants, and when he wants it.

Use for Unpleasant Eggs.
Small or dirty eggs should not be placed on the market. Use them at home.

IMPORTANT POINTS FOR THE WOOD LOT

1. Dead and dying trees should be removed. The rot and willow material which is fairly dry, and which would otherwise be wasted, but lessens the danger of fire.

2. Good sound straight logs ordinarily should not be used for fuel, since they are more valuable for lumber. There is a great difference between the prices paid for logs of different grades, even of the same kind of wood. Branches, crooked and de-cayed logs, trunks broken in felling or otherwise defective, should be used for firewood.

3. Trees likely to be attacked by insects or fungi should be removed to safeguard those which remain. In eastern New England, for example, the gray moth is a serious enemy of the aspen, balsam poplar, gray and paper birch, basswood, hickory, black-oak and staghorn sumac, tamarack, glaucous willow, white hazel, and practically all the native oaks. Several of these species are of little value and can well be removed, thus reducing the food available for the insects. Where the chestnut blight is serious, the chestnut should be largely cut.

4. The selection of the woodland should be cut clean unless the owner has carefully considered the matter and decided that particular part is best adapted for farm purposes or that he will replant it with forest trees. Old trees, where they predominate, should be gradually removed, since they are not increasing in value.
The next generation of trees will be largely determined by those which are left for seed. The successful dairyman studies his records as kept by the cow-testing association, sells his less profitable cows, and breeds those which are producing the greatest amount of butter fat. In the same way the successful woodland owner will study the growth and uses of the different kinds of trees. He will then cut out those of little value and allow growth and keep for seed purposes those which will produce valuable lumber in a relatively short time.

To secure a second growth of better trees several things must be borne in mind: (a) Too large openings should not be made, because the ground will dry out and weeds, like hemp bushes, will come in and crowd out the young trees. For this reason it is often a good plan to leave some of the inferior trees for shade. (b)

Some trees, like the oaks, hickories and beech, have heavy seeds or nuts which cannot be transported any distance except by animals or birds, while others like the birch, maple, ash and basswood have light seeds which are carried long distances by the wind.
For the greatest amount of butter fat. In the same way the successful woodland owner will study the growth and uses of the different kinds of trees. He will then cut out those of little value and allow growth and keep for seed purposes those which will produce valuable lumber in a relatively short time.

5. Woodlands made up of heavily even-aged stand of second-growth are more valuable to the owner than those to the dairy. Here the problem is to remove the weeds as a means of getting a quicker yield of timber. The small, stunted trees at the woods since they never make a normal growth. The large, healthy trees should be favored, because they will grow rapidly to maturity. They are not to be confused with the mature trees in the old woodland, though in general the same species will be favored in both cases.

COVER WHEAT WITH MANURE

Top Dressing Is Usually Preferred to Plowed Under Fertilizer or Too Much Trash.

Manure should be used carefully in the growing of wheat and other small grains. Top dressing on winter grain is usually preferred to plowing under manure or too much trash. This makes a loose seedbed which is likely to dry out and injure the grain. A top dressing, evenly distributed and not too heavy, usually gives good results.

Manure spread on wheat late in the fall or during the winter tends to prevent soil drifting, catches snow, prevents the plants from getting chilled in a severe winter, and adds manure and plant food. Next year when the ground is plowed, the organic matter is incorporated with the soil and improves the texture and fertility of the land for the coming growing season.

we regret to say is reported to have received a gunshot wound in the back.
On July 12 Mrs. Cook received a wound from Ottawa that her husband, Gunner Lou Cook had been admitted to the hospital on account of a fractured clavicle.

SOX RECEIVED

Letters of Appreciation Received by Mrs. McArthur, Lions Head

France, June 16, 1918

Dear Mrs. McArthur:—Just a few lines to thank you for a pair of socks that I received a few days ago through the Girls Overseas Club of Lions Head.

The socks from home are very much appreciated here, as the socks we are issued with cannot compare with the good home knit ones.

I saw Angus about three weeks ago as we were together at that time, but now he is with one of the other engineering battalions, but Lieut.
Pettigrew expects to have him back with us in a few days.

Now I will close, again thanking you, and with kindest regards to Mr.
McArthur, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

France, June 20th 1918

Dear Mrs. McArthur:—I received a pair of socks in a box from the Girls Overseas Club which you knit and I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your work. An extra pair of socks came in handy when you come at nights with wet feet, and we always have a pair, due to the kindness of the Ladies of Lions Head and the surrounding country.

I will have to close now. Again thanking you for the socks, I remain,

Death of Mrs. Thos. Dargavel

After a lingering illness, extending over a period of five years, Mrs. Thos. Dargavel, passed away last Friday afternoon. She had a stroke five years ago, and had been an invalid since that time. Quite recently she had another stroke, and the family knew that the end of a busy and devoted life had come. The call came, and she was ready.

The deceased was born in Vanghan township, York County, April 17, 1855. At the age of three years she moved with her parents to Bentinck township, Grey County, and here she was married in 1879. Shortly after her marriage she and her husband decided to move to Saugeen, Bruce County, and here they lived until 19 years ago when they moved to Warton.

She was a home woman, motherly, and devoted to her family, a good neighbor, sympathetic, attentive to all calls in the church and charitable matters, and she has passed away leaving fond and enduring memories behind.

Eight children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dargavel, two predeceased her, John, who died in infancy, and James, who died two years ago. The surviving members of the family are her husband, Mrs. D. Ferguson, Lethbridge; Mrs. F. McEwan, Red Deer; Miss Jean, Assistant Principal Earlscourt School, Toronto; and Misses Netina and Susie and Clark at home.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon, and very many friends attended the service in the house and at the grave. The beautiful floral offerings expressed the sympathy of friends far more than words could have done. Mrs. Dargavel and family have the sincere sympathy of a very large circle of friends.

OXENDEN

Miss Mary McGarvie is to be congratulated on having been successful at the entrance examination recently. The re-opening services in the church last Sunday were a success in every way. Good congregations, good sermons and good music. The church never looked better, the new paper, rug, curtain, and nicely frosted windows show the good taste of those who had the arrangements in hand.

Mrs. Riggs and Mr. Robert Gatis Southampton, spent a few days renewing old friendships this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Evans, of Zion, Sunday in Oxenden.

People from Warton, Zion, Colpoys Bay and other places attended the church services last Sunday.

PIKE BAY

Farmers are busy haying. Mr. Jim Shaw is working at Mar for Joe Adams.

Miss Ethel Bellmore is home from Toronto for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Deacon, of Monticello, motored up on Tuesday and spent a few days visiting friends. Seeing the sights of the Peninsula Mr. Rodgers says there are great changes since he was here ten years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mook, of Galt, and Mr. and Mrs. Mook, of Hamilton, motored up here to visit Mr. and Mrs. Hayward and other friends.

MILLER LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Boyle, who were up here for a week's visit, left here on Tuesday. Mr. Boyle goes to London and Mrs. Boyle goes to her parent's home in Elmwood.

Mr. James Pyke, who was at Southampton framing a barn, is home again having got through with the job.

Mr. James Whyte left here on Tuesday to go to Centerville to work for W. Walpole.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pyke and Percy Whyte were down to Warton on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Esch and family left Wednesday for a week's visit at Purple Valley and Colpoys Bay.

Mr. Fred Bruin, Lions Head, was a business visitor here on Thursday.

There will hardly be half as much hay here this season as last, but the grain crop is looking very good.

Mr. L. Dunham passed through here on Monday with a wagon load of house-hold effects on his way to Owen Sound.

Mr. Thos. Robins made a trip to Lions Head on Wednesday for 80 rods of fence wire.

Mr. Geo. McMaster, of Owen Sound, was here on Wednesday and Thursday visiting his sister John Holme and.

We are pleased to see George about to be out again after his serious sickness.

Mr. Michael Sadler was laid up for a few days, but is better now and able to work.

Mr. Frank Steip, of Spry, was a caller here the first of the week.

Mr. D. C. Holmes made a trip to Lions Head on Friday.

Messrs. James and Peter Brough left here for Easton on Wednesday. Jim is going to work for Mr. Bray and Peter for Frank Steip.

Mr. J. T. Rouse was over to Lions Head on Thursday for a new wagon and mower he bought there.

Mr. Herb Shaw, of Brinkman's Corners was a caller here on Thursday.

COLPOYS BAY

Mr. C. E. Whicher, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whicher, Miss Irene Cavanagh and Miss Stella Whicher motored to Owen Sound last Friday.

Miss Eunice Poste, Phyllis Brown, Role Brown and Anna May Baird were successful at the recent entrance examinations. Miss Eunice getting honor.

Miss Julia Parke of Hamilton is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parke and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown and family and Miss A. M. Brown Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Winter North last Sunday.

The choir and a few others went across to Oxenden last Sunday to the church re-opening in Mr. Edwin Kalbfleisch's launch.

Last Sunday reminded us of "this good old summer time." It was a scorcher.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parke of Dornoch were visiting with relatives over Sunday.

Mr. Edward Fitzpatrick, of Stratroy, visited at Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham's part of last week.

Mr. Will Gilbert and Miss Carmelita spent part of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buckland, Amabel.

Fat is fuel for fighters. Save it.

John P. Newman Passes Away

On Wednesday last week Mr. Newman was on the street, around his mill and feeling as well as he had for some time. After tea he mowed his lawn, and remarked that he was feeling well. He retired for the night. After going upstairs he coughed a little and went down stairs for some medicine which had always given him relief. He took it while sitting in a chair, his head began to droop, his wife went to his assistance and with his head upon her shoulder the silver cord was loosed and the golden bowl was broken, and J. P. Newman, who has been a prominent man in business, in civic matters, in church, in temperance, in short in everything that had for its object the uplift of humanity, was taken to his reward.

The deceased was born in Norfolk England in 1842, came to Canada with his parents when eleven years of age, settled in Glen William, near Brumpton, moving later to Listowel, where he was married to Sophia Chapman. He will be remembered that last June Mr. and Mrs. Newman celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Newman lived many years in Listowel where his children were born. In 1890 he moved to Warton, that is twenty-eight years ago, and in every respect he was a good citizen.

In his early years, before he was afflicted with a difficulty in hearing, he served on the Town Council, on the High School Board, where he showed ability and discharged the duties of his office most conscientiously.

His life will be a rigid analysis. Upon coming to Warton he became associated with Mr. Allan Seaman in the lumbering business. It was new to him, but he proved an apt pupil under a good teacher, and afterwards, when he had the business all to himself he managed it with very considerable ability. As an employer of labor he stood in his own estimation, and all he ever dealt with, whether in buying or selling, found him the soul of honor.

He was always a most ardent temperance advocate in the days when the movement was not so popular, and when the pioneer in this cause had to take the axe and strike at the roots. In politics he was a Reformer, and it would have been practically impossible for him to be anything else. He was a party man because he had such decided convictions, and any party is the better in having such men of courage and consistency. In religious matters he was a most devoted member of the Methodist Church, where he will be much missed.

It was never difficult to locate his position upon any question. If he approved he would say so, and if he disapproved he would be even more plain. It would have been an utterly impossible thing for him to trim on any issue. This then was the man, who at 76 years of age, in harness until the last, passed away at his home, amidst his loved ones last Wednesday night. His great heart stopped beating, but his soul goes marching on.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and there was a large attendance. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. W. Prudham who paid a high tribute to the memory of the deceased, basing his remarks on the text "He being dead yet speaketh." The floral tributes were exceedingly beautiful and included: PILLOW, the family; Harp: Liberal Club of Warton; Basket: Mr. W. Ames, Ladies' Aid Methodist Church; Mr. and Mrs. V. Gilpin, Mr. and the Misses Atkey, Wilfred, May and Edith Newman, Mrs. Laidman; Wreaths: Methodist Choir, Mrs. J. C. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. James Chapman, Miss Bowes; Sprays: Dr. and Mrs. Fisher, Mr. McNell, Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Patterson, Mrs. Ashby and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Synn, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Parke, Mr. and Mrs. Kastner, Mr. J. C. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ely, Mrs. Hoover, Miss Colvin, Mr. and Mrs. I. Gilpin, Mr. and Mrs. John Johns.

The pall-bearers were: James Patterson, Robert W. Bright, John Johns, G. W. Ames, C. E. Parks, James Synn.

The deceased is survived by a widow, three sons, Messrs. Walter and Edward, Warton, and John of Toronto; three daughters, Mrs. E. Patterson, Mrs. M. (Dr.) Kirby and Miss Pearl at home.

As a man's idea that he was cut out for a great career decreases his usefulness increases.

LION'S HEAD

Miss Minnie Hannah, who has been visiting friends here, left on Monday for Detroit.

Miss Beattie Stewart, who spent the last month with her parent here, left on Monday for St. Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurston, accompanied by their son and daughter from Flesherton, spent the week-end with their daughter Mrs. R. Shaw.

Mr. Chas. Tyndall, who spent the past week visiting his parents here, returned to London last Monday.

Mr. C. C. Williams, of London, spent a few days of this week with his parents here.

Mrs. J. H. Miers, who has been visiting friends here, returned home last Monday.

Mr. H. Oswell left last Monday for southern parts.

Haying is all the go around these parts now and every man is wanted to help as laborers are quite scarce. Trowling is good in the bay and some good catches have been reported.

Recent Letters From Soldiers

France, 6, 20, 1918.

The Girls Overseas Club, Lions Head, Ont.

Dear Girls:—Just a line to thank you for the box which you sent me on April 24th, and which I received a couple of days ago. You already know how much these boxes are appreciated by the boys over here. You gain, however, scarcely know how much excitement a Canadian mail can induce into us, and I don't doubt that you look anxiously for the mail from overseas. Our new address is "A" Coy.—1st Bn.—C. E. and the rest is as before only we are Sappers now instead of Ptes. Now wishing you all joy and success in your generous work.

I remain gratefully yours,

Chris Graham.

France, June 21st, 1918.

The Girls Overseas Club, Lions Head, Ont.

Dear Girls:—Many thanks for the box I received. Am sure it was very kind and considerate of you to think of me in this way and I assure you I appreciate it very much. It is a pleasure to know that we have friends at home interested in our welfare, and every boy knows it. It is a pleasure to me to see the boys when they get a box from home, no matter how hard our task is, it brightens them up, in fact all of us and makes us realize we have friends at home to fight for as well as ourselves, and I am sure none of us have been forgotten.

We have had another bust up, the 107th Batt has been broken up, but I have had another "heavy" come through for my boys and now I have 34 of them together and I will have the rest shortly. They may as well give them to me for I will never stop until I get them.

I will close thanking you again on behalf of the boys and myself. Wishing you all the best of good luck,

I remain your true servant,

E. Pettigrew, Lieut.

1st Can. Engineer's Batt., B. E. F. France.

DYERS BAY

Mr. Burrows and some friends were the guests of Mr. Archie Amos last Tuesday. They tried the fishing at Lake Emmet.

Mr. Robert Bartley entertained a number of friends last Saturday in honor of Pte. Sandy Bartley who was home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, of Tobemore, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McNair.

Great improvement is being made on the Dyer's Bay roads these days as some money is being spent on the work.

Master Archie Tackaberry, of Lions Head, spent last Monday with the Dall Bros. of our burg. He came up in his gasoline launch.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Henry, of Chesley, motored to Dyers Bay where they spent a short time the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mathieson. Mrs. Henry is a cousin of Mrs. Mathieson's and chose this trip as a wedding tour.

Does Not Think Much A GALLANT RESCUE of a Farmer's Paper

In last week's Kincardine Review Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. says: The Reeve of Carrick Tp., Mr. Moses Filinger admits having said that women were being shipped overseas from Canada for the men to use and that boys being taken over now were being sold like pigs by the Borden Government at $8 apiece. He adds that he heard this at the Farmers Convention in Ottawa and Toronto. Mr. Filinger was committed for alleged treasonable and seditious utterances.

The Township of Carrick gave $82 majority against the Government in the last election. It is almost wholly German. Speakers at some of the Farmers' Clubs are very indignant over the Order-in-Council which makes it an offence "to speak against the Government" and they see in it the destruction of free speech. The reported utterances of Mr. Filinger show how far some men may go in their utterances against the government.

They slander a noble army of soldiers, nurses and Red Cross workers, just to have a fling at the Government. No doubt Mr. Filinger heard things more seditious if not more slanderous at the Toronto Convention, which was composed largely of men who want to win the war so long as it does not cost much in the way of money, inconvenience or sacrifice. Some of them talked as if they were pro-German. Nearly all of them were out to make capital against the Government even at the risk of hampering Canada's war effort. There are men in this neighborhood whose talk may get them in trouble too. Some of them have said worse things than were charged against the Brant Co. farmer who was recently fined $500. These should be reported in every case as treasonous acts taken against them. There has been too much license given them in the past and they should now be brought up with a sharp turn.

These men who attended the convention in Toronto or who were with the deputation in Ottawa, do not represent the farmers, certainly not farmers who have relatives overseas. The farmers are now being heard from and the agitator voice is not so loud. There is too much anxiety, worry and sorrow in Canada, by reason of the war, to-day and he is a public enemy who endeavors to stir up strife and create unrest.

Money is being subscribed now to start a newspaper that will voice the views of the agitators. There was a time when Bernstorff would have been able and willing to assist financially. Whether the agitators are conscious of it or not they are doing work that Bernstorff would regard as excellent propaganda.

SPRY

Mrs. L. Slocum visited friends at Lions Head for a few days last week.

The Trout harvest is fine these days and both pleasure and profit is found on the water trowling.

Wallace and Henry are both smiling so happily. You know Wallace has a girl and Henry a boy. Both in time for the haying.

Quite a number from here attended church at Centerville last Sunday. Mr. Almans, Hepworth, officiated.

Mr. T. Houth and J. Heath were at Mr. W. Walpole's on Tuesday helping to rebuild the stonework of his barn.

Mr. Wise, Mr. C. Livermore and Mr. S. Warren have completed the work.

Geo. McMaster, of Owen Sound, gave old friends a call last week. It is fine to see him so well again after such a severe illness.

The farmer's picnic in Walpole's Grove was a decided success. The Women's Institute had the stand and cleared $98.39 for the Red Cross.

We had visitors from Owen Sound, Oxenden, Warton, Mar, Hope Bay, and on the other side all the way from Tobemore.

Root crops are almost all hoed here now and haying is in full swing.

Master Cecil Brown is the guest of Dick Cason.

Master Jim Walpole visited with R. McCombison one day recently.

Those who attended the S. S. picnic in Walpole's Grove last Wednesday had a very enjoyable afternoon. Music and singing and also racing contests filled up the afternoon and all went home well pleased.

Diving off his launch in eight feet of water at the end of the Oxenden dock Tuesday afternoon William Irwin of this town rescued Lionel Kain, a young boy, who had gone in swimming, and not being able to swim very much, had sunk for the last time. It was a heroic act, and one for which Mr. Irwin must receive the humane medal.

The Sunday School of St. Pauls Church had their picnic at Mallards Grove, this boy had been there long enough to get in swimming. Mr. Irwin had just brought a load of children in his launch and landed them on the dock when he heard the cry that a boy was drowning on the other side of the dock. He immediately got his launch to work, ran it in the direction of the boy, and when right over him he could easily see him in the water. He made the dive, brought up the boy, and when he came to the surface his launch was 12 feet away. He swam to it carrying the boy, held on to the launch with one arm and the boy with the other, and was in this trying position for ten minutes as there was no one there who could help. Finally young Totten came along, swam out, got the boat and pulled the boy in. Mrs. W. North, who understands First Aid Work, immediately proceeded to work at resuscitation and the water was got out of his stomach. Dr. Charles Wigle came in answer to a phone message and took care of him. And the boy is alive to day simply because in an instant William Irwin did the heroic act.

ZION, AMABEL

Misses Eva Robinson and Maggie Walker are spending their vacation at their respective homes here.

Mrs. E. J. Downe and children of Hopworth and Justine McCartney, of Owen Sound, were guests at the home of Mrs. John Eldridge last week.

T. Brown, Warton, made several business calls here Saturday.

Mr. and Mr. Fred George and little daughter, Mt. Hope, spent the week-end at Zion.

Miss Temple visited Mr. and Mrs. Walker Sunday.

Stanley and Mrs. Foster, of Mount Horeb, and Miss Minary, of Toronto visited at the home of Mr. Jos. Hughes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart spent Monday with Robt. and Mrs. Blythe.

Miss Alice Patterson, of Brantford, is spending the week with Miss P. Robinson.

Miss Lillie Ard, Detroit, is spending the vacation with her father Mr. Alex. Ard.

Mrs. L. M. Huff returned home Wednesday after spending a week with her parents near Kemble.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Richards spent Tuesday in Owen Sound.

Cecil McGrath, Toronto, is visiting his cousin Everett Richards.

Mrs. Vary and son Roy spent Sunday in Alford.

Judge's Court of Revision

Court of Revision was held on July 22nd before His Honour Judge Klein when the following reductions were made, viz:—

No.	Name	Lot	Street	Land	Bld.	Business
1	John Ashcroft	5 and 6	Range 2	250
		Pt. 6	Range 1	100
33	C. Dinamore	Pt. 3	W. B. S. D.	250	250
137	C. & E. Bleckin	Pt. 2 and 3	E. B. S. D.			1400
234	May Greenlee	Pt. 6	E. B. S. D.	80	300
331	J. Hunter	N. hf. 6	E. B. S. D.	825
				$1275	$550	$1400

The above is the result of the Court. The Town of Warton was represented by the Chairman of the Assessment Committee, Mr. S. W. Pope. He was only member of the Council present. Those who appealed their assessment had the facts and figures at their finger ends, and the Judge gave a decision always in their favor. He remarked that he had to go by the evidence, and the town did not seem to have any material evidence on hand. Why was not more attention given to this matter? Why was not a solicitor secured? What is the sense of having a Judge's Court of Revision if we do not fight for our supposed rights. The Echo casts no reflections upon the representative of the town there, but any man has his own notions as to what to do and has not time to work up the evidence in fine cases. The Council better give more attention hereafter to a Judge's Court of Revision, or stop-guards to the expense of having them. His worship will understand that we are not "disturbing," we are just making a few timely observations.

WALKERTON

Mr. Phillip Gross, a Carriack farmer who testified for the defence at the recent Pilgrimage trial in Walkerton, while lying ill at his home near Otter Creek on Thursday afternoon last, suffering from inflammation of the kidneys, arose from his bed while at her members of the family were absent from the room, and making his way to the clock shelf took down a bottle of medicine, and while in supine position, drank the contents of the entire contents of about sixteen normal doses. On discovery being made of the affair, two Walkerton doctors were hastily summoned and the stomach of the unfortunate man was pumped. Hopes were for a time, entertained of his recovery, but uremic poisoning resulting in his kidney trouble, settled in his death about six o'clock Wednesday morning. The deceased, who was a prominent agriculturist, was a delegate to the Farmers' Conventions at both Ottawa and Toronto. Born of German parentage, near Galt, he came to Carriack about 35 years ago and has been residing in the Otter Creek District ever since. He was married to Miss Annie Miller of Carriack, who survives him with a family of two sons, Wilfrid and Alton at home, and seven daughters, Mrs. Wm. Klein, Midway, Mrs. E. Schumacher, of Carriack, Lilian, of Buffalo, Lettie, Edna, Pearl and Verna at home. The deceased, who was 69 years of age, was a Liberal in politics and a member of the Evangelical Church. An impromptu aerial demonstration was pulled off in Walkerton on Monday evening last that sent many citizens into a cold sweat and caused others to turn their faces in horror away, as overhead an aviator appeared for over an hour to be courting with death and threatening every moment to furnish the remains for a coroner's inquest. A young cadet, having got lost, while making the return trip from Collingwood to Camp Borden, after taking some aerial photographs ran out of gasoline and alighted in Robbie Simpson's field, east of Walkerton. The gas in town being too coarse, he had to send to camp for the fluid, and in response the military authorities despatched the liquid here in a plane driven by Flight Lieut. Randall, the daredevil of the camp and one of the most expert fliers on the continent. When Randall landed with the gas he found that the Walkertonians had deluged the stranded with oranges, cake and all kinds of delicacies and that a royal feast was also spread out awaiting him. In gratitude he decided to give this town a few stunts that wouldn't soon be forgotten in local history. Mounting up into the clouds he looped the loop, and with the machine turning over and over seemed to be tumbling down to the earth. When people were almost lost, for the crash he avoided the shock by righting the machine a short distance from the ground and started up again. Then turning from the dizzy he drove like an arrow to the earth causing many to seek cover lest he light on them. When he seemed about to strike the clay belt, he swerved and missed by a few feet, and flew like a bird down the main street. After "carrying on" in this manner for over an hour, he and his chum turned their machines towards Camp Borden which is 76 miles distant and which they expected to reach in less than half an hour.

Mr. John Angus McKinnon, of George Bros. livery will come before the local tribunal at Walkerton this Friday when his application for exemption will be considered. Jack has already two brothers in khaki, and another brother killed early in the war. Mr. Jos. Ernst, a young farmer west of Walkerton, who was married last winter, is also applying for exemption at the same tribunal, which consists of Messrs. F. Rennie and R. Russell, with Mr. W. McNally present as public representative. Both McKinnon and Ernst are in category B, a class which is expected to be shortly called up for service.

At a meeting of Knox Church congregation here on Tuesday night to select a pastor, a call was unanimously extended to Rev. W. H. Burgess of Chatham Presbytery, who was the first of the applicants to preach for a call here. The reverend gentleman has also the distinction of being the youngest of the septette of preachers who orated here since the competition opened for the vacancy. Burgess, who is a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, and was a classmate of Majors A. W. McNeil and Walter Lamb. He preached for two years in British Columbia, before taking over the pastorate in Chatham district a few years ago. He is married and Walkerton is the first place he ever preached for a call. Only two votes were taken at the meeting here on Tuesday, he leading strongly on both ballots, after which the call was made unanimous. As it will take some time to get the call put through both Presbyteries, it will probably be late in August before he will be able to assume charge here.

Henry Weisharr, a Culross farmer residing near Belmore, appeared before Magistrates Jas. Tolton and Robt. Richardson in the Town Hall, Walkerton, on Wednesday morning on a charge of having retained a man in his employ knowing him to be a deserter or an absentee. The case arose out of the arrest of Alex. Kraemer, who came down from the West and hired with Weisharr, and who received notice while working for him to report for military service. Weisharr admitted that he was aware Kraemer had a letter to report for duty and was also aware that he didn't report, and still retained him in his employ. The charge was laid against Weisharr by the military police, Mr. David Robertson, K. C. who appeared for the accused, suggested that the court let him off on suspended sentence, but when the magistrate wouldn't consent to this, asked that the trial be adjourned eight days to allow him to submit the evidence to the Government. This was acceded to and Court stands adjourned till Thursday next, July 25th.

OWEN SOUND

In a letter received in Shallow Lake by Miss Westlake, it is stated that Pte. Arthur Westlake, a resident of the village, had been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal for bravery and devotion to duty in France. It was also said that he had been given 100 pounds and a 14-day leave to go to England. We hope that the news is true and congratulate the young soldier and his relatives on having won such high distinction. The official announcement may be expected later.

A young man from Hepworth, Ben. J. Woods, met with a very severe accident on Monday evening last and as a result is now in a rather serious condition in the Owen Sound Hospital. He was handling a revolver and apparently did not know that it was loaded until it went off, the bullet striking him in the face, turning when it struck the cheek bone, and lodged in his jaw. Dr. Campbell, of Hepworth, dressed the wound and advised him to have an X-Ray taken here. But the boy who is about 15 years of age, went to Warton instead and an unsuccessful attempt was made there to extract the bullet. He then came to Owen Sound and had an X-Ray photo taken and Dr. Middlebrooke succeeded in getting the bullet out. The patient was getting along nicely yesterday when a fever set in but his condition is not by any means dangerous. He was an employee of the Hepworth Furniture Co.

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-lives"

St. Martin's, N.B.
"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.
I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

a strong probability that a settlement of Quaker families will be located within the next few months. At the present time Mr. S. Donald Rogers, minister of the gospel according to the Quaker faith is in town with that end in view, and has already made some progress. He has been here for the past ten days, staying at the Sheldon House, in connection with the prospect, i.e. establishment of an agricultural Quaker colony in Canada and the more recent colonies established in all the States of the Union. The idea is to secure a fairly large tract of land and subdivide this into small holdings of 5, 6 or 8 acres, going extensively into intensive gardening and poultry raising. Members of the Quaker faith, residents of Toronto, and other cities many of whom are well off and retired, are anxious to get small holdings of land where they can spend their days in quiet usefulness. They will be placed on the lands, suitable dwellings and other buildings built, and the intensive cultivation of vegetables and small fruits will be engaged in. The plan is not a new one and has been a success in many places. The communal idea will be followed to a certain extent but not predominate.

There were a lot of visitors at Hepworth on Wednesday last when the new gas well of the Hepworth Gas and Oil Co. was on public view for the first time. Many from Owen Sound, Warton and other places were there to look the well over. There is plenty of gas for the one well and a new one will be commenced shortly. The gas from No. 1 being utilized as the motive power. This will reduce to a considerable extent, the cost of drilling. No announcement has as yet been made concerning future developments in Hepworth gas leases, but the talk around Hepworth is that several new outfits will be started to work in a few weeks, or months, with good luck, the field should be developed. A few more wells will give experience. The new gas well is the extent of the field and should the amount prove satisfactory, Owen Sound will soon be very greatly benefited. With gas at a quarter of a dollar per thousand, there would be very little coal used in private houses. Here's hoping that they are very successful.

Mr. W. E. Dicken, driver, shipped to Toronto on Tuesday one hog which tipped the scale at eight hundred pounds. This was the largest individual of the swine species that has gone out of this neighborhood for some time, and was amongst a herd that Mr. Dicken has been feeding on the Robert Glen farm on the west bay shore. At the price prevailing on Tuesday at the average of eighteen cents it would have brought $144.00, but in all probability, because of its size, it would not bring a top-notch price, but even at fifteen cents a pound for a two year old, is better than raising hogs.

As a man's idea that he was cut out for a great career decreases his usefulness increases.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of sweet almond oil makes a whole quart jar of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, mallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of sweet almond oil at any drug store and add two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart jar of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Fill Up the Vacant Factories

(Owen Sound Sun)

As part of a scheme for the industrial development of Goderich, the Board of Trade of that town is endeavoring to interest outside manufacturers in an idle factory building located there.

The plan is one that might well be adopted in Owen Sound. The plant was advertised in the financial pages of the Toronto papers and advertisement included an illustration of the plant, and a description, and also stated that one of the town officials would be at a Toronto hotel for several days and was prepared to make to make an attractive offer to manufacturers interested.

The Sun has not learned whether the effort met with success but the plan commends itself as an excellent means of making known idle plants to those who might utilize them to advantage.

It is important that some of the existing factory buildings in Owen Sound be put in operation. There are too many of them. And in these days of high cost of building materials there should be an opportunity of filling up some of the empty factories. The Board of Trade would make a movement in the right direction if they would inaugurate a plan for placing these factories before the manufacturers of the large cities, many of whom are overburdened with heavy rentals and other expenses in the city.

Some of the idle plants here are: the Linsend Oil Works, the Gunning factory, the Match Factory, the Sun Cement and Imperial Cement plants. If the Board could be instrumental in putting even one of these plants in operation, it would have performed a substantial service for the town.

The Goderich idea should be investigated. It appears to be an economical and practical proposition for industrial development.

CHESLEY

Reeve Brown attended an executive meeting of the Provincial Good Roads Association in Kingston last week.

The committee of 12 went in autos to Gananoque, thence by boat to Clayton, N. Y., and motored to Watertown a distance of 22 miles in 31 minutes. This famous roadway is of tarmac and our Reeve says it is the best country road he ever saw.

Hay cutting is general and the farmers are finding the crop only an average one. Spring crops and roots were greatly benefited by Tuesday's rain.

On June 25th one of Chesley's aged citizens passed to the great beyond in the person of Mr. John Campbell, who was born in Alexandria, Gleanery County in 1834. He came with his parents to Bentinck Pt. when a lad of ten and 20 years ago moved to Chesley where he remained until the time of his death. As a pioneer of Bentinck he helped to chop the trees on the townline of Brant and Bent. He was fond of the pibroch and could play all the Scotch airs. He was popularly known as "Piper Campbell" and was an upright citizen. The funeral at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Alex. W. Moore, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Moore of the Baptist Church and the service at his grave was taken charge of by Rev. Mr. Mills. The members of his family are: Pte. John Campbell, formerly of the 160th Batt. in England; Mrs. J. McIntosh, of Edgmont; Mrs. Guy Petheric, Peter and Miss

SOUTHAMPTON

Prospects for crops are brightening. Haying is in full swing and will be a fair average crop; the weather was very favorable for haying, getting it put by in grand condition; considerable to mow yet. Oats are picking up again and so are nearly all spring grains. Spring wheat of the marquis variety looks immense, and there should be more of it sown, but the variety designated as "koo-whent" is much below the average. Corn shows marked improvement. Potatoes are good and the beetle well subdued by repeated doses of his favorite prescription, the weather favoring the process very much by keeping dry at that time. Millet and fodder are very promising. A large acreage of buckwheat has been sown. The letter "B" if discernable on oat blades, is said to be a good omen. Root crops are very promising; fall and winter apple prospects medium, early varieties better; cherry and pear crops a failure.
Dr. R. J. R. Bright and Mrs. Bright (nee Bessie Thompson) are spending the summer months at Souix Lookout, Ont.
Mr. David Brooks received very fair prices at his auction sale last Saturday. Ewes sold up to $325 and lambs for $15, hens up to $1.08 and one colony of bees realized $30.

The Story of the Stairs

Every time you go upstairs you can test your state of health—the condition of your blood.

Do you arrive at the top of the stairs breathless and distressed? Does your heart palpitate violently? Do you have a pain in your side? Perhaps you even have to stop half way up, with limbs trembling and head dizzy, too exhausted to go further, or without resting. These are unfailing signs of anemia. As soon as your blood becomes impoverished or impure the stair-case becomes the instrument of torture. When this is so you are unfit for work; your blood is watery and your nerves exhausted; you are losing the joy of an active life and paving the way for a further breakdown and decline. In this condition only one thing can save you. You must put new, rich, red blood in to your veins without further delay and so build up your health anew. To get this new, rich blood give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, and they will give you new vitality, sound health, and the power to resist and throw off disease. For more than a generation this favorite medicine has been in use throughout the world and has made many thousands of weak, despondent men and women bright, active and strong.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but it did not seem to go well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZALUSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my household work, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. HANOVER

A car with a party of Owen Sound people turned turtle at Creemore on Sunday and the three occupants had a narrow escape that was miraculous. Mr. Hopkins received a bad cut over the left eye and severely sprained his left arm but is able to be around a gain. His wife and Mr. H. Vicker, the other occupants of the car, only received a severe shaking up. The car was not badly damaged but the windshield was smashed. Fortunately the car was going at a rate of only 10 miles an hour or the consequences might have been more serious. The accident was caused by the car striking a stone on the road.

On Tuesday last the Military Police made a rush at daybreak in a home a few miles from Ripley where a young farmer who refused to respond to the call of the colors, was supposed to be stopping. They searched the house but the widow's son had not returned. The police are working at a great disadvantage as they have only seen the back of the man they want. The neighbors have nothing to say and the detectives have been unable to get any tips from people residing in the neighborhood.

The death of Mrs. Henry Weiden, 64 years of age, occurred on July 8 at her home on Con. 2, N. D. R., Bentick, at the age of 44 years. Death was due to heart failure. She leaves her husband and six children, one daughter Clara, (Mrs. Louis Procknow) of Donovan, Sask., and five sons, Norman of Donora, David, Harry, Clayton and Irvine, all at home. Deceased was born in Bentick, being daughter of the late Frederick Sachs. She married Mr. Weiden in 1892 and lived in Bentick ever since. She also leaves her mother, who resides in Toronto, on sister, Mrs. James Ellis, of Hanover, and her brothers, Fred, Henry, John and Charles, all in the West; George, Ayton; Pte. Albert at London. Rev. Mr. Henkel conducted the obsequies which took place last Friday.

Mr. J. C. Heuther, manager of the Crystal Spring Creamery, Neustadt, has purchased Mr. Herbert Gruetzner's fine residence property in town and will take possession in the fall. Mr. Heuther resided in Toronto previous to taking over the Crystal Spring Creamery where he held a lucrative position. We understand he has made a decided success of the creamery business and that his taking a home in Hanover will not affect the business in any way. Mr. Heuther is a genial, enterprising man and he and Mrs. Heuther will be welcomed to the town. We understand Mr. and Mrs. Gruetzner will spend the winter in the South but it is not their intention to remove permanently from Hanover. We are pleased to state this fact as Mr. Gruetzner has been an excellent citizen and his removal would be a decided loss.

Mrs. Wm. Baker of Bentick, received a letter from her son Pte. Wes. Baker No. 83833, 2nd Can. Machine Gun Bn., Transport, France, under date of June 8th, of which the following are extracts: "I am in the very best of health at present and getting along fine at my new job. I've been a lot of different places this last while and see a great deal of the country. Was talking of Rubie Lill of Hanover and I saw Wesley Bailey last night. He is with the same bunch as I am in."

Two rather serious accidents occurred at a barn raising at the farm of William Jackson, Bentick Township. Donald McGregor fell from the platform sixteen feet to the floor, injuring his arm severely. Willie Ramage, a lad while walking around the house, fell into a cellarway, breaking his left arm. The framework of the barn was done by Angus McDonald, of Chesley, and the captains of the two teams were Alex. Becker and Walter Miller, neighbors of Jackson. The job was finished about 8 o'clock with the teams tied for honors.

NEW OATS HURT HORSES

Fall Threshed Crop Must be Fed Judiciously.

Sudden Changes of Feed Particularly To Be Prevented—Waste of Farm Machinery Often Appella Difference Between Profit and Loss for Farmer—Have Corn Machinery in First-Class Order.

EACH year brings a certain amount of trouble through the feeding of new grain to live stock, and in seasons like the present when food is scarce and the supply of old grain has been exhausted before the freshly-threshed grain is ready there is a likelihood that more new grain than usual will be fed to the live stock and consequently greater care should be exercised to avoid digestive derangements.

The horse is generally considered a little more susceptible to digestive troubles following changes in feeding practice than are other classes of farm live stock. It is also well to make changes very gradually and carefully. The main grain feed of the horse is his customary oats, and new oats should always be fed with great care. Hard-worked horses should, if it is at all possible, be fed old oats and the new grain left to dry and cure for a few weeks after threshing. At any rate to avoid colic, some indigestion and diarrhoea, new oats should at first form only a part of the grain ration, being mixed with old oats and possibly a little bran and the percentage of the new grain gradually increased until the horses are on full feed. Sudden changes from old to new grain are especially dangerous with the horse and particularly with the horse at heavy work and on a heavy concentration of feed. There is, of course, a difference due to the time of threshing. Grain which remains in stack or in the field for several weeks and becomes dry and cured is not so dangerous as that threshed directly from the field or immediately after harvesting.

As a rule, heavy feeding of grain is not practiced with cattle and sheep on pasture. In the case of horses, however, changing from old to new grain should be done with care and the substitution should be, if possible, made comparatively light and increased very gradually.

Pigs usually handle newly-threshed grain without much trouble, although if on very heavy rations which are destined for market a little care should be taken that they be not thrown off their feed. Newly-threshed grain is difficult to grind fine and is not easily stored and large quantities of the ground grain may not be stored in bulk as heating and mustering will result in lowering the feeding value of the grain by rendering it unpalatable and less digestible. More dangerous than moldy, stale, new grain.—Prof. W. Toole, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Get Corn Binder In Shape. To handle the corn crop expeditiously, economically, and successfully is some kind of a corn harvester, an absolute necessity, and it must be in good working order. Various types of machines have been tried and found wanting, but the corn binder has become a permanent fixture on a large number of farms in this province.

There are several kinds of corn binders on the market, and while each kind may have its special merit as to the arrangement of its essential parts trouble must arise if these parts are not properly cleaned, oiled and kept aligned.

The advancing part of the corn binder consists of two diverging jaws which may be raised or lowered by an arrangement of levers. Attached to each jaw are two or three traveling chains, furnished with fingers, their duty being to pick up the stalks to the binding deck in an upright position as the machine advances. The chains should not be too loose as they will ride the teeth of the sprocket and slip down the teeth. Machines having packers, to prevent ears being knocked off by jamming the stalks behind the needles; see to it that the packers yield slightly while the bundle is being tied. Too many bundles crowding the carrier will interfere with the binding attachment properly freeing itself. The knotters and the needles cannot do their work efficiently when covered with rust. Polish them with emery cloth. If the knife of the knotters is dull sharpen it or will cause trouble by pulling the twine from the hook before the knot is made. As the knotters require considerable power to cut the sappy stubble, and not tear it up by the roots, the knife should be thoroughly keen, otherwise it will clog with straw and weeds.

The stubble-cutter should also be kept in good condition. It is a useful device, and when properly sharpened and adjusted does not add very much to the draft.

Do not depend on a superficial examination of a machine to acquaint yourself if it needs repairing, because if you do, you will surely miss some small, but vital part needing attention, if not replaced, if these break during the busy season they will cause greater breakages and serious loss.

Clean the machine thoroughly with benzine, gasoline or kerosene. Go over every part of the machine, and while doing this you will locate loose bolts and worn or broken parts. Oil holes and wells should be cleaned out, and new wax, if required, put into the wells. Refill the grease cups; in short, renew and repair anything and everything that requires attention. — Prof. John F. Rabe, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is wrong for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life. If your work is tiring, if your nerves are excitable, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build up your strength.

TARA

The friends and neighbors of Pte. Ray McKeen and Gerald Morran met at Mr. Wm. McKeen's, Con. 9, Arran, and presented the boys with a purse of money. The boys left on Monday morning for London, this being their last leave. The boys very much appreciated the kindness of their friends. Mr. Frank Miller, of Con. 5, Arran, had an exciting time on Tuesday when his team of horses ran away. He went to his father's farm for a pig and had it loaded on a rack and while driving out of the yard the horse scared and as Mr. Miller was walking with the team he was unable to hold them and they ran away. The horses broke away from the wagon and galloping down the road, collided with a democrat driven by Mr. Coffey. Mr. Coffey's horses also became frightened and ran away. The wagon and horse belonging to Mr. Miller were badly damaged.

SAVE FARM MACHINERY

Word is being sent out to farmers over the country to take special pains this fall and winter to protect their machines. Prices have advanced greatly, and care of farm machinery will pay doubly well this year. So the word is going out—

To put machines under cover as soon as the season's work with them is over.

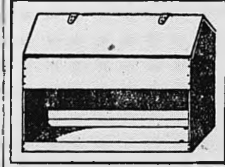

To go over every machine carefully as soon as opportunity will permit, tighten bolts, replacing broken parts, and oiling carefully to prevent rusting.

To paint machines, as painting lengthens the life of a machine. Bridge paint is suggested as best for iron parts.

Editorial

The Dominion Government has tackled many big questions, but so far it has not done much about price fixing. All the labor unrest has been due to this one thing. At the present the outlook for this winter is increased prices unless something is done to protect the consumer.

In this day, when the movement among the farmers to organize is becoming so strong, it cannot be pointed out too often that the good relations between the towns and the farmers must be maintained. The farmers simply cannot get along without the town, nor can the town get along without the farmer. The farmer is not independent of the town, he needs it in many ways. A good neighboring town greatly increases the value of his farm, a fact he would find out if he should sell, and the business men know that they are dependent on the farmer. Each cannot remember this fact too often in the near future for this organization among farmers is taking root, and the farmer's club, bids fair to be soon a big factor in the social and political life of Canada.

Summer Heat Hard on Baby

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of the little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Col. "Joe" Boyle From The Yukon

A CANADIAN WHO IS TO-DAY THE NATIONAL HERO OF RUMANIA

BORN IN WOODSTOCK

WENT TO YUKON DURING KLONDYKE STAMPEDE—SENT TO RUSSIA AS TRANSPORTATION EXPERT.

(Toronto Star Weekly)

BY ARTHUR C. CARTY.

Dabbling in race-horses, gold mining, and finally in world politics and diplomacy, a former Woodstock boy, Lieut. Col. Joseph W. Boyle, has gained a distinction that comes to a mighty small percentage of a nation's population—he has thrust his activities before the world to the extent of a half-column Associated Press cable from Paris.

When one surveys the daily paper, observing the infrequency of personal mention in overseas cables, and the heavy calibre of those whose names do flicker from continent to continent by the undersea route, the measure of recognition gained by Col. "Joe" Boyle takes something of its proper perspective.

It is interesting to observe the groundwork laid through the life of the Woodstock man, on which he built the achievements that have made him the national hero of Rumania. News of his activities has always come from afar, for it has ever been his fortunate count distances to his home not alone in hundreds of miles, but in the thousands.

He is a son of Mr. Charles Boyle, owner of a line of thoroughbreds well known to turf men throughout America, Havoc and others of equal note, were in the Boyle string and for years Mr. Boyle was closely associated with the Seagrams on the track. Mr. Chas. Boyle still resides at "The Firs," a half-mile east of Woodstock. There a brother of the colonel, Mr. David Boyle, is also engaged in farming, while a sister of the Rumanian hero, Mrs. Laperriere, is a resident of Woodstock city.

WENT TO KLONDYKE

Twenty years ago the colonel, with a partner named Slavin, struck north during the Klondyke stampede, and while the gold craze was at its height on the Arctic's fringe he did exactly what was least expected. Others were frantically searching for gold, prospecting, battling. His partner joined the searchers, but Boyle bought a saw-mill. With his portable outfit he cut lumber for the miners, and when others threw up the sponge and abandoned the search for the elusive metal he had made a fortune in ore carried to him. His interests steadily extended, and when the war broke out he was in charge of the great dredges of the Guggenheims, and held the office of president of the Canadian Klondyke Gold Mining Co. of Dawson City—his northern headquarters.

WAS SENT TO RUSSIA

Shortly after America's declaration of war a mission assigned to the task of disentangling Russia's broken-down transportation system appeared in England en route to Petrograd. Col. Boyle was known to certain members of the party, and when they moved on to Russia he was one of their number, prized because he had met and mastered long-distance transportation problems in his days in the Yukon.

Last January his folks at home in Woodstock received the first letter that had come from Russia. It had been mailed during the previous October. In language guarded to avoid the rigid censorship, he merely stated that he was well, that progress had been made in meeting transportation troubles, but after circumstances—the revolution—had intervened.

Nothing was heard of him there, after which a war record message reported that he had gone to Bessarabia. Then a few days ago came the Paris cable, and its marvelous story of his activities in Rumania. The Bolsheviks had captured a number of Rumanian Deputies and ordered that they be transported to Sebastopol for punishment. The Canadian colonel pleaded their cause, failed to impress the Russians, but, undaunted in the face of what seemed the inevitable, joined the party of doomed Deputies, to try again in their behalf. And because of his courageous persistence, the Rumanians were saved. "Joe" Boyle won out, and to the wild plaudits of the people he brought the little party safely back again.

Now he is Rumania's national hero, the people hail him in the streets, the King pin fresh medals on him every time he thinks about what the Bolsheviks would otherwise have done to his Deputies. But back home in Woodstock "Joe" Boyle's friends not knowing when they again review his record.

"Joe has the stuff in him," they say. "Joe won out like he always does."

FANCY GOODS BUSINESS FOR SALE—The undersigned offers for sale her entire stock in Galt as a going concern or will sell the goods at a bargain. The business has been established for 40 years. Good reasons for sale—MISS P. A. WATSON.

During the past few weeks the lack of pressure at the pumping house has been enough to be the cause of considerable profanity. Anyone dependent upon that institution knows what he is talking about. It is said that the reservoir needs plugging up, and that the whole system needs corking. And at the pumping house it is claimed that the voltage is so low that they cannot do business. As it is the Water Commissioners have a job on their hands, and one that calls for attention right away.

A correction—Our attention has been called to the fact that our report to the Town and Canada Casket Co. last week was misleading, and we agree that it was strictly speaking, incorrect. The town sued for speedy foreclosure, or for an immediate sale and both requests were not granted. The town, however, was granted the privilege of foreclosure with six months, something the defendants counsel had offered before. This was offered last November, and why it was not accepted is one of the mysteries. Had it been accepted then the town would be in possession to day without any costs. On August 31st, 1917 the Council decided to foreclose, but delays occurred. One thing is sure it was the Council of 1918 that brought the thing to a head.

The Canada Food Board are issuing, day time, and sleeping at home at a number of books containing useful night. Constable Ward and a Dominion Police officer made a visit to the house Sunday night, and the result is that one young man now, no doubt, knows better, was caught Sunday night and has since been escorted to London. He has been in these parts for a year, and there was good reason to suppose that he was hiding in the swamp in the very soon.

The White Cat

By MARY ROBERTS
RINEHART

When I finally went to sleep I dreamed that I was driving Margery Fleming along a street in a broken taxicab and that all the buildings were pharmacies and numbered eleven twenty-two.

After such a night I slept late. Edith had gone out with Fred, when I came downstairs. I have a great admiration for Edith, for her tolerance with my uncertain hours, for her cheery breakfast and the smiling good nature of the servants she engages. I have a theory that, show me a sane woman, and I will show you a million mistresses, although Edith herself disclaims all responsibility and lays credit for the smile with which Kate brings in my eggs and coffee to me on an art.

On that particular morning Kate brought me a letter, and I recognized the cramped and rather uncertain writing of Miss Letitia Fleming.

Dear Mr. Knox—Miss Letitia wishes me to ask you if you can dine with us tonight informally. She has changed her mind to regard the Colonel's birthday home and would like to consult you about it. Very truly yours, SUEAN JANE MAITLAND.

It was a very commonplace note. I had had one like it after every board meeting of the board of directors. Miss Maitland being on principle an aggressive minority, also, having considerable mind, changing it became almost as ponderous an operation as moving a barn.

I came across Miss Jane's letter the other day when I was gathering the material for this narrative, and I sat for a time with it in my hand thinking over again the chain of events in which it had been the first link, a series of strange happenings that began with my acceptance of the invitation, and that led through ways as dark and treacherous as the night of the Elphinstone drama, to the final scene at the White Cat. With the letter I had filed away a half dozen articles, and I ranged them all on the desk in front of me. The letter, the one on paper with eleven twenty-two on it that Margery gave me the first time I saw her, a note-book filled with jerky characters that looked like Arabic and a small gold buckle from a slipper, which I at which I did not add.

I did not need to make the climax of my story. They lay before me. At eleven o'clock I called on Miss Letitia. He was going after the affair itself, but that it was hard to stick a pin into the political puddle without pulling out a lot more than you went after or that it was really on my. He wanted to know if I had come across any more K's. Whereupon I put away the notes I had made about Della and Miss Roseana.

CHAPTER III.
Ninety-eight Pearls.

I WENT to Bellwood that evening. It was a quiet street, a dozen miles from the city. Street cars had so far failed to spoil its tree-bordered streets, and it was exclusive to the point of stagnation. The Maitland place was at the head of the main street. Miss Letitia, who was seventy, had had sufficient commercial instinct some years before to cut her ancestral acres—her ancestral acres, though Miss Jane hardly shouted into building lots, except perhaps an acre which surrounded the house. Thus the Maitland ladies were reputed to be extremely wealthy. And as they never spent any money, no doubt they were. I had taken dinner at Bellwood before, and the memory was not hazy. Miss Letitia was deaf, but chose to ignore the fact. With superb indifference she would break into the conversation with some word which she marked that necessitated a reassembling of one's ideas, making the most a series of mental gymnastics. Miss Jane, through long practice and because she only attended the dinner to keep her hand in, took her central figure easily, but I am more unworldly of mind.

Now was Miss Letitia's dominance wholly conversational. Her sister Jane was her creature, almost her shadow, and she was a little more than a shadow. Miss Letitia was deaf, but chose to ignore the fact. Miss Letitia was deaf, but chose to ignore the fact. Miss Jane, through long practice and because she only attended the dinner to keep her hand in, took her central figure easily, but I am more unworldly of mind.

"Our niece is here," she explained, as I took off my coat—everybody calls "ours" with Jane; "Miss Letitia—she and we are having an ice at dinner. Please say that ice are not injurious, Mr. Knox. My sister, who is opposed to them, and I had to beg for this."

"On the contrary, the doctors have ordered ice for my young nephews," I said gravely, "and I do not do them myself."

Miss Jane beamed. Indeed, there was something almost comically gay about the little old lady all that evening.

Miss Letitia received me, as usual, in the back parlor. Miss Fleming was there also, sewing by a window, and in her straight white dress, with her hair drawn back and braided around her head, she looked even younger than before. There was no time for conversation. Miss Letitia launched at once into the extravagance of the colored molasses and butter on the colored orphane's bread.

"You have had no news at all?" Miss Fleming said cautiously, her head bent over her work.

"None," I returned, under cover of the table linen to which Miss Letitia's mind had veered. "I have a good man working on it." As she glanced up at me questioningly, "It needed a detective, Miss Fleming." With every movement of the girl I could see the gleaming of a diamond on her engagement finger.

"If I didn't watch her, Jane would ruin them," said Miss Letitia. "She gives 'em apples when they keep their faces clean, and the bills for soap have gone up double. Soap once a day's enough for a colored child. Do you smell anything burning, Knox?"

I sniffed and led, whereupon Miss Letitia smelt her black silk, her colored orphane and her majestic presence of the room. As the door closed, Miss Fleming put down her sewing.

"I do not dare to tell them, Mr. Knox," she said. "They are old, and they hate him anyhow. I couldn't sleep last night. I have hemmed two towels for Aunt Letitia today until I am frantic, and all day I have been wondering over something you said yesterday." She said, you remember, that you were not a detective, that some men could take nineteen from thirty-five and leave nothing. What did you mean?

"It was specious for a moment."

"The fact is—I'm you see," I blundered. "It was an—merely a figure of speech, a—speech of figures to mislead accurate." And then dinner was announced.

Miss Letitia presided in garrulous majesty. The two old ladies picked at their food, and Miss Jane had a spot of pink in each withered cheek. Margery Fleming made a brave pretense, but let her plate almost untouched. As for me, I ate a substantial masculine meal and half apologized for my appetite, but Letitia did not bear. She ate the bread of managers, she ate with the roast and denounced them with the salad.

"Please do eat your dinner," Jane whispered. "I made the salad myself. And I know what it takes to keep a big man going. Harry eats more than Letitia and I together. Doesn't he, Margery?"

"Harry?" I asked.

Miss Jane leaned forward to me across a smiling gleam at her niece across.

"Harry Wardrop, a cousin's son, and—the petted Margery's hand with its ring—soon to be something close."

"The girl—Miss Jane's gentle presence. They put up as free fence. Miss Letitia returned solemnly to her grievance, "when a wooden one would have done. It was extravagance, ruinous extravagance."

"Harry stays with us when he is in Manchester," Miss Jane went on, nodding brightly across at Letitia, as if she, too, were damning the executive board. "Lately he has been almost all the time in Plattburgh. He is secretary to Margery's father. It is a satisfactory considerable responsibility, and we are very proud of him."

I had expected something of the sort, but it seemed by my comment, of course, Miss Letitia was seldom refused. Little Miss Jane tilted up to the door of the guest room. Her grey hair curled in a ring around her head, and she wrote pictures in the air and felt the new lines for diamonds. At the door she turned around and said:

"She is worried about the colored orphane," I added. "She does not approve of fireworks for them on the Fourth of July."

"I put on the light and sat down near the window with my cigar and my thoughts," I said. "I was a second time."

"She is worried about the colored orphane," I added. "She does not approve of fireworks for them on the Fourth of July."

ed. "If you drink a cup of hot water after it, it won't hurt you."

"Edith," Letitia asked, apparently, "I'm not going to freeze my stomach and then thaw it out like a drain pipe. Tell Hepple to put my ice cream on the stove."

So we waited until Miss Letitia had been heated and was brought in, sickled over with pale blue, not of thought, but of confectioner's dyes. Miss Letitia ate it resignedly. "Like as not I'll break out," I did the last time," she said gloomily. "I only hope I don't break out in colors."

The meal was over finally, but I had hoped for another word alone with Margery Fleming that evening. I was foredoomed to disappointment. Letitia sent the girl, not ungraciously, to bed and ordered Jane out of the room with a single curt gesture toward the door.

"When she had closed behind her, Miss Letitia listened for a moment, got up suddenly and, crowing the room with amazing swiftness for her years, pounced on the knob and drew the door open. The passage was empty; Miss Jane's slim little figure was disappearing into the kitchen.

"I didn't want to see you about the will, Mr. Knox," the older sister began. "The will I start going to do just yet—not if I know anything. But although I think you'd look a heap better and more responsible if you were some hair on your face, still in must think I shall give you a mix of some."

"That's why I didn't send for Harry Wardrop. He's too young."

"I wished at that. Miss Letitia leaned forward and put her body back on my knee."

"I've been rubbed," she announced in a half whisper.

"Indeed?" I said, properly thunderstruck and having believed that our state of the fourth dimension in space would enable any one not desired to gain access to the Maitland house.

"The pearls?" I asked.

She answered my question with another.

"When you had those pearls appraised for me at the jeweler's last year, you said they were worth a hundred."

"Not quite a hundred. I think—yes, ninety-eight."

"Exactly," she corroborated, in triumph. "They belonged to my mother. Margery's mother got some of them. That's a good many years ago, young man. They are worth more than they were then—a great deal more."

"Twenty-two thousand dollars," I repeated. "You're right, Miss Letitia, that I protested vigorously at the time against your keeping them in this house."

Miss Letitia ignored this, but before she went on she repeated again the curls pointing at the door, only to find the hall empty as before.

"Yesterday morning," she said gravely, "I got down the box—they have in ways been kept in the small safe in the top of my chest. When Jane found a picture of my niece, Margery Fleming, in Harry's room I thought it likely there was some truth in the gossip Jane heard about the box; and, if there was going to be a wedding, why, the pearls were to go to Margery anyhow. But I found the door of the safe unlocked and a little bit open, and ten of the pearls were gone!"

"Gone?" I asked. "If ten, why not the whole ninety-eight?"

"How do I know?" she replied with asperity. "That's what I keep a lawyer for."

"But you need a detective," I cried. "I will not have the police," she persisted indignantly. "They will come around asking impertinent questions and telling the newspapers that a foolish old woman had got what she deserved."

"Then you are going to send them to a bank?"

"You have less sense than I thought," she snapped, and was going to leave them where they are and watch. Whoever took the ten will be back for more, mark my words."

"Don't advise it," I said decidedly. "Be careful and someone of the old lady said, with spirit."

"Then—what do you want me to do?" I asked. "Have Bella arrested and her trunk searched?"

"Her trunk?" she said scornfully. "I turned it inside out three or four nights. When I catch the thief I want my lawyers right by."

"I think that was my comment, of course, Miss Letitia was seldom refused. Little Miss Jane tilted up to the door of the guest room. Her grey hair curled in a ring around her head, and she wrote pictures in the air and felt the new lines for diamonds. At the door she turned around and said:

my thoughts. I saw, dashed my second cigar. There was a sound of furniture at one of the shutters below. With Miss Letitia's story of the pearls fresh in my mind I felt at once that the thief, finding his task a prize, had come back for more. I found on the mantel a heavy brass candlestick, and with it in my hand I stepped into the gloom of the hallway and felt my way to the stairs. I had picked up my shoes as I stepped later. I went into the library, which was beneath my room, but the sounds at the window had ceased. I thought I heard steps on the walk going toward the front of the house. I wheeled quickly and started for the door when something struck me a terrific blow on the nose. I reeled back and sat down, dizzy and shocked. It was, of course, the door which followed the first that I realized what had occurred.

With my two hands out before me in the blackness I had groped, one hand on either side of the door, and I felt the door open. I stepped into the room, and I found it empty. My candlestick had rolled under the table, and after crawling around on my hands and knees I found it. It was as dark as night, and Miss Letitia must have been asleep.

I got back into the dining room. Some one was fumbling at the shutters there, and as I looked they swung open. It was dark outside, and the trees and the distance from the street told only the creaking of the shutter told it had opened. I stood in the middle of the room, with one hand firmly clutching the candlestick.

But the window refused to move. The burglar seemed to have no proper tools. He got something under the ash, but it snapped, and through the heavy plate glass I could hear him swearing. Then he abruptly left the window and made for the front of the house.

I blundered in the same direction, my mouth open striking on projecting furniture and causing me agonies, even through my excitement. When I reached the front door, however, I was amazed to find it unlocked, and the hallway open before me. I stepped uncertainly. I was in a peculiar position. Not even the most ardent admirer of antique brass candlesticks would see them as weapons of offense. I was in a peculiar position. Not even the most ardent admirer of antique brass candlesticks would see them as weapons of offense.

The next instant I was alone heavily to the porch door. I am not a small man by any means, but under the fury of that onslaught I was a child. It was a porch chair, I think, that knocked me senseless. I know I folded up like a jack-in-the-box, and that was all I did know for a few minutes.

When I came to I was lying where I had fallen, and a candle was burning beside me on the porch door. I took some time to remember, and another minute to realize that I was looking into the barrel of a revolver. It occurred to me that I had never seen a more villainous face than that of the man who held it, which showed my state of mind—and that my position was the reverse of comfortable.

CHAPTER IV.
Little Miss Jane.

WHAT did you do with that bag?" demanded the man who held it, which showed my state of mind—and that my position was the reverse of comfortable.

"What bag?" I inquired feebly. "Don't be a fool," he persisted. "If I let you go, you'll tell every man in the city that I let a thief go. I'll put you in jail, and I'll let you go."

my traveling bag? I am Harry Wardrop and I have been robbed, Mr. Knox. I was trying to get to the house without waking the family, and when I came back here to the front door, where I had left my valise, it was gone. I thought you were the thief when you came out, and—well, we've lost all this time. Somebody has followed me and robbed me!"

"What was in the bag?" I asked. "Valuable papers," he said shortly. "You are certain you left it here?" "Where you are standing."

Something glittered beneath the step, and I discovered a small brown leather valise, or, as I apparently called it, "Here it is," I said, not so gracious as I might have been. I had suffered considerably for that traveling bag. The sight of it restored Wardrop's peace.

"By Jove, I'm glad to see it," he said. "I can't explain, but tremendous things were depending on that bag, Mr. Knox. I don't know how to apologize to you. I must have nearly brained you."

"The door was open, and gave him the bag. The moment he took it I knew there was something wrong. He hurried into the house and lighted the traveling lamp. Then he opened the valise, which had not quite buckled. It was empty."

"It's a trick!" he said ruefully. "You've hidden it somewhere. This is not my bag. You've substituted one for mine. I'm glad to see it."

"Don't be a fool," I retorted. "How could I substitute an empty valise for yours when you go to fifteen minutes ago I had never seen you or your grip either."

He dropped into a chair, and after a pause: "I was followed in Plattburgh. Two men watched me from the minute I got there on Tuesday. I changed my hotel, and for all that, yesterday, Wednesday, that is—I felt secure enough. But on the way to the train I felt that I was under surveillance again, and by turning quickly I came face to face with a detective. I thought he was a detective. You know I've had a lot of that sort of thing lately, with election coming on. He didn't get on the train, however."

"But the other one may have done so."

"When we drew in at Bellwood station I distinctly remember opening the bag and putting my newspaper and railroad check in it. It was the right bag then. My clothing was in it and my brushes."

I had been examining the empty bag as he talked.

"Where did you put your railroad schedule?" I asked.

"In the leather pocket at the side." "It is here," I said, drawing out the yellow folder. For a moment my companion looked amazed.

"The whole thing is impossible. That valise was heavy when I walked up from the station. I changed it from one hand to the other because of the weight. When I got here I let it down on the edge of the porch and tried the door. When I found it locked!"

"But it wasn't locked," I broke in. "When I came downstairs to look for a burglar I found it open at least ten inches."

He stopped in his pacing up and down and looked at me curiously.

"We're both crazy, then," he asserted gravely. "I tell you I tried every way I knew to unlock that door and could hear the chain rattling. Unlocked! You don't know the way this house is fastened up at night."

"Nevertheless it was unlocked when I came down."

The sound of a smothered exclamation from the doorway caused us both to turn suddenly. Standing there in a loose gown of some sort, very much surprised and startled, was Margery Fleming.

"What is the matter?" she asked uncertainly. "I heard such queer noises."

"Mr. Wardrop was trying to break in," I explained. "And I came down. On the way I had a bloody encounter with an open door."

She looked from my swollen head to the open bag and then to Wardrop's pale face. Then, I think, womanlike, she remembered the two great brass buttons over her shoulders and the dressing gown she wore, for she backed up precipitately into the hall.

"It is only half past two," I said, glancing at my watch. "We might have been out for some time."

Reluctant as he was, his feverish excitement made me think that something vital hung on the recovery of the contents of that Russian leather bag. So I found words to that night the key to what had passed and to much that was coming was so simple, so direct, and yet we missed it entirely. It was some time before we learned the true importance of the events of that night.

I was almost unrecognizable when I looked at myself in the mirror the next morning, preparatory to dressing for breakfast. My hair was a mass of curls, and the back of an angry cat, making my profile Roman and ferocious, and the bump on my forehead from the chair was swollen, gray and purple. I turned my back to the mirror and dressed in wrathful irritation and my yesterday's linen.

Miss Fleming was in the breakfast room. I have carried with me during all the months since that time a mental picture of her as she stood there in a pink morning frock of some sort. But only the other day, having mentioned this to her, she assured me that the frock was blue. So I amend this. Miss Fleming in a blue frock was facing the door when I went into the breakfast room. Of one thing I am certain, she held out her hand.

"Good morning," she said. "What a terrible face!"

"It isn't mine," I replied meekly. My own face is beneath these excruciations."

Eczema Cured
Five Years AgoA Treatment Which Has Proven a Wonderful Healer of the Skin—Certified Evidence of Lasting Cure.

The old notion that eczema is a disease of the blood is refuted time and time again by the cure that is daily being effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It matters not what the cause may have been, you apply Dr. Chase's Ointment regularly you will obtain relief and cure of eczema. Here is the proof:

Mr. Stephen O. Thwaites, Dr. 270, Jordan, Ont., writes: "My brother had a bad case of eczema on his leg. He was troubled nearly all the year and winter with it, and could not get any relief. He tried different ointments and salves, but none cured it. He finally tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it cured it. He continued its use, but had not quite healed. The second year when he was cured, it is now about five years since then, and it has never returned. We certainly can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and are very grateful for my brother's cure."

(Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vinland, Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites and the party to whom she refers, and her statements are correct.")

Mr. E. Jones, 228 University avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I had eczema in my hand for about five years. I tried a great many remedies, but found that while some of them checked it, none cured it permanently. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in six weeks my hand was completely healed. I have not had it without a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house if it cost $2 a box. I am giving my name to all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Substitutes will only disappoint you. Insist on getting what you ask for."

I tried to cover the bump on my forehead with French chalk, but only accentuated the thing, the bump on a mountainous scale.

"The purple peaks of Darien," she quoted, pouring me my coffee. "Do you know, I feel so much better since you have taken hold of things. Aunt Letitia is very wonderful."

I thought ruefully of the failure of my first attempt to play the sleuth, and I disclaimed any right to Miss Letitia's high opinion of me.

"Before you come down, Miss Fleming," I said. "I want to ask a question or two. What was the name of the maid who helped you search the house that night?"

"What other maids did you say there were?"

"Della and Rose."

"Do you know anything about them? Where they came from or where they went?"

She smiled a little.

"What does one know about new servants?" she responded. "They bring you references, but references are the price of new women put to get rid of their servants without a fuss. Rose was fat and old, but Della was pretty. I thought she rather liked Carter."

Carter as well as Shields, the policeman. I put Miss Della down as a flirt.

"And you have no idea where Carter went?"

"None."

Wardrop came in then. The two elderly ladies, it seemed, had ten and twenty in their rooms when they wakened. Wardrop looked haggard and worn, avoided Miss Fleming's eyes, and after ordering eyes fastened of his chop, looked at his watch.

"I want to get the 10:30, Margie," he said. "I may not be out to dinner. Tell Miss Letitia, will you?" He turned to go, but came back to me and held out his hand.

"I may not see you again," he began. "Not if I see you first," I interrupted. He glanced at my mutilated features and smiled.

"I have made a Maitland," he said. "I didn't think that anything but a prodigious nature could duplicate a Maitland's nose. I'm honestly sorry, Mr. Knox, and if you do not want Miss Jane at that bump with a cold silver knife and some butter, you'd better duck before she comes down. Goodbye, Margie."

I think the girl was as much baffled as I was by the change in his manner when he spoke to her. His smile faded and he hardly met her eye. I thought that his awkward, puzzled look was the last I should see. When the house door had closed behind him, she dropped her chin in her hand and looked across the table.

"You did not tell me the truth last night."

"Mr. Knox," she said, "something has happened to Harry."

"He was robbed of his traveling bag," I explained on Fred's theory that half a truth is better than a poor lie.

"His traveling bag," she repeated scornfully. "Mr. Knox, something has happened to my father, and you and Harry are hiding from me."

"Oh my honey, it is nothing of the sort," I hastened to assure her. "I saw him for only a few minutes, just long enough for him to wreck my appearance."

"He did not speak of father."

"He got up and, crawling to the window, peered out upon it and, leaning his head against it, I wanted to ask him," she said, "but I am afraid to. Suppose he doesn't know and I should tell him. He would go to Mr. Schwartz at once, and Mr. Schwartz is treacherous. The papers would get it too."

Her eyes filled with tears, and I felt as awkward as a man always does when a woman begins to cry.

"I didn't sleep much," she explained, dabbling at her eyes. "Mr. Knox, are you sure it was only Harry trying to get into the house last night?"

"Only Harry," I repeated.

"There was some one moving about upstairs not long before I came down," she said slowly.

"You heard me. I almost fell down the stairs."

"Did you brush past my door and strike the knob?" she demanded.

"No. I was not near any door."

"Very well," triumphantly. "Some one did. Not only that, but they were in the room on the floor above."

"I could hear one person, and perhaps two, going from one side of the room to the other and back again."

"You heard a gobble quadrille. First couple forward and back," I said facetiously.

"I heard real footsteps—unmistakable ones."

"I was more impressed than I cared to show."

We crept past the two closed doors behind which the ladies Maitland were presumably taking out their crimp and taking in their tea. Then up a narrow, obviously clean stairway in the upper floor. It was an old-fashioned, sloping-roofed attic, with narrow windows and a bare floor. At one end a door opened into a large room, and in there were the family trunks of four generations of Maitlands. One or another of them had piled three little hair trunks, square topped trunks, near the entrance of the period when the two maiden ladies were in their late teens and there were handbags, modern trunks too. For Miss Fleming's satisfaction I made an examination of the room, but it showed nothing.

We gave up finally. Part way down the attic stairs Margery stopped, her eyes fixed on the white arched rail. Following her gaze, I stopped, too, and I felt a sort of chill go down me. No spot or blemish, no dirty lower print marked the whiteness of that stair rail except in one place. On it, clear and distinct, every line of the palm showed, was the reddish imprint of a hand!

Margery had turned very white. When the first revelation had passed, I reached over and touched the stain. It was quite dry, of course, but it was still reddish brown. Hunter said afterward it must have been about six hours old, and as things transpired, he was right. The stain showed a hand somewhat short and fat, with wide, thick finger tips, marked in ink. It would not have struck me so forcibly, perhaps, but there, its ugly red against the white wood, it seemed to me to be the imprint of a brutal, murderous hand.

We went on downstairs into the quiet and peace of the dining room. I got some hot coffee for Margery, for she looked shaken, and found I had mislaid my tray.

"I am beginning to think I am being pursued by a malicious spirit," she said, trying to smile. "I came away from home because people get into the house at night and left queer signs of their visits, and now, here at Beldwood, where nothing ever happens, the moment I arrive things begin to occur, and—just as I was looking last night, I did not tell her of the open hall door, just as I had kept from her the fact that only the contents of Harry Wardrop's bag had been taken."

"The something was a scrap of unred white paper and on it the figure eleven and twenty-four."

Harry Wardrop came back from the city at 4 o'clock, while Hunter was in the midst of his investigation. I told him what had happened, and with this

In spite of myself I smiled; it was so typical of the dear old lady, with the heart of a girl and a skin that was losing its roses. But there was something else in the recapture, something that made Margery Fleming draw in her breath sharply and gasp. Hunter raised his eyebrows a little and glance at me. The something was a scrap of unred white paper and on it the figure eleven and twenty-four."

Harry Wardrop came back from the city at 4 o'clock, while Hunter was in the midst of his investigation. I told him what had happened, and with this

I looked at Bella—the maid—as she moved around the dining room, her stoic face was not even intelligent, certainly not cunning. Bella, the black Irish girl who served, was partly blind, and her horizon was the diameter of her largest kettle. No—it had not been a servant, this mysterious intruder who passed the Maitland over the sideboard without an attempt to take it, and who dived around an attic at night, in search of nothing more valuable than patchwork quilts and winter dunnies.

There have been after 9 o'clock when Bella came running into the room. Ordinarily a slow and clumsy creature, she almost flew. She brought up against a chair, and a cup went flying. The breaking of a cup must have been a serious offense in Miss Letitia Maitland's house.

"Miss Jane," she gasped. "Miss Jane, she's—she's gone. She's been run off with."

CHAPTER V.
A Fountain Pen.

"Do you mean she is not in her room?" asked Margery incredulously. "Isn't she somewhere around the house?"

"Go up and look at the room," the girl replied, and, with Margery leading, we ran up the stairs.

Miss Jane's room was empty. From somewhere in the hall, Miss Letitia could be heard lecturing Hepzibah about putting too much butter on the toast. Her high voice, pitched for Hepzibah's old ears, rasped me. Margery closed the door, and we surveyed the room together.

"The bed had been occupied. Its coverlet had been thrown back, as if it occupied the room hurriedly. The room itself was in a state of confusion. A rocker lay on its side, and Miss Jane's clothing, folded as she had taken it off, and laid out on the floor. Her shoes stood neatly at the foot of the bed, and the toilet bag had been open, pouring a stream over the marble top of the dresser and down on to the floor. Over the high wooden mantel the Maitland who had been governor of the province, hung at a jaunty angle, and a clock had been pushed aside and stopped at half past one."

Margery picked up Miss Jane's new lace cap and examined it. It was crumpled and spotted with blood.

"She has been killed," Margery said in a choking voice.

Margery had more presence of mind than I had.

"Call Robert, the gardener," she said, "and have him help you search the grounds and cellars. I will take Bella and go through the house. Above everything, keep it from Aunt Letitia as long as possible."

It takes a short time to search an acre of land and shrubbery. There was no trace of the missing woman anywhere outside the house, and from Bella, as she sat at the foot of the room stairs with her apron over her head, I learned in an inconspicuous way that nothing had been found in the house. Margery was with Miss Letitia, and from the excited conversation I knew she was telling her not untruthful details, but that Miss Jane had disappeared during the night.

The old lady was inclined to scoff at first.

"Look in the fruit closet in the store-room," she heard her say. "She's left the spring lock on her twice. She was black in the face the last time we found her."

"I did look; she's not there!" Margery screamed at her.

"Then she's out looking for stump water to take that wart off her neck. She said yesterday she was going for some."

"But her clothes are all here," Margery persisted. "One thinks some one must have got to the house."

"If all her clothes are there she's been sleepwalking," Miss Letitia said calmly. "We used to have to her by a cord around her ankle and fasten it to the bedpost. When she tried to get up the cord would pull and wake her."

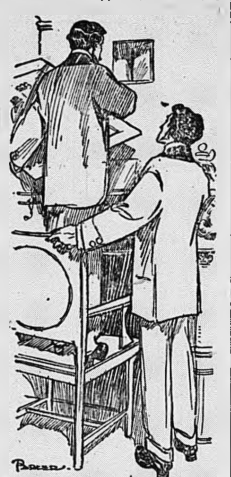

I sent for Hunter that morning, and he came at 8 o'clock. I took him through the back entrance to avoid Miss Letitia. I think he had been skeptical until I threw open the door and showed him the upset chair, the old lady's clothing and the blood stained lace cap. He took a crumpled sheet of note paper out of the waste basket and looked at it, then he stuffed it in his pocket.

Before he left the room Hunter went back and moved the picture that had been disturbed over the mantel. He saw Miss Jane's chair and saw her, standing on it, take the picture from its nail. Thus exposed, the wall showed an opening about a foot square and perhaps eighteen inches deep. A metal door, opening in, was unfastened and ajar, and just inside was a copy of a recent sentimental novel and a bottle of some sort of cumulation cream.

"I am beginning to think I am being pursued by a malicious spirit," she said, trying to smile. "I came away from home because people get into the house at night and left queer signs of their visits, and now, here at Beldwood, where nothing ever happens, the moment I arrive things begin to occur, and—just as I was looking last night, I did not tell her of the open hall door, just as I had kept from her the fact that only the contents of Harry Wardrop's bag had been taken."

"The something was a scrap of unred white paper and on it the figure eleven and twenty-four."

Harry Wardrop came back from the city at 4 o'clock, while Hunter was in the midst of his investigation. I told him what had happened, and with this new apprehension added to the shock of the night before he looked as though his nerves were ready to snap.

Wardrop was a man of perhaps twenty-seven, as tall as I, although not so heavy, with direct blue eyes and fair hair, altogether a manly and prepossessing sort of fellow. I was not surprised that Margery Fleming had found him attractive. He had the blond hair and offhand manner that women seem to like. I am dark myself.

He seemed surprised to find Hunter there, and not particularly pleased, but he followed us to the upper floor and watched silently while Hunter went over the two rooms. Beside the large chest of drawers in the main attic Hunter found perhaps half a dozen drops of blood, and on the edge of the open drawer there were traces of more. In the inner room two trunks had been moved over nearly a foot, as he found by the faint dust that had been under them. Then he took out his notebook.

"Have you a pencil or pen, Mr. Knox?" he asked me, but I had none. Wardrop felt his pockets.

"I have lost my fountain pen somewhere around the house today," he said irritably. "Here's a pencil—not much of one."

Hunter began his interrogations.

"How old was Miss Maitland—Miss Jane, I mean?"

"Sixty-five," from Margery.

"She had always seemed rational? Not eccentric, or childish?"

"Not at all; the sanest woman I ever knew."

"Has she ever to your knowledge received any threatening letters?"

"Never in all her life," from both of them promptly.

"You heard sounds, you say, Miss Fleming, at what time?"

"About half past 1 or perhaps a few minutes later. The clock struck 2 while I was still awake and nervous."

"This person who was walking through the attic here—would you say it was a heavy person—a man, I mean?"

Margery stopped to think.

"Yes," she said finally. "It was very real, but I think it was a man's step."

"You heard no sound of a struggle, no voices, no screams?"

"None at all," she said positively. And I added my quota.

"There could have been no such sounds," I said. "I sat in my room and smoked until a quarter to 2. I heard nothing until then, when I heard Mr. Wardrop trying to get into the house. I went down to admit him, and I found the front door open about no lock."

Hunter wheeled on Wardrop.

"A quarter to 2?" he asked. "You were coming home from the city?"

"Yes, from the station."

"The last train gets in here at 12:30," Hunter said slowly. "Does it always take you so long and a quarter to the house?"

Wardrop looked uneasily, and I could see Margery's eyes dilate with amusement.

"I did not come directly home," he said almost defiantly.

"Then—will you be good enough to tell me where you did go. I have reasons for wanting to know."

"Hang your reasons. Look here, Mr. Hunter, you think I would burn a chair of that old lady's beard? Do you think I came here last night and killed her, or whatever it is that has happened to her, and then went out and tried to get in again through the window?"

"Not necessarily," Hunter said, untruffed. "I merely occurred to me that we have at least an hour of your time last night while this thing was going on to account for. Moreover, we can speak of that later. I am particularly anxious to know what Miss Maitland is not dead or not dead when she was taken away from this house."

"Taken away?" Margery repeated. "Then you think she was kidnapped?"

"I don't know," said Hunter. "There are no closets or unused rooms where if there had been a murder the body could be concealed."

"I never heard of any," Margery said, but I could see her change of color. He stood frowning at the door.

Margery was beginning to show the effect of the look day's strain. She looked a little, and with an air of proprietorship that I resented some how Wardrop went over to her.

"You are going to the door, Margery," he said, holding out his hand to help her up. "Miss Letitia will come over to Aunt Letitia, and you must get some sleep."

"Sleep?" she said, with scorn, as he helped her to her feet. "Sleep when I am as worried as I am?"

"Father first and now dear old Aunt Jane. Harry, do you know where my father is?"

He faced her as if he had known the question must come and was prepared for it.

"I know that he is all right, Margery. He has been out of town. If it had not been for something unforeseen this morning, he would have been here. He would have been here for a week, and besides, you say you heard nothing."

"Nothing," I said positively.

"Then unless she went away to a balloon, where it wouldn't matter what she had on, she is still around the premises. It depends on how badly she was hurt."

"Are you sure it was she who was hurt?" I asked. "That print of a hand—that is not Miss Jane's?"

In reply Hunter led the way down the stairs, and he was so certain on the stair rail stood out, ugly and distinct. He put his own heavy hand on the rail just below it.

"Suppose," he said, "suppose you go to the door and see what happens to your hand?"

"It spreads," I acknowledged, seeing what he meant.

"Now look at that stain. Look at the blood. Why it's all over the hand beside mine. The breadth is from pressure. It might be figured out this way. The fingers, you notice, point down the stairs. In some way, as the hand came down, it was a better name, gets into the house. He used a ladder resting against that window by the chest of drawers."

"Ladder!" I exclaimed.

"Yes, the ladder. I remember it. Now, then, he comes down those stairs and he has a definite object. He knows of something valuable in that rubbish hole over the mantel in Miss Jane's room. The door is closed and bolted, but the door into the bathroom is open. From there another door leads into the bedroom, and it is no bolt—only a key. That kind of a lock is only the kind of a lock that a burglar uses. Now, then, Miss Maitland was a tight sleeper. When she awakened she was too alarmed to scream. She tried to get to the door and was intercepted. Finally, she got up on the stair rail, and she got in and ran along the hall. Every door was locked. In a frenzy she ran up the attic stairs and was captured up there. Which brings out Miss Jane's story of the footsteps back and forward."

He brings her down the stairs again, probably half dragging her. Once she catches hold of the stair rail and bolts desperately to it, leaving the stair free."

"But why did he bring her down?" I asked. "Why wouldn't he take what he was after and get away?"

"The probability had to get the key of the iron door. It was hidden, and time was valuable. If there was a scapegrace member of the family, for instance, who knew where the old lady kept her money, he would be the man who knew all about the house and who."

"Fleming?" I exclaimed, aghast.

"Or even our young friend Wardrop," Hunter said, looking at me. "He has an account for. The trying to get in may have been a blind, and how do you know that what he says was stolen out of his watch was not what he had just got from the iron door?"

He pointed to the mantel in Miss Maitland's room. One-thirty, Miss Margery says, when she heard the noise. One-thirty, when she heard Wardrop at the shutter. I told Mr. Knox that it was one of two things, either that woman is dead somewhere in this house or she ran out of the hall door just before you went downstairs, and in that case the Lord only knows where she is. If there is a room anywhere that we have not explored."

"I am inclined to think there is," I broke in, thinking of Wardrop's face a few minutes before. And just then Wardrop found us. He closed the door at the foot of the boxed in staircase and came quietly up.

"You spoke about an unused room or a secret closet, Mr. Hunter," he said, without any remembrance in the time. "We have nothing so secret as that. There is a room in the old house, full of queer books and papers, and perhaps in use of them we might find. He stepped and gulped. Whatever Hunter might think, whatever I might have heard, Harry Wardrop I determined that he had had absolutely nothing to do with little Miss Maitland's strange disappearance."

The first place we explored was a closet under the stairs, with a door that opened and to which access was gained by a small window in the attic foundation of the house. We moved every trunk in the store-room. The search had been over every inch by inch without affording any clue, and now the three of us faced one another. The day was almost gone, and we stood and waited in the town and the adjacent countryside, but no word had come from them. Miss Letitia had at last succumbed to the suspense and had gone to bed, where she lay quietly enough, as in the way of the old lady, said that she was warning.

At 10 o'clock I was called up me from the office and almost tearfully begged me to come back and attend to my business. When I said it was impossible I could hear him groan. He was of the opinion that by keeping fresh magazines in my waiting room and by persuading me to the extent of my power, he might be able to build up my practice to its present flourishing state. When I left the telephone Hunter was preparing to go back to town and Wardrop was waiting for me. He was waiting for me. Wardrop stopped his uneasy pronouncement and hailed the detective.

"By George," he exclaimed. "I forgot to show you the closet under the attic stairs!"

CHAPTER VI.
Concerning Margery.

WARDROP showed us the panel in the hall. He pointed to a small side window, he pushed a bolt under the carpet. The blackness of the closet was horrible in its suggestion to me. I stepped back while Hunter struck a match and looked in.

The closet was empty.

"Better not go in," Wardrop said. "It hasn't been used for years and it's black with dust. I found it myself and showed it to Miss Jane. I don't believe Miss Letitia knows it is here."

"It hasn't been used for years!" repeated Hunter. "I suppose it has been some time since you were in here, Mr. Wardrop?"

"Several years," Wardrop replied carelessly. "I used to keep contraband here in my college days, cigarettes and that sort of thing. I haven't been in it since then."

Hunter took his foot off a small object that lay on the floor.

"Here is the fountain pen you lost this morning, Mr. Wardrop," he said quietly.

When Hunter had finally gone at 10 o'clock, summoned to town on urgent business, we were very nearly where we had been before he came. He could only give us theories, and after all, what we wanted was fact—and Miss Jane.

Why had Wardrop lied about so small a matter as his fountain pen? The closet was empty. What object could he have had in lying he had not seen it in far years? I found that my belief in his sincerity of the night before was going.

It would have been easy enough for him to tell himself, if he had an eye for the theatrical, to work out just some such plot. It was even possible that he had hidden for a few hours in the secret closet the contents of the Beldwood leather bag. But whatever Wardrop might or might not be, he gave me little chance to find out, for he left the house before Hunter did that afternoon, and it was later, and under strange circumstances, that I met him again.

Hunter had not told me what was on the paper he had picked out of the basket in Miss Jane's room, and I knew he was as much puzzled as I at the scrap of paper. It was only eleven twenty-two on it. It occurred to me that it might mean the twenty-second day of the eleventh month, perhaps something that had happened on some momentous, long buried 22d of November. But this was May, and the finding of two alphas bearing the same name was too unusual.

After Hunter left I went back to the closet under the upper stairs and with some difficulty got the panel open again. The space inside, perhaps eight feet high at one end and four at the other, was empty. There was a row of books, as if a bookcase clothing had been hung there, and a flat shelf at one end, gray with dust.

I struck another match and examined the shelf. It was sure there were numerous scratches on the dust layer, but at one end, marked out as if drawn on a blackboard, was a rectangular outline, apparently that of a smallish box and fresh.

My torch burned in my fingers and I dropped it. The last flash showed me, on the floor of the closet and wedged between two boards, a small white globe. It did not need another match to tell me it was a pearl.

I dug it out carefully and took it to my room. In the daylight there I recognized it as an untraced pearl of fair size and considerable value. There could hardly be a more beautiful pearl than this. I had stumbled on one of the stolen gems. If Wardrop took the pearls, I kept repeating, who took Miss Jane?

I tried to forget the pearls and to follow the connection between Miss Maitland's disappearance and the absence of her brother-in-law. The scrap of paper, eleven twenty-two, most conspicuous them, but how. A family scandal? Disappearance of the husband. There could be nothing that would touch the virgin remoteness of that little old lady. Insanity? Well, Miss Jane might have had a sudden aberration and wandered away, but that would have Fleming out, and the paper dragged him in. A common enemy?

I smoked and considered for some time over this. An especially malign enemy he might not be an assassin, but it was almost ludicrous to think of his carrying away by force Miss Jane's ninety pounds of austere flesh. The solution, had it not been for the blood stains, might have been a peaceful one, leaving out the pearls, altogether, but later developments showed that the pearls refused to be omitted. To my mind, however, at that time, the latter seemed a double one. I believed that some one, perhaps Harry Wardrop, had stolen the pearls, had hidden them in the secret closet, and disposed of them later. I made a note to try to trace the pearl's whereabouts.

Then I clung to the theory that Miss Maitland had been abducted and was being held for ransom. But—and I stuck here—the abductor who would deal out such a fate to a woman would not let her escape without any cover-up—no even shoes—could only in her night clothes, would run an almost certain risk of losing his prize by pneumonia.

For several not an article of wearing apparel missing from the house.

Just before dinner I made a second round of the grounds. About a hundred feet beyond the boundary fence I found circular tracks, broad and deep, where an automobile had backed and turned. The lane was separated by high hedges of coarse orange from the property on either side, and each house in that neighborhood had a drive of its own, which entered from the main street, circled the house and went out as it came.

There was no reason, so far as I could see, for a legitimate reason why a car should have stopped there, yet it stopped and for some time. Deeper tracks in the sand at the side of the lane showed that.

I felt that I had found some progress. I had found where the pearls had been hidden after the theft, and this put Bella out of the question. And I had found—or thought I had—the way in which Miss Jane had been taken away from Beldwood.

I came back past the long rear wing of the house which contained, I presumed, the kitchen and the other mysterious regions where the women and architects comprehended. A long porch the length of the wing, and as I passed I heard my name called.

"In here in the old laundry," Margery's voice came from the door, and I stepped in. She was sitting on the porch. At the very end of the wing, dismantled, piled at the side with straw and broken furniture, was an old laundry. The room was empty, and the walls were faded and streaked, and it exhaled the musty odor of empty bones. On the floor in the middle of the room, noticeably dirty and disheveled, sat Margery Fleming.

"I thought you were never coming," she said pettishly. "I have been here alone for an hour."

"I'm sure I never guessed it," I apologized. "I should have been only too glad to come and sit with you."

She was fumbling with her hair, which hung, loosely knotted, over one small ear.

"I hate to look ridiculous," she said sharply, "and I don't believe I am. I've been crying and I haven't any handkerchief."

I proffered mine gravely, and she took it.

"Now," she said when she had dabbed the last hairpin into place and tucked my handkerchief into her belt. "If you have loved sufficiently amused perhaps you will help me out of here."

She brushed aside her gown, and I saw what had occurred. She was sitting on a rug or a trapdoor in the floor, which had closed on her skirts and held her fast.

"I was sure Robert had not looked carefully in the old wine cellar," she said, "and then I remembered that trapdoor opened into it. It was the only place we hadn't explored thoroughly. I put a ladder down and looked around."

"Could you get out of your garments, and—I could go out and close the door?" I suggested delicately. "You see, you are sitting on the trapdoor and—"

But Margery accused the suggestion with the proper scorn and demanded a pair of scissors. She cut herself loose with vicious snips, while I paraphrased the old nursery rhyme, "She cut her

Death of Daniel Belson

On July 25 at the home of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Jos. Holler, of Hope Bay, there passed away the person of Mr. Daniel Belson. He was born in Norfolk, England in 1830 and came in Canada in 1876. He resided for a short time near Brantford moving from that place in 1880 up to the Bruce Pen. where he remained until the time of his death. The deceased is the last of a family of 18, several of whom reached over the four score mark. Mr. Belson was an upright man, and for several years was superintendent of the Sunday School at Adamsville, and was a member of the Presbyterian Church in that place. The funeral at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jos. Holler, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. R. James, of the English Church at Lions Head. The members of his family are: Mrs. Jos. Holler, Mrs. A. H. Heppburn, Mrs. R. E. Heppburn, of Hope Bay and Walter J. Belson, of Pipestone, Man. The pall bearers were, Jno. Heath, Jno. Heppburn, Jno. Thompson, Jos. Slack, of Hope Bay, Jas. Greig, of Hopness and Thos. King of Adamsville. The funeral was held on Friday and was largely attended. Mrs. Holler and other relatives have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Keppel Council

The Council of the above Township met at Oxenden on July 26. All members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. E. J. Loney complained that Mr. David Kent had fenced in a part of the Public Road thereby cutting off a watering place on the Gleason River near Oxenden. The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Kent to remove the fence.

Mr. Cruickshank was appointed to attend the Convention to be held in Toronto on August 28, 29, 30.

Orders on the Treasurer were issued to sum of $2246.18 principally for crushing stone and other road work.

* Collectors of rates and taxes will be appointed at the next meeting.

Council adjourned to meet at the Methodist Hall, North Keppel, on September 3, 1918.

COLPOYS' BAY

Mrs. W. T. Parke received the sad news Saturday of the passing away of her cousin Miss Ella Howell, of Owen Sound. Miss Howell has been suffering from a nervous breakdown but seemed somewhat better. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parke and Miss Kathleen Whitcher attended the funeral in Owen Sound last Monday. Much sympathy is extended to the mother and other relatives. Miss Howell has visited here quite frequently and was a favorite with all who met her.

Our community became somewhat alarmed at the unpleasant discovery of Paris Green mixed with salt and placed on the roadside in a number of places between Mr. John Crawford and Mr. W. F. Campbell's place. This seems a deliberate plan to ruin some one whose cattle are pasturing on the road. Who was guilty of the dastardly deed remains so far a mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitcher, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitcher and Rosie Brown spent Sunday at Red Bay. Irene and Bessie, Elmer and Roy Gilbert returned last week from a month's visit near Markdale with their grandparents.

At the close of the service next Sabbath evening the Quarterly Sacrament will be administered by the Pastor.

Sorry to notice the appearance of the blight on the early potatoes, tho' they are fairly well matured. It will prove serious if it affects the late varieties. We would like to hear from some grower who sprayed with Bordeaux mixture and escaped the blight.

Mrs. G. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, returned last Thursday from a very enjoyable visit at Lacrosse, Mich.

Misses Kathleen and Stella Whitcher, Miss Irene Cavanagh, Mrs. E. E. Whitcher, Mr. W. T. Parke, Miss Jewel Parke and Gladys spent several days holidaying at Red Bay.

Mr. D. S. Pruder, Harry Farrow, Frank Brown, Sundayed at their several homes.

The Quarterly Missionary service at the close of the S. S. next Sabbath morning.

Mrs. Sydney Gilbert arrived home from Pierre's Hospital Buffalo, last week, where she has been for a month. Mrs. Gilbert's many friends will be pleased to know she is greatly benefited by the treatment received and all hope he will soon be fully restored to health.

OXENDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens and family and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Loney and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. Loney.

Miss F. O'Connell has been engaged as teacher of the P. Y. School for next year.

At the close of the service next Sabbath the quarterly sacrament will be administered by the pastor.

The offering at the Sunday School services at the re-opening July 21st was over $100.

Miss Elsie Shroeder, Miss Nora Nelson, of Toronto, Miss Leone Keeling of Owen Sound, were the guests of Miss Hilda Loney Wednesday of last week.

Lillie Seigrist and Jamie McGarvie Sundayed in Owen Sound.

Mrs. Albert M. Sinnerfeld and daughter Pearl, of Pittsburg, Penn. are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. Baldwin.

The postponed S. S. picnic will be held a week from next Friday (Aug. 9) in Mr. Mallard's grove. Come and be young again.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Atkey and family, of Owen Sound, are camping on the Bay front.

CLAVERING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, Brantford, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. Morley.

Mr. and Mrs. Corkill and son, Malcolm, Nanapan, motored, up last week and spent a few days with Mr. W. G. Simola.

Poe Alvin Miller, who is in training in St. Johns, Que., is home on a visit.

Miss Pearl Craig, Brantford, is home on a visit.

Miss Pearl Smith is the guest of Miss Margaret Perkins at the Sault. Mrs. (Major) Cogill, Ottawa, returned acquaintances here last Friday.

PARK HEAD

Miss Hazel Gerrie returned to her home at Drew after visiting friends at Park Head for two weeks.

Pte. George Sylvester of the London military camp, spent the week end with his relatives here.

Pte. William Moyer and Mrs. Moyer are spending a few days with Mr. Phillip Moyer.

Mrs. J. C. Milne, of London, accompanied by her four children, are renewing acquaintances at Park Head and Hespworth.

During the electrical storm which passed over this district last Thursday the barn, belonging to Mr. Schnurr, caught fire by lightning and was completely destroyed. Neighbors were quickly on the scene but were unable to do anything towards saving anything that was in the barn. Among the articles burned was, a new wagon, new set of harness, 3 pigs, a number of hens and a quantity of hay. The loss to Mr. Schnurr will be a heavy one. He intends to build a new barn at once.

(Too Late for Last Week)

Miss Amelia Spencer, of Montreal, is at present visiting her mother here.

Miss Hazel Gerrie, of Toronto, is spending a few weeks with friends at Park Head and surrounding vicinity.

Mr. J. J. Shortreed called on relatives for a couple of days while en route to his summer cottage at Sauble Beach.

Mr. Roy Rourke has received notice to appear for medical examination by the Military Board at Walkerton on July 26th. Roy has made several attempts to join the colors but was rejected by the 147th and also the 248th Battalions at Owen Sound.

Quite a number of young folk went to Zion on Monday afternoon and evening to attend the celebration in connection with the opening of the new church shed which was recently erected. Park Head took part in the baseball games but failed to bring home any of the prizes.

Park Head Telephone Co. held their annual meeting in the School House Saturday evening, July 20th. Everything went off smoothly and no complaints were heard. First class service is now being obtained from Central office at Hespworth.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Alice Corrigan wishes to thank the neighbors and friends who were so kind to the younger members of the family in her absence, also to us in our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Corrigan and Family

From a book on Guatemala we learn that if one wishes to call a newboy there is but one murmur: Amatlacuitlacuitlacuitlacuitlacuit.

OLIPHANT

This is one of Oliphant's best seasons judging from the number coming in and exceedingly few vacant camps. Dr. Nichol and wife, of Listowel, motored here for the week end; being the guests of Rev. J. S. and Mrs. Hardie and intend returning for a longer stay.

Mrs. Ede of Woodstock is with her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. Moore at Kid Island.

Mrs. Thos. Hutchinson and family, of Wiarton, are occupying Mr. Watt's camp on the south shore. Miss Doris Anderson is with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley and family will shortly take their holidays in Mrs. Manley's cottage.

Miss Bichu and Miss Wright, of Chesley, are staying with Mrs. W. H. Wright.

It is seldom we see men in khaki now, but a party came with Mr. Fielding, and enjoyed a week end at his camp. They gave a dance on Monday evening and the young ladies from Wiarton and Oliphant had a good time there.

Mr. Fishleigh, who has been and is quite ill here, has decided to return to his home in Chesley and Rev. Mr. McCallum and family of Lucknow will occupy his comfortable cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Quigley, of London, are coming this week to one of Mrs. Wright's cottages.

Mr. David Wright of Detroit has returned to his home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Somers, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Engle and family of Hanover have also arrived here recently.

The service in the campers church was conducted last Sunday by Rev. J. S. Hardie and a large congregation listened to a powerful sermon.

Next Sunday, Aug. 4th, being the date of the commencement of the war a memorial service will be held for all the brave men and boys who sacrificed their lives for their country, who used to come here in happier days. The service will be in Mr. Nickle's charge and other laymen will take part and appropriate musical selections will be rendered.

Mrs. F. Scott of Brantford and Mrs. Ritchie of the same town will arrive here this week and locate in one of Mr. Wright's cottages. Mr. Scott will arrive later.

The song services conducted every Sunday evening at the Rev. Mr. Cole's cottage are being well attended and are much enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Campbell and family, of Brantford, arrived last week.

We notice that a large number from this town (Brantford) who are camping here attended the Campers' Service.

Miss Nichol has returned to her home. She was with the merry party in Dr. Nichol's cottage.

Mr. Dodge and daughter are in their cottage on Shamrock.

MILLER LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. H. Esch, who were visiting friends in Purple Valley and Colpoys, came home on Monday.

Mr. J. Rouse is home from London for good having obtained his final discharge. He is now working for his uncle Mr. John Rouse.

Mr. Andrew Clark, of No. 1 Lind, say was a business visitor here the first of the week.

Messrs. Frank Steep of Spry and H. Davidson, of Lions Head, were callers here on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hopkins called here on their way to Lions Head last week.

Pte. James Brough, who has been down to Centreville for a week is home again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Boyle made a trip to Lions Head on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Noble were at Lions Head on Friday.

Mr. D. Martin was down to Lindsay and McCallum Corners on Thursday. He says there is no scarcity of hay down there.

Mr. John Boyle had the misfortune of smashing his mower this week. This is where the middle one is not in. He sells a machine up when it comes to need repairs there are not to be had without sending away for them. As this delays a person in the busy time for about a week, it seems to us that the merchants ought to handle repairs also.

Mr. C. E. Weatherhead was over to Lions Head on Thursday.

New Pest Found on Potatoes

Mysterious Disease Said To Be Playing Havoc With Vines In This District

As if the ordinary potato-bug, either the shell-back variety or the other kind that might pass itself off as a red currant if it would keep still, were not enough for potato growers to contend with, another pest has been reported as actively at work in this district.

The new enemy is described as a very small green fly, closely resembling the green aphid often found on rose bushes. It takes up its abode on the under side of the leaf, and apparently sucks the juice causing the leaves to shrivel and curl up, just as a rose leaf does when attacked by the green aphid. Paris green and the other ordinary potato-bug "dopes" do not seem to bother it much.

A number of gardeners have been wondering for some little time why their vines are wilting and some tho' they were merely ripening; and it was not until just recently that anything wrong was suspected.

In many cases not only the leaves but the stalks have been affected, the stalks apparently drying up and falling over. This condition, it was thought, was the result of the ravages of the fly; but as to that opinions differ.

Some potato growers sought advice on the matter, and were advised to use a spray of lime and bluestone, commonly known as Bordeaux mixture which, it was said, would be effective if the insects had not made too much progress. If they had, then the only thing to be done was to dig the potatoes if they were fit, and use them as soon as possible.

According to the Botanical Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, however, the trouble is more deep-seated. Mrs. Jas. Cochran, who was one of those whose plants were affected, sent samples to the College; and on Saturday he received the following letter:

"The sample of potato plants which you sent have been received and carefully examined.

"Your potato plants are affected with two diseases, Dry Rot and Black Leg. These diseases were no doubt brought in on the seed, as they are seed carried diseases. The little flies which you speak of had nothing to do with the drying of the vines.

"Spraying with Bordeaux, that is a lime and bluestone mixture, although very good for preventing Late Blight, will not prevent Dry Rot and Black Leg. The best thing you can do is to dig your plants as soon as the vines are dead and use the potatoes immediately."

We have heard of Dry Rot; but Black Leg appears to be a new disease so far as potatoes are concerned, tho' often heard of among cattle. Whether the flies are merely a symptom of the other disease, or a separate pest is uncertain. In any case, it behooves potato-growers to look well to their plants.

It will also be well for them to look well to the seed they use, and not allow any disease-infected tubers to be brought into this part of the country. —Owen Sound Advertiser.

Notes
The United States war bill is now $50,000,000 per day.

In travelling there is one sure thing, you pay more and you eat less.

The new price of wheat will probably be $2.24 per bushel. There ought to be good money in it at that price.

The letter B, which it is claimed can be seen in the oat leaves, has shown how many people are superstitious.

Public sympathy will always go to wards those who are in the right, and public sympathy was with the striking postmen.

And now County Judges want higher salaries. Well, we know some who should be receiving higher pay, and we know others.

Honey is being sold this year at 22 cents a pound. If the bees knew this they would probably go on a strike for higher pay.

Lloyd George has stated that the war may last two years longer; this means that he expects German defeat before the end of this season.

The greatest General in all history will be Foch. France, too, had the greatest General during the last century in Napoleon.

Canada had its day for prayer and humiliation on behalf of the success of the Allies. It now looks as if Canada can soon have its day of National Thanksgiving. The Huns are on the run.

After the big farmers picnic at Lions Head and Oxenden, the Warton Canadian Echo has come to the conclusion that the farmers of Bruce are going to be a great force in the next political campaign in this country. Why shouldn't they be? Of the five members in the House of Commons and Legislature from Bruce, not one is actively engaged in farming. It was just 25 years ago that Dan McNaughton, Reeve of Bruce Township, won the provincial riding of North Bruce against both the Grits and Tories. The Hellamans of Bruce and Irishmen of Arran stood shoulder to shoulder and carried the Patron flag to victory. John Pierson of Saugeen Township was the Liberal candidate and John George of Port Elgin was the Conservative standard bearer. The votes stood: McNaughton 1,574; Geo. 1,118; Pierson 974. The towns and villages split their votes between Pierson and George and the townships went strong for their nominee. Bruce, Saugeen, Arran, Amabel and Eastnor was where the main strength of the Patrons lay. We would not be surprised if the United Farmers of Bruce go together for political action and secure the cancellation of the old-time parties as they did 25 years ago—Cheesley Enterprise.

THE FARMER'S ORGANIZATION

"I suppose you know Halbert is the President of the U. F. A., that upended the decision against the farmer, who was fined $500 for using seditious language, this is the fellow you're talking of a few weeks ago." The Echo was the recipient of this note from a very prominent business man not one hundred miles away.

A few words may be necessary. Many merchants do not understand this movement. It is not directed against them, it is not for the purpose of buying and selling. It is simply to secure political representation. The farmers do not think that they have the ear of the government as well as the manufacturers, and consider that if they had more farmers in Parliament it would be better for them. In this free country they are entitled to their opinion.

So far as this movement relates to buying and selling The Echo cannot see very much good that it can do. Competition is very keen, and the farmers are not likely to be unduly charged for any article.

We repeat what we have already said that the farmers cannot get along without a good town or a good village and they would be short-sighted if they should buy elsewhere. It is far better for them to build up their own town than to build up Toronto. They cannot remember this fact too often.

Now so far as the movement itself is concerned, whether it will be last or not, whether it will be any good or not, all depends upon leadership. The leadership must not be narrow gauge, broad, statesman like and as keenly devoted to the interests of the farmers as the highly paid officers of the Manufacturers' Association are devoted to their work. The Echo offers no apology for reporting these meetings and so long as they work in sympathy with the local merchants they will get a helping hand. The politicians can take care of themselves.

War Profits All Wide of the Mark

About the only prophecy concerning the war that has been fulfilled is that of Admiral Jellicoe, who remarked some months ago that by August the submarine problem would likely be solved. He did not mean that all the subs would be destroyed or that an infallible method of evading them would be discovered, but that the possibility of the submarine winning the war for Germany would have disappeared. We know now that submarines are being sunk faster than they are being built, that is to say, that their numbers are decreasing every month, and that Allied ships are being built faster than the subs can destroy them. Other prophecies have been falsified. The most widely discussed of them was the remark attributed to Kitchener that the war would last three years. What Kitchener said was that he was accepting office as Secretary of War for three years "or the duration of the war." Nevertheless there is every reason to suppose that Kitchener knew that the struggle would be long and bitter.

Ridiculous Prophecies.
One of the most ridiculous prophecies was that made by H. G. Wells, that the Allies would be in Berlin 60 days after the war began. The passion of this gifted writer to say something pungent almost equalled that of George Bernard Shaw. We do not recall whether Shaw made any predictions regarding the war. If so he probably said either that the war would end in the Fall of 1914 or in the Spring of 1914. Not long ago an American publication made the prophecy that "hardly now living would see the real end of the war." This is the proper language for a prophet who should always be in a position to predict that his language was misunderstood, and in this case the use of the word "real" provides a loophole. Speaking of discredited prophecies, reference ought to be made to that numerous band that declared that the war would be decided on the Eastern front. Another group of pseudo-experts insisted that the last battle would be fought on the Salonica front. As a matter of fact it might appear that the last battle there has already been fought.

Before the War Prophecies.
Other futile predictions concerning the present war and the American Civil War are recalled by Isaac Markens in the New York Sun. He notes that in 1907 John Morley, who has seen much of the Kaiser on the occasion of his visit to England, was struck by his "naturalness, geniality and unaffectedness; and the golden impression he left in the mind of everybody was of his real desire for peace." One year before the war, Hurd and Castle, authors of "German Sea Power," declared that the Kaiser knew that he could not afford to quarrel with Great Britain. Then there was Norman Angell, with his famous book, "The Great Illusion," who expressed the view that there would be no more great wars. It is fair to him to say, however, that he was not a pacifist, and did not propose that the British navy should be reduced in strength. His chief contention was that war under modern conditions cannot be made to pay, a proposition which the civilized world is determined to establish for all time to come.

Lord George's Blindness.
However, if we are to include prophecies and opinions uttered before the war, this column would hardly contain the name of British and Canadian public men who insisted that there was no chance whatever of a war with Germany. We recall that Lloyd George, for instance, forced a Cabinet crisis in his insistence that the naval programme should be reduced, and was only defeated by the stubbornness of Winston Churchill. Nor shall we mention the various German predictions of an early peace, dinner in Paris, and other time-tables that showed no better understanding of the situation than if they had been made in a kindergarten. It is a curiosity of human nature that the nearer we get to the end of the war the more loath we are to make definite predictions about it. Similarly, we suppose, people can rarely be induced to buy stocks when they are cheap, nor to sell them when they are dear.

Gift of Prophecy Denied.
The experts were no wiser at the time of the American Civil War, Seward, the Secretary of War, said at the beginning that it was a mere tempest in a teapot and would exhaust itself in ninety days. He continued to make similar fatuous remarks while the struggle lasted. Grant himself thought that the war would be over in a few months, and it was not until after Shiloh that he discerned a long bitter struggle. Lincoln was invariably non-committal, whatever his thoughts may have been and only after Richmond had fallen did he look for a righteous and speedy peace. In 1862 a Vermont representative said that the war could be settled then as well as thirty years later. In the same year Gladstone announced that the South had founded a nation. There were many predictions that the war would ruin England and perhaps establish a republic because of the destruction of the cotton trade. Nine months before the collapse of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis said that the struggle must go on until "the last man of this generation falls in his tracks and his children take up the musket." But it is useless to multiply examples to prove that men are no better judges of war than of weather, and that military experts have had not much better luck when entering the field of prophecy than the theological experts who speculate upon the end of the world.

Drilling for gas in other wells will soon begin at Hepworth. The company intend to pipe from the well now secured to their plant and thus will economize in their power. The Hepworth people are enthusiastic, and are confident that the other wells will turn out as good as the first one.

Mr. F. McDougall, who ships hogs from this point every week, cannot understand why the farmers clubs will not sell to him. He offers them more than they can get from the packing plant to which they sell. He maintains that he secures hogs in all other places from the clubs.

Prices are beginning to soar. It was thought that they were incapable of any higher ascent but the upward tendency is very evident. There will be more unrest, strikes, etc. unless an equilibrium is soon reached. The government has been urged often enough to get busy and fix prices, but the government would sooner do something else. If the Canadian people would boycott certain articles we would very soon see a tumble.

—Mr. W. Manchester, Lethbridge, arrived in town Saturday and went up to spend a few weeks with Mrs. Manchester's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cameron, Spry. Mr. Manchester has been a number of years in the West, and is well acquainted with the possibilities of that country. He states that the crop in Southern Alberta is not good this year. They should have 60,000,000 bushels for export and will only have from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000.

Last week a young man, Gordon McMaster, Kilsyth, came into The Echo Office with a very valuable club bag he had found on the west shore road. Within 24 hours The Echo had found the owner. Too much credit cannot be given this young gentleman for his honesty. It is true it is only what we have a right to expect from everyone but the number, who find money and never report, is very large.

Quite lately a number of valuable things have been lost and although the parties advertised they are not to trace of their lost property.

THE WINDOW AT THE WHITE CAT

Wardrop had been living at the White Cat from the chief.

"A very few—besides myself, only a man who looks after the clubhouse in the mornings and Clarkson, the cashier of the Borough bank, who met him there once by appointment."

The chief made no comment.

"Now, Mr. Knox, you heard no shot while you were in the hall?"

"There was considerable noise. I heard two or three sharp reports like the explosions of an automobile engine."

"You are right about the automobile," Hunter said. "The mayor went by our way as I left to follow Mr. Wardrop. The sounds you heard were his shots."

"It is a strange thing," the chief reflected, "that a revolver could be fired in the upper room of an ordinary dwelling house, while that house was filled with people, and nobody heard it. Were there any powder marks on the body?"

"None," Hunter said.

"The chief got up stiffly.

"Thank you very much, gentlemen, Hunter, I would like to see you for a few minutes."

I think Wardrop was dazed at finding himself free. As we walked to the corner for a car or cab, whichever materialized first, he looked back.

"I thought so," he said bitterly. A man was waiting after us along the street. The police were not asleep; they had closed only one eye.

"The last train had gone. We took a night electric car to Wynnton and walked the three miles to Belwood. Neither of us was talkative, and I imagine we were both thinking of Margery and the news she would have to hear."

It had been raining, and once Wardrop turned around to where we could hear the detective's footsteps along the street. The detective was well behind, but after awhile Wardrop stood still, while I plowed along. They came up together presently, and the three of us trudged on, talking of immaterial things.

At the door Wardrop turned to the detective with a faint smile. "It's raining again," he said. "You'd better come in. You needn't worry about me. I'm not going to run away, and there's a couch in the library."

The detective grinned, and in the light from the hall I recognized the man I had followed to the police station two nights before.

"I guess I will," he said, looking apologetically at his muddy clothes. "This thing is only a matter of form, anyhow."

But he didn't lie down on the couch. He took a chair in the hall near the foot of the stairs, and we left him there with the evening paper and a lamp.

Wardrop looked so wretched that I asked him into my room and mixed him some whiskey and water. When I had given him a glass he began to look a little less hopeless.

"You've been a damned sight better to me than I would have been to you under the circumstances," he said gratefully.

"I thought we would better arrange about Miss Margery before we try to settle down," I replied. "Will you tell her about her father?"

"I believe it would come better from you," he said finally. "I am in the peculiar position of having been suspected by her father of robbing him, by you of carrying away her aunt and now by the police and everybody else of murdering her father."

"I do not suspect you of anything," I pointedly asserted. "I don't think you are entirely open, that is all, Wardrop. I think you are damaging yourself to shield some one else."

His expressive face was on its guard in a moment. He ceased his restless picking, pausing unexpressed before me.

"I give you my word as a gentleman I do not know who killed Mr. Fleming and that when I first saw him dead my only thought was that he had killed himself. He had threatened to that day. Why, if you think I killed him you would have to think I robbed him, too, in order to find a motive."

"I did not tell him that that was precisely what Hunter did think. I eradicated the issue."

"Mr. Wardrop, did you ever hear of the figure eleven twenty-two? You never heard Mr. Fleming one them?" He looked puzzled.

"Probably," he said. "In the very nature of Mr. Fleming's position, I used figure all the time. Eleven twenty-two. That's the time the theater train leaves the city for Belwood. Not what you want, eh?"

"Not quite," I answered noncommittally and began to wind my watch. He took the hint and prepared to leave. He opened the door and stared ruefully down at the detective in the hall below. The old place is queer with only Miss Jane," he said indignantly.

"Well, good night, and thanks."

"He went heavily along the hall, and I closed my door. I heard him pass Margery's room and then go back and stop lightly."

"It's Harry," he called. "I thought you wouldn't worry if you knew I was in the house tonight."

She asked him something, for—

"Yes, he said. He stood there for a moment, hesitating over something, but whatever it was, he decided against it.

"Good night, dear," he said gently and went away.

The little familiarity made me wince. Every unattached man has the same pang now and then. I have it sometimes when Edith sits on the arm of my chair, or one of the youngsters will come in to run to "daddy." And one of the sanest men I ever met went to his office and proposed to his stenographer in sheer craving for domesticity, after watching the wife of one of his friends run her hand over her husband's cheek and give him a reproving slap for not having shaved.

I was ready for bed when Wardrop rapped at my door. He was still dressed and had the leather bag.

"Look here," he said excitedly when I had closed the door, "this is not my bag at all. I never examined it carefully."

He held it out to me, and I carried it to the light. It was an ordinary eighteen inch Russia leather travelling bag, tan in color and with gold plated mountings. It was empty save for the railroad schedule that still rested in one side pocket.

"Do you see?" he asked excitedly. "Whoever stole my bag had this one to substitute for it. If we can succeed in tracing the bag here to the shop it came from and from there to the purchaser we have the thief."

"There's no maker's name in it," I said after a casual examination. Ward-droop's face fell, and he took the bag from me dependently.

"If you don't mind I'll leave it here," he said. "They'll be searching my room, I suppose, and I'd like to have the bag for future reference."

I have no idea how much later it was that I tossed. I awakened suddenly and sat up in bed. There had been a crash of some kind, for the shock was still vivid, and my nerves. I got up and, lighting the candle, got into my raincoat in lieu of a dressing gown and prepared to investigate.

My door, which I had left open, I found closed. Nothing else was disturbed. The leather bag sat just inside as Wardrop had left it. Through Miss Matilda's transom was coming certain strangled and irregular sounds, now falsetto, now deep bass, that showed that worthy lady to be asleep. A glance down the staircase revealed Davidson.

"You didn't happen to be up there a little while ago, did you?" I questioned.

"Yes, I've been kept busy trying to sit tight where I am. Why?"

"Some one came into my room and awakened me," I explained.

"That's funny," he said. "Anything in the room disturbed?"

"Nothing, but some one had been in the room," I reiterated. "The door was closed, although I had left it open."

"I've got only one business here, Mr. Knox," he said in an undertone, "and you know what that is. But if it will relieve your mind I'll tell you that it was Mr. Wardrop and that to the best of my belief he was in your room, not once, but twice, in the last hour and a half."

"What could he have wanted?" I exclaimed. But with the revelation Davidson's interest ceased.

"Search me," he said and yawned. I went back to bed. I deliberately left the door wide open, but no further sleep occurred. Once I got up and glanced down the stairs. For all his apparent drowsiness Davidson kept his eyes on me.

"Have you got any gum?" he said. "I'm sneezing my head off."

But I had none. I gave him a box of cigarettes. He took them and, to my surprise, he began to smoke. He took the hint and prepared to leave. He opened the door and stared ruefully down at the detective in the hall below. The old place is queer with only Miss Jane," he said indignantly.

Had Headache For Two Years

A Barrie Man Tells of Persistent Headaches and Indigestion—Finally Found His Way to Good Health.

For two long years the writer of this letter was subject to severe headaches. The nervous system got run down, digestion failed, and there was continued loss of weight.

The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food changed all this, and now with scores of other Barrie people Mr. Nader is recommending the use of this food to the exhausted nervous system and curing headaches, indigestion and all the annoying symptoms of a run-down condition.

Mr. John Nader, 35 Pennington street, Barrie, Ont., writes: "During the last two years I had an attack of indigestion, accompanied by severe headaches. I suffered from loss of appetite and my system became run down."

"I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as they helped me I continued this in small amounts for some time. My condition is now greatly improved, my headaches are gone and my health is general in much better. I can cheerfully recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to those suffering from nervousness of any kind."

The reason Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so effective in cases of this kind because of its extraordinary blood-purifying influence. By creating an abundance of rich, red blood, it strengthens the action of the heart, revitalizes the exhausted nerves and builds up the system in every way.

The appetite is restored, digestion improves, you rest and sleep well, and the new vigor and energy is felt in every organ of the human body. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a powerful tonic for men, women and children whose systems have become weak and run down. 50 cents a box. 4 boxes for $2.75, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"Do you know that you have not been to the office two days?" said Edith to me. "And do you know that Haves had hysterics in our front hall last night? You had a case in court yesterday, didn't you?"

"Nothing very much," I said, looking over my shoulder at my wife. "I don't know when I'm going back. I need a vacation."

"The biggest case you ever had, Jack! The biggest retainer you ever had!"

"I've spent that," I protested feebly. "A vacation, and you only back from Pinehurst!"

"The girl was in trouble—in trouble, Edith," I burst out. "Any one would have done the same thing."

"Of course it's your own affair," she said, not looking at me, "and good news knows I'm disinterested about it. You run the house, both stomachs and dispositions, and I could use your room splendidly as a sewing room!"

"Edith! You astonish little Harry!" She dabbed her eyes furiously with her handkerchief and, seated with great dignity to the door. Then she came back and put her hand on my arm.

"Oh, Jack, if we could only have been you and me, she said, and a smile came into her eyes. "Who is the man, dear?"

"A distant relative, Harry Wardrop," I replied with what I think was very nearly my natural tone. "Don't worry, Edith. It's all right. I've known it right along."

"Pooh!" Edith retorted angrily. "So do I know I've got to die and be buried some day. It's being inevitable doesn't make it any more cheerful!" She went out, but she came back in a moment and stuck her head through the door.

"That's the only inevitable thing there is!"

That Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock the body of Allan Fleming was brought home and placed in state in the music room of the house.

Miss Jane had been missing since Thursday night. I called Hunter by telephone, and he had nothing to report.

I had a fearful message from Haves late that afternoon, and a little after 8 I went to the office, found the offering late editions of the evening paper to a couple of clients who were edging toward the door. His expression when he saw me was pure relief. The clients' relief strongly mixed with irritation.

I put the best face on the matter that I could, saw my visitors and, left alone, prepared to explain to Haves what I could hardly explain to myself.

"I've been unavoidably detained, Haves," I said. "Miss Jane Matilda has disappeared from her home."

"So I understood you over the telephone," he had brought my mail and stood by my fireplace.

"Also her brother-in-law is dead," I said. "The papers are full of it."

"There was no one to do anything, Haves. I was obliged to stay," I apologized. "I was occasionally examining my letters, and I was not nothing."

I looked up at him sideways, and he looked down at me. Not a muscle of his face quivered save one eye, which has a peculiar twitching of the lid when he is excited. It gave him a sarcastic appearance of winking. He winked at me then.

"Don't wait, Haves," I said gruffly, and he took his hat and went out. Every line of his back was accusation.

The son of the landlady told me I had let my biggest case go by default that day; the forward tilt of his head that I was probably insane; the very grip with which he seized the door knob, his "Good night" from around the door, that he knew there was a woman at the bottom of it all. As he went, I saw the landlady's face. She was a woman of the bottom of it all. As he

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three cups of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to brighten and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whiteners and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three cups of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Mr. R. Hendry and the Misses Campbells, of Owen Sound, were the guests of Mr. G. Hendry Sunday.

Raspberries are very scarce this season.

Mrs. K. Wilson and family, of Shallow Lake, spent a few days with Mrs. J. Mulineux last week.

Mr. C. McPhatter, of Hepworth, was the guest of Mr. W. Hendry on Sunday.

Mrs. W. T. Barnes is spending this week with her sister in Owen Sound.

Miss Beatrice Vary, of Southampton, spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. W. T. Barnes.

W. C. T. U. President's Address

AT A RECENT MEETING IN TEESWATER

Another year has gone, but how unlike the years of the past!

Big events have trodden each other underfoot. World Customs have been overthrown. National ideals have had sudden shock. The War-Strife of nations has not only brought to the surface the best impulses of the unthinking people, but it has brought to light the corruption which was partially hidden, and which was winked at by corrupt officials, and has brought to every citizen responsibilities impossible to shirk.

No big event of this eventful year equals in importance the fact that we women are Citizens at last. It would almost seem that in the shattered upheaval of affairs of State, and perhaps especially in the effort at a better and more fitting reorganization, as at last, have felt the need of woman's judgment. It may be that the national bereavement has drawn us closer. It may be that sympathy for the aching heart of motherhood has touched a tender chord in the Parental heart.

Whatever the reason for the sudden recognition of woman's rights by the Citizenship after the long unfair delay, the responsibility comes to us multiplied an hundred fold by the horrors of war.

Just here let me say that those same horrors would have been minimized by half if Canada's Motherhood had had for the last fifty years the right to vote out the Drink Traffic and its attendant evils.

The Star of Hope of all reforms hangs over the school-houses of our country, and who but mothers can see the danger signal of an impure element in the schools during the impressionable character forming period of the 'teen age, and under woman's influence, backed up by the ballot box, the men of military age today would have been so much better equipped for service.

Besides this, hundreds and thousands of those now unfit for service would have been available. A system of Public Health Nursing in the schools would have made this possible and it would not have been necessary in the present emergency to strip the farms and endanger production.

Now amid the turmoil and chaos of war, we have to begin on the kind of legislation we should have fifty or one hundred years ago, or we shudder to think of what the next generation will be.

A great majority of men unfit for military service are not surely unfit for parenthood. This class, as well as the mentally deficient—at least under normal—are to be the fathers of the coming men and women. Is it fair to the country's best interests? Is it not rather a foul blot on the Legislation of the past?

How much of right we women have to fight for now that we have the ballot for our effective weapon, and how much of wrong to fight against. Let us then stand shoulder to shoulder against wrong and oppression no matter where we find it, determined to make our country a safe place for the little tottling feet for whom God will hold us responsible, determined every one of us to help make this Canada of ours—as Mrs. McClung so aptly puts it—"The Land of the square deal."

There is a feeling abroad that the work of the W. C. T. U. is practically done, because of the measure of Prohibition Act Franchise we have secured. This idea has even crept in among the W. C. T. U. sisterhood, but only "in spots" and for a short time. Deep down in our hearts we all know better. There are many splendid women organizations, but not one of them can take the place of the W. C. T. U., because we are the organized Christian Motherhood of Canada. We meet on common ground, representative of the various churches, with a common bond of sympathy. By prayer and faith we have learned to look "beyond the sky line" of the dull gray and sorrow-stricken to-day and to tomorrow with our hearts full of purposeful endeavor toward the betterment of conditions.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost only after a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ation to pronounce ourselves independent in position. We must never swerve from this position. It is the only way to accomplish the much needed reforms. If the Legislature of our country is wrong, it is now our business to make it right, which we can never do if we become identified with political parties.

Notwithstanding the fact that our members have been working earnestly in Patriotic and Red Cross Societies, we have found an open door of our own through which to minister to the needs of the soldier. Our own Patriotic branch which through the past year has supported the Y. M. C. A. workers on the firing line and handed out hot nourishing drinks at the edge of "No Man's Land" has had first place in the activities of the local unions, with the result that never before has so much money been raised in the county by the W. C. T. U. for any purpose. You have all read about Lions Head in Tidings. Those brave little women in the most northern union of the country gave an object lesson to many a large town. We have regretted that there were not more unions in the county. There is plenty of room and plenty of material for more and so much need of our department work.

In conclusion, dear women, I thank you for the loving loyalty you have extended to me during the six years of my presidency. I felt that we were working shoulder to shoulder and that we all bore the discouragements together and shared the joy of our successes.

I shall always look back to those years with loving memories, and forward to our reunion in the "home of many mansions, the house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens."

USE A HYDRAULIC RAM

Now Recognized As the Cheapest Power for Pumping.

When and How It is Used—Complete Information Given—To Homeowner—Own a Menace to Health—Stop The Danger First Is Made—Why It Pays Farmer to Test Cattle and to Discard Reactors.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

WHERE conditions are suitable for a hydraulic ram it is without question the cheapest and most satisfactory method of pumping water. It has one drawback—it wastes far more water than it pumps to the buildings, and hence can only be installed where the supply is from five to twenty times as great as required at the buildings. The efficiency of the ram is from 65 to 90 per cent., i.e., it uses 35 to 80 per cent. of the energy of the falling water. Suppose the spring supplies 10 gallons per minute and the fall from the spring to the ram is five feet. Multiply these together and then take 65 per cent. of the product, and we have the energy available for driving water to the buildings.

Energy in this case 55-100 x 10 x 5 foot-gallons—22.5 foot-gallons. Now divide this by the height of the buildings above the ram and we have the number of gallons the ram will deliver per minute at the buildings. If, for example, the height is 32.5 feet then

Number of gallons per minute—22.5 divided by 32.5—1 gallon, which is 1-10 of the water supplied by the supposed spring.

Number of gallons per day—60 x 24—1,440 gallons (about 25 barrels). Consequently with five feet of head and 22.5 feet of lift the ram will deliver at the buildings 2-10 of the water in the spring. The quantity that will be delivered with other heads, lifts and spring-floes may be calculated in a similar way.

Generally speaking it is found that for each 10 feet of lift there should be one foot of head, but there is a limit—it is seldom advisable to install rams where the head is less than six feet, although they will work with as little as 18 inches. The length of drive pipe should not be less than three-quarters of the total lift to the buildings, nor less than five times the fall from the spring to the ram. It may however, be longer, but some extra friction loss is prevented the water from striking as heavily or as frequently as with a drive pipe just the length.

The cost of installing a ram is not great. For the smallest size of ram 125 to $35 and about $15 extra for each hundred feet between the spring and the ram. For the largest size of standard ram can be installed at about $100 if the ram and pump are to be used.

125 to $200 per foot. R. R. Graham, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Tuberculosis in Cattle

One reason why farmers should have their cattle tested for tuberculosis is the financial loss which is incurred by having tubercular animals in their herds. As the disease is at first slow in development, the farmer does not realize the loss that he endures by sudden death, like anthrax, black leg or hog cholera, the farmer does not realize the loss that he endures by the disease in his herd until one or more animals develop the disease in an advanced degree and die or are slaughtered when they are supposed to be rotten with the disease. Such animals will have had the disease a long time without it being suspected and will have been giving off in their milk, saliva and droppings, large numbers of tubercular bacilli the way the bacilli are spread around the food, water and atmosphere in the stable get contaminated with such an animal before it becomes a dangerous spreader of the disease.

The tuberculin test will indicate whether or not an animal is tubercular long before any clinical symptoms are visible, thus enabling one to deal with such an animal before it becomes a dangerous spreader of the disease.

1st. That when an animal is shown to be tubercular it should not be allowed to mix with the rest of the herd. When cattle are purchased to add to the herd it is better to have them tested for tuberculosis first, as cattle may have every visible indication of good health and yet be tubercular.

2nd. That they slaughter the animal before the disease in his herd is advanced degree.

3rd. That they separate the cattle that test to be tubercular from those which do not react.

4th. That they remove the calves from tubercular mothers as soon as possible and feed them on milk from healthy cows or on their mother's milk after it has been properly pasteurized. Let after it has been heated to 145 deg. F. for half an hour.

5th. That they apply the tuberculin test to every new purchase of cattle that are to be placed in the clean herd.

6th. That the herd be tested with tuberculin annually.

Obtaining Tuberculin For the Test. The manufacture and supply of tuberculin is kept under the Dominion Government control. It is required that a veterinarian be employed by the farmer to make the test.

Markdale Visited By An Aeroplane

(Markdale Standard)

On the afternoon of Thursday, the 18th, Markdale was thrown into a rather exciting, but more or less pleasant agitation by the landing of an aeroplane under command of Lieut. Spracklin and Cadet Coleby, of Camp Borden. When the general public of the village and community became aware, by the circling of the plane, that a landing would be made, the excitement became intense and young and old hastened to King Edward Park where by a splendid manoeuvring dive the air bird landed. Every one was there out of pure curiosity, and a minute examination was made and curious wonders expressed, and not a few ambitions to fly voiced. We don't think such animation has previously been witnessed as was evidenced by this strange visitor. The lieutenant and his cadet were most courteous, not to say eager, to answer questions and give every explanation regarding the bird, its construction, capability, swiftness and some experiences.

They made the trip in 45 minutes, being 50 miles. The weight of the plane, including the two men, is about a ton. Lieut. Spracklin is a nephew of Mrs. W. A. Armstrong, and with his cadet were entertained at Squire Armstrong's, a number of friends being also invited to meet them.

Both birdmen were students of theology, the lieutenant having practically completed his studies prior to taking up his work, and is now an instructor, while the cadet intends taking up higher studies later. Both purpose entering the ministry in the Methodist church, and are most promising young men.

The start from Camp Borden was made at 6 p. m. in a masterly and graceful manner, which was witnessed by a large number. We are glad to have had the pleasure of seeing the plane at such close range; still more at seeing its landing and descending. Its visit has added to our knowledge and will in the future enable us to take a more intelligent interest in men who do and dare in the air.

May Save Seed Wheat

Since Reformer

Messrs. Quance Bros. of Delhi wrote the Food Board of Ottawa to get a ruling upon the yarn in circulation to the effect that it was illegal to save wheat for seed. The answer they received was as follows—"Replying to your letter of June 18th, there is no regulation either of Grain Supervisors to prevent or discourage anyone from retaining necessary adequate supplies of seed wheat. Special regulations of the Board of Grain Supervisors issued from their office, Grain Exchange, Winnipeg, Man., stipulates that anyone may sell wheat for any price which the purchaser is willing to pay for it for seed purposes."

Oliphant Holds Its Far Famed Regatta

Oliphant has now a large population; larger than it has had for several summers. Every cottage is full and some are more than full.

Mr. and Mrs. Watt and family, of Palmerston, arrived last week. Mr. Barnes and family, of Kentucky, U. S. are living in the stone cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Glanville, of Lucknow, Mr. McKenzie, of Lackatash and others motored up on Saturday to Strathmore camp and took in the Regatta on Monday.

Two gentlemen from Toronto got lost on their way here and found themselves at Owen Sound on Saturday evening. Not being used to travelling they made a mistake at Park Head and the auto sent to meet them at Warthon returned unoccupied. The disappointed wife was distracted but by Sunday noon Mr. West had joined his family here accompanied by Mr. Mills. Mrs. West returned with her husband to the city yesterday and the journey would be safely accomplished.

A goodly number gathered here from the town and country to take in the regatta and better weather and weather could not have been desired. The different contests came off with vim and spirit and were real tests of skill. A gentleman remarked that the lady swimmers are going to beat the boys, they are becoming so agile in the water. The prize list of winners has not yet been made up but will be forwarded as soon as possible.

The memorial service on Sunday afternoon was largely attended. The campers church was packed and many remained outside. The ladies had decorated the walls very tastefully with many flags and it presented a charming appearance. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hardie but Mr. Mickle gave the address and it was a masterpiece of eloquence. He chose as his theme "Let us keep in remembrance all the way that the Lord has led us" and he aptly showed how the Lord dealt with his people in the past and present and he paid a fitting tribute to those men who have died for us Somewhere in Flanders, Somewhere in Italy in France and the Dardanelles. The names of those who made the supreme sacrifice were given, as also those who are in service who either have lived or have holiday here. Several well rendered musical selections were given by the choir and soloists also. The service was grandly solemn and impressive.

The concert got up by the Bechtel camp a usual was well patronized on Monday evening. Mr. De. Nichol, of Bradford, Miss Chambers, Mrs. Bonn, Miss Dorothy Engle, Miss Clark and Messrs. Warren and Dodge delighted the audience with their rare musical ability and Miss Ruth Bechtel and Mrs. Cole and Miss Cole gave splendid readings. Mr. Hardie was chairman and filled the position superbly with wit and humor. A water color sketch presented by Miss Bechtel was auctioned off at the close of the program in American style, by Mr. Dodge, which means that every bidder paid his bid. This is a most unique and stunning way of collecting cash. The picture was knocked down several times and re-sold bringing the splendid sum of $44. The proceeds at the door brought the sum to $88 for the imprisoned soldiers of the allies.

The flags and buttons sold by the young ladies during the day brought the goodly sum of $40 for the Oliphant Soldier Boys overseas.

A family re-union is being held at the Bechtel camp when the whole family are united. Sergeant Bechtel from overseas, is here with his bride from England and last evening he told in a very modest manner some of his thrilling experiences at the battle of the Somme where his company of over 700 men after three days of awful fighting, were relieved and only a few over one hundred left.

Mrs. T. Menzies and son Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Somers leave for Toronto on Wednesday. The former will return shortly to British Columbia.

The campers are having good fishing generally and Mr. Stillwell seems to be ever lucky.

Mr. and Mrs. McCreedy have both of their parties with them just now. They came from London.

Dr. Middlebro is enjoying a well earned rest at his cottage on the point. The largest amount collected on the shore at the Regatta was obtained by a number of Dude's camp for the Oliphant boys overseas.

Retires With Honor

Mr. George Grege, who has been in the service of the Grand Trunk Railway for 50 years, and for the past 24 years has been the Engineer on the Warthon and Park Head branch, has retired from the service. Fifty years ago he began to work for the Company on construction work at Guelph, and after seven years in this employment he undertook the work of a fireman. For 33 years he has had charge of an engine, and for the last 21 years on the local branch. And during all this time the G. T. R. has never lost any money while his hand has been at the throttle. It is a most unique experience, and now when he has reached the time of life, when he wishes to retire he is privileged to do so. He was a most upright, strict and conscientious official and nothing is too good for him from the Grand Trunk. He was twice offered promotion by them and declined. He is a first class citizen and everyone hopes that he may long live to enjoy the comforts of a retired life.

STOKE'S BAY

Rupert McLennan is helping L. Myles to take his summer holiday here. John Stuart, of Warthon, made his usual trip to our village with a load of flour and feed.

Nathan Doran took a business spin to Lions Head on Tuesday.

John Holmes, of Miller Lake, passed through here one day last week on his way to Spry.

Mr. Pearson, of Ferndale, made a business trip to our burg last Monday.

We are sorry to hear that George Myles is again ill. He fractured his elbow a few weeks ago and it caused a relapse.

Harry Wardrop, our genial blacksmith, has taken over the old hotel foundation. He intends erecting a shingle mill. A good addition to our village.

Mr. Dan Brown, of Ferndale, and Mr. John Graham, of Barrow Bay, gave our village a call on Sunday afternoon.

Captain Belmore, of Pike Bay, had the misfortune to beach his tug at Little Pike Harbor last Tuesday. He was obliged to call help from Southampton.

Mac Melver attended Council meeting at Lions Head on Saturday.

John McLennan has purchased a new car. He intends running a passenger route to Warthon.

Capt. MacKay, of Sarnia, who is clearing away the coal steamer wreck on Little Island for the Reed Wrecking Co. Sarnia, was called to the Cove Island to help a stranded tug with a reef.

Carl Biddle did business in our town on Friday.

Harry and Will Harding have purchased lots 36 and 37 owned by John Shute who is at present living in Saskatchewan.

Rev. and Mrs. Almace, of Hephworth, and Mrs. George Golden, of Tobermory, spent the week end visiting friends in our neighborhood.

Capt. Simmie Honored

"Bob" Simmie made many friends in the Western States and he did most excellent work for the Allies. He secured 1125 recruits, 25 of whom are officers. At the close of his work there he was given the following letter, and a gold watch and chain and locket. Bob wants now to return to France. Here is the letter.

Kansas City, Mo., March 22, 1918
Officers Commanding British Canadian Recruiting Mission, Western Division,
337 Marquette Bldg., Chicago.

Dear Sir:

Modern methods in recruiting used by the British and Canadian Forces in the vicinity of Kansas City, under the supervision of Capt. R. W. Simmie, are given high praise by the Joint British Societies here, and are warmly received by many fraternities and gatherings of Kansas City people.

If this letter may be of service in adding recruiting of British subjects in other cities of the United States, we take pleasure in briefly outlining how Captain Simmie works amongst us.

His methods are in striking contrast to those of an ordinary British Recruiting Officer.

He realizes that in recruiting business men the officer must adapt himself to the business man's vision. Military ways are foreign to the average man, therefore, he becomes antagonistic to forceful tactics just as a buyer would be if a salesman came to his office with a line of goods, forcefully telling him that he must buy them. Before he had presented the right argument or created a demand for those goods. Hence, we see that salesmanship is a big factor in the recruiting of business men.

Therefore, the officer must present his argument with the ability of a salesman to win over the proposed recruit.

Capt. Simmie has won us through these methods. Delivered lectures to us in a body, associated with us in our homes where little gatherings of British subjects would meet; finally settling us individually for our services in the Great Cause.

He has given many lectures and little talks on the advantages of life in the trenches that have been appreciated by Kansas City people, and as he is soon to leave this city the undesignated join in thanking the British Recruiting Mission for his services and interest shown in responding to request for the Great Cause of Democracy.

Cholera Infantum

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LION'S HEAD

Mrs. C. S. Carter and family, of Lakefield, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tackaberry.

Mrs. Norval Scammel and daughter of Meaford are visiting friends here.

Messrs W. B. Moore and H. Stewart are improving slowly from the auto accident last week.

A heavy rain and electric storm passed over this part Monday night.

Beats St. Anne de Beaupre

Is there anything in this claim? We pass it on the School of Medicine, or the societies for scientific research. It is most astonishing to an ordinary newspaper man, and yet we live in a most wonderful age, and certainly do not know it all. It has been reported to this office that a gentleman, a faith doctor, from an outside Ontario town, who claims to be the 7th son of a 7th son is operating at a local point not 100 miles away from Warthon. Although a man of faith, and although the sick man must have faith, still there is a causation charge. Any way faith without works is dead. This faith doctor, so we are informed, places his hand upon the sore spot of the patient, and this disease passes to him, but being the 7th son of the 7th son his constitution can readily throw it off. Of course the sick man must believe he is getting better, and it is here where the power of mind upon matter is exhibited, and where the faith doctor has got the pills of ordinary practitioners beaten a mile. This gentleman is getting something to do, sure thing. Barnum said something to prove this.

Letter From Pte. Frank Lavalley

France, July 9 1918
Mrs. James Preston,
Warthon

Dear Madam—Without any doubt it will be a source of pleasure for you to learn that the beautiful parrot you sent me on April 22nd has just arrived at its destination, with signs of hard usage, I regret to say, but with the contents in good order, and just as good and tasty as the day they were packed in the box. Accept my sincere thanks and very kind appreciation for the same. My knowledge of grammar and penmanship deprive me of the ability of fully expressing my feeling of esteem and gratitude I owe to you, for so kindly an act to a lonely soldier, as you went to a lot of trouble and expense I'm sure to make up that box. You are one of the kindly number that has contributed to the welfare of the boys of the Canada, thus buoying up their good spirits by tokens of kindness such as you have rendered me.

Allow me to say that there is nothing equal to the arrival of a parcel or a letter from home to cheer up the boys out here. I am speaking from experience, of course. There is a time when I don't receive mail for four or five weeks. Well you can guess what I feel like. I roam around like a fellow that has lost a sweetheart, depressed, melancholy and feeling ugly with everything and everybody, but when mail does come—Ah!—different boy. So now you can imagine what mail from home means to us fellows out here.

The weather has been really lovely the last while and the crops are doing fine. Our rest camp is situated on a pretty high elevation, and anyone having a fancy for scenery would just have the time of his life observing the lay of the country round about. I am not a judge of nature or picturesque scenery, but I have often admired the beauty of the country, especially at this time of the year, with the green fields of grain, the clusters of villages with their red tiled roofs, clumps of trees, church spires, roads and streams winding in and out as a picture worth fancying on a bright sunny day. I often lay on a slope of a hill in the evening taking in the charm of the country below me, and thoughts of home, away back in Canada, spring up in my mind, and a feeling of melancholy would almost bring a mist to my eyes, when all of a sudden, I'd be awakened from my reverie by the booming of the cannons.

Such is the life out here and often worse, but we all figure on winning the war and hope for a speedy end to this terrible strife.

Lost I forget, how is the Captain getting along? Tell him I would sooner be turning the helm for him on any boat on the Great Lakes than battling the Hun out here.

Thanking you again for your kindness to me, I shall close with my best wishes for good luck and my kindest regards to you.

Yours sincerely,
FRANK LAVALLEY

Boat Lake Will Be Drained This Fall

The long talked scheme to drain Boat Lake will soon come to a head. On last Saturday a deputation of those interested waited upon the Amabel township, and requested permission. This was granted and this is practically all that the Council has to do in the matter, as the parties interested are responsible for the expense. As the expense will be considerable an application for assistance has been made to the Provincial government and a "substantial" grant has been promised. How much this will be is a matter of conjecture but it is supposed that it will be about 65 per cent. In order to make a complete job the engineers report called for an expenditure of say $14,000. This would be sufficient to drain far beyond the Pat and Ella bridge, in fact it would drain 16 miles from the Pike River bridge.

The cost of labor, and everything connected with work of this kind is high now, and so it has been decided to go ahead with only part of the scheme at present. The Rankin river will be dredged and this will bring the water down to normal. The meaning of the word "normal" may be interpreted differently by the farmers and the Saulte Falls Light & Power Co. However, the company maintain that this drainage scheme will in no wise affect them, that they will install a steam auxiliary. There is a very considerable body of water in Boat Lake, Burford Lakes and other lakes that might be drawn upon for power purposes if a dam can be built at the Saulte and storage rights secured. One thing looks sure that the water will not be allowed storage in Boat Lake.

Mrs. Peter Anderson is visiting her son Hugh Anderson.

HOWDEN VALE

A fishing party composed of Mr. Reid and son Robert, of London, Mr. Tweed, Waterloo, were the guests of Mr. Chisholm last week. Some very successful catches were made, some bass measured over twelve inches.

Mrs. Humphrey, of West Branch, Mich., is visiting her niece Mrs. Glazier at 'Nawash Cabin'.

Mrs. Simpson's nieces, Audrey and Doreen Trout, of Owen Sound, spent their holidays at 'Waterside Cottage' returning home Thursday, and Mrs. Smith with her daughter Isabel, arrived Saturday for a week's visit.

Miss Straith, Mr. and Miss McLaughlin, of Owen Sound, and Mrs. Lamb and children and Miss Wheeler, of Toronto, are guests at the Huron House.

Mr. Stewart Fleming and Mr. Stephens, of Owen Sound, spent Monday fishing.

Dr. Staples is still enjoying a well earned rest at his camp, but Judge Crumrine accompanied by Judge and Mrs. Stephens have left for Cleveland after a three weeks stay.

Mrs. Thornly, of London, advisory President of Ontario W. C. T. U., is spending her vacation with Mrs. Ashcroft.

Bathing is the order of the day this hot weather and the children from the different camps are enjoying it immensely.

Little Helen Fox is staying with her aunt while her mother and Master Eric are at Boyne City on a boat trip. Large quantities of raspberries are being gathered and preserved for winter use. Five of the campers picked eighteen pounds in a couple of hours on Monday.

TOBERMORY

The Tobermory branch of the Women's Institute met at the Harbor Methodist Church the third Thursday in July. They decided to use the proceeds of the Autograph Quilt for Red Cross supplies. They also decided to quilt a Belgian Quilt and sell tickets for the same. Donated to Institute for Belgian sewing, 22 yards of goods by Mr. J. Macgarity. Donated $12.81 for Institute work. Proceeds of Bean contest and Social evening held at Mrs. G. W. Golden's.

All Is Not Gold That Glitters

It is reported that a wrecking crew have bought, or about to buy the steel in the building of the Crown Portland Cement Co. This then will be the last chapter in a drama, which for a waste of money will about parallel some of the big things on the Western front. These cement works were the sink hole for a lot of hard earned savings. The idea was conceived and the plant constructed in the days when everyone thought there was a gold mine in cement. It was erected, amble belched but the stacks, but the dividends never materialized. And the management had more trouble with their crew than Christopher Columbus had with his sailors when they mutinied and wanted to turn back. The fatal error was made when the old directors were pitchedforked from office and a bunch of non-experts put on the job. The end soon came. And after the close up of the works the Trust Company, into whose hands it fell, has been devising ways and means to meet the current expenses. There seemed to be no way in sight, but a junk proposition. The machinery, the power plant, one of the best in Ontario were sold, and it is reported that the buyers cleaned up some good money—and now comes the report that the steel in the buildings has been sold, and if this is taken out the walls will give soon fall, and the whole scene will give the appearance of a war picture. This plant cost say $1,000,000 and it is doubtful that as a junk proposition it has netted the Trust Company $1,000. The moral of the whole story is one that would remind us that every man who has money should manage the investment himself, and only one out of a hundred get rich quick schemes pan out any good.

Editorial

Pained—that is how the Canadian people feel when they read accounts of returned soldiers wrecking restaurants, etc. What pride they had in the boys. They knit socks, they gave all their thought and sympathy went out to them. They have determined that in the final revision of the claims for pensions each wounded soldier shall have his just dues. They know what the boys have done for us—and they are pained. However let us not forget that the whole nervous system of the soldier has been wrecked and that we must be sympathetic and charitable in what he does.

What We All Knew

In justifying their demands for an increase in freight rates the Canadian Railway War Board have submitted some very interesting figures. Boots and shoes have risen since the war began 100 per cent, beef 35 per cent, clothing 50 per cent, coal 100 per cent, condensed 100 per cent, flour 50 per cent, gasoline 100 per cent, hardwood 100 per cent, pork 75 per cent, sugar 80 per cent, tobacco 50 per cent and the Canadian Railway War Board is prepared to submit figures of cost of production to show that these increases have not been warranted. In other words they are out of all proportion to the cost of production. It is evident enough that the Canadian people have not been protected. Whose duty has it been to protect them? There is only one answer. Hides have been down, but boots and shoes always up, and on it goes. When the war is over there will be many articles on graft but these will not help a suffering people.

COLPOYS BAY

Mrs. H. Lemcke sr., is visiting her daughter near Chesley.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cavanagh and Miss Irene returned to Owen Sound last week after a pleasant four weeks visit at the Parsonage.

Mr. Alex Caudle is training for overseas service in London.

Berry-pickers are almost as plentiful as berries these days.

Miss A. M. Brown Sundayed in Wiarton.

Mrs. F. Christopher and Miss Margaret of Chesley, spent several days with relatives here.

Mrs. Hutchinson and Miss Elsie, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burford Rydall.

Miss Mayne Pruder is spending a few days at her home here.

Mrs. John Smith, of Owen Sound, is visiting Mrs. Joseph Farrow.

Quite a few of the young people from here attended the Regatta at Oliphant, Monday.

Who were the people who broke into John Crawford's cellar Sunday evening, and took quite a lot of eatables?

It will pay every one to keep their cellar locked after this.

The Quarterly Sacrament will be administered at the close of the service next Sabbath evening by the pastor Rv. W. A. Matthews.

Mrs. Harry Boyle is in Owen Sound.
Miss Susie Crawford has gone to Owen Sound to take treatment for two months, her health is not the best, so we hope the change will prove beneficial to her.

close of the S. S. last Sunday morning was the following: Reading, Miss Irene Gilbert, Reading, Miss Hilda Whitcher; Music, "Father make us loving" Misses Mary and Jennie Whit-cher and Ethel Petter; Reading, Mrs.
S. W. Leslie.

Mr. Leslie Petter, of St. Catharines, came on a surprise visit last Saturday to stay a few days with his mother, Mrs. Edith Petter. Mr. Petter has not been very well so thought Col-poys' pure ozone would benefit him, and we hope it does.

Mr. Henry Lemcke and the gasoline launch "Stella" and a scow with iron from White Cloud Island were at Owen Sound on Friday, returning Saturday.

At the quarterly S. S. meeting on welcome.

Americans Like Britain's King

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS WHO HAVE SEEN HIM VOTE HIM A "REGULAR FELLER."

IS A TRUE DEMOCRAT

HIS THOUGHTS ARE WITH THE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS AND WAR WORKERS.

Since King George has taken to buckwheats and baseball the American soldiers are quite ready to vote him a "regular feller." In the glory of the Great War King George has been revealed as a truly democratic monarch, very human, very sympathetic, close to the people. In camps and hospitals in France, as well as in England, he is to be seen frequently with a kindly word of cheer for all. Says a writer in the New York Times:

"We Kings must stick together," said Charles of Austria, in a cynical pal in the same boat the other day.
George of England has another version: "We democrats must stick together," and he means what he says.
His days are spent doing his bit like one of his subjects, which should really read fellow citizens.

If Thackeray, were alive his pen would trace with that simplicity which was the highest art the story of the Fifth George eating buckwheat-cakes with his Queen in the American canteen in his capital. How brief and laconic the notice of their coming:
"The King and Queen desire to call at the Eagle Hut, and will be there in a few minutes." Unannounced they drive up.

They climb the steps into a hall where the soldiers and sailors, British, Canadian, American, are playing games, writing letters, singing camp songs, eating with the sauce of hunger feeling at home in a sympathetic atmosphere—a free and easy place of many sounds and laughter, of liberty and equality. George and Mary are ordinary visitors, come to disturb no one, to mingle with all, to be friendly.
No distinction for them; and, above all, no ceremony. They want to eat an American dish and sit down with the boys at one of the big tables, covered with oilcloth. "Buckwheat cakes is the best thing we have," says the host, a little flustered by the visit.
And buckwheat cakes it was with New England maple syrup. George and Mary clean their plates with gusto vite the unfamiliar griddle cake delicious, and then go the rounds of the lunches and dormitories, departing like people who have had a good time.

Kindly and genial
The King loves a "home" as much as any one, likes to talk to Tommy Atkins, and has a great desire to be hospitable to the fighting men from overseas. Heart and soul he is in the war all day long.

He is in such close contact with the people that he has completely destroyed the old belief that a King lives in an atmosphere of mystery and secrecy. Says Dan Martin, writing to the New York Herald from London:

"I have seen him at various functions and have had an opportunity to speak to him. It might displease some monarchs, but it is certain to please him to be told that he is far more like the average American
"good fellow" than like the austere figure which the average individual sets up in fancy as the ruler of a great nation. He has visited scores of hospitals, factories, schools, homes for the aged, industrial homes, and labor forums. He goes about like the ordinary citizen, and the feeling of friendship for him is so deep that it is not even thought desirable to keep a close guard over him.

Recently he visited a nursery in Pentonville and talked to a score or more of children. One little one he found asleep with her head on the table. He caressed her hair gently and remarked:

"Poor little mite. She seems very tired and we must not disturb her."

Later he expressed much interest in a thirteen-year-old boy named Ernest Witham, who had received a medal for jumping into a stream and saving another boy.

"Can't you tell me all about it?"
asked the King.

The boy blushed and looked for an easy avenue of escape, but the King lifted him to his lap and listened while the little chap told briefly of his heroic deed.

"You are a very brave boy indeed, and have made an excellent beginning."

The moving picture show received a great patronage last Friday and Saturday night. The building has been improved to some extent and if the crowd continues it will be made more comfortable for the occupants.
The price is not much and an hour and a half's fun may be derived for the sum of 11 cents. The new manager, understands his job and the outlook is a good show.

When He Leaves to Shoulder a Gun

You must be ready to step in and fill his job. The war requires the maintenance of efficient manufacturing and mercantile organizations at home and it is your patriotic duty to do your bit.

You Must Be Trained to Be Ready

You must be able to do what he has done. Business men cannot stop to train you—They have not time—You must be trained when you take hold.

We Are Ready to Train YOU

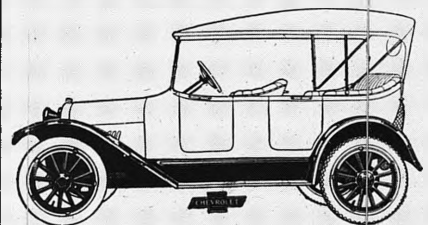

The Northern Business College with a good staff of experienced instructors will teach you what you need to know—what to do and how to do it. The cost will be very moderate. The fees are no higher than they have been for the past ten years.

closed the door behind him I put down my letters and dropped my face in my hands. Hawes was right. I had not heard the door open.

"I forgot to tell you that a gentleman was here half a dozen times to date to see you. He didn't give any name."

From around the door Hawes' nervous eye was twinkling wildly. "You're not sick, Mr. Knox?" "Never felt better."

"I thought I heard—"

"I was sleeping," I lied, looking him straight in the eye.

He backed nervously to the door. "I have a little aberrancy in my office. Mr. Knox—twenty-five years in the wood. If you—"

"For God's sake, Hawes, there's nothing the matter with me!" I exclaimed, and he went. But I heard him stand a perceptible time outside the door before he disappeared.

Almost immediately after some one entered the waiting room, and the next moment I was facing a man I had never seen before. He was tall, with thin, colorless hair trimmed in a Van Dyke point and pale eyes, blinking behind glasses. He had a soft but crabbed in his hand, and his whole manner was one of subdued excitement.

"Mr. Knox?" he asked from the doorway.

"Yes. Come in."

"I have been here six times since noon," he said, dropping rather than sitting in a chair. "My name is Lightfoot. I am—was—Mr. Fleming's cashier."

"Yes?"

"I was terribly shocked at the news of his death," he stammered on getting up to help me. "I was in town, and if I had known to time I could have kept some of the details out of the papers. Poor Fleming—to think he would die that way!"

"End it?"

"Shoot himself." He watched me closely.

"But he didn't," I protested. "It was not suicide, Mr. Lightfoot. According to the police it was murder."

His cold eyes narrowed like a cat's. "Murder is an ugly word, Mr. Knox. Don't let us be sentimental. Mr. Fleming had threatened to kill himself more than once—ask young Warrinton. He was sick and dependent; he left his home without a word, which points strongly to emotional insanity. He could have gone to any one of a half dozen large clubs here or at the capital. Instead, he goes to a little third class, political club, where, presumably, he does his own cooking and hides in a dingy room. Is that sane? Murder!"

It was suicide, and that puppy Wardrop knows it well enough.

"I have seen the police," he went on. "They agree with me that it was suicide, and the party newspapers will straighten it out tomorrow. The Times-Post, which is Democratic, of course I can not handle."

"Suicide," I said slowly. "With no weapon, no powder marks and with a half finished letter at the foot of the bed?"

He brushed my interruption aside. "Mr. Fleming had been—careless," he said. "I can tell you in confidence that some of the state funds had been deposited in the Brough-Bell-Clarkson chester, and the Brough bank closed its doors at 10 o'clock today."

"I arrived here last night and I searched the city for Mr. Fleming. This morning I heard that he had been here. Just come from the house, his daughter referred me to you. After all, what I want is a small matter. Some papers—state documents—are missing and so I want to see Mr. Fleming's private effects. I would like to go through his papers and leave tonight for the capital."

"I have hardly the authority," I replied doubtfully. "Miss Fleming, I suppose, would have no objection. His private secretary, Wardrop, would be the one to superintend such a search."

"Can you find Wardrop—alone?"

"Something in his eagerness put me on my guard."

"I will make an attempt," I said. "Let me have the name of your hotel, and I will telephone you if it can be arranged for tonight."

Oddly enough, I could not locate Wardrop. I got the Mailand house by telephone, to learn that he had left there about 8 o'clock and had not come back.

I went to the Fleming house for dinner. Edith still was there, and we tried to cheer Margery, a small little girl in her black clothes. After the meal I called Lightfoot at his hotel and told him that I could not find Wardrop, that there were no papers at the house, and that the office safe would have to wait until Wardrop was found to open it. He was disappointed and furious. From that minute in the struggle that was coming, like Fred, I was "downed" the government.

It was arranged that Edith should take Margery home with her for the night. I thought it a good thing, for every night of Edith tucking in her babies and sitting down beside the library lamp to embroider me a scribble holder would bring Margery back to normal again. Edith in the evening was as I knew. I recognized it at the dinner table, where she had the little girl across from her planning her home. There was some one in the house.

"My first thought was burglary. My second thought, Luckily I had brought my revolver with me from Fred's that day, and it was under my pillow. To get to the door, to get the light and open the door quietly took only a minute. I was in pajamas, barefoot, as on another almost similar occasion, but I was better armed than before."

"I ran into a heap of folding chairs that had been left by the undertaker. The light was out in an instant, and with concealment at an end, I broke for the door and threw it open, standing with my revolver leveled. We—the man in the room and I—were both in absolute darkness."

"Who is there?" I demanded.

"Only silence, except that I seemed to hear rapid breathing."

"Speak up or I'll shoot!" I said, not without an ugly feeling that he might be—even probably was—taking careful aim by my voice. I reared cautiously to the left and found the man was empty, but a portiere in a doorway at my right was shaking.

I leaped for the curtain and dragged it aside, to have a door just close in my face. When I had jerked it open I found myself in a short hall, and there were footprints to my left. The footprints seemed only beyond my reach, and at the other side of the room the swinging door of the pantry was swaying when I caught it.

I made a mistake in the pantry and brought up against a black wall. It seemed to me I heard the sound of feet running up steps, and when I found a door at last I threw it open and dashed in.

CHAPTER X.

A Night in the Fleming Home.

WHEN Margery came down this morning I found her sitting in a chair, burning in each pale cheek, and she ran down the stairs like a scared child. At the bottom she clutched the newel post and looked behind fearfully.

"What's the matter?" Edith demanded, glancing unusually over her shoulder.

"Some one has been upstairs," Margery panted. "Somebody has been staying in the house while we were away."

At the door of a small room next to what had been Allan Fleming's bedroom we paused. It was filled with four or five knock-knocks and mahogany lounging chairs. Wherever possible a pale brocade had been used, on the empire couch, in panels in the wall, covering cushions on the window seat, it was evidently Margery's private sitting room.

The linen cover that had been thrown over the divan was folded back, and a pillow from the window seat bore the imprint of a head. Margery had been right. Some one had used the room while the house was closed.

"Might it not have been your father?" Edith asked when we stood again at the foot of the stairs.

"I don't think so," Margery said wanly.

I put them in a cab and saw them start away. Then I went back into the house, as I had arranged to sleep there and generally to look after things. Whatever scruples I had had about taking charge of Margery Fleming and her affairs had faded with Wardrop's defection and the new mystery of the blue boudoir.

The lower floor of the house was full of people that night, local and state politicians, newspaper men and the usual crowd of the morbidly curious. Whatever paucity the death scene had lacked, Allan Fleming was lying in state now.

At midnight things grew quiet. I found Bella in the basement kitchen with all the lights burning full, and I stood at the foot of the stairs while she scooted to bed like a scared rabbit. She was a strange creature, Bella—so stupid as she looked, but calm, morose—"smouldering" about expression it.

A guest room in the third story had been assigned to me. The telephone bell rang just after I got into bed. "This is the Times-Post. Is Mr. Wardrop there?"

"No."

"Who is this?"

"This is John Knox."

"The attorney?"

"Yes."

"Mr. Knox, are you willing to put yourself on record as Mr. Fleming committed suicide?"

"I am not going to put myself on record at all."

"Tonight's Star says you call it suicide. You went back to bed, testified that the revolver in his hand."

"The Star lies," I retorted, and the man at the other end chuckled.

"Many thanks," he said and rang off. I went back to bed, fortified that I had betrayed myself. Loss of sleep for two nights, however, had told on me. In a short time I was sound asleep.

I awakened with difficulty. The wind was blowing hard, and a shutter was banging somewhere below. I looked down into the well-those space beneath me. It was one of those apparently chance movements that have vital consequences.

Below me on the wall across was a rectangle of yellow light, reflected from the library window of the Fleming

The next morning the solid earth slipped from under my feet. I threw out my hand and it met a cold wall, smooth as glass. Then I fell—fell on an incurable distance, and the blackness of the night came over me and smothered me.

When I came to I was lying in darkness, and the stillness was absolute. I managed to make out that my prison was probably the dumbwaiter shaft to the basement kitchen. I had landed on top of the slide, and I seemed to be tied in a knot. The revolver was under me, and if it had exploded during the fall it had done no damage.

I had fallen feet first, evidently, and then crumpled up unconscious, for one of my ankles was throbbing. It was some time before I could stand up, and even by reaching I could not touch the doorway above me. It must have taken five minutes for my confused senses to remember the wire cable and to get it. I was a heavy load for the slide, accustomed to nothing weightier than political dinners, but with much creaking I got myself at last to the door above and stepped out, still into darkness, but free.

I held the revolver, and I lighted the whole lower floor. But I found nothing in the dining room or the pantry. Everything was locked and in good order. A small alcove off the library came next; it was undisturbed, but a taboret lay on its side and a half dozen books had been taken from a low bookcase and lay heaped on a chair. In the library, however, everything was confusion. Dark drawers stood open, one of the floor shades had been pulled partly off its roller, a chair had been drawn up to the long mahogany table in the center of the room, with the electric dome overhead, and everywhere, on chairs, over the door, heaped in stacks over the table, was papers.

After searching the lower floor and finding everything securely locked, I went upstairs, convinced the intruder was still in the house. I made a systematic search of every room, looking into closets and under beds. I gave up at last, and going down to the library, made myself as comfortable as I could and waited for morning.

I heard the clock strike the stairs after 7 o'clock: time was slow, slowly, with flagging footsteps as if the slightest sound would send me scurrying to the upper regions again. A little later I heard the rattling of the range in the basement kitchen, and I went upstairs and dreamed.

I was too tired to have a theory about the night visitor. I was impressed with only one thing—that the enemy or enemies of the late Allan Fleming evidently carried their antagonism beyond the grave.

I had my ankle strapped with adhesive tape that morning by my doctor, and it gave me no more trouble. I caught him looking curiously at the blue bruises on my forehead where Wardrop had struck me with the chair and at my nose, no longer swollen, but mustered with the bridge.

Margery and Edith came to the house for about an hour and went back to Fred's again. A cousin of the dead man, an elderly bachelor named Barker, a stout and dignified man with a keenness to take charge of the house during that day. The very bush of his voice and his black hair prompted Edith to remove Margery from him as soon as she came.

It was Sunday, and I went to the office only long enough to look over my mail. In the afternoon I had my first conversation with Fred and Edith, while Margery and the boys sat quietly in the nursery. They had taken on a great fancy to her, and she was almost cheerful when she was with them.

"Well," said Fred, "what was it, Jack? Suicide?"

"I don't know," I replied bluntly.

"The Times-Post says it was murder and they will prove it. But you say you claim the papers have been called off."

I said nothing of Mr. Lightfoot and his visit to the office, but I made a mental note to see the Times-Post people and learn, if I could, what they knew.

"I cannot help thinking that he deserved very nearly what he got," Edith broke in, looking much less vindictive than her brother.

"When one thinks of the ruin he brought about for poor Henry Butler and that Ellen has been practically an invalid ever since, I can't be sorry for him."

"What was the Butler story?" I asked.

"Henry Butler was treasurer of the state, and Mr. Fleming was his cashier," said Edith. "He didn't know just what the trouble was. But you say you claim the papers have been called off."

I said nothing of Mr. Lightfoot and his visit to the office, but I made a mental note to see the Times-Post people and learn, if I could, what they knew.

"I cannot help thinking that he deserved very nearly what he got," Edith broke in, looking much less vindictive than her brother.

"When one thinks of the ruin he brought about for poor Henry Butler and that Ellen has been practically an invalid ever since, I can't be sorry for him."

"What was the Butler story?" I asked.

"Henry Butler was treasurer of the state, and Mr. Fleming was his cashier," said Edith. "He didn't know just what the trouble was. But you say you claim the papers have been called off."

"The Fleming house that night," I said. "Lightfoot," he said anxiously. "He stopped under a street lamp and looked at his watch."

"I believe I'll run over to the capital tonight. While I'm gone—I'll be back tomorrow night or the next morning—I wish you would find Rosie O'Grady or whatever her name is, and locate Carter. That's probably not his name, but it will answer for a while. Then get your friend Hunter to keep him in sight for a while until I come back again. I'm beginning to enjoy this. We are going to make the police department look like a kindergarten playing croquet."

"And go to Bedford and find out a few things," he added. "It's all well enough to say the old lady was a meek and mild person, but if you want to know her peculiarities go to her neighbors."

We separated at the station. Burton off to Flatbush. I to take a taxi and arrived with a page from the classified directory to inquire, as one of the twelve Anderson's drug stores as might be necessary to locate the gentleman friend, "the clerk," through him Della and through Della the mysterious Carter."

I had checked off eight of the Andersons on my list without result, and the taximeter showed something over $10 when the driver drew up at the curb.

"Gentleman in the other cab is hailing you, sir—the one that owns no tailoring yet."

A duplicate of my cab stood perhaps fifty feet behind, and from it a familiar figure was slowly emerging. The figure stopped to read the taximeter, shook his list at the clock and approached me. It was Davidson.

"That car and thief back there has got me rung up for $10," he said, ignoring my amazement. "Nineteen dollars and forty cents. I have not a cent in the driver's elbow, but the meter is smart, and the figures did not change."

"Nineteen dollars," he repeated, "Nineteen dollars and—look here," he called to his driver, "it's only 30 cents here. Your clock's 10 cents fast."

He borrowed $8 and crawled in with me.

"The next address on the list is the right one," he said. "I'm going to tell you something. There were eleven foundations as well as the sergeant who heard me read the note I found at the Fleming house that night. You may have counted them through the window. A dozen people either men or women I before nursing. When the news of Mr. Fleming's murder-death came out I thought this fellow Carter might know something, and I trailed him through this madhouse of a town. When I got there I found Tom Brennan and four other detectives sitting in the parlor and Miss Ellen in a blue silk dress making eyes at every mother's son of them."

I laughed in spite of my disappointment. Davidson closed the window at the driver's back.

"I don't want to see Mr. Knox," he said. "Fleming killed himself. You and I are agreed on that. Even if you don't just convinced of it I'm telling you, and—better let it drop, sir. Under his quiet manner I felt a threat. It urged to leave me."

"I'll let it drop when I'm through with it," I asserted and put out my list of addresses.

"You're in it drop because it's too hot to hold," he retorted, with the aspen of a smile. "If you are determined to know about Carter I can tell you everything that is necessary."

The chauffeur stopped the car with an uncomplaining jerk and settled down in his seat, every line of his body bristling with irritation.

"I prefer learning from Carter himself," I said.

He leaned back in his seat and produced an apple from the pocket of his coat.

"You'll have to travel some to do it, son," he said. "Carter left for parts unknown last night, taking with him enough money to keep him in comfort for some little time."

"Until all this blows over," I said lightly.

"The trip was for the benefit of his health. He has been suffering and still is suffering from a curious lapse of memory." Davidson smiled at me enigmatically. "He has entirely forgotten everything that occurred from the time he entered Mr. Fleming's employment until that gentleman left home. I doubt if he will ever recover."

With Carter gone, his retreat covered by the police, and with rumors from some prophetic source, further search for him was more than useless. In fact, Davidson strongly intimated that it might be dangerous and would be certainly unpleasant. I yielded ungraciously and ordered the cab to take me home. But on the way I cursed my folly for not having followed this obvious clue earlier, and I wondered what this thing could be that Carter knew, that was at least surmised by various headquarters men and yet was so carefully hidden from the world at large.

The party newspapers had come out that day with a signed statement from Mr. Fleming's physician in Flatbush that he had been in ill health and inclined to melancholia for some time. The air was thick with rumors of differences with his party. The doctor could cover everything. Pretty soon it would settle and hide the tracks of those who had hurried to cover under its protection.

Davidson left me at a corner downtown. He turned to give me a parting admonition.

"There's an old axiom in the mill around here. Never sit down on a piece of metal until you spit on it. If it sticks, don't spit. If it crumbles, spit. Your best position just now, young man, is standing with your hands over your head. Confidentially, there isn't anything within expectorating distance just now that isn't pretty wide open."

He left me with that, and I did not see him again until the night at the White Cat, when he helped put me through the tram. Recently, however, I have met him several times. He invariably mentions the $8 and his intention of repaying it. Unfortunately the desire and the ability have not yet happened to coincide.

I took the evening train to Bedford and got there shortly after 3 in the midst of the Sunday evening calm, and the calm of a place like Bedford is the calm of death without the hope of resurrection.

Promiscuous inquiry was not advisable. So far Miss Jane's disappearance was known to very few, and I had no desire to attract attention. I wandered up the street and turned at random to the right. A few down-bowed newish red brick building proclaimed itself the postoffice. It occurred to me that here inside was one individual who, unofficially at least, in a small place like this, knows the idiosyncrasies of its people.

The postmaster proved to be a one armed veteran of the civil war, and he was working rapidly the contents of a mail bag, emptied on the counter.

"No delivery tonight," he said shortly. "Sunday delivery, 2 to 3."

"I can't find out if I can't get a dollar's worth of stamps?"

"We don't sell stamps on Sunday nights," he explained. "But if you're in a hurry for them—"

was disappointed when I said we had, and I was about to go when he called me back.

"Miss Jane didn't get her mail on Thursday, but on Friday that niece of hers came for it—two letters from the city and one from New York."

"Thanks," I returned, and went out into the quiet street.

I walked past the Maliland place, but the windows were dark and the house closed. Haphazard inquiry led out of the question. I took the 10 o'clock train back to the city. Why and Margery gave me Miss Jane's mail after the little lady was missing?

And why did Miss Jane carry on a clandestine correspondence?

CHAPTER XII.
A Walk in the Park.

Tuesday occurred on Monday. It was an extraordinary affair, with a long list of honorary pallbearers, a picked corps of city dressees in uniform ranged around the casket, and a military band playing in floral pillars and sheaves of wheat tied with purple ribbon to have given all the hungry children in town a square meal.

Polmer and retired to her room almost stricken and isolated. She went to the cemetery with Edith. Miss Letitia having sent a message that, having never broken her neck to see the man living, she was not going to do so to see him dead.

The music was very fine and the eulogy spoke of this patriot who had served his country so long and so well. "Following the flag," Fred commented under his breath, "as long as there was an appropriation attached to it."

And when it was all over we went back to Fred's until the Fleming house could be put into order again.

Mrs. Butler arrived that day, which made Fred suspicious that Edith's plan to bring her far antedated his consent. But she was there when we got home from the cemetery, and after one glimpse at her thin face and hollow eyes I begged Edith to keep her away from Margery, for that day at least.

Mrs. Butler was exhausted by her journey and retired to her room almost immediately. I watched her slender figure go up the stairs, and with her black trailing gown and colorless face she was an embodiment of all that is lonely and solitary. Fred closed the door behind her and stood looking at Edith and me.

"I tell you, loney," he declared, "that brought home a cheerful home in sufficient cause for divorce. Isn't it, Jack?"

"She is ill," Edith maintained valiantly. "She is my cousin, too, which gives her some claim on me, and my guess is that she gives me much."

From somewhere above there came a sudden crash, followed by the announcement made by a scared housemaid that Mrs. Butler had fainted.

Mrs. Butler really ill, and after very insistent on looking after her. It was an odd coincidence, the widow of one state treasurer and the orphaned daughter of a senator. Both men had died violent deaths, to each case when a boiling under the political lid had threatened to blow it off.

The boys were allowed to have their dinner with the family that evening in honor of Mrs. Butler's arrival, and it was a riotous meal. Margery got back a little of her color. As I sat across from her and watched her expressive change from sadness to resignation and even gradually to amusement at the boys' antics, I wondered just how much she knew or suspected that she refused to tell me.

I was firmly embarked on the case now, and I tortured myself with one idea. Suppose I should find Wardlaw guilty and I should find retreating circumstances, what would I do about the truth, see him banged or imprisoned and break Margery's heart or keep back the truth, let her marry and try to forget that I had had a hand in the whole wretched business?

Prove Wardlaw innocent, I reasoned with myself, get to the bottom of this thing, and then it would be man and man, a fair deal and no favor. I was not a proper attitude romantically taken was to consider Margery's engagement ring an insupportable barrier. But this was no romance. I was fighting for my life happiness, and as to the ring—well, I am of the opinion that if a man really loves a woman and thinks he can make her happy he will tell her so if she is strong with engagement rings to the end of her fingers.

Dangerous doctrine! Well, this is not propaganda.

Tuesday found us all more normal. Margery went with me along the hall when I started for the office.

"You have not learned anything?" she asked.

"Not much," I evaded. "Nothing definite, anyhow. Margery, you are not going back to the Westmoreland avenue house again, are you?"

"Not just yet. I don't think I could. I suppose later it will have to be sold, but not at once. I shall go to Aunt Letitia's first."

"Very well," I said. "Then you are going to take a walk with me this afternoon in the park. I won't take you to the exercise, and I need to talk to you."

When she had agreed I went to the office. Burton was there. He had struck up an acquaintance with Miss Letitia the stenographer, and that usually right person had melted under the warmth of his red hair and his smile. She was telling him about her sister's baby having the whooping cough.

When we had gone into the inner office and shut out Miss Grant and the whooping cough was far serious instantly.

"Well," he said, "I guess we've got Wardlaw for the anyhow."

"That?" I inquired.

"Well, loney, if you prefer legal terms, I found where he sold the pearls."

"Is Flatbush, to a legitimate jeweler named, suggestively, Canboller."

"Then," I said conclusively, "if he took the pearls and sold them, as sure as I sit here he took the money out of that woman's bag."

"I'm not so darned sure of it," said Burton calmly.

If he had any reason he refused to give it. I told him, in my turn, of Carter's escape, aided by the police, and he smiled. "For a suicide it's causing a lot of excitement," he remarked.

When I told him the little incident of the postoffice he was much interested.

"The old lady in it somehow," he maintained. "She may have been leading Fleming money, for one thing. How do you know it won't her hundred thousand dollars be stolen?"

"There's only one thing to do, and that is find Miss Jane. If she's alive she can tell something. If Miss Jane is dead, well, somebody killed her, and it's time it was being found out."

"It's easy enough to say and her," he exploded. "Make a noise about it. Send up rockets. Put on a parade. If every paper in town or, better still, give the story to the reporters and let them and her for you. Describe her—how she was when she lived. What she did not wear; in this case what she didn't wear. In forty-eight hours she will have been seen in a hundred different places, and one of them will be right. It will be a question of selection—that is, if she is alive."

The publicity part of it I left to him, and I sent a special delivery that morning to Bedford asking Miss Letitia to say nothing and to refer reporters to me. I had already been besieged with them since my connection with the Fleming case, and a few more made no difference.

Burton attended to the matter thoroughly. The 1 o'clock edition of an afternoon paper contained a short and vivid account of Miss Jane's disappearance.

By the morning paper, men I left the office early, and at 4 o'clock Margery and I stepped from a hill car into the park.

"Of what some one depended on me," she said pensively. "It's a terrible thing to feel that it doesn't matter to any one—not vitally, anyhow—whether one is around or not. To have all my responsibilities taken away at once and just to drift around like this—oh, it's dreadful. Besides my father, there was only one person in the world who cared about me, and I don't know where she is."

The sunlight caught the ring on her engagement finger, and she flushed suddenly as she saw me looking at it. We sat there for a while saying nothing. The wind from Flatbush was coming to a close. The path began to fill with long lines of hurrying home-seekers, their day in office or factory behind them.

Then impulsively she held out her hand to me.

"You have been more than kind to me," she said hurriedly. "You have taken me into your home and helped me through these dreadful days—and I will never forget it. Never!"

"I am not virtuous," I replied, looking down at her. "I couldn't help it. You said you were going to get a job, and I was only late. The old days are coming, I suppose, but just now nothing matters at all, save that you are you, and I am I."

She dropped her veil quickly, and we went back to the car. The prosaic world wrapped us around again. There was a heavy odor of restaurant coffee and people were packed and jostled past us. To me they were only shadows. The real world was a girl in black and myself, and the girl wore a betrothal ring which was not mine.

Mrs. McNabb was waiting to meet that night. She was more cheerful than I had yet seen her, and she had changed her mournful garments to something a trifle less depressing.

With her hair dressed high and her face slightly animated, I realized what I had done before. That she was the wreck of a very beautiful woman.

She said a case when she walked, and after dinner in the library she was content to sit impassive, detached, propped with cushions, while Margery read to the boys in their night nursery and Edith embroidered.

Fred had been fussing over a play for some time, and he had gone to read it to some manager or other. Edith already was spending the royalties.

"We could go a little ways out of town," she was saying, "and we could have an automobile. Margery says there'll be a sale, and certainly it will be a bargain."

Next Mr. Butler had languidly taken up the paper. Suddenly she dropped it, and when I stooped and picked it up I noticed she was trembling.

"It's true," she demanded. "Is Robert Clarkson dead?"

"Yes," I assented. "He has been dead since Sunday morning—a suicide."

"I'm glad," she said. "Then she grew weak and semi-hysterical, laughing and crying in the same breath. When she had been helped upstairs—for in her weakened state it had been more of a relief than a relief—Margery came down, and we tried to forget the scene we had just gone through."

It was strange to contrast the way in which the two women took their similar bereavements. Margery represented the last type of normal American womanhood, Miss Butler the neatest: she demanded everything by

Could Not Lift Stick of Wood

Would Almost Faint From Severe Pain in Back — Doctors Could Not Get the Kidneys Set Right.

A great many people suffer the results of damaged kidneys and do not understand the cause of trouble or the way to obtain cure. The writer of this letter suffered excruciating pains in the back and in vain his physician tried to cure him. For some reason or other his medicines did not have the desired effect.

Mr. Olt's brother was a merchant selling, among other medicines, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and he heard his customers telling about how they were cured of kidney diseases by their use. This led to Mr. Olt's putting them to the test, with the splendid results reported in this letter.

Mr. E. C. Olt, Benton, Carleton County, N. B., writes: "I am glad to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered from my kidneys, which at one time were so bad I could not lift a stick of wood without getting on my knees and then would almost faint from the pain in my back. I consulted a doctor about it, and he gave me some medicine, but it did not help me. My brother, who is a merchant, and carries all your medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got one box, and they helped me, so I got another one, and kept on until I had taken five boxes, which cured me. I have had no trouble with my back since, and am never without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house. Last summer I also suffered from piles. I used three boxes of your Ointment, and it cured them. I can certainly recommend Dr. Chase's Pills and Ointment."

BIG SEIZURE OF WHISKEY

PARTIES TRIED TO SHIP $8,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR INTO GUELPH, AND WERE CAUGHT AT IT.

Bottles for Whiskey Were Hid in Barrels in Car Supposed to Contain Hay or Wool.

The biggest capture of whiskey for some time was made in Guelph on Saturday. It has been hot weather lately and of course that may have tempted some men who were thirsty to try and get an importation of wet goods past the vigilant eyes of those whose duty it is to keep Guelph dry, so far as the shipping of liquor is concerned, no matter how hot the weather. At any rate a cute trick was attempted—and hour's delay, and it is possible that some $8,000 worth of Gooderham & Worts' whiskey would have been gotten away to some place in or near Guelph.

There is an old saying to the effect that the "best laid plans of men oft gang a-gley." They certainly ganged a-gley in this case, and there are some doubtless thirsty men in Guelph today as they anticipate what might have been. It was only by the narrowest of margins that everything didn't come out as planned. But "there's many a slip" in this case between the "bottle and the lip" and the mischief will cost somebody heavily in money paid for the whiskey that is now under seizure, lying in a car on the C. P. R. tracks with a special guard on it.

It appears that for some days a couple of strangers, one a big fellow, representing that he was the representative of a company which paid him $5,000 a year, and the other a reputed returned soldier, a slim chap, have been waiting the arrival of a car over the C. P. R. They represented that they were starting a manufactory in Guelph, near the Wellington Hotel, and some of their machinery was en route from Quebec. Finally a car came to hand Thursday afternoon, addressed to the Imperial Mattress Co. of Guelph. It was from Cote St. Paul, Montreal, and the bill of lading said it was "baled hay," one of the triplicates, however, showing the word "wool" on it.

The strangers said that this was what they were after and paid the freight. A motor truck was secured and bright and early Friday morning the unloading commenced. One truck load of the baled hay was unloaded, and in the same car, well hidden by the hay, were about 40 barrels, supposedly containing either wool or machinery, though they seemed rather heavy for wool. Only about a couple of the barrels remained to be taken off the car when one of the heads broke in, and just at that moment Mr. Brown, station agent, happened along. He, it appears, was slightly suspicious of the transaction, especially the barrels, it being the specific duty of agents to enquire thoroughly into all shipments from the Province of Quebec.

"What's in here, boys," said Mr. Brown, thrusting his hand into the excelsior at the top of the barrel. There was a long gasp and many an indrawn breath as the searching hand withdrew with a quart bottle of Gooderham & Worts' best whiskey. Greedy eyes were fixed on the bottle and on the barrel, and to make certain that there was more where the one bottle came from Mr. Brown again tried the excelsior and again he found bottles.

About this time the two strangers tried to get busy, but Mr. Brown realized his duty and he ordered all the contents of the car, baled hay, barrels, and whiskey bottles, put back on board. The strangers wanted to know if $200 would get the car sent back to its point of shipment, one even going so far as to venture $500, but there was nothing doing.

About this time Inspector O'Brien got word of what was going on. He immediately went down to the station and seized the car and all it contained estimated, besides the baled hay, to contain some forty barrels of whiskey, containing ten dozen quart bottles each, or 4,800 bottles in all, and valued at some $7,000 or $8,000 at present prices.

Meanwhile the two strangers had disappeared, and though they were hunted for immediately, no trace of them has been discovered. It is surmised that they are two operators who manage shipments of this nature all over the country for local parties, the wool and hay being for the purpose of drawing wool over the eyes of license inspectors. Nothing is known as to who the local parties are, though the inspector this morning thought that perhaps the shipment was for Guelph at all but for Guelph Junction. One thing is whispered, if the shipment had gotten out of Guelph again it might have been intercepted at the Junction, and brought back to its destination.

As the matter rests, there is a valuable shipment of Gooderham & Worts' whiskey under guard in a car at the

The Farmer's Reply

Warton, R. R. No. 3
July 31, 1918

Editor of The Echo:—Now that there is this far a breathing spell between haying and harvest, I want to ask permission through your paper to correct a statement in the issue of July 24th, copied from the Kincaid Review, and written by Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. for North Bruce.

I do not propose taking up any more space than is absolutely necessary. I was one of the delegates of four who attended the Farmers Convention at Toronto during the first week in June, consequently I am in a position to know what transpired. I never missed a session, and paid particular attention to what was said. I never heard the remark that Col. Clark refers to, and the other delegates will bear me out in this statement. A little further down in the article he accuses the farmers of being indignant over the Order-in-Council, which makes it an offence to speak against the government, because they see in it the restriction of free speech.

Well, this may be a severe course to adopt, and no doubt the government has some good reason to take this course. As far as I know, and I have been attending Club meetings regularly, I have never heard the farmers condemning the government in the manner accused by Col. Clark. We do say that there were some things done by the government which, in our opinion, were not wise, and we still hold that there will be a time when it will be seen this country should be producing more. We understand this as no other class can. The article accuses farmers of talking as though they are pro-Gorman, and not willing to help or sacrifice anything to win the war. I do not think this is the case, nor do I take Col. Hugh Clark very seriously upon this point. Many of the farmers, like myself, have a son or sons at the front.

Now, Mr. Editor we feel very much interested in Col. Hugh Clark. I may say that I am representing a Club of nearly eighty members, and further that three of the four delegates who supported him at the last general election, and naturally we resent this article. I am writing this article by instructions from the Clavering Club of which I have the honor to be President. I wish to enlighten Col. Hugh Clark upon the attitude of the farmers, and if the opportunity presents itself, and it certainly will, I will promise him through most sincere kindness, so far as we are concerned to relieve him of any anxiety so far as the farmers of North Bruce are concerned.

Farmers' Advocate: The severe winter of 1917-18 dealt the fruit industry a hard blow and the results are only now becoming apparent. Regrettable, indeed, is the havoc wrought in the old Famous orchards of Eastern Ontario and Quebec, in which those districts took no small amount of pride. Consumers will not appreciate the extent of the loss until they try to purchase a barrel of "snows" one of the most popular in the dessert class.

Major Moffat's Land Scheme Not Popular

(Walkerton Telescope)
The Bruce Peninsula League has asked the Dominion Government to send an agricultural expert along with Major Moffat to pick out a tract of land in the West for Bruce Soldiers returning from the War. Major Moffat has a further scheme to start a co-operative community on the tract of land that is to be chosen. We understand, the Major believes, he is going to have the backing of the Bruce Preparedness League for his community scheme. During the past week we have seen Major Moffat's prospectus. It is an elaborately worked out affair covering four large printed sheets. It is drafted in the Major's usual thorough way of doing things in which he foresees and provides for many contingencies. There is perfection of detail and the scheme certainly looks plausible and attractive on paper. It is so attractive in fact that it should be framed and hung on the wall and left there. As a mural decoration it might be of some value. The cream of Bruce's manhood went Overseas and now we are asked to encourage a scheme to settle them in some far-off part of Canada when they return. The boys themselves will decide where they want to go. But where they would be most welcome would be right here in Bruce where they have the best agricultural land to be found anywhere and plenty of room for any of the boys who want to settle in their old home county. Will the people of Bruce support a scheme to send their heroic sons to some isolated portion of the West? Not much. Major Moffat's scheme is to pool the soldiers' interests in the land, share the profits, etc. It is so idiotic that it should have been written in the form of poetry. Human nature being what it is, this way of sharing all things is thoroughly impracticable and indeed it has proved itself as whenever such a scheme has been tried. There are a lot of prominent people on the executive of the Bruce Preparedness League but if they swallow Major Moffat's scheme and attempt to put any of the County's money in it we believe they will speedily forfeit whatever confidence the people of Bruce may have had in their good judgment.

(Paisley Advocate)
While the farmers of this country should assume their proportionate share of the business for legislating and governing our affairs, should they by organization send a large number of representatives to Parliament and Legislatures with the object of advancing only the interests of their own class, they will not be improving our legislative portfolio. There is too much class legislation as it is, even in Canada. What we need most is legislation that considers nothing but the interests of the people as a whole.

A few weeks ago The Advocate published the extended scheme of land for returned soldiers, which is furnished by Major Moffat. It will perhaps be generally admitted that if soldiers are desirous of going on the land, apart from returning to their home farm or neighborhood, the community plan would be preferable to settling them on isolated homesteads, where the usual experience of homesteading would have to be gone through before life would begin to be enjoyable. The idea of applying the plan to the settlement of a single battalion however, is a doubtful proposition. To induce the prospective farmers of the whole Canadian army would be more feasible. Not that all should be plunked down on one block of land but that enough men could be encouraged to organize communities at different points and carried on with some chance of success. We look upon the community system to be an improvement over the individual system, but could put no faith in that plan which provides a bed berth for the organizer while the real workers dry up the proceeds of their labor that are left after paying the official salaries. Oh, no, what we wish to see is a community in which everyone is a communist, and takes his chance equally with the other fellows. Before going to spy out land for the project, the men authorized to do so might do a little investigating as to what part Major Moffat proposes to play in the scheme. It can be safely said that among the soldiers who have already returned from doing their bit on the firing line there can be found men who can be better judges of land and the farming question than the major who has just arrived back from the training front, and would be more entitled than he is or can be to any easy money that might be expended in connection with the scheme. There may be a few Bruce County soldiers desirous of accepting land as their reward for services, and in that case the Government would have no right to insist upon them taking to farming. Every man who enlisted and stays in the fight until he becomes incapacitated or sees the finish of the campaign is entitled to some choice as to the compensation he is to receive at the hands of the country and people for whom he went out to fight. By all means give the returning boys all the land they want, but don't force it on them. And let the conditions be the most favorable that can be secured for all who prefer farming for the future, but don't allow the good things to be hand-picked by those who have done no fighting.

COLPOYS BAY

Miss Gladys Talbot, of Dorchester, is the guest of Miss Amy Brown.
Miss Reta Kalbfleisch spent Sunday at Mar with relatives.
Miss Mayne Pruder left this week for Toronto, where she has secured a good position. She will be missed by the young folk.
Mr. and Mrs. P. Farrow, of Vancouver, Sask., are visiting with relatives.
Miss Grace Causland, of Walkerville, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitcher, of "Hugabunden." Miss Craig, of Tara, has been engaged as the new teacher of the Public School.
Misses M. J. and Blanche Matthews of Durham, visited at the Parsonsage last week. They are sister and niece respectively of Rev. W. A. Matthews.
Mrs. Carl Whitcher and Ross have returned from camping at Red Bay. They had a pleasant time.
Mr. A. McLean, of Toronto, gave a very interesting address Sunday evening for the Belgian Refugee Fund and a subscription of over $80 was taken. $147.50 was the total for the day from the three appointments.
Mr. Calhoun Brown had the misfortune to have his valuable young driver very severely injured last Saturday. We hope with the help of the V. S. it soon recovers.
Pte. Basil Farrow is home on a six weeks leave from London to help with the harvesting.
Mr. Wm. J. Crawford went to London Wednesday to report. Another one of our boys to do the khaki.
Mrs. H. Boyd and Miss Susie Crawford were over from Owen Sound for Sunday.
The annual S. S. picnic Tuesday afternoon on the Bay front was a decided success. The small boy, good sized lunch basket and a fine day make a good combination.

Sox Received

Miss Crawford, Colpoys, Learns Her Gift Reached Its Destination
France, July 14/18—Dear Miss Crawford—I now take much pleasure in writing to thank you for the lovely socks which I received this week. In them I found your note asking for an answer. I must say they are very useful to me in this country and are very much appreciated by all the boys.
If at any time you feel inclined to write I shall be pleased to hear from you as I have very few friends in Canada and letters are always very welcome.
As you no doubt know the censor does not permit us to put our address at the end of a letter, so here it is: 511663 Sgt. F. Peterson, No. 4 Co., Canadian Div. Train, B. E. F., France.
As we are strangers I am unable to write a very interesting letter, so will conclude with best wishes.
Yours truly,
F. PETERSON

Lumbering Operations On Bruce Peninsula

The Bruce Peninsula, in the Province of Ontario, was at one time covered with a luxuriant forest composed of white and red pine, hemlock, maple, beech, birch and ash. Lumbering has gone on almost continuously from 40 to 50 years. In this time vast quantities have been removed, but a worthy rival to the lumberman in the destruction of these forests was the fire which, when started in the coniferous forest would burn until the material gave out.
In the early days white and red pine were valuable enough to be taken out. A little later hemlock was added until at present very little but hardwood is left. For this reason the fire danger has been increased year by year. But never in the history of the region, as far as could be learned, was there any attempt at protection. The lumbermen of today in this section maintain that if a fire should start, it would stay on the ground and do no damage.
A ground fire will start through a stand logged 10 or 12 years ago, but will not get further than one or two hundred feet into the virgin forest. These fires do not damage the standing timber, but do destroy, or at least damage any volunteer growth which happens to be in its path. Then, again, these ground fires are injurious to the soil which covers the rock very thinly in places. Various estimates have been placed on the annual cut of the Peninsula, but they vary within wide limits. Most agree, however, that if the present cut is maintained there will be very little left on the Peninsula in ten years.—Canadian Lumberman.

Malcolm McBeth Writes From West

Malcolm McBeth, an old Walkerton boy, now Postmaster of Milverton, Ontario, publisher of the Milverton Sun, writes from the West where he is at present on an extended trip with his family. We arrived in Winnipeg on Monday night, after a train ride from Fort William, and spent Tuesday and Wednesday forenoon in that city. We toured as much as we could in that time. It is really a wonderful place considering the amount of waste land to the east of it, one wonders from what it draws its source of prosperity. The most interesting historical place about it is the gateway of old Fort Garry, which was built in 1850. Only the gateway of this famous old fort built in the days of the Red River settlement, remains, the remainder of the structure having been entirely demolished in the 80's. Had the Hudson Bay Company foreseen what this country is destined to be, it is possible that this fort, which would have proved one of the most historic points in the West, would not have been erased. However, on its ruined towers in stately grandeur the Fort Garry hotel, just recently completed by the C. N. R. This building is about the last word in hotel architecture and is about twelve stories in height, and its equipment is up to the minute. There are no memorials here commemorating the life of the late Lord Strathcona, who for so many years was such a picturesque figure in the West, but the regard was mutual, as Lord Strathcona, who did so much for Montreal and other places by lavishing his wealth on their public institutions, did not contribute a farthing to any of Winnipeg's institutions. The cause is said to have been due to his consequent refusal to return him as a candidate to Parliament in the early eighties, when he was plain Donald Smith. Lord Strathcona's prejudices and resentments were strong even to vindictiveness.
The trip from Winnipeg to Regina was uneventful. The crops of Manitoba looked to be fairly good and will undoubtedly be up to the average. The wheat is not of very great height, but is heading out well. A considerable quantity of rain has fallen of late, and while it will help considerably, the benefits will not be nearly so great as would have been had it fell earlier in season.
A remarkable thing about Regina is the amount of ground you see in potatoes—almost every vacant lot is planted in the sustaining tuber. Even the front of the Normal School has grown in the stead of lawns and shrubbery.

Letter From Spr. J. Hawke, Pine Tree To Miss Marie Bartley

Somewhere in a shell hole,
France, 21/7/18
Dear Marie—I received your letter written on the 20th of June and needless to say was pleased to hear from you again.
You are foolish to work hard this hot weather, and I suppose you are reading the war news every few minutes you have to spare. I never look at a paper from one week end to another. We're having dandy weather over here at present, and in the summer it is a very pretty country, in the place where it is not all torn up with shells. The Canadians' 1st Sports here yesterday. It was the first I was at. We went in motor lorries. There was some crowd there. I met a number of the 160th boys. It was pleasant to see them again.
I received a box of eats the other day from you and they certainly were fine. I can't express my thanks to you for sending me so many nice boxes. Some of the Maple Syrup had leaked out but not enough to hurt. Charlie is getting along fine. He just came in and said he had a letter from dear old dad with ten dollars in it as that looks like a time, eh?
So you were wondering if we had a good place to sleep. Well, we have the very best springs, mattresses, white wool blankets, lot of quilts. If we want anything we just have to touch the electric button and the N. C. O. will bring what we order. I can sleep standing up and Old Fritz has to throw his shells pretty close to awaken me.
Well Marie, as news is scarce, I had not better write any more foolishness.
Au Revoir,
JIM HAWKE

The Town Council

A special session was held last Wednesday evening. There was an inquiry concerning the number of new industries started here since the war, which is easily answered. The town inspector reported that he had weighed the bread on a given date and found it all O.K. A citizen in Galt informed the Council that they have liens on machinery in the Canada Casket Company to the extent of $779 and they simply asked the Council to guarantee protection as they have no desire to remove the machinery. It was decided to proceed at once with the sewer on Scott Street, and an engineer will be secured.
Coun. Plante reported that there are a number of animals of the canine breed still running at large without a tag, but as the Constable is busy on the streets there is no need to attend to this work.
The Chairman of the Fire and Light Committee was instructed to interview the Sault Falls Light and Power Co. re their contract with the town.
The Council decided to accept the 6 months option re foreclosure with the Canada Casket Co.

Wrecking Company Get Sugar Beet Factory

While Wiarton has still $11,325.90 on the Sugar Beet Factory debt, and while, according to present schedule we will be at this job until 1923 unless we get tired and wipe off the whole thing sooner, the report is confirmed, that a wrecking company has bought the brick, steel, etc., the work of salvaging is to proceed at once. When they are through it will probably be difficult to find anything which will even serve the purpose of kindlings. At all events the work of these wrecking companies is reported to be very thorough. This, then, is the final chapter to another drama. It is said that experience

OLIPHANT

All the campers are berrying now, and as raspberries are abundant everywhere, each family is laying in a good store for winter use.

marks a man wise not rich, and the experience which the town had with this proposition has probably added to our wisdom. If sugar then had been the price that it is to-day, and as difficult to obtain, the whole plant would have been a gold mine. Had it surmounted the difficulties which beset it in the days of cheap sugar, it would have been the best thing which ever came to this town of this district. Many men heroically stuck by it hoping that the plant might be pulled through, but the proposition was big, and it took a lot of money to swing it each year, and as the earnings did not meet the expenses it was considered wise to close up the works.

A Motor Cycle Accident

On Monday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock, Mr. Clayton Wright, of Waterton, was spinning along the East Shore road, above Colpoys, when his cycle apparently hit a rolling stone, and he was thrown head first. It was quite near the residence of Mrs. Poole, and she sent word to town. When Mr. McVannell's auto got there to bring him home he was still unconscious, and was more or less all night. He sustained a very severe shaking and received some bad bruises, but no bones were broken, and apparently there were no other injuries. Motor cycles are not popular, and accidents like this add to their unpopularity.

ed the required conditions.

Editorial

Ottawa expects a Fall session of Parliament.

It may be a long way to Tipperary
but it will be a longer way to Siberia.

The weather continues hot and dry, and there is no doubt that the drouth is seriously affecting the crops.

Butter is 10c per pound in Hungary. The Canadians have thought it dear enough at 45 cents.

The two local papers in Mount Forest have amalgamated. They were certainly wise.

As for the war maps, the heavy dotted lines are about the only things we can understand.

St. Thomas has decided to go into the coal business. Does this mean that a corporation can get coal when private dealers cannot? If so, there are other towns that should get into the same game.

Canadians, and all the people in the Allied nations have good reason to be proud. News of victory thrills them.
They believe that the corner has been well turned in the world war, and now we are on the road to ultimate victory.
There may be reverses, but final success seems reasonably sure. Life will be well worth living when we see the collapse of Prussian military power.

A number of conscientious objectors have been given 10 years, and there will not be many to dissent with the sentence. The Hun warlords, were they the ruler of Canada, would very soon dispenise with the individual conscience in war matters.

MAJOR MOFFAT'S SCHEME

This scheme was visionary and very idealistic. So far everything has gone to show that it will be far better to scatter the returned soldier, rather than to have them segregated on community farms or any other spot.
However Canada will have a big problem on her hands, and ideas should surely be welcomed.

Kaiser Disappointed in Roosevelt

To his American dentist who had held his job for fourteen years, the Kaiser thus expressed his disappointment in Roosevelt—"I'm terribly disappointed in Mr. Roosevelt," he declared. "After the way my wife and I entertained him when he was here as our guest, for him to take the stand he has is very ungentlemanly. I gave a great review for him—the greatest honour I could bestow upon him and a thing which no man ever been done for a private citizen. He was not President then, you know. I used to admire him very much but now I think the man has gone crazy and lost his mind. I never thought he would turn against us like that!" He did not seem to realize that a patriotic American owed allegiance to his own country.

Amabel Council

The Council of Amabel met at Hotel Park Hotel on Aug. 3rd, 1918. Members all present. Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The engineers award in connection with the drainage of Lot 1, to 8 in Ames survey was then taken up and read. All the parties interested being present. The award of engineers re Boat Lake and Rankin River was then taken up and read. A number of the interested parties being present asked the council to have the engineer reconsider same, and to make an award for the removal of timber out of the Rankin River and the sand-bar at mouth of same.

The Clerk was instructed to ask the engineer to make an award for the removal of timber out of the Rankin River and sand-bar at mouth. The award not to exceed $2500.00. A grant was made on C. D. opposite Lot 47.

A grant was made to the Warton and Hepworth Agricultural Society.
A grant was made to the Women's Institute at Oliphant for Red Cross supplies.

Robert Forsythe was appointed Pound Keeper in place of A. McLeod.
J. A. Bradford was appointed collector for 1918.

By-law no. 212 to assess levy rates for 1918 was read a third time and passed as follows: County Rate, 8-4110 mills, Tp. rate, 3 1/2 mills, Gen.
School rate, 4 mills, Railway Deb., 2 mills, War Tax 1 mill, Red Cross and Soldier Fund, 1 mill.

Orders were passed for $291.41.
The Council adjourned to meet at St Albans Hotel, Warton, on Aug.
20, 1918.

Beautiful Manitoulin

An Ideal Motor Trip

By A. B. Petrie, Hamilton

Leave Toronto by Hamilton Central, running along the Lake through Port Credit, Oakville, Brantford, and Burlington across Van Wagner's thence to Stoney Creek and Hamilton.
Leave Hamilton by King Street to Dundas, thence to Galt, cross the bridge and take road to Blair, running along the Grand River, cross the Grand River to Preston to Hespeler and Guelph. From Guelph take the Owen Sound road through Paris, Arthur, Mount Forest and Durham to
Owen Sound.

At Owen Sound put the car on the Boat for Manitoulin on Manitoulin Island passing through Killarney.
From there take a side trip of ten miles to the Indian village of Wikwemiking. Here you will find the Indians in their own shops making shoes tinware, blacksmithing, turning their own sawmill etc. This reserve is under the control of the Roman Catholic Mission, with a large church and school. Back to Manitoulin, then along the Bay to Ten Mile Point, from which the view of the islands will surprise even the blasé globe-trotter as it is grand beyond my pen to describe. From there it is a few miles to Sheguandah where you pass thru an Indian Reserve under an Anglican Mission, where you will see a quaint church that was built by the Indians also school in connection. The village proper is a little way from the Bay and butts onto a beautiful lake called Bass Lake, a considerable height above the Bay.

From Sheguandah you skirt along the inner channel to Little Current passing on the way many islands to your right. Little Current takes its name from the swift current caused by the wind driving the water through the narrow channel between the Manitoulin, Galt and LaCloche Islands.
It is a thriving town with many good stores, two hotels and several large saw mills. All boats call there during the season of navigation and it has railway connections with all the main lines of the Algoma Eastern.
Several fine views are to be had from high points in the town.

From Little Current you pass through Saucer Creek Reserve under Anglican Mission, thence to Honouand West Bay, following the Channel to the latter place which is on another Indian Reserve under Roman Catholic Mission, having large church and school, on westward, taking in Kagawong, where you will see the far famed and beautiful well, known as Bridal Veil Falls, on to Gore Bay, twelve miles distant. Entering the Country Town you get a grand view as with brakes set, you descend the hills at the foot of which the town is built, where you will like to tarry for a time as the hotels are good and everyone tries to make you feel at home.

From Gore Bay you again take the road crossing, swing bridge connecting Lake Woolsey with Campbell's Bay on to Silver Water and Meldrum Bay, taking in side trip to Shesheganing Reserve which is situated on a beautiful arm of the Channel, and where you will see two finest schools and the prettiest Anglican Church on the Island. The Indian Band are well looked after by the Roman Catholic and Anglican Missions.

From Meldrum Bay take steamer to Hilton's Landing on St. Josephs Island, and see the wonderful Maple groves, which for size and grandeur are unequalled in any other part of the world, and every Canadian should see their national tree at its best, and with good fishing and fine drives, a week's stay at the Landing would appear all too short.

Returning to Meldrum Bay take the road through the south side of the Manitoulin passing through Providence, Tekkummah and with plenty of side trips back to Manitoulin, taking boat to Collingwood thence to Toronto by Orangeville.

Pure water good hotels, fine fishing and plenty of wild game makes the trip one of real delight. All the roads over which this trip leads you are very good and on the Manitoulin they are excellent.

Casualties Show Our Boys Are Paying Price of Liberty

RECENT CASUALTIES

The war is coming home. Casualties are being reported in the Bruce 160th. It is true that these are not the first, but now that a great offensive is on, and the Canadians are in it, we know that we must expect casualties. So far the Bruce 160th have not been hit hard, but from this on we cannot look for the same thing. Those recently reported from this town as wounded are William Carson and Charles Culbert. The former's wounds are reported as serious. The mothers of these two young men and all the members of the families will have the sincere sympathy of all.

Lieut. Horace Parker, of Paisley, who went overseas with the 160th Bruce Battalion, was reported killed in action, on Monday.

CASUALTIES

Wm. Carson, wounded back and neck seriously. Chas. Culbert, wounded in lower extremities; Wesley McFarlane, wounded in left leg; Earl Dobson, wounded in face, chest, arm; James D. L. Patton, of Cape Chin, wounded in left arm; Daniel Proulx, of Cape Croker, wounded in left foot. Wilfred Elliott, Cape Croker, gunshot wound upper extremities; Richard McIvor, Stokes Bay, gunshot wound right leg and right arm.

EARL DOBSON

Corn. Earl Dobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dobson, is well and most favorably known. He attended the Warton High School and for a time was in the service of the Union Bank. He later heard the call of his country for help and was one of the Bruce 160th who will bring honor to Canada.

LIEUT. GRASSETT WOUNDED

"Grassie" as he was known in the Bank of Commerce a few years ago. He went to Winnipeg and enlisted there. His friends in town will hope that his wounds are not serious.

JACK ALLAN WOUNDED

Sergeant Allen is the oldest son of Mr. T. C. Allen, postmaster, Warton. He enlisted with the 177th and when in England reverted to rank to get at once to the front. His many friends in town will be pleased to learn that his wound is not more serious. His brother Chester was killed in Flanders. A telegram from Ottawa states that it is a gunshot wound in the ankle. Probably Jack is now out of the war, but he wanted to be in it to the finish.

Lieut. Earl Johns Wounded

Last week Mr. John Johns received a cable that his son Earl had received a gunshot wound in the foot. The fact that the wound is not more serious, is a source of great satisfaction to his parents. Earl was in the West when the war started, enlisted with the 31st Battalion from Calgary, and was in the trenches in the early and trying days of the war, with the formation of the Bruce Battalion it was considered wise to offer commissions to a number of Bruce boys who had seen service, accordingly he was brought back and attached to the Bruce 160th. He has been in khaki practically throughout the whole period of the war, and his friends in Warton, where he was born and brought up, will be glad to hear that his wound is not considered serious.

Great War Veterans Association

It is proposed to form a branch of the Great War Veterans Association for Warton and District. If any returned men wish to join this Association will communicate with Capt. F. J. Pickering, Bank of Commerce, Warton, further particulars will be sent them in due course.

Harvey Williams Home

Enlisted July 1915, when 18 years of age. Made twenty trips across the Atlantic on Hospital Ship, Expecting to go to Siberia.

Harvey Williams was among the first of the Warton boys to volunteer. This was before the days of the Bruce Battalion. At 18 he had the British blood and the ambition and he soon reported to London. He was sent to England, and on March 10th, 1917, was transferred to a Hospital ship. There were three Hospital ships running between an Atlantic port and England, and the one he was on, carried over 800 patients, besides the crew and a hospital staff consisting of 8 doctors, 12 nursing sisters, 80 N. C. O.'s and others. Hospital ships are being dispersed with the sinking of the Landover Castle settled that. The patients will now be put in fast sailing boats and conveyed, no chances will be taken with the Huns. Naturally during these days he had some hair raising experiences. He was in Halifax during the explosion, and very close to the scene. Once the hospital ship was chased by a submarine and they were prepared for the worst emergency.

Now that the hospital ships are being taken off the Atlantic routes, it is proposed to send one to Siberia and Harvey expects to go there.

He is young still, and has seen a lot, but he is well and matured after these years of service. He returns to his home Friday and The Echo wishes him a bon voyage and a safe return.

COLPOY'S BAY

Miss Eva Crawford is visiting friends in Owen Sound.

Kenneth Pruder is being congratulated on having passed his recent examination with honors. Miss Helma Whitcher was also one of the successful ones.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Park Head, visited here Sunday.

Mr. Fred Lemcke Sunday in Chesley.

Mrs. Parke and the Misses A. and J. Parke, of Hamilton, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parke.

Pie. Alex. Caudle Sunday in Owen Sound.

Mrs. Harry Boyle, who has been in Owen Sound for some weeks, has returned home.

Married—At the Methodist Parsonage, Hopworth, Aug. 7th, 1918 by Rev. W. Almack, Miss Velma Loney of Park Head to Mr. Geo. Smith of Colpoys Bay.

Pie. Alex. Caudle is home from London on the six weeks harvest leave.

As you will see by marriage notice that Mr. Geo. Smith has joined the ranks of the benedictines. We wish the happy couple success. Mrs. Harry Petter and children went by auto to Owen Sound Friday, remaining till Monday visiting Mrs. Donough and family formerly of Colpoys.

Clerk of the Township of Keppel.

HEADQUARTERS OF DOM. FISH CO. IN OWEN SOUND

REPORT THAT BUILDING CONTRACT HAVE BEEN LET

THE PROBABILITY IS THAT A LARGE BUILDING WILL BE ERECTED THIS YEAR ALONG THE RIVER FRONT

(Owen Sound Sun)

"There is little doubt but that the headquarters of the Dominion Fish Co. will be located in Owen Sound within the next few months. This will mean the construction of a new and up-to-date building capable of handling the enormous fish business of the Georgian Bay and Upper Lake Huron and the installation of a refrigerating plant of a large capacity. The building occupied by the company in Warton are in a dilapidated condition and the building of the C. P. R. slip in Owen Sound is not a great deal better. New buildings must be erected in any case and it seems that the Fish Co. has decided to centralize their energies here. It is reported that the contract for the new building has been awarded. It will be remembered that only recently Mr. Trigg, manager of the Sales Department, and Mr. Clark, manager of the Production Department, both of Chicago, were in Owen Sound, accompanied by an engineer, and looked over several suitable sites, took measurements and it is said, secured options before returning to Chicago with their report. Mr. John McAnlay, manager of the Fish Company in this district, with headquarters in Warton, was unable to make a statement concerning the matter when seen by the firm yesterday, but it is undoubtedly his belief that the transfer will be made. Just where the site will be, or the extent of the building is not known, but the building will not be far from the present warehouse of the Dominion Transportation Co., and will undoubtedly be built large enough to take care of the increasing business for years to come. The establishment of the headquarters here will mean much to the town of Owen Sound in various ways. The large numbers of fishing tug, at present bringing their fish to Warton to the company, will make their calls here, the outfitting of the fishing operation will be done here and erection of the new building and establishment of the refrigerating plant will mean the expenditure of a large sum. The staff of the Fish Co. at present living in Warton, will be moved here."

The idea that the Dominion Fish Co. is likely to go to Owen Sound is getting fixed in the minds of the people of that town. It is about six weeks since The Echo called attention to the matter and we are not aware that anything has been done to interview or write this company about their intentions. It would seem that it is about time to "wake up."

WARTON POULTRY, PIGEON AND PET STOCK ASSOCIATION

The above organization is off to a good start, those who have hens will do well to join, and those who do not have hens, will do well to get some. The organization meeting last Friday evening was well attended, and there is considerable enthusiasm. With the growth of the society and competition, this will develop most wonderfully. Everything indicates a strong and vigorous association, and the outlook is a Winter Poultry Fair, which will draw the people from far and near. The officers elected are—President, A. B. Warder, 1st Vice-Pres., W. M. Newman, 2nd Vice-Pres., J. C. Temple, Secy-Treas., C. A. Slater, Directors, Messrs. Eldridge, Dargavel, Rev. Matthews, Hull, Langford, Brundrich, McNeill, Jackson, Miller, Lancaster and Brown.

There was an informal discussion about a fair that will probably be held during the winter. Steps will be taken to secure members, and an added interest in poultry is about sure to follow. The poultry industry is a big one and the fanciers part is a most interesting one, and The Echo wishes the new organization every success. Let every man, who wants to specialize in any particular breed of hens, join and help it along.

An Explanation

As our paper is now all set up by the Linotype, which is run by power supplied from line Sauble, and as we have only a night service now, we are unable to correct a number of our proofs Wednesday morning. Consequently our readers will be good enough to overlook typographical errors.

Keppel Council

A meeting of the Council of the Township of Keppel will be held at the Methodist Hall, North Keppel, on Tuesday, September 10. The meeting called for September 3rd being cancelled.—GEORGE ATKEY, Clerk.

OLIPHANT

The W. I. Bake Sale held at the Campers Church on Thursday p. m. was quite successful. $18.00 was realized by selling bread, buns, pies, cakes and vegetables. This is a good showing for nine members. It was impossible for several members to come, but had all attended and brought supplies for sale in proportion nearly twice that amount would have been made as many purchasers failed to secure all they wished to buy. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Winkill on September 3rd. The sum of $25.00 was voted to be sent to the prisoners fund. Most of this was raised by a special collection among the members of the W. I.

The concert on Wednesday held at Rev. Mr. Cole's cottage was exceedingly good as was also the one held at Mrs. J. Clarke's cottage on Thursday evening. There was a great variety in this latter concert and it was very entertaining. The Stillwell family's representation of a negro family was remarkably well given. Miss Helen made an excellent mammy. All the numbers were very pleasing and the collections in both were donated to the Oliphant boy's fund. Mr. Mickle and Mr. Rice, President of the Campers Association, took the opportunity to go to the address of the over-see J. S. and Mrs. Hardie. Miss Hardie and Mr. McKenzie returned to Keppel on Friday.

Mrs. Dr. Nichol and family and Miss Nichol and Miss Cousins returned to Brantford on Saturday.

Dr. Nichol and family, of Listowel, arrived on Tuesday and will remain in their cottage for some time. They purchased the house owned by Mr. Anthes.

Mrs. Halladay and family, of Chesley, after spending some six weeks here, left yesterday on Tuesday.

Mrs. Gar, of Fort Erie, is staying with Mrs. W. H. Wright. This is a most popular boarding house and those who enjoy Mrs. Wright's meals feel very diffident about leaving.

Mrs. George McDonald is in Warton with her sister, Mrs. Hutchinson. Oliphants population is increasing. A we daughter arrived at the home of Mr. T. Preston last week and a son came to Mr. J. Wilcox.

Some very serious degradations are being committed by lawless persons here. Boats are taken from their anchorage, sails stolen, and recently an attempt was made to break into the store. T. J. Walsh had several pounds net poles stolen off Whitefish. Steps are being taken to locate the thieves. Crimes, such as these, have been common during the last few years, and when the guilty parties are discovered they will be promptly punished.

Summer Complaints Kill Little Ones

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather give the little ones Baby's Own Tablets, or in a few hours they may be beyond aid. These Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to the well child and will promptly cure these troubles if they come on suddenly. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in every home where there are young children. There is no other medicine as good and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they are absolutely safe. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Co., Montreal, P. Q.

LION'S HEAD

Mrs. Spry and her daughter, Mrs. Wain and Master Jack, who were the guests of Mrs. Dr. Hacking for the past two weeks, left for their home in London on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. W. Darragh and children spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Menary.

George Williams made a call to our village on Sunday. He came down from the Basin with Emerson Darragh. Others who made the trip were Mrs. Martindale, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. John Darragh and Capt. Craigie's son, who came down for supplies for the Tug Queen, which was taking shelter at the Basin with a raft of logs.

Messrs. C. Pedwell and C. Tyn-dall spent Sunday and Monday in the village.

Mr. J. Melvor purchased a calf from J. Hunter, Warton. John has the first six cylinder around here.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vickers, Aug. 18, a daughter.

Mr. R. E. W. Tackaberry removed the boards from the walls of his store. He intends to complete it as soon as possible.

Mr. Wm. Gilles building will be a credit to the Main Street when completed. There is room for one or two more buildings on the front street and then it would be better than it ever was before.

Whit Moore has the news styles and colors in men's felt hats for fall. If you want something better than ordinary in neckties, Whit Moore's is the place to get them. The Fall styles for suits and overcoats ready now.

Mrs. Tiggett left last Wednesday morning for what is called the point, to pick berries. When night came on and she had not returned some anxiety was aroused and a search was made for her. When morning came and no trace of her had yet been found, the mill closed down and an organized search was made for her until suppertime, but without avail. After tea the men continued the search and a launch went around Gun point towards Barrow Bay. On the way in she was seen up on the cliff waving her apron. With great difficulty some of the men scaled the cliff and with a rope lowered her down to safety. It took nearly an hour to get from the top of the rock to the waters edge. Apart from thirst she was none the worse for her experience, and was brought home about 11 Thursday night. Next morning she was around as usual.

The village at last has something in the way of useful fire protection. On Saturday the two 70 gallon Chemicals Fire Engines arrived and word was sent to the Company to send their man here to demonstrate. If satisfactory they should prove a great help to combat fires and keep them from spreading with such disastrous results as in the past. Ladders, buckets, lanterns and axes are also on hand being quite an improvement over what was on hand at the last big fire.

Whit Moore gets the reputation of having the best cheese in the village. Try some and see if he deserves the name.

Mrs. B. S. Norton, of Toledo, Ohio, who visited her sister, Mrs. Armstrong, for the past two weeks, left for her home on Tuesday.

Mr. Sol Klengron left here on Sunday for Toronto.

If you are going to the Exhibition make a point to see the Delco Light Exhibit. The Delco motor will save a lot of work on the farm. Some of the labor saving devices are Milking Machines, Pumps, Churns, Washing Machines and it will also operate a Fanning Mill, grindstone, Cream Separator and in fact nearly all light work can be done with electricity supplied by Delco Light batteries. When labor is scarce, and good prices for grain it seems the right time to make a purchase. It costs less than a car to buy and is ready for use day and night every day in the year. Call at W. B. Moore's for further particulars.

Upwards of twenty five of the young ladies of the village drove to Lake Huron on Monday afternoon for a picnic. The "Work or Fight" order makes picnics one-sided affairs.

Jonathan Hill purchased a farm on Monday from Murdoch Martin and will take possession this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Hacking and guests motored to Cape Croker on Sunday.

Messrs. Hopkin, Belrose, Bartman and Adams came down from Tobemery with Mr. Munn Sunday.

Mrs. W. Sadler, Miller Lake, called at the store on Wednesday.

Mr. Alfred Rouse, Cape Chin, did business in the village on Tuesday last.

Mr. Archie Shearer, McCalluma Corners, did business in our neighborhood last week.

Miss Marguerite Kirkland Owen Sound, is spending a week of her holidays with her aunt, Mrs. McKinnery.

A number from our village have been to Hope Bay for black berries, which are a good crop this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McLennan motored to Owen Sound on Monday.

Miss M. McKay, of Lions Head, spent the week and the guest of Miss M. McKinnery.

Mr. Sam Weatherhead, Miller Lake, passed through our village on Sunday.

Mrs. John Boyle and her son, Charles, of Miller Lake, called at the village over Sunday.

Born—On Tuesday, August 12, 1918 to Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Myles, a son.

Mr. J. W. McKinnery and Mr. Mac McIvor did business in Lions Head on Saturday.

On Friday the Agricultural Society of Eastern held their meeting in the Orange Hall here.

Mr. Murdoch Melvor was to Lions Head for a load of goods Saturday.

An item stating that the purchase of lots 36 and 37, owned by John Shute, was incorrect. It was Mr. W. Harding and Mr. V. Walpole who purchased them.

PARK HEAD

Miss Lucy Almond, of Meaford, is visiting friends here.

Mr. John Pringle returned to Stratford after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Spencer for a few days.

Mrs. Wesley Aney of London, Ont. is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Moore.

Miss May Currier, who has just returned from a trip to Montreal and New York State, spent the week end with friends here and later went to Drew to visit.

Mrs. Chas. Bolton and family have returned to Toronto. They were holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Samuels.

Percy Doubt, John Matches and George Sylvester of the Military Camp London, are here for a few weeks to assist with the harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Shortreed, who are summering at the Sauble, were in Park Head over Sunday and attended the Anniversary Services in the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Morgan has gone to Drew and will spend a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James Gerrie, formerly of Park Head.

Anniversary Services were held in the Methodist Church here last Sunday. Large crowds attended both the morning and evening services. Rev. Prof. Johnston, of Toronto, conducted the morning service and Rev. Mr. Almack the evening service.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

WALKERTON

Mr. Joseph Cunningham, postmaster and general merchant of Walkerton, and who has been taking treatment for kidney trouble in Walkerton, late, died in Glamis, on Sunday afternoon from uremic poisoning, aged 60 years and 6 months. The deceased, who was born in Halton Co., came to Bruce in 1872, and ran a saw mill in Greenock for four years. In 1878 he took over the general store in Glamis which he has been conducting since. The deceased, who was a Baptist and a Liberal, has been postmaster at Glamis for 15 years. A wife and family of four daughters and two sons survive.

The horrors of the great world war were again brought forcibly home to Walkerton on Monday morning last, when Mr. Donald McKechnie, Governor of the Bruce Co. Gaol, was officially notified that his second son, Capt. Malcolm McKechnie, M. D., had died of wounds in France on Thursday last, August 8th. As no previous word had been received of his being on the casualty list, it is probable that the young Walkerton officer had succumbed to his injuries shortly after being hit. Further particulars, which are expected soon, will reveal the nature of the wounds that cut off a young heroic life in the gallant discharge of duty with the medical staff at the front. The late Malcolm McKechnie was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. D. McKechnie, of Walkerton, and was born at Gillies Hill on January 11th, 1889. On the appointment of his father as County Jailor here, he came with his parents to Walkerton in 1892. After graduating from the local Public and High Schools, he took up the study of medicine, and being a brilliant student, graduated as a physician from Queen's University, Kingston, in 1914. Shortly after graduation he became associated with Drs. McKenzie and McKenzie of Winnipeg, as physicians of the Canadian Northern Railway. Hearing the call of duty, he enlisted in Winnipeg, May 1916, as army surgeon for the 159th Cameron Highlanders, and crossed overseas with them in Oct. 1916 to England, where the Battalion was broken up. He was on a Medical Board in Britain until March 1917, when he was attached to No. 6 Canadian Field Ambulance in France as Captain. He was at Vimy Ridge and saw much heavy fighting. He had narrow escapes both while attending the wounded on the field of action and on one occasion when a shell pierced the hut in which he was billeted and passed close by where he was sitting. A fine, big strapping fellow standing six feet two, Capt. McKechnie was one of the most popular and finest looking officers at the front. His death at the early age of 29 years is not only a great loss to the Canadian forces, but also cuts short a most promising professional career. He leaves besides his parents, two brothers, Neil in the Land Titles Office, Calgary, and Victor McKechnie with the 13th Reserve Battalion at Seaford, England, and three sisters, Edna, at home, (Mary)

AN AGE OF NERVES

"No heart for anything" is the cry of thousands of men and women who might be made well by the new, red blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make.

Miserable day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Their pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleepless nights rob them of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken, their limbs tremble, appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women of today. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves which are clamoring for new, rich red blood. This new, good blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which fact accounts for the thousands of cures of nervous diseases through the fair use of this medicine and strong.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. H. L. Manning, of Minneapolis and Donald, teacher at Essex.

Mr. James Whitehead received a wire from Ottawa on Wednesday morning announcing that his elder son, Capt. Roy Beverley Whitehead, infantry, was officially reported wounded in action on August 9th. As no particulars as to the seriousness of his injuries were received, Mr. Whitehead immediately sent a cable overseas for particulars. Roy, who enlisted in Toronto, shortly after graduating as a lawyer, transferred to the 160th Battalion and, as adjutant, took an active part in the training and training of the Bruce force. On the splitting up of the 160th in England, he took a commission with the 8th Battalion of Winnipeg, known at the front as the "Little Black Devils," and with which he has been fighting in France since early last Spring. A big, imposing figure of six feet, he was recently promoted on the battlefield to the command of a company in his battalion, and was doubtless leading his men in the big drive of Friday last when he and put out of action by an enemy shell.

Mr. Armond Whitehead, who recently graduated as a lawyer, has volunteered for service with the 72nd Battery of his old Alma Mater, Queen's University, Kingston, and left here Friday to train with his unit at Petawawa Camp. Armond is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Whitehead, of town, and his only brother, Capt. Roy Whitehead, who is also a lawyer, was wounded Friday while fighting at the front. The sister, Miss Helene Whitehead, left Saturday to train as a nurse in the Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

Following an accident of two years ago when he was injured in the back by the horses moving forward in the barn while he was lifting a hay rack and which developed a few weeks later into spinal trouble which deprived him of all ability to walk and rendered him an invalid until the end, Mr. Thos. Coates, a well-known and highly esteemed farmer of Brant passed to his reward on Tuesday morning at the age of 68 years. The deceased was born in Yorkshire, England, and came to Canada with his parents when only nine months old. The family located at Claremont where the deceased was raised. He was married about 45 years ago to Miss Aliza Mackintosh, of Dunbar, and after farming at Claremont for about five years the young couple came about 40 years ago to Brant, and here they resided until the end. He was a member of the Baptist Church and a stalwart Liberal in politics. He leaves to mourn him, a son, John, of Claremont, Alex, of Walkerton, and David at home, and three daughters, (Hannah) Mrs. Wm. Moore of Varny, and Misses Phoebe and Jessie at home. His wife predeceased him on the 4th of June.

OWEN SOUND

Everyone agrees that the speed limit of Owen Sound as set down by the law, is too low. Again, everybody agrees that the speed limit of Owen Sound, as set down by the motorists is too high. If motorists must persist in their own perverted opinions they must run afoul of the officers of the law. One man who put his foot a little too hard on the accelerator paid $10 for going about ten miles an hour above the legal speed limit.

A lemon extract case again came up in the police court on Saturday, with the result that Gilbert McArthur of the east hill, was fined $200. McArthur is the man that carried a stock of over two dozen large bottles of lemon extract and a great many small ones, yet professed not to know why the men bought the bottles. In fact he knew a couple of weeks ago when two men were each sent too jail for three months for drinking lemon extract. He admitted that he had a small suspicion that they were using "lemon extract for soft drinks." He was apparently unaware that it contained fifty per cent alcohol, and had a kick like a Missouri mule. Saturday he found that the mule kicked both ways. The announcement came as a great shock and it was obvious that he intended going out of the business of selling lemon extract. He would have to sell it in quart bottles for the next year to pay the $206.00 fine, but is deterred from this by Matt. Beckett's keen nose.

Tunnel Will Join France and England

(Mail and Empire)
Sir Arthur Fell, chairman of the House of Commons tunnel committee speaking at a meeting in London the other day emphasized the importance of building the long-talked-of railway line under the English Channel to connect the British Isles with France, and expressed the opinion that after the war it would be practicable to run trains through from London to Constantinople without change. Eventually, he added, the line might be extended to Calcutta, Cape Town and Pekin. This may be regarded as the long look ahead, says the Providence Journal. But the tunnel is under present discussion not merely as a look in the indefinite future with distant and dim vistas, but as a possible factor in binding the Allied countries more closely together in the years that lie immediately ahead. In the July number of the Yale Review, Major-General Francis Vinton Greene, reviews the history of the tunnel scheme with its inception 116 years ago to its definite abandonment in 1883, when Lord Wolseley, fresh from his Egyptian triumphs had declared against it as a highly dangerous proposition.

The Old Bugbear
The principal argument against the tunnel has been the possibility of an enemy getting control of it and using it for an invasion of England. Yet those who favor the plan declare that abundant defence measures could be easily devised, such as flooding. It is at least evident that if Great Britain and France had possessed the tunnel at the outbreak of the present war, the problem of transporting troops and supplies would have been enormously simplified. General Greene goes so far as to say that the war would have ended in 1916 or earlier. In 1916 under Mr. Asquith, and again in 1917 under Mr. Lloyd George, efforts were unsuccessfully made to revive the project, though a substantial public opinion was brought to its support together with 153 votes in the Commons. Mr. Bonar Law told the House last August that "it is not practicable to proceed further in the matter during the continuance of the war" yet the press of London and Paris takes a contrary view, while the French Government has always looked with favor on the plan.

What Might Have Been Saved
If the tunnel had been in existence when the war began, it might have saved the use of 1,500,000 tons of shipping. As long ago as last September the total number of passengers across the Channel since the outbreak of the war was put at twenty millions, and the merchandise carried had reached millions of tons. The cost of the tunnel was formerly put at eighty million dollars. All prices of material and labor have greatly increased, of course, but it is estimated that the improvements in engineering devices have been such that the construction to-day could be kept within that sum. It might cost far more, however, and still involve an outlay less than the combined daily expenditure of the Allied belligerents.

A Three-Year Job
General Greene thinks that the tunnel could be built in three or four years. It might even be finished, he says, in time to be a large factor in winning the war. And he declares that the people of the United States have a direct interest in the problem because the preservation of peace when it comes, will depend for several generations on the community of action between France, Great Britain, Belgium and the United States. Anything that brings these nations closer politically and economically, he says, is a step in which the Americans are vitally concerned. And he concludes:

Should Americans Build It
"If, then, this Channel Tunnel is a matter of interest to us in America, how can we show our interest? The ready answer is by building it. French and English man-power, skilled and unskilled, is now engaged to the last man, either in fighting or supplying those who fight with what they need. But there are in America large numbers of engineers and contractors who are not employed in war activities, who are not of conscription age, and who are available for such work. The common labor can be obtained by selection among the German prisoners, to the immense advantage of all concerned, or by labor from China India or Spain. The machinery can be furnished by America. It is but a tiny fraction of what we have been sending to Russia and France. The financing must be done by our Government, or under its sanction and guarantee."

CHESLEY

Jake Lemcke, 12th con, Sullivan, councillor, nearly burned the Sharon church shed, store, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Guse, in fact came within an ace of wiping out the village of Sharon one day last week. It wasn't a case of incendiarism, Jake isn't the kind of fellow who would indulge in arson, but he burned his own buggy just the same. Jake indulges occasionally in the luxury of a smoke and a spark from his pipe started a blaze after he had left the shed, where he had tied his horse, an when he returned there was nothing but the shell left even four feet of the lines being burned. The horse was uninjured. The frame of the buggy was towed home. There is no Indian blood in Jake else he would be christened Big Smoke Lemcke of the Siwash.

formation was laid against him by Constable Kidd and he was fined $12 on costs by Magistrate Bell. The next time Gordon wants to hit the high spots he will speed up, a thoroughfare that has fewer rigs and autos on it than the Main Street of this town.

Two young men in this town were before Magistrate Halliday on Tuesday under the anti-laws law and were let off on condition that they secure work in 48 hours, otherwise they go to jail. Boys who work one day and idle the next should be committed to an Industrial Farm to learn a useful trade.

Miss Ora McCannel spent Sunday and Monday with her parents on 6th Con. Eld. Miss McCannel was teaching in Warton up till the summer holidays but resigned to accept the position of ledger keeper in the Bank of Commerce.

A telegram came from Ottawa on Monday to Mrs. Wm. Hetherington of this town announcing that her son Pte. Wilfrid Hunter Hetherington, was reported dangerously ill at 47 General Hospital, August 9th, with gunshot wound in right shoulder. Wilfrid enlisted with the 248th Batt. and left Owen Sound on May 25th 1917, for overseas. The telegram was forwarded to his mother in Warton.

What Will You Do For Help?

FARM help is scarce, but this condition can be relieved to a marked degree by using machines that accomplish more work in a given time with less man power.

Why should the farmer cling to horses—a slow, expensive means of power—when every other business is adopting the truck and thereby reducing the cost of hauling, speeding up deliveries, and saving for human needs the food that the horses would otherwise consume?

The motor driven truck can work constantly at maximum load under the burning summer sun, or in the coldest weather. Unlike the horse it needs no rests while working, it eats only while in actual use, and when the day's work is done it requires very little attention, and leaves you free for other "Chores" about the place. Then, it can be housed in one quarter the space of the horses, wagon and harness it replaces.

It is a mistaken idea that a truck is useful only for driving upon paved roads. The Ford can be driven all over the farm, and used for hauling grain, potatoes, fruit, roots, fertilizer, wood, stock, milk or any other product. The speed it travels, the time it saves, and its low upkeep cost appeal very strongly to all users of the Ford Truck. If you need help, order your Ford One Ton Truck today.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR ARREARS OF TAXES.

COUNTY OF BRUCE TO WIT:

By virtue of a warrant issued under the hand of the Warden of the County of Bruce, and the Seal of the said County, bearing date the 13th day of July, A.D. 1918, and to me directed, commanding me to levy upon the several parcels of land hereinafter described for the arrears of taxes respectively due thereon, together with all costs incurred. I hereby give notice, that pursuant to the Assessment Act, R.S.O. and By-Law 357, of the County of Bruce, designated "A" by-law to divide the County of Bruce into three districts for the purpose of the said sales of lands, I shall, unless such arrears of taxes and charges are sooner paid, proceed to sell by Public Auction so much of the said lands as may be necessary for the payment of the said arrears of taxes, costs and charges thereon, at the following mentioned time and place for each of the several districts mentioned in the aforesaid by-law.

For the Lions Head District, at the hour of one o'clock p.m. at the Town Hall of the Township of Eastnor, in the Village of Lions Head on Tuesday, the 22nd day of October, A.D. 1918.

For the Warkton District, at the hour of one o'clock p.m. at the Council Chamber, Town Hall, in the Town of Warkton, on Wednesday, the 23rd day of October, A.D. 1918.

For the Walkerton District, at the hour of noon, at the Council Chamber, in the County Buildings, in the Town of Walkerton, on Friday, the 25th day of October, A.D. 1918.

Lands in the Lions Head District to be sold for taxes at Lions Head as aforesaid.

Editorial

Home Trade, yes! But we must always practice what we preach.

What is the use of mail by aero-plane, are we not going fast enough now?

There is social unrest in Japan.
The pinch of high prices is felt by these Orientals.

It is very encouraging to read that the opinion is becoming universal that the war will be over next year.

"Wherewithall shall we be clothed?" The catalogues have no snaps to offer, underclothing at $8.00 a suit makes us sit up.

And now we reverently pray, "God Save our Splendid Men," and we are thankful that so many of the casualties reported are those merely wounded.

Some fifteen weeklies in Ontario alone have gone out of business within a year.
And yet the people still ask the newspapers to advertise for nothing, under the impression that the cost of publishing is a mere trifle.

Gen. Pershing has made known to Washington his belief that a clean shave helps to maintain the morale of the soldier. Accordingly the government is supplying every soldier with a razor.

There will be less lumber next year as it will be impossible to get a large number of logs out this winter. Last year the camps had about 60 per cent. of their regular crew, and this year they will have less.

Can the town afford to lose the Dominion Fish Coy? Not Well, then, let us enter into friendly conversation with the Company and find out where we are at in the matter.
The Echo understands the matter has reached the stage where we need to bestir ourselves. We pass this on to the Board of Trade and Town Council.

Yes, the first instalment of the taxes has been paid, but they have set the people thinking. They are high, and it is a question if anyone now would want them five mills higher.
They are too high for the welfare of the town. A number of things have contributed to this result. This condition will obtain for a few years yet, but after 1920 there will be easier days, and when 1923 shall be reached the back of our delinquent debt will be well broken. The main question is how can we best get along until that time? Strict economy, says one. True, but there is a certain expenditure which must go on.
Everything costs more than formerly.
One good factory running—in full blast—would be the best solution.
People would then forget all about our rate.

Mr. Wm. McDonald, of the Chesley Enterprise, heart sick with the labor question after an experience of four years, has taken a partner into his business "for better or worse, for richer or poorer." We welcome this new man to the journalism of Bruce.
So far journalism has not rewarded ability to the extent of making any of the County publishers millionaires, but journalists have always regarded the money end of the business as a matter of minor consideration, and simply pay attention to collections in order to keep up a custom. Now that Mac is relieved of mechanical worries we will look for orations at different points in the riding dealing with the burning questions of the day. Success to the new firm!

The invalid does not necessarily lose his sense of touch because he does not feel well.

MILLER LAKE

Mr. Lorne Boyle has been down to Eastnor for a week helping to finish up the hay harvest.

The Mason family, of Spry, were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle on Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Rouse is down at No. 1,
Lindsay, visiting her mother, Mrs.
John McArthur, who got hurt last week by being thrown out of a buggy and a wheel going over one of her legs.

Mr. Abe. Milhausen was up here on Monday and bought two three-year-old steers and three fat sheep from Mr. Michael Sadler. The price paid for the steers was $119.00 each and 9c. per lb. for the sheep. The sheep netted Michael $18 a piece.

Mr. D. Martin was down to East-nor on Wednesday visiting his brother, Murdoch, who is laid up with Rheumatism.

Mr. James Brough is home here to take up his harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLennan and family, of Stokes Bay, were up here with their car on Sunday and took in the church service.

Messrs. R. Nixon and Alf Rouse were up here on Tuesday on a business trip.

A few of our young people took in the pie social at Dyers Bay on Friday night.

Mrs. John Holmes, sr., drove her niece, Miss Mildred McMaster, who had been visiting her for a week, down to Spry on Wednesday.

Mr. Henry Escho was down to Spry on Tuesday and brought up a binder with him that he bought from Robt.
Shaw.

Mr. Thos. Robins was down to Stokes Bay on Thursday.

There is a serious sugar famine here at present.

A few of the farmers here have started to cut their grain.

Mr. James Watson, of Dyers Bay, was a business visitor on Friday.
Jim was looking up calves to buy but there are none to sell here just now.

Mrs. Henry Escho was down to Stokes Bay on Friday.

There is every prospect of a very good grain crop. Peas are extra good as there was no damage done to them by the bug this season.

OXENDEN

Mr. J. T. Reeve has invested in a Chevrolet car.

Slightly used cars for sale by W. E. Fry, Maxwell Agent.

If you know a good bit of news, pass it on to The Echo.

If you have a friend coming or going, please inform The Echo.

Oats are a splendid crop, and what is better they are a splendid price.

Boas fishing has not been good lately, at least these reports reach this office.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church had a launch trip as far as Milligan's dock Monday evening.

WANTED—At once, for Paula Hotel, Meaford, Dining Room Girl, also Kitchen Girl. Wages $25.00 per month.

The Sunday School of the Methodist church had their picnic at Oliphant last week. They went by car, and enjoyed the day in Moore's park.

HOUSE FOR SALE—As I am leaving town will sell my house cheap. Terms reasonable—A. E. PICKARD, T.F.

The Market Prices—On Monday the dealers paid 40 cents per pound for butter and 40 cents per doz. for eggs and $18.75 for hogs.

FARMERS NOTICE—Until September 15th chopping done every Saturday and Monday. Gristing done every day—WIARTON FLOUR MILLS

Miss Madigan, Deseronto, has been secured as teacher of Moderns in the High School. She has had six years experience. Her salary will be $900.

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred Berkin York Cross Pigs, 6 weeks old. Ready for sale in one week—E. RAINBOTH, Mar. Ont. 8, 21 2 v

Civic holiday, Shallow Lake, Aug. 28th—See large bills. The most beautifully decorated car at Shallow Lake this day will receive a prize of $5.

The Sarawak Patriotic Club will hold a weekly dance every Thursday at Kings Royal Park, near Owen Sound, Kelly-Miller Orchestra. Gentlemen 50c, Ladies 25c.

Buggy dealers have informed us that auto seat buggies are now quoted at $175 and standard seats at $160. This is an increase of practically 100% over the prices of 1914.

WANTED—Fowl. Highest market price paid, for fowl, every Tuesday at Arlington Hotel Stable. Must be starved overnight—A. F. JOHNSTON, buyer.

Last week the post office staff could hardly turn around the office, the Fall and Winter catalogues of the big departmental stores filled the place.

A healthy condition. A gentleman who has been intending to move his family to a Muskoka town, writes that he cannot secure a vacant house. This reminds us of best sugar days.

The death occurred in Wiarton last Thursday of Annie Nicholson, relict of the late David Winskill, aged 71 years. The funeral services were held Sunday and interment took place in Jackson cemetery, Amabel.

The tug "Runabout" owned by Cookie Wright is now submerged in the quiet waters of Colpoys Bay. The tug was anchored near the shore, and in some way got water logged and sank.

Mr. William Eldridge, who is operating a saw mill at Tobermory was in town Monday and says that he has 20 men working at his mill at the Tub. With what he saws there, Stokes Bay and Golden Valley he has now the largest cut of any millman on the Peninsula.

The tax collector does not report very favorably upon the payment of the first instalment of taxes. Generally speaking more than half of the taxes are paid then, but this time considerably less than half have been paid. Those who do not pay on time must not forget that there is a five per cent. extra added for this failure.

A Contingent, C. E. F., is to be mobilized for service in Siberia. Instructions have been received from Ottawa to proceed with recruiting for this Unit. One hundred men are required for the Infantry from Military District No. 1. Returned soldiers physically fit and others not at present liable under the Military Service Act, to be given first opportunity. Discharged soldiers re-enlisting will be given original Regimental Numbers. Applicants may apply to any authorized medical examiner in Military District No. 1, for medical examination.

Mr. S. H. Spragge has just finished some necessary work on the reservoir. New sides were built, and altogether nearly 300 bags of cement were used. This ought to be a great improvement to our water works system and save so much pumping.

WANTED—Experienced Bench carpenters and General woodworking machine men for Sash and Doors also. One Sticker Hand, good on detail work—Apply W. WARREN, c/o R. LAIDLAW & CO., 2280 Bay St., W. Toronto, July 10 8-9

Executors Notice To Creditors

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF WILLIAM JAMES MANLEY, late of the Town of Warton in the County of Bruce, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario (1914) Chapter 121, Section 56, and amending acts that all creditors and others having any claims or demands against the estate of the above named William James Manley, deceased, who died on or about the 3rd day of June, A. Give the Congregation a Holiday

The church attendance is usually very small during the holiday season and the minister is away on his vacation, before leaving he usually exhorts his flock to be faithful in their attendance during his absence and announces that Rev. So and So will conduct the services the first Sunday, and Rev. So and So the following, etc. Did it ever occur to the management that the congregation would enjoy a holiday as well as the preacher? They are not much interested in strange preachers, and a great many feel it is their duty to attend when a stranger is holding forth, while in reality they would rather be absent than sit there yawning in the heat. We certainly think that the pastor, who has labored hard all the year is entitled to a vacation. He comes back rested, both physically and spiritually, and the congregation are as human as the preacher, and no doubt the same rule would apply to them as well.

LOCAL NEWS

The wrecking crews are at work on the Cement Plant and the Beet Sugar factory. The principal thing for salvage is steel. This, we are informed, cannot be purchased in Canada unless it is for war purposes, and it is now worth $160 per ton. It cost about $40 per ton when it went into these buildings.

The Allies' Best Friend
The Merchant Sailor

300,000 Men Brave the U-Boat for Us

The men of the Merchant Marine have given loyal service—yes, and their lives—ungrudgingly and unflinchingly. They deserve the utmost we can do for them!

The tragedy is that this splendid body of men is not recognized by governments, no provision is made for the relief of dependents—no separation allowance—no pension?

It is left to public subscription to care for the widows and orphans. It is vital work our seamen are doing—for without the supplies and munitions carried by the Merchant Marine it would be impossible to keep our armies in the field.

No Government Allowance for their Dependents

300,000 seamen of the Merchant Marine "carry on" in spite of the U-Boat and the floating mine. 15,000 have made their last voyage.

One hundred and seventy-six merchant ships have been sunk since the war began, without leaving trace of ship, cargo or crew.

All this is in the Allies' cause—it is for us! Isn't it the very least we can do, to take care of the widows and orphans, who otherwise will nurse their grief in poverty? Sooner or later governments may make provision for this vital service, but until such time comes we have an unquestionable duty.

doubt pay. There is lots of cream in the country for a large plant.

The Beekeepers' Association executive and crop report committee met recently in Toronto. The result is a report to all beekeepers telling them to jump their prices and to keep 25 to 40 per cent. of their crop off the market to be used for fall feeding. The reason given for this is that the Canada Food Board has ruled that no sugar can be obtained for feeding. They report the market "very strong" in Canada and the United States with a big demand from overseas. The latter, the keepers are doubtful of being able to handle.

Mr. William Mateer, Golden Valley had a letter from his son, Raymond, Service, acting as first mate on the Sea Gull. When he wrote the letter, he was in a Nova Scotian port. He likes his work and is in good health. His other son like is in England expecting to be sent to France soon. Mr. Mateer has two nephews in France, one of whom is overseas of two cement plants, 40 miles apart, and he attends to his work by means of a motor cycle. The other nephew is in the trenches.

The Paisley tax rate will total up to thirty-four and one-tenth mills on the dollar for this year. At the council meeting on Thursday the village rate was made up at 11 mills, the county rate is 6 9/10 mills, school rate 7 8/10 mills, while the local improvement debentures, general debentures covering carpet factory and Willow Creek bridge, and the school debentures aggregate another 8 9/10 mills—total 34 1/10. In addition there are the sanitation and street watering frontage tax. Not until the war is over, when there will not be the call for heavy county grants towards various patriotic funds, will there likely be any reduction in our annual handout to the tax collector—Paisley Advocate.

A despatch from Tara Sunday said: "Tara, Aug. 18.—In the death of Captain John Douglass, which occurred Saturday morning, Tara loses one of its best respected and valuable citizens. Born at Perthshire, Scotland, 55 years ago, he emigrated to Canada when 18 years of age, accompanied by his mother and two brothers, Robert and James. He settled and took up land in the Township of Arran on the border of the Village of Tara, in 1851, being among its first settlers. Mr. Douglass, besides carrying on his business of farming and the raising of thoroughbred cattle, was an ardent, intelligent and public-spirited citizen. He was captain of No. 6 company, 32nd Battalion, Bruce, and was in command of the company when the battalion was called out to assist in the suppression of the Riel rebellion. He leaves surviving him his wife, one son, Lieut.-Col. W. J. Douglass, of London, Ont., lately returned from service in France, and two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Jones, of Carleton Place, and Mrs. Arthur Dalgarro, of Tara.

WM. CARSON

Last week we reported that William Carson, of this town, a member of the 160th, had been wounded. The wounds were fatal, and a cable announcing his death soon followed the first despatch informing of his wounds. The deceased was the only son of the late George Carson and wife. His mother is living in town and there are three sisters: Mrs. Allan Johnston, Mrs. L. Bruin, of Lions Head, and Miss Carson, at home. Will Carson is another Wiarton boy who has given his life in this great struggle for freedom. Kind hearted, good natured, he was liked by everybody. The only son of a widowed mother yet he enlisted, and while the family will mourn, yet their comfort is in the fact of his noble death, a sacrifice which he made for others. The Rev. W. W. Prudham held a memorial service on Sunday evening which was largely attended, and relatives of the deceased were present from Aberdeen and Lions Head.

SGT. NELSON GUNNIS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gunnis, Kelfield, Sask., formerly of Adamsville, Ont., received the sad news that their son, SGT. Victor Nelson Gunnis was killed in action August 8th, 1918. Victor enlisted with the 160th Bruce Battalion February 3rd, 1916 at the age of 19 years, went to England with the 160th and on March 28th, 1918, he left England for France where he has been until he made the supreme sacrifice. The details of his death have not yet been received.

DERWOOD WAUGH

A despatch from Ottawa, Tuesday, announced that this young man had been wounded in the thigh and leg. He is a son of Mr. John Waugh, of Pike Bay, and belonged to the Bruce 160th, and signed up at Wiarton, boarding at Mrs. Mitchell's. He made many friends here who will anxiously hope that his wounds may not be of a serious nature.

DYERS BAY

Mr. R. Boyle did business in Lions Head last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tynan spent the past week visiting friends in Lions Head.

Mr. I. Pyke called on friends in Lions Head last week.

Rev. R. Shapp, of Tobermory, held service here last Sunday. The service was much appreciated after having none for some weeks.

Messrs. Hill and Ewald, of Wiarton, motored here last Wednesday on some business in connection with the Furniture Factory.

What might have caused a very serious accident occurred last Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathieson and Mrs. Pilgrim were returning home from spending the evening at a neighbor's house when their car passed over a large rail which had been placed across the road during their absence. Fortunately they were approaching a culvert and had slowed down just in time. Apparently there is plenty of work for the preachers in these parts yet.

Mrs. Andrew Wardrop and daughter, Bella, are visiting friends at Walkerton.

Consecration

Who'll win the war? It's the man who'll go Over the top to crush the foe. Giving himself and his love of life. That parents, children, sweetheart, wife, And the sane good people of all the world May live with a decent flax unfurled. Nor dreading a foul land-lusting Thor Who would beat them down. He will win the war.

Who'll win the war? It's the woman who In her fond, warm, God-sworn heart is true To her soldier who's fighting over there— The man who knows that her every prayer, Her every hope is of him; and when With every word made right, he will come again To all that a life's worth living for— "Home sweet home." She will win the war.

Who'll win the war? It's the one who sows And tends and reaps; the one who grows In field and garden, by vale and plain. The sun wrought treasure of golden grain That must feed the soldier behind the gun. Whose steel-writ message shall last the Hun And his crimes all decent men abhor. The one in the furrow will win the war.

Who'll win the war? It's the one who knows He is giving his noblest hammer blows To clinch the rivet and drive the nail. Who is helping to fashion the ships that sail To foe-infested seas with men To set this mad world right again; Who thinks not of his own ease or Of his selfish gains. He will win the war.

Who'll win the war? Grandmother Gray, A shrew knitting day by day. While with every stitch, as the "nicks" advance, Is a prayer for a boy somewhere in France. And she thinks of a soldier long ago— And a grave where old-timers' roses grow— Who fought, as his grandson's fighting, for The world's good peace. She will win the war.

Who'll win the war? It is every man— And woman—who does the best he can. Working and giving; who scouts his ease And the sophistry of selfish pleas. Till he feels the thrill of the fearful strife Of men who are giving limb and life For a flag that stands for a free world, nor Deem the price too great. He will win the war.

Who'll win the war? I, I alone! It is I who must make this fight my own! I must strive—head, heart and hand—as though My own clenched fist is to crush the foe! All that I have of strength and youth I must lay on the altar of God and Truth And the decent world we are fighting for. Yes, I, myself—I will win the war! D.—Nixon Waterman

DEATH OF BEULAH PRITCHARD

There is widespread sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pritchard on account of the death of their oldest daughter, Beulah, which occurred at St. Catharines last Thursday. In her last place in Wiarton on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard moved to St. Catharines in the early spring. Beulah was born here and had gone to school here, and was known by all, and beloved by all, and her death at the early age of 17 years calls forth the sincere sympathy of a host of friends. She had an attack of pleurisy and her death was due to heart failure which this disease had caused. The funeral on Sunday held at the residence of Mr. C. W. Wright, was largely attended.

Engineer McDowell Recommends $9000 To Drain Boat Lake

Engineer McDowell cannot see that anything can be done by spending $2500 on the drainage scheme of Boat Lake. If this is all the Council is willing to spend he would advise them to ask for tenders. In his opinion this will do very little, almost nothing. Contractors want big money. How are the logs to be got out of the creek? Not by horses, they would sink in the mire if they should go near the Rankin river. The only feasible way is to build a dredge, which will cost $2000 and it will take another $7000 anyway to dredge the river, and cut the rock. This will reduce the water three feet, and it would mean that this season Boat Lake would be dry.

It appears that there are about 1800 acres of land affected in Amabel and 750 in Albemarle. Much of this land is Beaver Meadow, and whether all the property owners will now petition for the scheme to go through remains to be seen.

If Boat Lake should be drained it may very materially affect the Sable Falls Light & Power Co. At the present, we are informed there is more water coming into their dam from the Rankin river than from the Sable. If the drainage scheme should go through this water will all come down with a rush in the Spring. But should the Sable Falls Light & Power Co. buy the land around Boat Lake build a dam on the Rankin river and raise the water three feet then they would have an inexhaustible supply. This would guarantee power at the Sable 24 hours per day for 12 months in the year. This is all we want.

LION'S HEAD

W. B. Moore has a few milk cows for sale at the farm about two miles north of Spry.

A by-law was passed on Friday last prohibiting bicycles from being ridden on the sidewalks of the village. The fine is not less than one and not more than five.

Mrs. W. B. Moore, Miss Gertrude Moore and Miss Minnie Senanough are spending a few days at the Exhibition in Toronto this week. Dr. Roy Hacking drove them to town Sunday.

Owing to the illness of her sister, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Bolton, of Toledo, who was reported as leaving last Tuesday, remained over until Saturday noon. We are pleased to report Mrs. Armstrong very much improved.

Mr. King, of Woodstock, gave a demonstration with the Chemical Engines last Friday on the street. A fire was started with boxes and coal and was extinguished in thirty seconds. Now we need a volunteer fire brigade to examine practice.

Two weeks ago last Saturday night a bicycle was taken from the site of Bruin's store. Sunday morning it was standing in front of Whit. Moore's store having been left there during the night. Mr. Harmon Clark, the father of the boy who lost the wheel, is taking legal proceedings against the party who took it. Besides losing considerable time in searching for it, he is also minus some of the attachments. The bicycle had been repaired in the meantime and was in rather a dilapidated condition when returned.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hacking, of Nelson, B. C. were guests of their nephew, Dr. Roy Hacking for several days last week.

The sawmill closed down having completed its cut last week.

The Str. Pedwell is reported to have been in Collingwood Dry Dock last week.

Although everything connected with the manufacture of Delco Light has advanced it takes fewer bushels of grain to buy it to-day than before the war. With labor scarce, Delco is a great help on the farm.

Mr. B. E. Miller held Court here Monday night. The case was adjourned to Wiarton to allow defendant to secure further witnesses.

Horticultural Society Horticultural Meeting Not Well Attended

The meeting to organize a Horticultural Society for Wiarton on last Thursday evening was poorly attended. Dr. P. E. Bennett, President of the St. Thomas Society and past president for the Province gave an excellent address on the value and work of Horticultural Societies, illustrating his remarks by some 50 colored views of the kind of work such societies have done. A committee of these present was appointed to secure the number required by Act of Parliament to organize officially. This is necessary to secure the annual government grant which amounts to approximately an amount equal to that raised locally.

OLIPHANT

Mrs. Symons will return to Toronto shortly. She has been benefited by her holiday here quite as much as her son.

Mr. West and Mr. Mills, of Toronto joined the family party at Mrs. W. H. Wrights for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hacking from Nelson, B. C. spent some days here visiting their relatives on Hawkes Nest and the shore. They motored to Lions Head and were the guests of Dr. Hacking for a few days. They left for Listowel on Monday.

Mrs. Heather and daughter and Mrs. McAllister and family and several of the party in Merry-go-round left for their homes in Hanover, Toronto and Waterloo, yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Campbell and family left on Friday for Brantford. Mr. and Mrs. Rennie and Mrs. Windsor returned to Listowel and the exodus will continue this week.

Sgt. Lloyd Logan was the guest of his parents here for the week end. Miss White, of Mar, also visited Miss Logan over the week end.

The vegetable man made his last trip here on Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Prudham conducted the service most acceptably in the Campers' Church on the 18th and last Sunday Rev. Mr. Daniels took charge of the service. Oliphant is always glad to hear Mr. Daniels.

There are many friends here who have great sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard and the other relatives in their recent bereavement.

One of the Original "Pats", that noble band so nearly annihilated, comes to Oliphant this week. B. Lewis will be the guest of Mrs. Cross on Cranberry, also his brother, another was born, and Mrs. Lewis. The latter is a daughter of Mrs. Cross.

The last service in the Campers' Church was held on Sunday and the sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Daniels. Too much praise cannot be given the clergymen, who camp at this resort, for their assistance at these services and the excellent sermons they have preached. The Campers' church is now one of the regular institutions of this popular summer resort.

One of the most pleasing and enjoyable events of the camping season was the corn roast at Osoosy cottage on Thursday evening. The entertainment was gotten up to celebrate Miss Josephine Sharnon's birthday and also as a hearty send off to Mr. Deas Symons, of Toronto, who has made hosts of friends during his holidays. Everybody was invited and Mr. and Mrs. F. Sharnon, Mr. and Mrs. D. McCure and Miss Jean McCure, Mrs. West and Mr. Symons received the guests and did everything to make a happy and merry time for all. A large bonfire and Lady Luna rivalled each other in lighting the scene and the weather was perfect after a wet afternoon. A spirited programme was given and enjoyed. Mr. Warren gave two good readings. Mrs. G. R. McDougall gave a reading of "The Inventor's Wife" and Miss H. Bechtel gave two fine selections. Misses Dorothy Engle and Dorothy Mickle's vocal selections, accompanied by the ukulele were repeatedly encored and others helped to make the evening a success. Popped corn, roasted marshmallows and the best of golden corn were largely enjoyed by all. And even "On the Side" who translated the Toronto News never saw better Golden Bantam corn in his garden. The evening ended by all uniting in hearty cheers and best wishes for those for whom this entertainment was given.

First Tractor On The Peninsula THE WAY TO RUSH WORK

To Mr. Abe. Mielhausen, Lions Head, belongs the honor of bringing the first tractor to the Bruce Peninsula. He took it up the East stone road on Monday and the same piece of machinery can travel along at the rate of 6 miles per hour. It is one of the tractors imported by the Ontario Government, made by Ford, and cost $765. This tractor will pull three plows, a disc, a smoothing harrow, and a seed drill, too. In fact one can hitch on about all the implements on the farm except the grindstone. This bit of machinery which will give the horses a rest can do some work. It has ploughed, with two ploughs, 9 acres of sod in 15 hours, so in stubble, and with three ploughs, it would soon tear up a field. About one gallon of coal oil is the amount of fuel needed to produce power to plough one acre.

The Echo is most pleased to note that farming in the most progressive way is now being done on the Peninsula. There are few better tracts of land than the Easton swamp, and those who want to see progressive farming can visit Abe when he goes at his fall ploughing.

COLPOY'S BAY

Miss Mary Whicher spent last week in Wiarton visiting relatives.

Mrs. Edith Poate was on the sick last week but we hope she will soon be better.

The Misses Reta, Evelyn and Isabel and Wallace Kalbfleisch visited in Wiarton all this week.

Mrs. Atkinson and daughters, Elsie and Nora, of Toronto, returned to their home last week after a very enjoyable five weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Burford Rydall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and family, of Wiarton, Sundayed with his sister, Mrs. Harry Bell.

Miss Helen Bryce and brother, Leslie, of Walkerton, were guests of Miss Myrtle and Nora Farrow last week. Leslie has gone to Toronto to train in the Flying Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farrow, of Vancouver, Sask., who have been visiting relatives for some time returned home last week after an enjoyable visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McFaul, and Mr. and Mrs. A. McFaul, of Owen Sound, visited their aunt and uncle at Mr. Chas. Gilbert's on Wednesday last week. They motored over.

It almost seems as if the summer was over when we hear the musical sound of the siren whistle of the thrashing machine.

Messrs. Burford, J. Rydall and Wm. Rydall have bought a brand new complete thrashing outfit, of the largest capacity, with self-feeder, blower and straw cutter. It will be managed by Mr. Wm. Rydall and Mr. Herbert Gilbert. We bespeak for these two enterprising young men a goodly share of the patronage of their neighbors and friends. Mr. Burford Rydall also has his former thrashing outfit in operation and has commenced work this week.

Public school opens on the 3rd of Sept. The wee folk will have to crowd as much enjoyment as possible into the next week. Miss Craig, of Tara, is the new lady teacher.

Miss Esther Baird is visiting relatives at Fordwich.

Mrs. Carl Whicher and Ross left last week for Walkerville where they will visit her parents for a month.

Three private parties were enjoyed this last week, one below Spragg's hill at Bay Point, one at Oliphant, and one at Burford Lake. Everyone had a lovely time but the time passed too quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pettman, of Alton, were visitors at Mr. J. B. Farrow's on Sunday.

Misses Kathleen and Stella Whicher visited with Miss Edge near Durban last week and over Sunday.

PIKE BAY

Mr. George Hayward is logging on his farm on Con. 1.

Mr. W. Gillies, Lions Head, passed through here one day last week inspecting the telephone lines.

The Rev. Mr. Hunt, Lions Head, conducted prayer meeting here last Friday evening.

Letter From A German Prisoner

Eddie Hyde Writes A Cheerful Letter Home

Giesse, June 17th, 1918.
Dear Mother and Jean—Just a few lines to let you know I am well hoping this finds you the same. Things are going about the same with me. I generally manage to keep in the best of health etc. and pass away the time in camp here to the best of my ability. I work around the camp with the electrician keeping the lighting in repair, so I am always in camp. Had a letter from Annie some time ago and also one from Jean. I expect you will be home again before this reaches you by what Annie said in her letter. I never hear from Will now and expect he has forgotten him still over here. I will hardly know the old place when I get back, things have changed so much these last three or four years. Received the money all right, I think I told you in my last letter. Well I will have to close for this time, hoping this finds you in the best of health.
Your loving son,
Ed.

OXENDEN

Mr. and Miss Allan, of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Austin, Belknap and Clarence, and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Baldwin and family planked at Lake Huron last Thursday. All had a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. Singfield and daughter, who have been visiting her parents for some weeks returned to their home in the States this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Taylor visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Taylor and family last Sunday.

Miss McGregor, of Zion, Sundayed in Oxenden.

Mrs. C. Allan and Miss Winnifred, of Hamilton, have been the guests of the Baldwin families all last week.

Mrs. Orr and three sons, of Winnipeg, were holiday visitors in the village.

Miss Monsinger, of Grimsby, was a guest of Miss Belva Flarity for several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor and family, of Owen Sound, Sundayed with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Loney.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster and daughter, of Owen Sound, Miss Monsinger and Miss Belva Flarity were in Lions Head on Wednesday last week.

CLAWERING

Miss Laura Hamby, Wiarton, is visiting her cousin Bertha Morley.

Miss Jean Matheson, of Sarnia, returned home on Monday after spending three weeks with her cousins, the Misses Simms.

Mrs. King and family, of Espraula, Ont., are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Jackson.

Thelma Lawrence and Greta Perkins returned home last week from Melver where they spent part of their holidays.

Stewart Moore spent a week with friends in Owen Sound, returning Friday.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. S. Breeze, of Chatsworth, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. R. Simmie at their cottage at Sable Beach.

Mr. A. J. Matheson, of Sarnia, spent a few days with his brother-in-law, W. G. Simmie, returning home on Monday.

Miss Maud Brinn, of Lions Head, visited with friends here for the first part of the week.

Miss Evans, of Chesley, called at the store Saturday en route to visiting Mrs. T. Dealy.

OWEN SOUND

Chief W. O. Foster and family returned yesterday from the vicinity of Owen Sound where he spent his vacation helping his brother-in-law on the farm. He enjoyed the outing immensely as well as doing good yeoman's service in harvesting the crops. Sanitary Inspector S. G. King is doing his bit on the farm and yesterday loaded ten loads of oats and forked in to the barn several loads of a neighboring farm. If an accurate record should be kept of the work which citizens have done and are doing in harvesting the crop it would make a very creditable showing as many of the business men have quietly slipped away without any ostentation and put in a day or two helping save the crops.

A telegram this morning brought word of the death of Mrs. Josiah Tolton, which occurred last evening in Calgary. The deceased has been in ill-health for several months and the end came as a result of heart trouble. Mrs. Tolton, who was formerly Miss McKenzie, came originally from Warton and she became well known to Owen Sounders as Superintendent of the G. and M. Hospital for many years during its earlier years. She was superintendent up till about 18 years ago, when she was married to Mr. Tolton, who was at that time accountant for the Grey and Bruce Loan Co. here. Fourteen years ago they went to Warton and later to Calgary, where her husband predeceased her a year ago. Two children survive. Mrs. Tolton was a splendid Christian woman, of many attainments and she has many old friends in Owen Sound and Warton, who will mourn her loss. The heartfelt sympathy of the community will go out to the two young people who have been bereaved of both father and mother. The funeral takes place tomorrow at Calgary.

Mr. Elias Lemon has long cherished the desire to own a motor boat of a size that would make it possible, with a minimum of danger to not only the Great Lakes, but if desired, to take her on salt water. And his ambition in that direction has now been fulfilled with the completion of a new boat that has been under construction by Mr. Fred Doherty since last fall. The boat is of very substantial construction, being built entirely of white oak and cedar, is 48 feet, six inches long, has a beam of 11 feet and a moulded depth of 5 feet amidships. She is equipped with a Dayton engine of about 35 horse power, that drives the boat about nine or ten miles an hour, and has all conveniences in her roomy cabins. There is a model kitchenette or galley, a refrigerator, lavatory and sleeping accommodation for eight persons in specially designed folding cots. The boat has been tested several times and has proven its ability as a sea boat in the heavy seas of Sunday last. It is by far the largest motor boat in this district and will comfortably carry 75 or 80 persons. There is a possibility that the boat may also be used during the fruit season.

Every Woman's Right

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life, yet nine out of ten suffer years of agony, usually from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one out of every five pale thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures—sure signs of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All week, suffering women should win the right to be well by refreshing their weary bodies with the new, rich, red blood that promptly transforms them into healthy, attractive women. This new rich, red blood is supplied in abundance by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body.

Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found a prompt cure when suffering from anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, rheumatism, general weakness and these ailments from which women alone suffer. There is no part of this broad Dominion in which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this is a reason why these pills have been a favorite household remedy for more than a generation. If you are ailing and will give the pills a fair trial you will find renewed health and happiness in their use. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

son, to carry apples, etc., to Owen Sound from near by places. The boat is strongly constructed and is not built for speed but for safety and general use. Mr. Doherty is a successful local builder, of Collingwood, and in the construction of Mr. Lemon's boat, spared no pains to make it one of the staunchest vessels of its kind.

The Pathfinder the large private yacht owned by Mr. James Playfair Midland, was in Owen Sound harbor yesterday and attracted a great deal of attention from the citizens. She arrived off King's Royal Park about eleven o'clock Wednesday night and dropped anchor there, coming on into the river about nine o'clock yesterday morning. On board were the owner, Mr. James Playfair, and Mayor D. L. White and Mr. D. S. Pratt, manager of the Canadian Dredge Company, both of Midland, and Mr. J. S. Bell, general manager of the Bank of Hamilton, Hamilton, and Mr. W. E. Finn also of the Bank of Hamilton. The trip was made from Midland for the purpose of conveying the latter two gentlemen part way on their trip to Hamilton. During the stay of the boat in town, Mr. Playfair and his guests were entertained by a number of prominent citizens of the town, including Mayor Webster and Messrs. E. Lemon, J. M. Kilbourn and H. B. Smith. Mr. Playfair also visited the Kennedy plant. The boat is a beauty, 154 feet long, built like a battleship with protruding ram in front and battleship stern. She is in command of Capt. Kitchener, a well known lake mariner, and carried a crew of 13 officers and men, including a wireless operator. The boat was built in Racine, Wis., for Mr. Burroughs, of Chicago, one of the best known yacht racing enthusiasts in the United States, and is capable of a speed of 24 knots. She is steel construction and is randomly equipped with all modern appointments as could be desired. Other furnishings are all of the very best and she makes an ideal gentleman's yacht. She left for Midland at 12:30 yesterday.

Mrs. Morrison, Miss Cecil Morrison, and Miss Trissie McGregor returned on Wednesday from a rather extended sojourn in Bermuda. They left here on May 6th for the beautiful island in the Atlantic and arrived safely and settled down in a nice cottage to enjoy life for a month or so. Just about the time that the party were about ready to return to Canada, a German submarine made its appearance on the Atlantic coast and made shipping rather unsafe for a time. About the same time some of the boats plying to Bermuda were taken off the route, making it impossible to secure a passage from the island. When passage was finally secured and their departure had been accomplished, the boat in which they were, was chased by a sub. The passenger boat fired a number of rounds and the passengers were assured that it was only target practice, but on reaching port it was said that the firing was due to the appearance of a submarine. They escaped and are none the worse for the experience. All enjoyed the trip and stay at Bermuda immensely.

Two Dominion Police who have been in town for some time are now beginning to show Owen Sound how they work and what results they get. After careful investigation they found that Robert Livingstone McNeill, who has been working at the Kennedy saw mill was a deserter from the 110th Perth Battalion. He deserted about two years ago and has travelled considerable since then. He left his military clothes near Kincardine and when accosted carried off his marriage certificate with him, no doubt thinking this would get him out of the clutches of the M. S. A. But the military police are very careful and do not make many mistakes as McNeill is now in the hands of the military authorities. For some time it has been rumored that a bunch of absentees under the M. S. A. had been living near Ben Allen and defying the law and every person else and when the two Dominion Police made a raid on the slum which is in the centre of the town they found the ringleader of the gang hiding in the house. He had been ordered to report last April but had failed to do so. He is now in Toronto in the army.

We regret to announce the death of Richard Grant, eldest son of George Grant, of Elbow, and a nephew of George Grant of town. His passing away has been a severe shock to the people of his hometown as well as to others who were acquainted with him. He was an excellent young man, intelligent, industrious and kind hearted, and whom all held in the greatest esteem. He was working as usual until a week ago Friday when his left arm fell powerless at his side but it was not until Tuesday of last week that he was confined to bed. He had been stricken with what was subsequently stated to be infantile paralysis. On Sunday Dr. Gange, of Paisley, and Dr. Handbridge, of Ogdensburg, held a consultation and held out little hope and on Monday evening he died. To make matters worse Mr. and Mrs. Grant were down at Peterboro attending the funeral of Mrs. Grant's father which took place on Sunday and did not get home until the late train on Monday, some hours after Dick's death. The deceased was about 26 years of age. He leaves three brothers, one in the fighting line in France and two at home, the eldest 13 and the youngest a baby, and one sister. This visitation has cast a gloom over the district which will remain for some time. The parents and children have the most sincere sympathy of all who were acquainted with the deceased.

Two Tara boys are in the cavalry list this week. Mr. Wm. Brunton received an official telegram stating that his son Pte. Mayne Brunton had been wounded in the lower extremities. The telegram did not reveal how severe his wounds are but it is sincerely hoped that the young man is not seriously wounded. He enlisted with 40th Batt. and has been in France several months. This morning Mrs. A. E. Tucker received word from Ottawa that her husband had been wounded in action suffering from gunshot wounds in the left thigh and shoulder. He has been removed to England. Both these casualties are popular Tara boys and their many friends will be happy to receive news of their recovery.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream you can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, melasma and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whiteners and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocery and make up a quart of this lovely fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to see how smooth, soft, red and

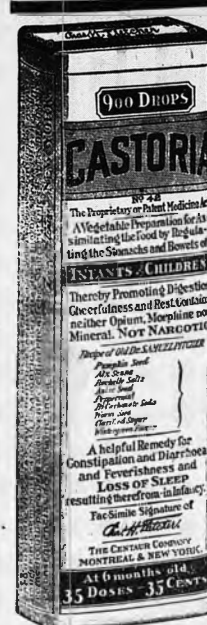

HANOVER

The death of John Ewen of Rocky Saugeen occurred on Saturday night. He was one of the pioneers of Bentinck township, residing about five miles north of Durham, and was 80 years of age. A large family survive him. The funeral took place Tuesday to Rocky Saugeen cemetery.

Will Edgerton of this place took the notion on Thursday evening of last week to go to Eugenia to fish for trout and he borrowed a bicycle as means of transportation. When he did not return at night those at home felt anxious about him. The following search was made in the vicinity of Eugenia reservoir but without any trace of him. As he is subject to weak spells it was feared that he had fallen into the water and possibly been drowned. Search again on Saturday brought the information that he had been seen on Thursday night near the Hydro dam and was inquiring the way to Dundalk. All fears were allayed, however, on Sunday morning when Will walked into town carrying the bike which had "played out" some miles from home. After leaving Eugenia he evidently got bewildered and went west instead of south and finally landed in Hanover, between 35 and 40 miles away. In place of wiring home to relieve the anxiety he decided to deliver his own message and surprise all concerned. His fishing experience will not likely be repeated for a while.—Dundalk Herald.

The death of Mrs. Thomas George which took place at noon last Tuesday at her late residence removes from Hanover one of its highly respected citizens. Mrs. George was born in Briton township on the South Line 55 years ago, being a daughter of John and Elizabeth McKelvie, but since her marriage 32 years ago, has continuously resided in Hanover. For several years Mrs. George has on account of delicate health, been denied much outdoor life and for the past seven months has been, from time to time confined to bed. Of late her decline was rapid owing to a complication of diseases, and on Tuesday she passed peacefully to her reward. For the past 17 years she has been a member of the Presbyterian Church in town. Besides her husband she leaves two children to mourn her death, Gordon living in town and Adela at home. Among all her friends and acquaintances her sweet, consistent, Christian life will long be remembered.

If we are selfish or even careless, we are almost diabolical.

Mr. Murdoch McDonald and his son, Mr. Duncan McDonald, and his family leave the last of this week for Port Dover. Last spring their fishing tug, the Charlie Jones was stranded on the beach near the short dock, and all efforts to get her into the water were unavailing besides which considerable damage was done to the tug. While every one here is sorry to see these esteemed citizens leave our town it may be that they will return before next season's fishing.

Mrs. John Tackaberry, of Lions Head, made a brief visit with friends in town last Friday.

Word has been received by his parents that Malcolm McVittie who has been overseas for nearly three years has arrived in Montreal and would likely be home on Wednesday night of this week.

Word was received by his grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Gilbert, this week that Reg Gilbert had died of wounds last week in a hospital in France. He spent his boyhood days in Southampton, and will be remembered as a bright boy by the older residents. His father, Mr. Herbert Gilbert is at present on active service in France.

Word was received on Tuesday by his parents that Earl Burgess had been wounded.

The invalid does not necessarily lose his sense of touch because he does not feel well.

What Will You Do For Help?

FARM help is scarce, but this condition can be relieved to a marked degree by using machines that accomplish more work in a given time with less man power.

Why should the farmer cling to horses—a slow, expensive means of power—when every other business is adopting the truck and thereby reducing the cost of hauling, speeding up deliveries, and saving for human needs the food that the horses would otherwise consume?

The motor driven truck can work constantly at maximum load under the burning summer sun, or in the coldest weather. Unlike the horse it needs no rests while working, it eats only while in actual use, and when the day's work is done it requires very little attention, and leaves you free for other "chores" about the place. Then, it can be housed in one-quarter the space of the horses, wagon and harness it replaces. It is a mistaken idea that a truck is useful only for driving upon paved roads. The Ford can be driven all over the farm, and used for hauling grain, potatoes, fruit, roots, fertilizer, wood, stock, milk or any other product. The speed it travels, the time it saves, and its low upkeep cost appeal very strongly to all users of the Ford Truck. If you need help, order your Ford One Ton Truck today.

Editorial

Warton and Electric Power

It requires so very long article to prove that the town is not receiving the service promised in the recent by-law. The Company will not claim that we are. The service agreed upon was for 24 hours, and a minimum load of 200 h. p. At present we have a night service only, and there is reason to fear that the continued dry weather may deprive us of this. It will not be surprising if our service stops soon at 12 o'clock (midnight) and may become even worse than that.

Last year, when negotiations were on with the Company, it will be remembered that there was opposition to the by-law on the grounds that we may have a dry season, and the power will not be forthcoming, but the Company told us that if they contracted to give us power, they would give it, if not by water, then by steam. It will be remembered, too, that many wanted to continue the old agreement, just as it was, without any by-law, but the Company objected to this saying that they wished to improve their plant, spend a large sum of money on these improvements, and they should not do so unless the agreement should be ratified by the people, in other words the Company forced the issue of a by-law.

The Echo supported the by-law for a number of reasons. There was nothing else to do, there is great shortage of fuel and water can be pumped much cheaper by electricity, the company is local, has its vested interests, and it had our sympathy. We thought then, and still think, that it can take care of us. And even now The Echo would not say a word if we could see anything definite being done by the Company to meet the situation. It is reported that certain members of the company want to install a steam auxiliary, others want to buy the land from the farmers around Boat Lake. All this should have been discussed, a decision reached, and action taken by the Company months ago. Instead of this they have done nothing, and for this there is no excuse. They undertook a contract and instead of getting to work they have been trusting to a kind Providence to send rain.

If the town does not take vigorous action we will be up against this way same thing next year. While The Echo does not pose as a legal adviser yet we will venture a lay opinion that the conditions of the by-law not having been kept by the Company that the Town can negotiate to-morrow for better if it should desire, and the Company can not sell its wires in the meantime either. The Company is now, by virtue of its not fulfilling the contract in the same position as the town was last year when the Council notified them that their contract with the town would terminate Dec. 31st. The blunder made us helpless, the Company's negligence has made them helpless.

The duty of the Town Council is to insist. It is to demand a business-like conformity on the part of the Company to the conditions of the by-law. Town Councils for four years dilly dally with another by-law, and it all led us from bad to worse. There is no use of passing by-laws imposing conditions and then acting like a lot of school children. The Town Council must settle this matter at once so that we will be protected against a possible dry season in 1919. One thing which carried this by-law was the fact fuel is scarce and high and with fuel only to produce power at the pumping house, we would soon have a bill which would stagger us. We are now using only wood at this pumping house at a cost of from $10 to $15 per day.

Warton can get along with an indifferent light service, but Warton can not get along without a power service—and a good one at that. If we are going to swim and stay in the game we must have it, if we are going to sink the power we have suits us splendidly it will do the job quickly. We refer to this matter without any apologies. We supported the by-law, and we offer no apology for our action, because we still believe that no other course was open. This matter is one in which the personal element must not enter—it is a pure business transaction between the Town and the Company. We are not getting the service promised, we cannot get it this year, but we must see to it that next season we do not get into the same fix, and if we do we insist upon something being immediately done to improve the plant we will be in the same box next year. It is the fault of the Company that we have no power this year. It will be the fault of the town if we have none next year. It is just possible that some work on the Basin River would improve the situation this year.

MAR

Rev. and Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Lem and children returned to their home last Thursday after spending their vacation with relatives here. Miss Hazel White visited at Oliphant over the week end.

Rev. A. Barker is spending his vacation with Mrs. Barker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. McGarvey. Miss Edith Given returned to Toronto last week after spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Given.

Dr. Conning conducted service here Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hardy was in Mar last week buying cattle.

(Too Late for Last Week)

Quite a number from here attended Divine Service at St. Mary's on Sunday and listened to an interesting address by Dr. Arndt on his work in France. Miss Johnson, St. Mary's, has been engaged as teacher for the coming year.

Ptes. C. Hatfield and A. McLaughlin are home on a six weeks leave. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Barker, Liberty, N. Y., are spending a month with the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGarvey. Mrs. McDonald (nee Margaret Woods) Rosetown, Sask., arrived home on Thursday and will visit her parents for a few months.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, who have spent the past three weeks with Mrs. Hunter's parents will return to Alma on Thursday.

Misses E. Given, L. and O. McMaster are visiting at the home of Mr. Jas. Given.

The Owen Sound Advertiser which expects the Dominion Fish Co. to locate in that town, suggests the addition of a fish curing plant.

Most every Ontario town is dealing with next winter's fuel supply. People are urged to use soft coal and wood if hard coal cannot be secured.

Senator Lodge, of the United States, in speaking of peace, says that it must not be a negotiated peace but a dictated peace. This is the kind of talk we all like to hear.

There were 925 suspensions and 250 consolidations of publications in the United States and Canada in 1917, and the figures for 1918 will probably be larger.

Mayor Watson, of Listowel, has been appointed Fuel Commissioner of that town. There is no salary, but he expects lots of abuse. Listowel is promised 625 tons of coal this season.

Warton has been promised 510 tons of coal this season. Some of it has come, more of it has not. It is no trouble for the dealers to not promise, but they find it nearly impossible to secure deliveries. Anyone short of fuel will do well to look out for himself.

A recent meeting of the Meaford Council was the scene of a fist encounter in which the Mayor was one of the participants. It is difficult enough now to get men to accept public office and if pugilistic encounters are likely to occur they will scarcely feel that the game is worth the candle.

At midnight on Saturday Messrs. W. Irwin, and his brother, Robert, of Walkerton, and Mr. Voght, of that town, left by motor launch for Port Elgin.

After making quite a stay at the Tub they reached Port Elgin about 7 o'clock on Sunday night. The distance travelled is about 135 miles.

Many Wiarton friend will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Josiah Tolton, which occurred in Calgary, Aug. 18th. She was an old resident of this town. Mr. Tolton, who predeceased her about one year ago, was accountant in the Crown Portland Cement Co. She is survived by two children.

Her mother, Mrs. Dungey, lives in Calgary as well as one brother, Norman; another brother James lives in Montreal, and a sister is the wife of the Rev. Mr. Cameron.

Mr. W. L. Clark, of Leamington, is giving a course of addresses this week in the Methodist Church. The addresses cover a range of subjects of vital importance. The address on "Life" Sunday afternoon has been given over 5000 times. Ex-Mayor Tyson presided and spoke in the highest terms of the address. The afternoon meetings on Monday was for Boys and Girls and on Tuesday, for Boys only. Wednesday afternoon Mr. Clark addresses the Women. The evening meetings are for the general public. The problems handled deserve the patronage of the whole town. The treatment in every case leaves nothing required. It is a rare and worthy undertaking presented to the people of Wiarton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gregg returned to Ottawa on Tuesday after spending a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gregg.

—Cpl. Bert Fielding had as guests over the week-end at Oliphant, from London—Capt. Watt, Sergt. Maj. Fullen, Sergt. Maynard and Pte. Paul.

—Mr. Russel Stew returned from Daviaville Hospital, Toronto, last week and expects to spend a few days with his parents before returning to Toronto.

—Mr. and Mrs. McCracken and daughter, Dora, motored to Wiarton last week and spent two days with Mr. and Mrs. McVannell and later is returning with them and is spending a few days in Detroit.

A very pretty wedding took place on August 28th at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Margin, of Pike Bay, formerly of Toronto, when their daughter, Henrietta and William Williamson, of Pike Bay, were united in marriage.

The Rev. Hunt, of Lions Head, officiated. The bride, wearing a simple gown of white silk and carry a bouquet of white asters, was given away by her father. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Hunt. After the ceremony a tasty supper was partaken of by the guests, and a pleasant evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson left for a trip to Toronto after which they will reside at Cedar Grove Farm, Pike Bay.

STANCHIONS TO SAVE LABOR

Convenient Means Afforded for Preventing Large Calves From Entering Small Calf Pens

Simple stanchions for calves are a convenient means for preventing the larger calves from entering the small calf pens and thus saving the feeding man much labor and without confusion. The diagram shows the construction.

While stanchions are usually built in the barn, a few panels of them are exceedingly useful as part of the fence in the calf lot. In such cases the calves come to the stanchions at feeding time, and may be safely fed by a child, since there is no occasion for entering the calf lot. Persons who have been accustomed to dealing with husky, boating calves will appreciate the advantages of stanchion feeding.

Stanchions for Calves.

KEEP UP FOOD SUPPLY FOR EUROPEAN ALLIES

Our problem is to feed our allies this winter by sending them as much food as we can of the most concentrated nutritive value in the least shipping space. These foods are wheat, beef, pork, dairy products, and sugar. Our solution, according to the food administration, is to eat less of these and more of other foods of which we have an abundance, and to waste less of all goods.

GEESSE UTILIZE WASTE FEED

Low, Rough Land Used for Pasturing Stock is Preferable—Fewer De-Well on Forage Crops.

Geese, raised in small flocks on general farms, or non-productive land, do not require any material amount of grain. Low, rough land, used for pasturing stock, and containing a natural supply of water, offers the best conditions. Geese are good grazers and will do well on grass and forage crops alone, except during the winter months, when they may be fed largely on available roughage such as clover, alfalfa hay, silage, cabbage, mangels, turnips, or any waste vegetables. If the grass or forage is limited it may be supplemented by light feeds of corn or home-grown grain.

Geese do not need shelter except during cold winter weather, when open sheds may be provided. Goslings are not usually hatched until good pasture is available, and need additional feed only for a few weeks. The range of pasture used either for geese or for cattle should be large enough so that the grass will remain clean, or the stock should be moved frequently to fresh land. Coops, barrels, or some other dry shelter should be provided for the young goslings. Geese are very hardy and free from diseases and insect pests.

HEN IS GOOD FOOD PRODUCER

Most Economical Transformer of Food Into Finished Product—Expert Talks of Feed.

The hen is an economical transformer of food into a finished product. A hen laying 200 eggs in a year is not at all unusual. A four-pound hen laying this number will produce six times her weight in eggs. To do this she will require from 70 to 80 pounds of feed. H. L. Kennerly of the University of Minnesota college of agriculture suggests that for economical production it is necessary:

1. That the food be properly selected.
2. That it be fed in correct proportion and in a judicious manner in order that her digestive organs may be kept in good condition.
3. That she be fed enough so that she has plenty of surplus for egg production.

LEGUMES ASSIST THE SOILS

Supply Organic Matter and Should Be Grown for That Purpose—Rye Is Valuable.

The supply of organic matter in the soil must be maintained. The legumes should be grown for this purpose as much as possible. Rye is a most valuable cover crop for all soils. Heavy seedling is required to grow heavy soils.

Health and Sunlight. Health and sunlight go together. Remember this when planning a hospital. Glass is expensive now, but it is cheaper than sick beds.

Self-Healing. Self-healing can be done, caused by doing little things. Remember that a small amount of effort can do much.

WALKERTON

Mr. N. C. McKay, B. S. A., who was born District Agricultural Representative of Bruce County, with headquarters at Walkerton, ever since the opening of the office here six years ago, received an offer on Tuesday from an old Bruce boy, Hon. Duncan Marshall Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, tendering him the position of instructor in Animal Husbandry in the big Agricultural School at Claresholm, Alberta, at a salary of about $2100. As Mr. McKay gets $1900 per year here, the position offered him in Alberta is embellished with a considerable increase in pay. That he has not definitely decided yet to accept the Western offer leaves room for hope that arrangements may be made to retain Mr. McKay in Bruce, where he has given most satisfactory service, and has made his department such a marked success. He has established rural school fairs in different parts of the County, which has created keen interest and rivalry amongst farmers' children and brought field and garden exhibits from young Canada that would have been a credit to trained adult agriculturalists. The attendance at these fairs rival the fall shows, and short courses in stock judging, identification of seeds, etc., which he has been conducting in various centres of Bruce have also been of immense interest and value to the farming community. As a citizen of Walkerton he has taken an active interest in practically every public enterprise of the town, and his departure would be a severe loss to Walkerton, as well as to the County as a whole.

Over one hundred returned soldiers from all parts of Bruce gathered in Walkerton on Monday last and evinced their interest in the Bruce Soldiers' Colony which Major Moffat proposes to establish for the benefit of returned Bruce veterans in New Ontario, about fifty miles west of the Town of Cochrane. The idea is to settle soldiers, who may care to go into the scheme, on a farm of 150 acres each. As the timber, which must be cleared off first, is mostly pulp wood and very marketable, the clearing operations themselves would be very profitable. Besides this the Ontario Govt. gives generous aid to the soldier settlers, as will be seen by their proposition on page 8. Mr. J. S. McEwan, a prominent cattle dealer and ex-farmer of Chesley, who went over the land with Major Moffat, declared it excellent soil. Sergt. Major Carriek of the 160th, who owns a farm there and spent four years in that country, strongly recommended the scheme to his comrades in speaking in the Town Hall on Monday.

The community idea is alright, as the boys will be near and assist each other, while the Govt. provides the horses and implements and they will have no big outlay to make there. The thing is purely voluntary, and the boys who have farms or something else to come to in Bruce won't, of course, be interested, but the veterans who have nothing particularly inviting when discharged to fall back on, will welcome such a proposition. The Govt. has no lands to give away in Bruce and as farms are high here and the soldiers will not have the means to buy them, the talk of keeping the boys in Bruce sounds better to home ears than it figures out for the pockets of the veterans, whose sole interest the Bruce Preparedness League, which is championing the scheme, is supposed to espouse. Mr. W. D. Cargill, M. P. P., was chairman of the meeting on Monday, and Mr. A. E. McNab secretary, while Messrs. Wm. McDonald, M. P. P., W. D. Bell and J. S. McEwan of Chesley, were among the prominent outsiders present and all of whom strongly endorsed the scheme. The result of the conference was that the soldiers selected three of their number, Sergt. Garfield Reddon, of Tara, Sergt. D. Kennedy of Whitechurch and Pte. Herb. Penton of Port Elgin to go on a trip this week to the proposed colony known as Shackleton Twp., and after spying out the land, to return and report.

My Limbs Would Twitch

And Walkers Mo—Unable to Rest or Sleep, I Walked the Floor in Nervous State—When Specialists Failed I Found a Cure.

This is the kind of cure that has set Windsor people thinking and talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The action of this food cure is so radically different to the usual treatments for the nerves that everybody wants to try it. Gradually and certainly it nourishes the starved nerves back to health and vigor and the benefits obtained are both thorough and lasting.

Mrs. M. Smithson, 27 Arthur street, Windsor, Ont., writes: "I was suffering from nervous breakdown, which was caused by a shock when fire broke out in the adjoining house. My nerves were in such a state that, after going to bed I could not get my nerves quieted down sufficiently to go to sleep. I used to get up and walk around the room, or go downstairs. When I was in bed I was dropping off to sleep, my limbs would twitch and wake me. I used to have cold, nervous rigors and sometimes become unconscious and lie that way for quite a little while. I was always cold and it seemed impossible for me to get warm or keep warm. When on the street I would see two or three people at once and did not want any person to speak to me or bother me. Any little noise irritated and annoyed me and I could not get any rest during this time, but could not gain sleep. I had tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before long could see that this treatment was proving of benefit. I am now feeling so much better that I can go out on the street without any difficulty, can go across a river and go about the same as usual. I sleep well at night, and am feeling more like myself every day. I am pleased to be able to write you to tell you how much good the Nerve Food has done me. It has strengthened and built up my whole system. I am recommending it to everybody I know who has trouble with the nerves of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 60 cents a bottle. A full treatment of 4 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Eaton & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Chief Ferguson on Tuesday at Eden Grove, where he is claimed to have been loafing around and busting the anti-ditching law. On being taken in tow, the fellow maintained he couldn't find work, but this caused the chief to laugh so hard that the people of the Grove came rushing out of doors to see what storm of merriment was fanning the trees. The prisoner was brought to Walkerton with all the solemnity of a calisthumpian parade, and ushered before Magistrate Tolton, who, as per usual, opened the Revised Statutes, and gazed as serious as Solon on the printed page. The upshot was that the accused was remanded to the county jail for eight days, during which time it is feared the neighboring agriculturalists may burn the local citadel in an effort to kidnap the stranger, when the news gets out that he was raised on a farm and is fully conversant with farm work.

A cable received by Mr. James Whitehead here on Monday noon from the Red Cross Society in London, Eng., in answer to an enquiry as to the condition of his son, Roy, who was reported wounded Aug. 18th, reads: "Capt. Roy Whitehead, gunshot wound in thigh, very severe; am making further enquiries." Owing to the serious nature of the wound, Mr. Whitehead cabled again yesterday with a view to finding out the Hospital Roy is in and also as to the progress he is making.

OLIPHANT

The holiday Monday brought a number of autos and people here and as the weather was delightful the people had a happy time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharman and family returned to their home in London last week and O-56 Coxy has new tenants Mr. Mitchell and family from Toronto now occupy their home cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. McCreedy left for London on Saturday and thoroughly enjoyed their sojourn here of nearly three months.

Mr. and Mrs. West and son and Mrs. Symon returned to Toronto on Monday with every desire and intention of coming back to Oliphant next summer.

Rev. Mr. Henderson and family returned to Hanover on Tuesday. It is many years since Mr. Henderson first chose this place for his holidays and may he be enabled to come for many years yet. His son Chaucer returns to his duties in an Academy in North Carolina, U. S.

Many camps are closed for the season but a few are still tenanted.

Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard and family spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. H. Wright. They return to St. Catharines on Wednesday.

Mrs. Logan and May returned to Wiarton on Monday.

Mr. C. Hilday and family returned to Cheshley on Monday.

Mrs. J. Winkill on the Sauble road is seriously ill with tonsilitis. Her many friends hope for an improvement in her health.

Dr. Middlebro is enlarging his summer cottage here and a fine spacious building will soon be finished. He has also had a tower built of three stories and the upper floor commands a wide and wonderful view of the lake and islands.

Dr. and Mrs. Middlebro returned to Owen Sound with Jack and Gladys. Mrs. Levitt (Mrs. Middlebro's mother) will remain with the rest of the household some days longer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McDonald of Wiarton were the guests of T. J. and Mrs. Walsh on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Buchanan and family who have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Moore for some time left for their home in Toronto on Saturday.

Eight High-priced Steers

What we believe to be the highest locality were shipped from the local yards on Tuesday by Messrs. McConvey & Donion, drovers. The bunch of cattle were made up of eight head which weighed, in all, 11,070 pounds.

One of the steers, weighed separately, tipped the beam at 1530 pounds. The cattle were fed by the late Donald McDonald on his farm in Sullivan and were purchased by McConvey & Donion at the executor's sale. The purchase price was $17.25 a hundred making a total of $1,909.57 for the eight head.

The cattle were shipped to Toronto and then together with twelve head from Wingham, will be butchered and dressed by Gunn's Packing House. The dressed beefs will be exhibited in a refrigerator on the exhibition grounds—Chatsworth News.

Gave Harvey a Wrist Watch

The Silver Maple Leaf Club, Amabel. Dear Friends,—Having received the wrist watch and socks, I appreciate your kindness towards me, which were the most useful gifts for a soldier's life. Thanking you very much for the same.

Yours sincerely,

Cadet Harvey A. Krawstner,

Toronto Ont.

The Boat Lake Draining Scheme Held Up For a Time.

Engineer McDowall's recommendation about the draining of Boat Lake has somewhat upset the whole scheme. A meeting of the Amabel Council was held in Wiarton Friday and they decided that they could not do anything until they had further information. They could not advertise for tenders until they knew what the tenders should be for. The sum of $9000 puts a damper on the whole scheme, in fact it is likely to be put on the shelf and stop there for some time. One thing is sure there is no unanimity among the farmers for either draining the lake or for selling their land to the Sauble Falls Light & Power Co. The drainage scheme is opposed by residents of the 15th and in Amabel, while others are for it. Some would be willing to sell their land, others are not, and there the matter stands.

COLPOY'S BAY

Dr. A. W. L. and Mrs. Gilpin, of Milwaukee, Wis., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilpin, of Brussels, and Nurse Henderson, of Fergus, have been guests at the Paragon last week and over Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Gilpin motored from Milwaukee and also visited the exhibition at Toronto. Mrs. Gilpin is a sister of Mrs. Matthews.

Mrs. Reg. Frame, Irene and Chas. of Wiarton, spent several days visiting old friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elide, of Hepworth, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tyrone, of Wiarton, attended service here Sunday.

Miss Maude Cotton, of Cleveland, Ohio, visited last week with her sister Mrs. S. Weir.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Raudle and children, who have been holidaying in Vancouver, B. C., returned this week after a very enjoyable visit of six weeks.

The meeting of the Women's Institute for the month of Sept. will be held Sept. 9th, (Monday) at 2:30 p. m. instead of Sept. 11th, as Miss Hopkins the lady demonstrator for canning will be present. All the ladies of the community are invited to be present.

Mrs. Parke and daughters, of Hamilton, returned to their home after an enjoyable visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parke and other relatives.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid was held in the class room at the church Wednesday of this week.

A series of weekly cottage prayer meetings are beginning the first to be held at the home of Mrs. H. Petter Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The public school opened last Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, with a good attendance.

LION'S HEAD

The English Church Sunday School picnic was held on the west shore on Monday afternoon and was well attended. The older members enjoying the sports as well as the young.

The Women's Institute will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Maund on Thursday evening, Sept. 12th at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Henderson motored from Meaford and spent Labor Day with relatives in town.

We regret to hear that Pte. Lloyd Weatherhead, another of the Lions Head Platoon, has been wounded.

Delco Light Plants are giving general satisfaction all over United States and Canada where they have been installed. Farmers particularly find them extremely useful for pulling roots, operating a fanning mill, churning, pumping water, running a washing machine or cream separator as well as giving abundance of light in the home and around the barns. Owing to the increased cost of production an advance in price is to take place shortly, so anyone contemplating the purchase of a Delco Light Plant would do well to consult W. B. Moore at once as it takes time to get them here.

Mrs. D. Boyle, Mrs. Elliott and daughter and Mrs. Bennett spent Labor Day here the guest of Mrs. Lab. Williams Jr.

Mr. James Douglas, of Hepworth, left for his home Monday after scaling a cargo of lumber that he purchased from Mr. P. Forbes. The tug Queen and scow is expected to call and take it to the railway.

Rev. and Mrs. Hunt left on Monday for their vacation.

Mrs. Cornet, of Hamilton, spent a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Murray last week.

The newest styles of men's felt hats are on sale now at Whit Moors. Miss Alice Senabough is visiting in Owen Sound.

The teachers for our local school arrived on Monday night to commence work Tuesday morning.

Ed. and Chas. Norris took in the Toronto Fair last week.

There will be a sale of some splendid pot house-plants at the front of W. B. Moore's store on Saturday evening, Sept. 7th. The plants are donated by Mrs. Web. Brady and the proceeds will go to the Women's Patriotic League for Red Cross work.

Call at the work room for Red Cross sewing any Tuesday or Friday afternoon.

It is hoped that a large number will be out on Friday evening in the Town Hall to hear Capt. Picking give an address on the Transport Service. Dr. Hacking will tell of the achievements of the Merchant Marine. A silver collection will be taken for the Sailors Fund.

Miss M. Myles left on Monday to attend Owen Sound Collegiate. Twenty years ago it was not necessary for a child to leave home to take up fifth class work and there should be no occasion for children leaving to-day. Arrangements were made to have this work taught here.

Warning to Grocers

In Selling Sugar

Several citizens have complained to Dr. Hastings, the Medical Health Officer, that grocers refused to supply them with sugar unless they purchased something else as well.

"This is entirely contrary to the act," said Dr. Hastings, "and any grocer found refusing to supply the necessary quantity of sugar unless the customer also buys something else is liable to a fine if license revoked." The C.O.A.

ZION, AMABEL

Mrs. Smart, of Park Head, and Mrs. Garland were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Walker Sunday.

The Misses F. Hughes and A. Pender and Messrs. Bert and Wm. Hughes spent Tuesday in Owen Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Westland, London, are holidaying at the home of Mr. A. F. Millard.

Roy Atchison spent the past week with relatives here.

Miss Maggie Walker returned to Wiarton to resume her studies Monday.

Miss P. Robinson left for Hamilton where she has accepted a position.

It is said that the District Epworth League Convention will be held at Zion this fall.

For King and Country

The casualties reported this week for this immediate district are fortunately few and the wounds do not appear to be very serious.

SAMUEL DAVID BLACKWOOD, Barrow Bay, gunshot wound in scalp.

ROBERT H. HAZEN, Tobermory, gunshot wound in leg.

LOUIS JOHN HILL, Clavering, shell gas.

PTE. LLOYD E. WEATHERHEAD, Cape Chin, gunshot wound in right leg.

PTE. LOUIS CATLEY, Wiarton, gunshot wound.

LIEUT. RICHARD P. OTTO-WELL, Clavering, wounded.

Lieut. Richard Ottowell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ottowell. He enlisted at Edmonton in 1914, and a number of interesting letters from him appeared in The Echo. He went as a private and is now a Lieutenant. He was a brave, clever boy. There are no particulars, and his friends are anxiously waiting to learn more about his wounds, which they hope are not serious.

On Tuesday morning Mr. William Dobson received the following despatch from Ottawa:

"Sincerely regret to inform you that Gunner William Albert Dobson, artillery, officially reported dangerously ill, King George Hospital, Standard St., London, Sept. 1st.

It will be remembered that this gentleman enlisted at Vancouver in 1915 and has been in France about two years. He was wounded June 4th, 'a gunshot wound in arm and head.' The reports from him had been most encouraging, he expected to return to France shortly, and this change is a sad surprise to his parents. The public will hope that this young man's wounds will not prove fatal.

The Echo regrets to learn that word was received on Wednesday morning that this brave young man has died.

EARL McVANNEL, Wiarton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McVannel, gunshot wound in leg. Earl is a Wiarton boy, cheerfully signed up with the 100th, and his Wiarton friends will hope to hear that his wounds will not prove serious.

LIEUT. CECIL RUTHERFORD, Owen Sound, brother of Mrs. R. W. Sawyer, Wiarton, killed in action August 27th.

He Received the Sox

Letter Received by Mrs. George Allenson from a Soldier, in France.

France, 22, 7, 1918

Dear Mrs. Allenson,—In answer to your request, I am writing just a few short notes to thank you for the socks sent by you on Jan. 3rd, which I was fortunate enough to receive about a week ago. Your socks were in mud and water and ones feet are always wet. I am sorry I cannot tell you any war news but you know we are not allowed to do so. Of course, you know all about the splendid work the Americans and French are doing just now. I am pleased to tell you that "our" boys are quite cheerful and very optimistic just now. We are all looking forward to getting back home in the near future. Now I think I will close and remain yours gratefully and sincerely,

Syd. L. Collins.

WALKERTON

Feeling that the new rate of $5.00 for a team to run to a fire was just a little too steep after an increase over the old rate of $2.00 per fire, the Town Council on Thursday night decided to buy a team for the corporation, but not aside $400 for the purpose, but Mayor Johnston and Councillor Lester secured a splendid team of blacks on Monday from Fred Gudea near Teeswater for a less sum and will have them delivered here next Monday. The Council is advertising for a teamster at a yearly salary of $625 and through doing road work with the team expect to effect a big saving in their yearly expense sheet. What with snow ploughing in the winter and road work in the summer, that team promises to be the busiest thing in the corporation. The Council's action in buying it is one of the best moves that has been put across in years.

A serious accident occurred at the home of Mrs. John Russworn, Carleton Place, on Tuesday afternoon, when her sister, Agnes, in carrying a large can of cream down the cellar, caught her heel on the top step and was precipitated head-first down the stairs, landing on the cement floor on a breaking 20th bone in her left arm and dislocating her wrist. She was also badly bruised and cut about the face and her left shoulder painfully injured. Dr. Hall, who was summoned from town, set the fractures and put her in the way of recovery.

Capt. Roy Whitehead, who was put out of action on Aug. 24 by a gunshot wound in the thigh, and whose wound was announced last week in a cable as being very severe, has been removed from France to the Prince of Wales Hospital, London, Eng., and according to three cables which have reached his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Whitehead, since our last issue, and one of which from Roy, himself, states that he is progressing favorably, his recovery is practically assured.

Newton Davis, a farmer near Hanover was arrested by the military police as a deserter and brought to the Walkerton jail on Wednesday, and the following day a younger brother was also apprehended and brought here on the same charge. Both were taken on Thursday to London for trial.

Joe Ammann, a popular bandsman of the 16th Battalion, and who prior to enlisting was an employee of the Knechtel Furniture Factory here, was officially reported in a wire received in Walkerton on Tuesday morning as having been killed in action on August 8th. Joe, who was considerably gifted as a comedian, and was a crack player on the mouth-organ, as well as an expert snare-drummer, in the local entertainments in this section, and amused many from the footlights who will now learn with sorrow of his death.

Frequent Headaches

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons, and the form of anemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs. Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively and the rich, red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances of the heart are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or eczema. Muscles subject to strain are under-nourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lameness. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

death. He was about 37 years of age and unmarried.

A tax rate of 37 mills, which the Town Council decided on Thursday night was necessary to finance the tax for the ensuing year, would in pre-war times have been such a whopper that neighboring towns would have been cracking jokes at our expense, and, through their papers, have us headlined for the how-very-but as few of them are enjoying less than a 37 mill rate themselves this year, and most of them will wrestle with a good deal higher toll, Walkerton's rate will appeal to them more in the nature of a Cheap John than an excessive, classy affair. Of the jump from 33 mills last year to 37 this year, the County Council has been responsible for 3 of the 4 mills increase, Walkerton's County rate this year being $5294.42 as compared with $2644.46 of last year, or in other words our County Rate has just about doubled in a year. This has been brought about largely by the big grants which the County Council has been making to patriotic purposes as well as to the Provincial and the Dominion War Tax of the County, which is distributed among different municipalities in the County to pay. Of the coming mill nearly half of it is made up by the increase in the High School requisition the local Education asking the Town for $3240.00 compared with $2800.00 last year. The other half mill, and this is the only portion of the increase the Town Council has any control over, is taken up by their purchase of a team, for street work and fire purposes, and which will eventually come back to the town by decreased expenditures.

SOUTHAMPTON

On Wednesday last week Mrs. Baty received the sad intelligence of the death in action in France of her husband, Lieut. Edward Baty. Mrs. Baty, with her two children, has resided in Southampton most of the time for the last eighteen months, and has the sincere sympathy of many friends here in her great bereavement. Before her husband enlisted they resided at Saskatoon. Two brothers of her husband also have been active service; one was killed and the other has been discharged on account of wounds.

Mr. Malcolm McVittie arrived home last Thursday night after nearly three years overseas. He looks well but injuries to his back have left him in bad shape. He has received his discharge. The Girls Comfort Club entertained him and his parents in a supper on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bechtel have just returned from a long motor tour in which they visited Toronto, Oshawa, Hamilton, Grimsby, Beamsville, Niagara Falls and other points. They were at a number of summer resorts but state that none of them can compare with Southampton Beach, which has many advantages over any they visited. They made a trip of over one thousand miles and came through without serious accident.

TARA

Admitted to the Casualty Clearing Station, suffering from gunshot wounds in the arm, leg, head and hand was the word received on Tuesday regarding Pte. Stewart Rae, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Rae, Arran Township. Rae enlisted in the West. He is well known here having spent his boyhood days in Arran Tp.

At a meeting on Monday night held at Mr. McDonald's Office a resolution was passed and signed the action of the meeting at Walkerton for a levy on the municipalities of 3.4 of a mill for the Navy Fund. It was also decided to have a subscription list circulated on a tag day on Saturday of next week. On Tuesday the sad information was received by wire that Pte. Fred Allen had been killed in action. Pte. Allen was a well known Tara boy and spent most of his life here. He enlisted most of his life here. He was about 37 years of age. He enlisted with the 160th Battalion and was employed as cook for the battalion, until a few months ago when he was transferred to the infantry. Pte. Allen was off to war with a good disposition, but industrious and had many friends who extend sincere sympathy to his bereaved widow. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crawford left on Tuesday morning for Oshawa where they intend to make their home. Mr. Crawford having accepted a position in the hydro-electric service in that town.

NINE TONS OF CATALOGUES

Departmental Stores Making Its Semi-Annual Attack on Owen Sound Buyers

(Owen Sound Advertiser)

Nine tons of catalogues! These were part of what one of the express companies had to handle in last night's consignment. Nine tons of them—eighteen thousand pounds—and all from one departmental store in Toronto. The nine tons were for Owen Sound and surrounding district; over two tons and a half—5000 pounds, to be exact—were for the town itself.

There's some food for thought in this for the local merchants. Here is a mass of advertising literature unloaded upon the people of the town and vicinity at a time when there is not very much doing, but when summer is far enough advanced to cause the average man and woman to think a little of what will be needed for fall. Plenty of time to look over the catalogue, see something that is needed—or that to be needed, for the catalogue is a great suggester—and the order blank is right there waiting to be filled out. Natural result, business sent to Toronto and lost to the local merchant.

Unless, that is, the I.M. takes action against it. And how can he do that? Easy; the answer is right at his hand. How are the big departmental stores getting their business? By advertising. In newspapers, by catalogues, every way that they can make profitable. The catalogues do not represent their only means of advertising; but when a store finds it pays to send five thousand pounds of catalogues into one town, wouldn't it pay the merchant who lives in that town to invest a little in keeping the business and the money at home?

We don't need to answer that question; it answers itself. The departmental store makes its money by advertising and value-giving. The local merchant can compete with the Toronto house in the latter, but to hold the trade, he must use the former as well.

And he can't afford to sit and wait till the damage is done. The time to tackle the potato bug is not after they have eaten the plants but as soon as they appear. So the time to tackle the outside departmental store is not after the catalogues have been checked over and the orders sent, but before, so that the buyers can see that their fellow-citizen can do as well for them, or better.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is heaven!

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what had happened about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female troubles of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them as it has done for me. Mrs. M. E. Boyd, 1421 6th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR ARREARS OF TAXES.

COUNTY OF BRUCE, TO WIT:

By virtue of a warrant issued under the hand of the Warden of the County of Bruce, and the Seal of the said County, bearing date the 13th day of July A.D. 1918, and to me directed, commanding me to levy upon the several parcels of land hereinafter described for the arrears of taxes respectively due thereon, together with all costs incurred, I hereby give notice, that pursuant to the Assessment Act, R.S.O. and By-Law 357, of the County of Bruce, designated "A by-law to divide the County of Bruce into three districts for the purpose of tax sales of lands," I shall, unless such arrears of taxes and charges are sooner paid, proceed to sell by Public Auction to the highest bidder, the said lands as may be necessary for the payment of the said arrears of taxes, costs and charges thereon, at the following mentioned time and place for each of the several districts mentioned in the aforesaid by-law.

For the Warton District, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m. at the Council Chamber, Town Hall, in the Town of Warton, on Wednesday, the 23rd day of October, A.D. 1918.

For the Walkerton District, at the hour of noon, at the Council Chamber, in the County Buildings, in the Town of Walkerton, on Friday, the 25th day of October, A.D. 1918.

Lands in the Lions Head District to be sold for taxes at Lions Head as aforesaid.

An Appeal on Behalf Dependent Sailors' Wives and Children

Walkerton, Ontario, Aug. 22nd, 1918

A general meeting of delegates interested in the Navy League's efforts to raise money for the dependents of deceased sailors of the Mercantile Marine who have been killed by submarine warfare, was held this afternoon in the Town Hall, for the purpose of forming a County Organization.

Communications were read from many who could not attend the meeting, and in every case the heartiest co-operation in the work was promised. In the rural municipalities it was evident that a successful house canvass could not be made at this time of the year, and that the most satisfactory way for them to contribute to this worthy cause would be by a grant levied in the usual way on the municipality.

The matter of organization in local municipalities was dealt with in detail, both as to results by individual canvassing, and by direct grant from each municipality. From reports so far received it was quite evident serious consideration has shown that the cause of the sailors of the Merchant Marine who have braved the perils of the deep for the welfare of Canada is one of the most worthy to be supported. In order to have uniform organization, and a uniform share of the assessment of the contribution through the different municipalities, it was unanimously agreed that the proper channel through which to make this assessment would be through the County Council. As long as the local municipalities are willing to assume a levy for this purpose, it is the fairest way of meeting the public demands.

It was moved, seconded and unanimously carried "That a committee be appointed to present a request to the County Council of Bruce asking that a levy of three quarters of a mill on the dollar be made for Navy League's fund for the dependents of sailors of the Mercantile Marine who have lost their lives by submarine warfare. And that the County Secretary communicate with each Reeve to ascertain if he is willing to support the proposed grant."

The following committee or delegates were appointed to appear at the County Council at their next session to support the request, viz. John Cook, Lions Head; J. J. Tyson, Warton; Jas. A. McDonald, Tara; W. D. Cargill, Carleton Place; E. Roy Sayles, Port Elgin; Rev. C. M. Farney, Chesley; John Joynt, Lucknow; and J. Hunter of Kincardine.

The following local committee were appointed for the purpose of looking after the interests of the Navy League in the respective municipalities, and for the purpose of educating the public to not only the present, but the further need of maintaining the dependents of our gallant sailors who have given their lives to our cause.

Editorial

A large number of defaulters are being rounded up near Owea Sound.

A new price list indicates that the paper manufacturers are at it again.

Evidently not enough punch left in us to get up a celebration on a public holiday.

It is reported from Ottawa that Thanksgiving Day will fall in November this year. No matter when it comes the turkey will be too high.

The Imperial Oil Company have appointed a clergyman to do welfare work for their men. It would be capital for them also to consider the welfare of the consumers of oil.

The farmers have a chance in the Manitoulin to show whether they mean business or not. Their vote will be keenly watched, and the result will either be favorable or prejudicial to the U. P. O.

The Globe says that the time we have been running on this summer has been giving general satisfaction. If the Globe is not more familiar with public opinion in other matters than about this time it will do well to be careful in making statements.

While the French have fought well on the Western front and while the Americans have done good work and had lots of praise, the victory by the British and Canadian troops this week fills us with intense pride and satisfaction.

After all it appears that the principle objection to Mayor M. Galt is the fact that he did not go to France with the boys of the 10th, and this is objection enough. If we are going to go upon the basis of this old battalion, we must remember that it will be one who went there and fought side by side with them.

Lord Shaughnessy predicts that troops will be brought back at the rate of 30,000 per month when peace comes. Even at this rate it will take more than a year to bring back all the Canadian troops. And then we must remember that there will be a few million American troops to bring back. If then the Canadian soldiers are all back in ten years, a quick work shall have been done.

The best stroke of business that the town has done for a long time is the recent purchase of a bush lot. It is possible that stove wood will be placed on sale in town for $3.50 per cord, which will be a great saving to the people. These are days of co-operation, and the town has a just right to do the best it can for the citizens. Mayor McEwen did a good stroke of business in closing this deal and this business all dried of a fuel famine this coming winter.

The recent rains have improved the electric light and power situation to the extent that we have been receiving all night service. This may only be temporary, everything depends upon the rain. The season for repairing the plant is now on, and whatever repairs that are made, which will protect us next season, must be done before November. At the Sauble it is claimed that the dam can be raised a few feet, and it would then hold far more water. However The Echo has been assured by the two members of the company residing in town that what has happened this season will not occur again.

LINDSAY COUNCIL

Council met at McDonald's Hall, Aug. 10, 1918, members all present. N. McDonald and Bartley that minutes now read be adopted. A. J. and D. McDonald that the wages be $4.00 per day for man and team, $2.00 for man and $2.50 for overhaulers.

A. J. and N. McDonald that Allan McKay be appointed to erect the two bridges on 5th side road at 75c per stick, the timber to be sound. A. J. and D. McDonald that a grant of $25.00 be made on 10th side road between 5 and 6th con. E. B. R. Wm. Vickers overhauler.

A. J. and N. McDonald that the Reeve and Treasurer be authorized to sign a corporation note for the sum of $2000, and a by-law be drafted for same.

Orders were issued to the amount of $1807.45.

A. J. and N. McDonald that this Council now adjourn to meet again at the call of the Reeve.
 P. CURRIE, Clerk.

The Warton Agricultural Society have decided to secure the same company for the concert on the evening of the Fall Fair as they had last year. It will be remembered that this troupe gave excellent satisfaction. A Committee has been appointed to secure a special attraction for the fair.

The Echo recently saw a former Warton resident, now living in an Ontario town, where there is lots of work in munition plants. Wages are still fabulous, and there is work for everyone. In this nation wide prosperity due to the war, Warton got comparatively nothing from an industrial standpoint.

Last week the Warton Town Council bought a good 50 acre bush lot about 5 miles from town. They got it at a bargain. It is the intention of the council to put men to work at once and get out a big supply for next winter. As it will be possible to make two trips per day it is thought that the wood can be sold to the families in town, for $1.50 per cord.

The Mesford Express says—David Robinson, an old and tried employee of the Georgian Bay Milling and Power Co., was electrocuted this morning while carbonizing the street lamp in front of the Queen's Hotel. The accident happened about eight o'clock and despite every means of resuscitation, life was found to be extinct.

The Market Prices—On Tuesday the dealers paid 40 cents per doz. for eggs, 42 cents per pound for butter, $18.76 per cwt. for hogs, $7.10 per cwt. for cattle, $14—$15 per cwt. for lambs, 15 cents per pound for hides, 60 cents for oats, $2.10 for wheat. There is no market price for peas and the opinion is held that they will be much cheaper than last year.

In conversation with The Echo the barbers explained the reason of the recent raise in the price of a hair cut to 35 cents. It is all due to the labor situation. If the barbers here want to keep their men they have to pay them as high wages as elsewhere. And then a barber has long hours, from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. and on Saturday until 10.30 p. m. There are few who have as long hours as barbers.

Sunday Fishing Illegal

An Old Law Prohibiting Fishing and Some Other Amusements

The last issue of Rod and Gun, Woodstock, has this to say about a question that often comes up:

From time to time the old question 'Is it illegal to fish on Sunday?' keeps recurring. The general opinion of those who write to us for a definite statement on this question is that fishing on Sunday if done at all, must be done on the sly, but while holding this opinion the writers can give no foundation for their faith. There is a reason for this indefinite state of mind, however, in the fact that there is nothing in the Dominion Statutes to prohibit Sunday angling, unless it happens to be the angler's ordinary way of making a livelihood, in which case fishing on Sunday might bring the angler into conflict with the Lords Day Act. But while it is true that there is nothing in the Dominion Statutes prohibiting Sunday fishing, the man who yields to the temptation to fish on Sunday in a district where trout and bass are plentiful is likely to run amuck of the rural magistrate, and to be fined for his indiscretion. The truth is that there is nothing in the Dominion Statutes to this effect, an Act passed in 1845—that is 22 years before Confederation—prohibiting fishing on Sunday as well as many other forms of amusement, and this Act, not having been repealed by the Dominion Parliament, which now has jurisdiction in such matters, still remains in force. The rural magistrate, therefore, who imposes a fine for Sunday fishing, while he may not quote chapter and verse, has the meat of the matter in him. This question came up a couple of years ago in connection with the proposed organization of a fishing club in Toronto, which organization however, was not proceeded with, when it was ascertained that Sunday could not be utilized for the sport.

The Silent Heroes of the War

THE men of the Merchant Marine—do you ever give them a thought?

The whole submarine campaign is aimed to frighten this non-combatant force of the seas. For then—

Britain, France, Italy would face starvation.
Our armies could not fight.
Canada would be wrecked commercially.
The fight for liberty would be lost.

Yet governments make no official recognition of this heroic body of 300,000 men who toil day and night in danger of death. No provision is made for pensions, or relief for their dependents.

We must admit our debt to the widows and orphans of the 15,000 men of the Merchant Marine, who have gone down, victims of the U-Boat. Our cry must be—

"They Shall Not Want"

In his famous speech of August 8th, 1913, Premier Lloyd George said:

"During the past two years Germany has made two distinct attempts to force a decision—one on the land and one on the sea. The land offensive might have been disastrous, but the sea offensive, if it had succeeded, would have been final. If the submarines had succeeded, our armies in France would have withered away. No Americans could have come over to assist us and the French troops. Ammunition could not have been shipped and we could not have sent the necessary coal and material to enable France and Italy to manufacture munitions. 'If France, Italy and Great Britain were threatened with starvation the war would have been over before this stage had been reached.'"

THE soldier is rightly remembered with gifts, separation allowance and pension. He is honored, as is his due.

The men of the Navy are provided for and their dependents are not allowed to suffer want.

But the seamen of the Merchant Marine—facing death in a hideous form at their daily work, risk all at the call of duty.

It would be a lasting disgrace to allow the widows and orphans of the noble 15,000 to suffer hardship, other than the loss of their dear ones. Those who died on the sea are calling to you now.

Save the Children

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera, infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer. In most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHESLEY

The Chesley High School reopened for the fall term on Tuesday, September 3rd, with an attendance of 90 girls and 20 boys which is large for a start, and there will likely be 100 before the month is over. There are 37 in the first form and Principal Gilmore drew the Board's attention to the fact that there are only 32 seats in any of the four forms. There have never been so many beginners in the history of the Chesley High School. The Principal drew attention to the splendid record of Chesley H. S. for 1918, namely 8 passed out of a total of 8 in 4th form, 11 out of 12 in 3rd form, 3 out of 4 for Junior Matric, and 18 out of 29 in second form. The school has never shown a better record. Those whose names have been sent in in the Confidential report as having done satisfactory work during the year, had all been successful. Short addresses advising the students to put forth still greater efforts to keep Chesley H. S. in the lead in secondary education were made by Rev. C. M. Farnley who also gave a talk on the Navy League and presented S. O. S. buttons, trustees S. R. Davey and M. E. Buos and W. McDonald, Sec. of the Board. Chesley H. S. is off to a good start. On motion of Miss McEachern and Miss McLachlin a vote of thanks was rendered the speakers by the staff and students.

B. S. Hilday and his right-hand man, Charlie Parker, got back from their trip to the West in connection with the Chesley Monument business on Monday. They found good crops in Regina but a failure at Arcola. Around Waskesiu in Manitoba the crops are getting their second growth. Some of the grain there was sown four times, as the high winds had raised it out of the ground three times. The crop prospects are better on the whole in Manitoba than in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The wheat averages about a foot in height and the heads are filled right to the top. Some farmers claim that they will have 25 bushels to the acre and others will only have from 3 to 8. There was no rain from April 15th to the middle of July.

George C. Savage, son of the late Samuel Savage of 12th Con. Sullivan, died at the home of his sister, Miss Maud Savage, at Grand Forks, N. D., on Wednesday, August 28th, aged 57 years. Deceased was born in Sullivan and moved to Minto in 1888, where he lived for a short time and then farming near Hamilton, N. D., until two years ago when he was stricken with paralysis and died to live with his sister at Grand Forks. Deceased was a member of the A. U. O. W. He is survived by two brothers and two sisters.

When the twelve spies were sent to bring a report to Moses of the Land of Canaan they were a unit in declaring how fruitful it was, except Joshua and Caleb who were afraid of the Giants they would have to encounter. The four soldiers who were sent to spy out Sheshon township in the great clay belt are unanimous in opinion that it is a fertile land, and they are not afraid of the giants that would keep them from the fruit of each, namely, long cold winters, spring frosts and uncultivated lands. So favorable was the report that Jack Front, who was one of Chesley's soldiers to hear the good tidings of a free homestead, decided to brave the rigors of his Arctic nameake and seek a home in Ontario's Elorado. Bobby Taylor has also decided to become a pioneer farmer and 33 others signified their willingness to cut pulpwood in winter and clear land and raise crops in summer in order to get their title clear to 150 acres of this choice soil. The soldier land spies report crops as good in and near Sheshon Township as in Bruce. Buildings for housing the soldiers and stables for their stock will be begun right away and the soldier farmers expect to be in their new homes by Nov. 1st. Well-drilling machinery will soon be on the ground and the water up there is said to be so good that it destroys a taste for booze. Separate houses will be put up for the married couples and the absence of wall paper will try to get enough copies of the Chesley Enterprise for Jack and Bobby to paper their new homes with. We will not promise that this will be a wet proof but it is a sure cure against mesmericism.

SOUTHAMPTON

Last week the barges Isabella Sands and Jackson each brought in a cargo of lumber from the Krechelt Furniture Co. This was maple, elm, beech and hickory and the shipment was valued at $800,000. The factory was closed down to unload it and some eleven men from the company's plant at Walkerton were here to assist. It was a heavy task and many of the men took a holiday in preference to handling the timber. The lumber was shipped here from Boyne City, Michigan.

Mr. D. L. Smith was home from Niagara Camp over the week end. He has signed up with the Siberian Corps and expects to go West sometime this month.

Four of the soldiers from the Saugeen Reserve who enlisted in the 189th Bruce Battalion, have been in the casualty lists of the last two weeks. J. W. Shields died of wounds, Jack Martin was wounded in the hand, Jerry Ahonqua was gassed and Leslie Akheewie killed in action.

Mrs. (Dr.) I. J. Bright, (nee Bessie Thomson) of Winnipeg is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomson. The last report of her brother Master Freddie Thomson is that he is doing favorably.

Mr. W. F. Harner, one of our native Southampton boys who has proved himself a hustler, and who now has a large furniture and outfitting business at Cochrane, is back at the old home for a few days visit. Mrs. Harner and baby have been here for a couple of months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grasser.

Local Merchants Opportunity

In conversation with a weekly newspaper man a few days ago the representative of a Toronto firm expressed the opinion that the day of the town merchant had returned if he only realized it. He pointed out that the cost of doing business in the big cities had mounted so high during the past few years that the departmental stores could no longer afford to give real bargains any more but that the country merchant, whose costs have not risen in proportion, could undersell the big fellow on almost any article. This seems to be a well-founded statement for a few weeks ago the wife of a wage earner in a near-by town wanted to get a suit of clothes for her little boy. She first visited the local stores, saw the class of goods, examined the quality and got prices. She saw an advertisement in a departmental store making a sale of boys' suits and she went to the city next day intending to take advantage of the bargain. In the departmental store she found prices higher for a poorer quality of goods. As a result she bought her boy a suit at the local store. This is an actual happening. The local merchants have got into a rut and it is really difficult for them to get out of it. They take full advantage of the opportunities that present themselves to-day. The war, which has turned everything upside down, has created opportunities at every turn. By intelligent, up-to-date newspaper advertising the local merchant can keep his business alive and lives up to his advertising. He can greatly increase his business. Under present abnormal conditions more so than in former years, the town merchant has had his opportunity to grasp what logically should be his own—Walkerton Telegraph.

HANOVER

Mrs. F. X. Korman, of Hanover, received cable on Tuesday of this week informing her that her son, Lieut. Claude Korman, had been wounded in the right hand. The cable was sent from London by Claude himself, thus indicating that he is not seriously wounded. Mrs. Korman also received a letter yesterday from Claude, dated August 2nd, just prior to the big Canadian drive. Lieut. Korman went overseas with the 248th Greys.

Mr. Harold Titmus, teller of the local branch of the Merchant's Bank, was transferred last week to Petrie, near Windsor. Harold entered the local branch as junior and was here about six years.

Lieut. Eldon Burn referred to in the following paragraph from the Hesperian Herald lived here as a little fellow when his father was pastor of the Evangelical church. Rev. and Mrs. E. Burn, of Waterloo have received the following letter from their son, Lieut. Eldon Burn, who is a member of the R. A. F. on active service in France. In the letter he tells of an exciting encounter with enemy machines which he had recently: "I wrote you two letters a few days ago but this is a chronicle of my latest adventure which happened on June 30. It has seldom been equalled during the war and all the squadrons are talking about it. I was doing 2500 ft. when I saw about 50 miles away a line making a reconnaissance of a large town at 18,000 feet while my observer was taking pictures of anything important. Suddenly two Fokker biplanes drove on us. I shot one down with my front gun and suddenly my engine cut dead. We fought the other German without an engine for almost our own lives, going down all the time—we finally drove him off and crossed the German trenches at a few hundred feet with anti-aircraft guns. Machine guns and rifles riddling holes in our machine. We landed in No. 10 Mans Land 15 yards from the German trenches and 113 yards from our own. I crashed the machine all up in a shell hole and broke my nose, and also have a cut across the lip that will likely leave a scar. We were two hours in No. 10 Mans Land with the Germans sniping at us with rifles every time we got out of a shell hole. We worked our way out of the German lines, to almost our own lines, going down all the time—we finally drove him off and crossed the German trenches at a few hundred feet with anti-aircraft guns. French Farmers Saved the Day

The saving factor is a national asset. Canadian progress to-day is all lines attest, manifestly to the splendid qualities of "thrift" that have marked the farmers in all provinces. The total returns from field crops and animal products have been only possible because of the disposition to make use in an economical way of all the wonderful gifts of Providence in this good land of ours.

The same was abundantly true after 1870 in France when the thrifty farmers of that fair land made it possible for the Republic to pay off that hated German war indemnity of two billion francs levied against them. The same spirit of national thrift built up France for the extreme test to-day—a test that is being tried by us.

Thanks be, French heroism is proving true. The blood of the farmers is flowing equally as well through the veins of France's daughters of the soil and so the national strength bends but does not break.

Canada is reaping her harvest of increased returns and money is being made as never before. Our farmers are earning the gratitude of all in their splendid efforts at production. That they will carry into their savings an equal foresight in conserving their surpluses against the future days of darkness and lower prices will be equally praiseworthy. He is well advised who saves his extra dollar until he sees which way the winds of to-morrow will blow. Adversity blows a chill blast where there is no dollar in the savings.

The Jewish New Year has already begun.

With Germany fighting a purely defensive war, it is only a question of time until the end will come.

The Government has again decided that Thanksgiving Day shall be on a Monday and the date set is October 14.

The city of Hamilton is getting wood delivered from Algonquin Park at $0.50 per cord 4x8x8. In view of existing conditions this price seems most reasonable.

Attend the local Fairs. The exhibits will probably be good, the farmers can afford to take a day off, there are people you want to see, and you should patronize the Fair to make it a success.

Lambs are selling at 17 cents per live weight. Perhaps they will be higher. Years ago lambs were sold between $2 and $3 each. They were then too cheap, but to-day they are far too high.

An appeal has been made to patriotic car owner not to use their cars for four Sundays. This appeal is due to shortage of gasoline and if complied with will save an average of two gallons each Sunday for each car.

There is a whole lot of easy money floating these days. The other day The Echo was informed that as high as $30 for a pair of hogs is being paid in the city. A campaign of thrift needs to be well pushed in a place like that when $10 to $12 per night are paid to munition workers an injustice is done to these men, and to every other man who is obliged to earn his bread.

TOBERMORY

The Tobermory branch of the Women's Institute held a meeting in the Harbor Methodist Church, Aug. 22. It was decided to have a social evening, also to purchase $25. worth of material to sew for Red Cross. A social evening was held in the Orange Hall, Aug. 28th, in aid of the Belgian Relief Fund. Proceeds of social and tickets sold for quilt, $33. Sent to Belgian Relief Fund, Mr. Neil Currie, returned soldier, was the winner of the quilt.

A meeting was held in the Orange Hall, August 29th, District Pres., Mrs. Bolton, of Warton, gave a very interesting lecture on the call to service of Canadian Women. It was decided to apply for Medical School Inspection. A meeting was held in the Settlement Methodist Church on the evening of August 30th. Mrs. Bolton gave a lecture on the benefits received through the Women's Institute. A fair attendance was present.

Address and Presenta- tion at Hope Bay

A number of the friends of Howard C. Hepburn met at his parents home and presented him with a watch and the following address was read: Dear Howard—We, your friends, have met this evening to wish you God speed in your difficult task. We admire and respect the man who obeys his Country's call; but we hold in the highest esteem the one who sees the need of his land and enlists. To the latter class you belong.

You will have the opportunity of crossing nearly half of the American continent. You will be one of those who take part in the greatest crusade that the world has ever known. Your sacrifices are great, we hope that your reward will be greater.

As a token of our sincere esteem for you, we ask you to accept this wrist watch. We trust you will find it useful as a time piece and also a remembrance of your friends.

We shall watch your military career. We hope that He who holds our lives in the hollow of His hands may bless and keep you safely while you are performing those duties that your Country, in its time of trouble, requires of you.

Sapper Hepburn made a short but impressive reply. All then joined in singing the National Anthem. Mrs. Hepburn afterwards served a delicious supper.

Publisher's Notice

The Echo has repeatedly called the attention of the public to the fact that all notices of future events are advertisements and must be paid for no matter what the event may be. Advertising is our stock in trade just the same as the goods that the merchant has on his shelf for sale. The Echo respectfully declines to be used as a medium to save the expense of getting out a dodger or to pay postage. For announcing any future event The Mail and Empire charges 2 cents per word; if the event is to raise money for Patriotic, Church or Charitable purposes the charge is then 4 cents per word. Accordingly a moment's reflection will convince any fair minded person that our position is not peculiar and is correct from a business standpoint. Anything of a news nature which will help on a good work, even to the publication of a financial report, we have done cheerfully and we are glad to know the Patriotic Societies have on many occasions thanked us for this service.

LOCAL NEWS

The world is not very large. Last week Dr. Hay was bowling in Toronto. The rink he and Mr. Lane were against was composed of two returned soldiers, one of whom had been wounded in the arm. "Where did you get that wound?" asked the Doctor. The place was named. "Did I not desert the wound?" inquired the doctor. "I thought that you looked like the man," replied the soldier. The doctor was then in the service of the army at this station, and attended to this man along with hundreds of others and after many months they met again in Toronto.

Curing Skin Troubles

So many people, both men and women, suffer from skin troubles, such as eczema, blotches, pimples and irritations that a word of advice is necessary. It is a great mistake for such sufferers and those with bad complexions to smear themselves with greasy ointments. Often they could not do anything worse, for the grease clogs the pores of the troubled skin and their condition actually becomes worse.

When there are pimples or eruptions, or an itching or itching rash, a soothing boracic solution may help to allay the irritation, but of course that does not cure the trouble. Skin complaints come from an impure condition of the blood and will persist until the blood is thoroughly purified. It is well known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have effected the best results in many forms of skin disorders and blemishes. This is due to the fact that these pills make new, rich blood, and that this new blood attacks the impurities that give rise to skin troubles and disperses them; so that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure skin disorders from within the system—the only sure way.

It should be added that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a beneficial effect upon the general health. They increase the appetite and energy and cure diseases that arise from impure blood.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To win this war every ounce of the strength of each of the allied nations must be put forth to meet the organized, trained and disciplined efficiency of the Central Powers—that gigantic, ruthless force which is the result of fifty years of planning and preparation.

And every ounce of every allied nation's strength is in the hands and brains and hearts of the individuals of each nation, because they are free peoples.

Now the individuals of each nation must live as well as fight, therefore a proportion of the effort and material of each nation must be diverted from war purposes to living necessities.

So the less each individual takes for himself or herself for personal use the more effort will there be left for fighting and winning the war.

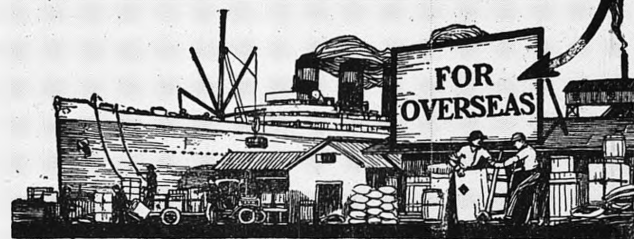

Every cent you spend represents that much effort because somebody must do something for you in order to earn that cent—somebody's effort must be given to you instead of to the war.

Therefore the less you spend—the less of somebody's effort you take for your individual use—the more will you leave in the national surplus for war effort.

The war can be won only by the surplus strength of the allied nations. The money each individual saves represents that surplus strength.

So the truly loyal Canadian will use less, spend less, and save more, to help to win the war.

Mr. Bert Burley, formerly of Stokes Bay, and for many years a resident of Warton, dropped dead in Sarbia on Sunday, where he has been residing for the past two years.

Mr. Malcolm Melver, Stokes Bay, received a letter from his brother, Pte. Richard Melver, who was wounded August 8th. He is in Farmingham, England, was wounded in the right leg and left arm. The wound in the arm is not serious but the wound in the leg will probably keep him from further service in the war.

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:

PTE. CHARLES BRYCE MILLER, Wiarton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Miller, Pte. Miller was reported wounded, in our last issue, and this week we regret to learn that he is reported seriously ill.

PTE. LEONARD LORNE MACARTNEY, Wiarton, Killed in Action, August 26th. Lorne was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Macartney, was 27 years of age, had been a sailor, enlisted with the 160th Bruce Bn. He was one of the boys of town, of excellent reputation, and the news of his death was learned with profound regret. His parents have the sympathy of everyone in this sad hour.

PTE. CLARENCE MITCHELL, Wiarton, Killed in Action, August 26. Clarence Mitchell was the son of Mrs. Mitchell, George Street, he had been a sailor, cheerfully signed up with the Bruce 160th. He was a young man well liked and well spoken of, and his widowed mother will have the sympathy of all classes in the supreme sacrifice her son has made.

PTE. JOSEPH FRANK ELLIOT, Cape Croker, Killed in Action, August 28th.

PTE. LEONARD REUBEN KEESHIG, Cape Croker, Killed in Action, August 27th.

Both Private Elliot and Private Keeshig hailed from the Indian Reserve of Cape Croker, and their relatives may be assured that all the people honor them for the sacrifice they are making.

PTE. ALEXANDER (Sandy) FERGUSON, Wiarton, Killed in Action, September 3rd. He was born at Stokes Bay and was the son of the late Mr. Malcolm Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson. Sandy was well known about the town having gone to school here. His mother and sister Mrs. J. Holler, will have the sympathy of the whole country side.

PTE. MALCOLM B. KEEFER, Wiarton, passed September 9th and admitted into No. 14 General Hospital. Pte. Malcolm Keefe is a son of our worthy townsmen, Mr. W. H. Keefe. He lived in town for a number of years. His friends and the friends of his parents will hope for a speedy recovery.

651309 Pte. NORMAN McDONALD, Stokes Bay, dangerously ill, gunshot wound thigh fracture of femur.

PTE. JOHN BOCKHOVEN, Wiarton, wounded and missing. Pte. Bockhoven belonged to the Bruce 160, worked in Table Factory for a number of years, was most highly respected, was a Hollander. His friends in Wiarton will regret to learn of his being missing and his wife and family will have the sympathy of all classes. On Wednesday morning a cable reported him a prisoner of war.

PTE. DAN McLAY, CAPE CHIN, wounded, fractured leg, admitted to Colchester Military Hospital.

Will all those who have had relatives killed or wounded kindly send the latest photograph of these soldiers to The Echo.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Macartney and family wish to thank all their friends for their kind words of sympathy since the death of their son, Pte. Lorne Macartney, who was killed in Action.

We must save, serve and sacrifice.

WIARTON DISTRICT MEETING

The Wiarton District meeting of the Methodist Church was held in Lions Head, Friday Sept. 20. This is the first time this gathering has been held north of Wiarton. In spite of an all day rain and bad roads, this proved to be the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of the kind ever held in the Wiarton District. The attendance at the three sessions aggregated over 300 and was made up of auto loads all the way from Tobermory to Dobbinton.

The morning session was devoted to routine business. Social Service Field Day was fixed for Nov. 17, and Educational Field Day for Jan. 19. The next district meeting was fixed for Arkwright Nov. 19 and the February meeting for Park Head Feb. 18. Sanction was given to the holding of a series of Sunday School Institutes during the month of November.

The afternoon and evening sessions were devoted to Missionary matters. Rev. H. E. Walker returned missionary from Japan, and Rev. E. R. Skin-hauer, a full blooded Indian of 34 years experience among his own people, gave the situation from the needs of the field. Mr. F. E. Walker, of Tara, spoke as a business man and gave a very fine address. The meeting set the financial objective for missions at $10,000.00 for 1918-19. Last year $4325.00 was the amount raised. Sunday Sept. 22 was made inaugural Day and the week Oct. 13-20 a Campaign Week, when laymen and ministers will cover the district to raise the $10,000.00. An appeal will be made to intelligence and prayer: "We can if we will," was the spirit of the meeting.

The Lions Head people entertained the visitors right royally. This evening meal was served in the Orange Hall. The Wiarton delegates were, Rev. W. W. Prudham, C. W. McKinnon, W. J. Moon, Jno Armstrong, Almer Moon, W. J. Brown, Geo. E. Hamblin, Mrs. G. E. Hamblin, Mrs. W. J. Brown, Mrs. C. Matthews, Miss Martin Hamblin, Miss Lela Hamblin.

The delegates to the district meeting at Lions Head made the report Sunday morning, and also Sunday evening in the Methodist church. It proved a most profitable innovation.

Save The Pennies

Through progressive co-operation between The Wiarton Branch of the Union Bank of Canada and Mr. Hamilton, Principal of the High School, a system of Savings for the Scholars attending the school has been organized. While the idea is yet in its infancy we are informed that a large number of scholars joined at once, and doubtless the whole school will soon be enrolled in a spirit of friendly rivalry. We are also informed that this privilege has also been extended to the Public School. These future home-makers have our hearty congratulations and good wishes and we trust to see the movement spread.

Each small sacrifice of present pleasures for these young people will more than repay them in future years in determined character and the beginning of capital with which to start life. They at least are fulfilling part of the great order to "Produce and Save". And we are assured that such a movement always tends to progressive districts, industry, home-ownership, and good citizenship.

STOKE'S BAY

There passed away on Sunday evening Sept. 22nd, one of the oldest pioneers of Eastnor, in the person of George Myles, aged 78 years and 4 months. He settled on Lot 32, Con. 2, E. B. R. in the year 1873, and lived there until four years ago, when he and Mrs. Myles retired to Stokes Bay. He was a Methodist, and a good citizen. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and eleven children and thirty nine grandchildren. One son, Samuel is in France with the Bruce 160th.

Miss McKay, our teacher, spent the week end at Lions Head with her mother, who is seriously ill. Mrs. L. Milhausen spent the week end the guest of Miss M. McKinney. A number from here attended the barn raising at Wm. Wardrop's Wednesday.

Mac. McIver attended Council in Lions Head on Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. McKinney was in Lions Head on Saturday.

Mrs. Art Steip, of Lions Head, is with her mother, Mrs. G. Myles.

J. Myles, of Lions Head, spent Sunday here.

Henry Wardrop, our village blacksmith, is building a fine dwelling on the Island at the Bridge.

LION'S HEAD

There will be a memorial service for Pte. Jno. MacCallum in Hayes' Hall, Sunday, Sept. 29, at 3 o'clock, p. m.

Mrs. C. Sensabough is spending a couple of weeks in Owen Sound with her son, George.

Delegates from Dobbinton to Tobermory were here last week to attend the District Meeting of the Methodist Church. The weather was disagreeable and made their stay less pleasant than it otherwise might have been.

Miss Ola Butchart returned to her position at Hanover after spending two weeks holidays at her home.

Barrel salt for sale at Whit Moors Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, of London are visiting their son here.

Mr. Sol Klengren was here the beginning of the week buying butter and eggs from the merchants.

Get your Marriage License from Whit Moore when required.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickless spent a few days in Wiarton last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bartman.

Mrs. Peterson and children returned on Saturday after nearly two weeks visit in Wiarton.

Mrs. Dr. Hacking returned from Toronto on Friday, having accompanied her mother that far on her journey to California.

Ptes. Chas. Williams and Charles Tyndall reported for duty at London last week but were allowed home on an extension. Pte. Wismer, of Essex County, returned with them and is spending some of his holidays here the guest of Pte. C. Williams.

Whit Moore has some of Pennans heavy woolen socks on hand that were bought over a year ago. These are much better than can be secured to-day and are not nearly the price of inferior socks now made. Those who want good socks had better not put off buying them as there are only a few dozens of the good ones left.

OXENDEN

Miss Myrtle Wright is visiting her sister, Mrs. Malt Porter at Lake Charles.

Our enterprising blacksmith, Mr. Wm. Walpole has had his shop newly shingled and changed in other ways, and intends going into other lines of business.

Do not forget that next Sunday is Rally Day a combined service, S. S. and the regular service at 2.30 p. m. All are welcome.

Threshings have been numerous and still there are more yet.

Mr. W. Stephens has put a stone foundation under his house and cemented his cellar, so property is improving in our burg.

Letter From a Soldier to Dyers Bay Women's Institute

Hello Ethel—Just a line to let you know I am still alive, and quite well. I should have written you before, but you know we can't always get time to answer letters just when we get them. We have to answer them when we get a chance. I wish to thank you, as Secretary of the Women's Institute, for the box which they sent me. I hope you will express my hearty appreciation and thanks for the same. I believe the other boys have nearly all got theirs too, at least the Hill-ditch boys, Norman Wardrop and Charlie Bawley, but they have no doubt written you and told you of it before this.

We are getting along fine over here and are beginning to look forward to spending our leave in England. I suppose you are all quite busy up there now with the harvest. We often are then working at the harvest over here and they have some funny ways. Some few among them have binders, but very few. They mostly handle and handle the grains in the good old fashioned way.

The war is going pretty much our way these days. It looks as if we might get back home some day. I have heard from Howard lately? I have never heard from nor seen him since he was in Blighty on leave. I hope he is well.

I must close for to-day. Remember me to all the folks and thank the ladies for me for their kindness.

As ever,
CHRIS GRAHAM

OWEN SOUND

Mrs. A. Mustard, Shallow Lake, received official word this week that her brother, Pte. J. McCullough, has been wounded in the left leg on Sept. 3rd, and admitted to the 4th General Hospital, Camiers, France. Pte. McCullough enlisted at Harrison 2 years ago with the 163rd Wellington Bn., and has been in France some time. His many friends hope that his recovery will be complete and rapid.

The King Shoe Co. is now in operation with about 35 operators and is turning out about 60 pairs of shoes per day. Within a few weeks when new machinery will be installed and the operators have become more expert at their work, this rate of progress will be doubled. As it is also expected that many more employees will be on the pay roll by that time. The building has been entirely remodelled inside and the different rooms devoted to the operating department are both large and airy and present a rather attractive appearance. Mr. A. T. Heward who is in charge of the factory and already has the manufacturing end in excellent working order. The output so far has been confined to children's boots of the cheaper quality but with the operators become rapidly more efficient the better class of shoes will soon be on the market, not only in children's but in women's sizes. In fact, according to Mr. Heward, the company will turn out the very best class of shoes in Canada and owing to the fact that every bit of the machinery is owned by the company, thus saving royalties, they can meet any competition in price as well as quality.

Dr. A. B. Danard, of New York, is in town spending a few days with his nephew, Dr. A. L. Danard. Since his visit here last summer Dr. Danard made practically a trip around the world as physician on a large steamer leaving Glasgow he went to Singapore, Japan, Java, Ceylon and returned through the Red Sea. He returned by way of Gibraltar to Dover. The trip was uneventful though Dr. Danard was in London when the last air raid took place. Referring to the latter event, he said little damage was done and the newspaper reports, so far as he could judge, were exaggerated as he had gone around the metropolis considerably while there and had failed to see any serious damage done to any of the buildings. His hotel was near Charing Cross station and the depressing feature of his visit was the constant stream of wounded soldiers being brought across from France and transferred from the train to the ambulance. On his homeward bound trip the passengers had an opportunity of seeing one of the German submarines destroyed by the seamen of the convoy which used depth bombs. Referring to the effectiveness of the depth bomb, Dr. Danard described one instance where a mystery ship decoyed a number of Hun subs to an attack. The crew of the mystery ship played the game so well. They ostensibly left their boat at the mercy of the enemy subs with the result that several subs came to the surface when the camouflage of the mystery ship disappeared revealing a ship bristling with guns. The result was that five of the Hun subs were accounted for in one of these instances. This no doubt is responsible for the reports of the mutiny of the German sailors against going aboard the Hun submarines as it inevitably means death or capture.

TARA

A serious accident happened to ten year old Cameron Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Richards, of the 10th Con. of Arran on Saturday. The little fellow was playing in the field and although no one saw the accident it is supposed that he was kicked by a horse. His head was badly cut and the doctors had him removed to the Owen Sound hospital. He is doing as well as could be expected.

On Tuesday afternoon while Mr. Wm. Gordon's team was standing in front of a warehouse waiting for some cement to be loaded, something frightened his horses and they ran through the alleyway between the Shannon's hardware store and the Post Office and at a rapid gait across the road and collided with a cement tie post which left the rear wheels and wagon box on the sidewalk. The horses fell on the cement walk at the corner of Hill's store just escaping the Hydro post but upsetting a number of baskets of fruit in front of the store. The horses then ran down Matilda street and were captured at the foot of that street.

TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" brought Quick and Permanent Relief

MR. P. M. MCDUGALL

108 Church Street, Montreal, December 10th, 1917.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 14 years. I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good. Then, I began to use 'Fruit-A-Tives'; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, 'Fruit-A-Tives' overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and 'Fruit-A-Tives' relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health." P. M. MCDUGALL.

HOW "TRIUMPH" WAS CAPTURED

AND CONVERTED FROM A FISH TRAWLER INTO A HUN C.G.M. MINER RAIDER

CAPT. MYHRE'S STORY

GERMANS TOOK DELIGHT IN READING TORONTO, MONTREAL, AND BOSTON PAPERS.

By Dorothy Henrich.

Halifax, Aug. 27. In less than two hours from the time the commander of the German U-boat sighted the Halifax trawler "Triumph" off this coast on Tuesday August 20, he had Captain Myhre and his crew prisoners on board, and converted the trawler from a fish harvesting vessel to a commerce raider equipped with at least two guns, a wireless apparatus and scores of bombs. Capt. Myhre gave the following interview to your representative:

"We left Portland Saturday, August 20th, and reached our destination, the middle grounds, Tuesday morning. All of a sudden the submarine, which I should say was 280 to 300 feet long, came to the surface about three or four miles away, and fired a shell over our bow. The shell fell near the trawler and the explosion caused such an upheaval of water that it almost swamped the vessel. The submarine steamed up to within 300 yards of us. Meanwhile my crew had gotten into the boats, and the enemy beckoned us to go alongside of the submarine. This we did. Thereupon they used the trawler's boats for taking their own apparatus on board the Triumph including boxes of ammunition, wireless apparatus, mines, bombs and two guns, which I should judge were three pounders. This occupied two hours. They put about twenty of their men, all Germans, on board. The Hun crew immediately commenced to throw overboard the trawler's material, such as fish, trawling gear and everything movable that they did not need. Their engineers at once started getting steam up, and they steamed away."

"We were on the submarine while all this was going on. They kept one of our boats and left us two, into which our twenty-one men were put. The submarine captain told us to make for the shore as best we could. In rowing away we were rowing round his bow, when he started the engine and acted as though he intended to ram us. The back water of the speeding submarine nearly swamped us. This caused great excitement on board the submarine. As a matter of fact, instead of being fifty miles, as the submarine captain falsely told me I knew we were 120 miles from Halifax, and only sixty or seventy miles from Canso. Consequently we headed for the nearest port. After rowing between 30 and 40 miles we fell in with the schooner A. Hubley, partly owned by Mr. Boutillier, of the National Fish Company. This schooner took us on board and into Canso."

The submarine captain asked me if I remembered the sinking of the American Cruiser San Diego. He said that that warship was torpedoed and not mined, and that it was his U-boat that had sunk the Hattie B. Jennings. Stamping his foot on the deck and looking downwards, he said, "he had the captain of that vessel down there." He appeared to be much ashamed in reading reports of how many times his own submarine had been rammed and sunk by vessels arriving at American ports. Continuing his story, Captain Myhre said, "I was amazed to see two large stationary guns fired on deck—one forward and one aft. These guns were at least eighteen feet long in my estimation, and looked to be capable of handling a cruiser. The Hun skipper said he was three months out, and that he was going to stop another two months in order to annihilate the fishing fleet on the banks, and he would be no Prussian officer if he did not succeed."

Among other things taken from the "Triumph" by the U-boat commander was a batch of Boston, New York, Montreal and Toronto papers, which were read with great interest by the crew." Star Weekly.

HANOVER

Roscoe H. Helwig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Helwig, of Hanover, has enlisted in the R. A. F. He held a good position in Toronto previous to enlistment. His older brother, Lieut. Norman Helwig, now a Lt.-Lieut., who went overseas as a Lieut. with the 147th Greys, has been recognized for bravery for his work in France.

A sad death occurred in Hanover on Sunday last when Mrs. Herbert Merklinger passed away at the early age of 28 years, 8 months, and 2 days. Death was due to brain fever after a few days' illness. Deceased's maiden name was Mary Jane Ritchie, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ritchie of Durham. She was born in Gienex Township but had lived in Durham 8 years previous to her marriage with Mr. Merklinger on September 12, 1911. They had one child deceased. The late Mrs. Merklinger was a woman of very sweet and winning disposition and her early and sudden death has occasioned much sorrow among a wide circle of friends.

Mr. J. C. Devlin, of Hanover, was doubly bereaved this past week. On Friday he received the fateful message from Ottawa advising him of the death of his son Earl in action and the following day the death of his only living brother Benjamin of Collingwood, was announced. The late Mr. Devlin was about 64 years of age. A couple of years ago he was injured in a shell factory from which he never recovered and a year later suffered a paralytic stroke. Deceased

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Saves Money For The Farmer

PRICES of farm products have reached a high level. The farmer can take full advantage of this situation only by adding to his equipment of time and labor-saving machinery. Time and labor are money. When time and labor are saved, money is saved.

Time and labor-saving devices for working the land do not produce complete results in themselves. The farmer must have rapid and dependable means of placing his products on the market.

The Ford One-Ton Truck will make trips to town so much more quickly than the horse that you will have many extra hours of time to devote to productive work. A large number of farmers have proven the Ford One-Ton Truck to be a time and money-saver—have you?

Most Heat from Fuel

One reason why the Kootenay Range gives the most use of the heat generated from the fuel, is that the grates have ample vents to make perfect combustion in the firebox, which is properly and scientifically proportioned according to the needs of the range.

Capt. R. Simmie, Clavering, has been advised to hold himself in readiness to take charge of a draft leaving Canada for overseas. As soon as he arrives in England he intends to ask for another medical board with the hope of getting to the front again. The medical boards here will not place him in a higher category than C, and he is determined to get to the Western front again if possible. Capt. Simmie holds the opinion that it is the men actually engaged in the war, who are doing something worth while and consequently declined to accept any military position at home.

There will be a meeting of the Warton Patriotic League in the Council Chamber, Friday evening, Sept. 27th at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers. The League has been incorporated as required by law under the War Charities Act, the provisional directors are W. M. Tyson, A. E. Jackson, T. C. Allan, D. J. Hunter and W. W. Frodham. This meeting will elect permanent officers. All subscribers not more than one month in arrears to the Warton Patriotic League are entitled to vote at this meeting. A full attendance is requested of every patriotic man and woman.

Canada will soon have a National day of Thanksgiving. It is to be observed Oct. 14. And Canada has much to be thankful. But above crops, happy economic and domestic conditions there is in sight the breaking up of barbarism. The task to which this young nation consecrated all her powers in August 1914. The end is getting nearer. The smashing on the Western front, the spectacular military success in Macedonia and Palestine all bring nearer the day of a new world, and in that new world there will be no Hun cruelty nor Bolshevik barbarism.

"The last days of the Russian Autocracy" is the subject of a splendid article in the Saturday Evening Post of last week. According to the writer, Princess Cantacuzens, there was as much patriotism in Russia when war started as in any of the other Allied nations. Her recital of facts clearly prove this, and it was not until German intrigue had done its work that there was cessation of war activity. When this prevented ammunition and war supplies from reaching the front, when it removed the Grand Duke from supreme command, when it meant a paralyzing influence upon all Russian war effort, and a slaughter of brave Russians, then the revolutionary spirit took root and began to grow. The article is well worth reading.

BRASS—McEACHERN

The following was clipped from the Moosejaw paper of last week.

"A wedding of interest to large circle of friends was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this afternoon, when two of Moosejaw's most popular young people, Miss Kathryn Currie McEachern, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McEachern, Warton, Ontario, and Mr. James Alexander Brass were united in marriage, the Rev. W. G. Wilson performing the ceremony. The bride, who was unattended, entered the church on the arm of Mr. A. Halkett to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by Mr. Luther Roberts. She looked charming in her travelling costume of nigger brown duvety trimmed with beaver, with shoes and Gage model hat to match. The coat opened on a blouse of flesh georgette crepe and a corsage bouquet of cream roses completed the attractive costume. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple will leave on the Soo train for a month's honeymoon trip, which they will spend in Minneapolis, Chicago, New York and Warton, Ont. On their return they will reside at 28 Oxford St. West. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brass have been employees of the C. P. R. for several years, and among many beautiful gifts received was a handsome chest of Sterling silver from the office staff.

Build up the Mighty National Force

FOR fifty years the Teuton peoples have been trained, disciplined, whipped into servile cogs of an implacable military machine, by which is maintained the Prussian doctrine of might, and the Kaiser's autocracy. The Teutons deny themselves, they make sacrifices, because they are trained or forced to do so, but they do it.

The peoples of the Allied nations must make great sacrifices and tremendous efforts in order to defeat the enemies of freedom, but because they are free peoples it is left largely to the individual to say what or how much self-denial each will practice.

So if freedom is to prevail individuals must make voluntary sacrifices which in the aggregate will be greater than the forced sacrifices of the enemies of freedom.

THE measure of your love of freedom is your willingness to deny yourself so that the strength of the nation for war effort will be increased.

This self-denial must take the form of money-saving—thrift. Each person knows in what way he or she may save.

The national need says you must save, but free Canada leaves it to you to say by what means and to what extent you will save.

NOW, it is for you, each of us, everyone of us to say how much patriotic endeavor, how much loyal sacrifice we will make by saving our money, by "doing without" so that each day will see a surplus to add to our own and the nation's strength. No matter how small the surplus it is important because each saving is an effort made, and many small individual efforts make the mighty national force.

He was in a rather serious condition, thus was sent to the hospital.

A very quiet wedding took place in Elmwood on Thursday evening Sept. 19th at 7 p. m. in the Methodist Parsonage, when Mr. Michael Badler, of Miller Lake, and Mrs. Annie Brown of Kitchener, were united in marriage by the Rev. They left on Friday for their home at Miller Lake.

It fell to Ben Schell, Red Bay, to stage one of the biggest, if not the biggest auction sales ever seen in this district. He had advertised it well, and it pays to advertise it well, and it was the largest ever seen on that spot on the Lake Huron Shore. Farmers came from Miller Lake, on one side, down to Tara on the other, and they came to buy. When Auctioneer Beacock had finished talking he had sold chattels to the value of $3000. There were, perhaps no record breaking prices, but the way bidding took place shows the farmers have confidence in the market holding good for some time. Cows sold as high as $118, Spring Calves brought $39, a two year old colt sold for $179. A wagon which cost $67 a few years ago, sold for more than $90, etc., etc. After the sale was over all who are fond of tripping the light fantastic toe were invited to remain and the dance broke up at 4 o'clock the next morning. It was Ben's farewell to Red Bay and he made it a good one.

While motoring to Warton Saturday morning, John Baker, Eastnor, had a thrilling experience for a few minutes. He was approaching the bridge over Judge's Creek, on the 15 side road. It is a new bridge, but apparently there are no sides to it; the mud approaching the bridge was pretty slippery and the front wheels of the car went over the bridge and the car held there for a time. Then Mrs. Baker and her young son got out, but they had no more than done so when the car made a complete somersault and went over in the creek. The top of the car was badly damaged, but otherwise it was not injured, and Mr. Baker himself escaped injury. It happened that there were a number of men nearby at the time and they got the car soon again on all fours and it proceeded to

Out of the sale of the liquid assets of the Canada Casket Co., there is likely to arise a law suit for taxes on that institution for 1918. It will be remembered that the Town cannot obtain a title of the building and plant for six months. As the title remains with the company the Town maintains that they should pay the taxes and the Collector was notified to levy on the liquid assets. In the meantime, however, these had been sold, and the parties who purchased them take the position that having bought them at a Sheriff's sale that the goods should come to them free of all incumbrances. The Collector scarcely knew what to do, he was not going to allow the goods out of the building whereupon the buyers gave him a bond guaranteeing that they would see that he suffered no personal loss in the matter. The suit, if any, will be between the Town of Warton and R. Young, and the amount of money in question is about $1100.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

PREFACE

For 14 years the Kaiser was my patient. All I know of him and all that he told me came to me while the relation of patient and dentist existed between us. For that reason I felt at first that no matter how vital to the allied cause might be the information I could give as to the Kaiser's viewpoint, ambitions and plans, the requirements of professional ethics must seal my lips and compel me to withhold it from the world at large.

When, however, I considered the grave crisis that confronts the world and in which my own country is playing so important a part, and realizing that what I know of the Kaiser might prove of some value to civilization, I concluded that my patriotic duty was paramount and rose superior to any of the ordinary demands of professional ethics.

In this conclusion I was strengthened by the urgent solicitation of the leaders of my profession, who were most emphatic in their contention that my ethical qualms were entirely unwarranted in view of the circumstances.

ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

CHAPTER I.

"America Must Be Punished!"

When war broke out between the United States and Germany, on April 6, 1917, I was in Berlin. I had lived and practiced my profession as a dentist there for 14 years and had had down one of my patients during all that time.

I don't know exactly how many visits the Kaiser paid me professionally, but I know I saw him often. They were not less than 100, and the probabilities are they were closer to 150. Almost invariably, after my work was done, the Kaiser remained anywhere from ten minutes to an hour and a half to discuss the topics of the hour with me.

When we declared war against Germany, therefore, while I was still an American citizen, a patriotic American, I believe, as might be found anywhere I had lived in Germany so long, had developed so many professional friendships in Germany's most favored cities and was so generally regarded as a particular favorite of the Kaiser himself, that I found it hard to realize that nevertheless I had become an alien enemy.

The same day the breaking off of diplomatic relations was announced, the German newspapers had published the provisions of an old treaty between Germany and the United States which gave Americans in Germany and Germans in America nine months after a declaration of war between the two nations within which to settle their affairs and return to their country.

"This treaty," the newspapers pointed out, "was made in the time of Frederick the Great. It has never been repealed. Germany will respect it." As there were no more Americans in America than there were Germans in Germany, this prompt announcement of Germany's intentions regarding this treaty was quite understandable and it seemed most probable that Germany would adopt any harsh measures toward Americans and thereby invite reprisals.

Had the situation been reversed, of course, the Germans would undoubtedly have thought it expedient to inform Americans no matter what happened to their own countrymen in America, and in that event, this old treaty would have saved the fate of that which guaranteed Belgium's neutrality. One "scrap of paper" more or less would never have been allowed to interfere with Germany's destiny.

Influential Germans who called to see me professionally during that period almost invariably expressed the hope that I was not planning to leave Berlin.

"No matter what happens, doctor," they declared—"even if the worst comes to the worst and war is declared between America and Germany—you may feel quite sure that Kaiser will never let anyone harm you."

I had not let the matter rest there, however. I had called at the American embassy, where it was pointed out to me that, while diplomatic relations had been severed, it was not at all certain that war would result and there was, therefore, no reason for me to leave Berlin precipitately.

Had the Kaiser been in Berlin at the time, I might, of course, have had an opportunity to put the question to him squarely as to what his fate might be if war were declared, but he was away. The court chamberlain had been appointed but a short time before and I did not know him personally, but his predecessor, Count August von Bismarck, one of the wisest and most respected men in Germany, was one of my oldest patients and I decided to discuss the situation with him. Unfortunately, however, I found him too ill to receive me. He was eighty years old and, although usually well, he served, was in no condition on this occasion to receive visitors.

Another influential patient of mine whom I sought out at this time was ex-Ambassador von Sturmer. Although he was now retired from official life, he had formerly been a powerful figure in German state circles and still kept more or less in touch with the new court chamberlains and other high officials. His nephew was under secretary of foreign affairs.

I found the ex-ambassador at his private apartment in the Adlon hotel. "What will happen to America," I asked, "if my country declares war against Germany?"

"That, doctor, will depend entirely upon how America treats our subjects," he replied, somewhat coolly than I had expected of him. "If America intends Germany, of course, we shall undoubtedly treat Americans the same way, and you could hardly expect any special consideration, although, if you will write a letter to the court chamberlain, who is a personal friend of mine, I shall see that he gets it."

"But, excellency," I replied, "there is a treaty between Germany and America. I understand, which gives the subjects or citizens of one country who happen to be sojourning in the other when war is declared nine months within which to close up their affairs and leave. Would not that protect me?"

"Of course, doctor," he answered, "Germany will respect the treaty if America does, and then there will be no trouble. It seems to me you must await developments and, in the meantime you have no cause for worry."

"Suppose some of your subjects in America should act up and start building up bridges or military factories and should be lynched, which they probably would be," I suggested, "what would Germany's course be?"

"What Germany would do then, doctor," he replied, slowly and thoughtfully, as though such a contingency had never occurred to him before—"really, doctor, I don't know what she would do."

This somewhat unsatisfactory interview with Von Sturmer might have worried me more, perhaps, had it not been for a visit I received only a day or two later from Prince von Pilsa, one of the Kaiser's closest friends and advisors, who called on me professionally. A year and a half the Kaiser had his great army headquarters at his home in Berlin, and I knew that he enjoyed his monarch's confidence.

When I asked him regarding the possible internment of Americans, he assured me that, come what might, I and my family had not the slightest reason for alarm.

"No matter what may befall other Americans," he asserted, in a confidential manner, "the Kaiser has gone on record to the effect that you and your family are not to be molested."

Another incident which made me feel that I could proceed with my preparations for leaving Berlin without undue haste was the receipt early in the year of a most extraordinary post card from the Kaiser, which, it occurred to me, was quite significant as to his intentions regarding my welfare. On one side was his picture and on the other, the Kaiser's name in his own handwriting. The message:

"Dear Doctor Davis:
"Wishing you a very good year for 1917."
WILLIAM I. R."

This was the first message of its kind that I ever received from the Kaiser. Even in peace times, the picture postcard which he had sent to me from time to time and which were autographed by him, were always signed "The Kaiser." When, on January 1, the Germans resumed their ruthless submarine warfare—a move which was immediately followed by the breaking off of diplomatic relations—this consequence and had sent me the postal as an intimation that he wanted me to remain in Berlin nevertheless.

When the Germans sank the Lusitania, living and practicing in Germany lost many of their attractions for me. I made up my mind then that I would rather return home and risk my professional career all over again, if necessary, than remain in a country which could sanction such a hideous form of warfare—the wanton destruction of women and children. To that end, I went to New York in the summer of 1915 to investigate the requirements for the practice of my profession in that state. I had an Illinois license, but I wanted to be in a position to practice in New York, and the following year I went to New York again and took the state dental examination. I returned to Germany late in the autumn of 1916 and later I learned that my certificate had been granted. Then I commenced active preparations to dispose of my German practice and return home.

My second reason for wanting to get out of Germany as soon as possible was the fact that food conditions in Germany were becoming more precarious every day. My wife and I feared that our child, who was two years old, might suffer from lack of proper nourishment if we remained and I determined that no matter how long it might be necessary for me to remain in Berlin, my wife and child at any rate should leave at the earliest possible moment.

My third reason, however, was by far the most insistent of all.

I had become convinced that what I knew of the Kaiser and his plans, now that we were at war, ought to be communicated to America, without delay, and that the only way to do so adequately would be to get home as soon as I possibly could, no matter what personal sacrifice might be involved in abandoning my European practice and interests.

It is true that in the early years of my relationship with the Kaiser our conversations had usually embraced only the most general of subjects, but, in later years, when he came to know me better, he cast aside all reserve and talked to me on whatever was uppermost in his mind at the time. After the war started that, of course, formed the principal subject of our discussions and the part that America was playing in the conflict was frequently brought up because of the fact that I was an American.

One memorable interview I had had with him influenced me perhaps more than any other single factor to hasten the settlement of my European affairs and return home.

It was in the fall of 1916. The Kaiser had come to me for professional services, and after my work was completed he remained to discuss some of the aspects of the war. Perhaps the fact that I had just returned from a visit to America made him more than usually eager to discuss that with me.

We had discussed various phases of the war, when the Kaiser changed the subject abruptly with the question: "Davis, what's the matter with your country?"

"In what respect, your majesty?" I asked.

"Why is it that your country is so unfair to America? Why do you persist in supplying munitions and money to the allies? Why doesn't your president treat the European warring nations the same as he treated Mexico by putting an embargo on munitions and letting us fight this thing out ourselves? You do not ship munitions to us, why do you ship them to the other side?"

I was on such terms with the Kaiser that I did not hesitate to answer his question with another.

"I have always understood, your majesty," I replied, "that the Russian cause was German, continually supplied munitions to Russia. Why was that any more justifiable than America supplying munitions to the allies? Then again, in the Spanish-American

"Davis, you surprise me!" the Kaiser exclaimed, rising from the operating chair, in which he had remained sitting, and walking toward me, throwing back his shoulders and rising to his full height. "The cause are entirely different. When we helped Russia against Japan we were helping a white race against a yellow race, don't ever forget that—don't ever forget that. But with America, that is certainly not the case. Your country is acting from purely mercenary motives. It is a case of dollars, dollars, dollars!—and each time he repeated the word he struck his fist partially behind his back and violently with his powerful right. "America values dollars more than she values German lives! She thinks it right to shoot down my people."

"In that connection, which he repeated on subsequent occasions in precisely the same words and with the same measured emphasis, I knew that he revealed more clearly what his attitude was and will ever be toward this country."

CHAPTER II.

The Kaiser at Potsdam. Getting out of Germany proved to be far more difficult proposition than I had imagined.

Realizing that it would probably be several months before I could finally settle up my affairs, and that my child, who was now eight, ought to be taken out of Germany with as little delay as possible because food conditions were fast going from bad to worse, I applied to the commandant for leave to take my wife and child to Montreux, on Lake Geneva, Switzerland, where I hoped to join them at the earliest possible moment and accompany them home. I did not relish the idea of their going across the ocean without me.

That was in May, 1917. Things passed while our application was going from one official to another, and I was kept busy for days at a time under a pile of other applications of a similar character or awaiting the investigation of my personal history, and it was not until the end of June that we were ready to start. My wife and child were very weary, regarding it. Then we learned that it had been denied.

This was my first intimation that we might have difficulty in getting out of Germany.

A day or two later the Kaiser called on me professionally and I told him of our plight, hoping that he would intercede for us. It was the only favor of a personal character I had ever asked of him.

"My child is ailing, your majesty," I said, "and I feel that she needs a change of climate. I applied to the commandant for leave for my wife and child to go to Montreux, but I have just heard that it has been refused."

"Davis, I will see what I can do in the matter," he replied reassuringly, and as he was leaving my office, he turned to me and said in the presence of his two adjutants: "Regarding that matter you spoke of, leave it to me and I will see what I can do."

The Kaiser's influence would readily solve our problem, I thought, and I was very much relieved. Two days later, however, I received a letter from the commandant, one of the Kaiser's adjutants, stating that the Kaiser had spoken to him regarding the Swiss leave project, but, under the circumstances, it was out of the question. He, however, stated that the Kaiser's adjutants, stating that the Kaiser had spoken to him regarding the Swiss leave project, but, under the circumstances, it was out of the question.

As the food situation in Austria was just as bad as it was in Germany, if not worse, that idea did not appeal to me at all, and I went immediately to the commandant and explained the situation to them.

When they saw Count von Moltke's letter the officer in charge threw up his hands.

"That's final," he declared. "That comes from a higher authority than ours. It is useless to pursue the matter any further. We received a communication from his majesty regarding your case, but the matter was left entirely to our discretion. It was not a command, only a request from his majesty, and, of course, we could have been different."

Then I applied for a pass for my wife, child and myself to go to America. They pointed out at the commandant's office that my wife's application to leave Berlin preceded mine, it was possible she would be allowed to leave before me. I told the officer that that would suit me admirably, as I was anxious to get my wife and child out of Germany at the earliest possible moment regardless of what action might be taken on my own application.

As it was the period of anxious waiting while the German red tape slowly unrolled, but eventually, in September, we received word that the Kaiser and the child might leave Berlin for Copenhagen between October 10 and 12. They left on the 10th.

A day or two later commenced the German offensive against Riga, on the Baltic coast, and the Kaiser, the German Emperor, captured successively the Omel, Rinn, Othre and Moon Islands in the Gulf of Riga, and then carried them to the town of Riga. Their important objective was Petrograd and on October 10 the Russians announced that the seat of the government would be removed from Petrograd to Moscow.

Three successes on the Baltic failed to overcome the depression in Germany caused by the serious internal situation in Austria at this period. Many developments were being worked by hunger-crazed and war-weary strikers and the populace was being shot down in great numbers in the food riots which developed in various parts of Austria. Not since the war began had the outlook been so discouraging for the Germans.

Then, on October 24, just as things were looking up, the great German-Austro offensive against the Italians was started. In three days the Italians were swept out of Austria and the Teutons pressed forward to the passes of the Alpine river leading to the Venetian plains. By the end of October the Italian armies were in full retreat. Before this offensive was over the Germans captured, they claimed, no less than 200,000 prisoners and several thousand big guns, besides vast stores of munitions and supplies.

The exultation of the Germans over the triumph of their armies in Italy knew no bounds. While it was at its height I had an interview with the Kaiser which will ever remain one of the most vivid in my memory.

It was about three-thirty one Sunday morning when I was aroused by a maid who, in an awe-stricken tone of voice, announced that the Neue Palais, the Kaiser's palace at Potsdam, was on the fire. I went to the telephone, where I was informed that the Kaiser was suffering from a bad toothache and would send his auto for me within an hour or so.

I got up at once and packed my instruments, and at six-thirty the car, a big grey Mercedes limousine, arrived. Besides the chauffeur there was an American woman in a black dress, who I learned was the Kaiser's maid.

While the Shell room and other state rooms were accessible to visitors before the war, no one was ever permitted to visit the private apartments of the Kaiser upstairs.

On this occasion, however, I was guided right through the Shell room, through a door opening on the left and up a wide staircase to the Kaiser's garborette, or dressing room.

There I found breakfast ready for me. It consisted of red coffee, real white bread, butter, marmalade, sugar, cream and cold meat. It was the first

AS AGE CREEPS ON

As age creeps on, vital force gradually decreases, until, when a man or woman is around 50, the kidneys and bladder need assistance to keep them in perfect working order.

Rheumatism, neuralgia and backache are common complaints of those getting on in years. It seems to be the custom to expect these afflictions—conditions they are simply the inevitable results of old age, and that there is no remedy for them.

There is a remedy—Gin Pills—and there are hundreds of people who can prove that the remedy is good.

Mr. Frank Lalonde, well-known farmer of St. Raphael, Ont., was able to return to work at the age of 61 by the help of Gin Pills. Mr. Lalonde writes that he had suffered for years with pains in his back and joints, until finally he was forced to quit work. Gin Pills relieved him to such an extent that he now states he feels as strong at 61 as he did at 30 years.

Mrs. Hugh McLeod, of Lewis Cove Road, had a similar experience with Gin Pills. In her letter to us she says: "I am 51 years and the mother of 8 children. Five years ago I was troubled with backache and dull pains across the shoulders. I used a box of Gin Pills, and feel so much better that I will continue to use Gin Pills."

Testimonials such as these cannot be disregarded, for the aged speak the truth.

It is foolish to suffer when you don't have to. Use Gin Pills and enjoy your latter years. 50c a box. Sold by all dealers. Sample free upon request to The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario. U.S. residents should address N.D.C. Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

SOUTHAMPTON

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. McNeill and daughter Katie were at Walkerton last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKechnie, whose oldest son, Capt. Malcolm McKechnie, was killed in France on August 8th, when his auto was blown up while he was attending to wounded men. He was 29 years of age.

Mayor McGregor and Mrs. McGregor have been away for a week visiting with the Mayor's mother at Bayfield. She is a wonderfully bright old lady despite her many years. The old lady fell a few days ago, but her hip and at her advanced age 97 years, it is not likely that she will recover.

Mr. Wm. Knowles has been in poor health all the past summer and last week was at Guelph and Preston for expert advice and treatment. The result is very encouraging and his many friends will be very sorry to hear that he hopes for his recovery are the slightest. His three sons, Albert, from Toronto, Russell, from the Aviation Camp, and Wm. from London have all been here within the past week to see him.

There's a new cove in town. He was taken about the Douglas from up the Bruce Peninsula and seems to have made himself quite at home. The boys state that he is fast mastering the little wrinkles in the fishing business.

The Business Woman

Today, more than ever before, is woman's opportunity. Many new occupations, are now opened to her, which, before the war, was denied her. It is a truth to be known that she has risen to the opportunity, and now shares many business responsibilities. Informal times confined to men. But as women are subject to more frequent fluctuations of health than men, many will be handicapped early if they regard their health requirements lightly.

The nervous strain, long hours and prolonged mental or physical fatigue thin the blood and weaken the nerves. Such conditions as women are now called upon to undergo can only be endured by a full-blooded constitution. This is as true for men as for women, only women suffer sooner.

The woman worker, in any line, requires her blood replenished frequently. She needs new, rich blood to keep her health under the trying conditions of business life, and to fortify her system against the effects of overwork. This applies also to the woman in the home, who, perhaps has more worries or anxieties than usual. So let all girls and women take heed and renew their blood promptly at the first approach of pallor, lack of appetite, headache or backache. This can be best and most effectively accomplished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which make new, rich blood and thus help woman kind as perfectly. No woman need fear failure of health if they take these pills occasionally to keep them well, or give them a fair trial if they find themselves run down.

Mother Eve may have invented curiosity but she is the only woman on record who has never turned around to see what the other woman had on.

Presentation To
Pte. Basil Farrow

Tuesday evening of last week a few of the neighbors met at the home of Mr. Alfred Farrow and presented Pte. Basil Farrow with a wrist watch. Mr. Herb Bull read the address and Mr. Melvin Kerr made the presentation. A social time was spent with an impromptu program and light refreshments.

Dear Basil!—Knowing that you are about to leave on your Country's great call to fight in one of the greatest conflicts this world has ever known, your friends have met to-night, to wish you a safe journey and our prayer is that God's blessing may go with and His protecting Arm may ever be around you. And when this war is over we hope to be able to look up to you as one of our brave Canadians who has won laurels, not only for yourself but for your country. Our forefathers have fought and great victories have been won. But when the swords are sheathed and militarism has been destroyed, and Democracy established throughout this world, we will enjoy the greatest freedom that has ever been known and our soldiers who have taken part will always have splendid pieces of history that they took up a great task to do a great good. Before leaving we wish you to accept this small token. And when you are far from us and look at this it will remind you of your friends here, whose best wishes are with you.

COLPOYS' BAY

Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. S. Weir, Rev. and Mrs. Matthews, Miss Stella Whitcher, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parke and Miss Gladys attended the Warton District Meeting at Lions Head on Friday.

The weekly cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bull, Thursday evening, at 8 p.m.

The time has been extended to our khaki boys so they do not need to return to training camp in London until the 31st of October.

Apparently the auto drivers are not regarding the request of the Government for the saving of gasoline, judging by the number of autos travelling last Sunday.

Mr. C. E. Whitcher has raised his barn and is putting cement walls for up-to-date stabling underneath. It will be a good job when completed.

S. S. rally next Sabbath at 11 a.m. All are welcome.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cream one can prepare a full quart of lemon juice and the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp is left in the lotion which will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, melasma and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this lovely fragrant lemon lotion and make it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Interesting Letter From Albert Ottowell

Letter from Mr. Albert Ottowell, Lecturing in Great Britain. Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Ottowell was a student of the University of Alberta and is a brother of Mr. Stephen Ottowell, of Claverburg.

31 Bedford Square,
London, W. C. 1. Aug. 31
Stephen Ottowell, Esq.,
Warton, Ontario

Dear Brother:—It is a long time since I wrote you last and you will be wondering why you have not heard from me. I am not going to plead that I have been too busy to write, for that is only a lame excuse. I have been travelling about England and Scotland a great deal during the summer. In the first two weeks of July I was up as far as Inverness, lecturing among our Forestry Camps. Scotland is an interesting old country, but the mountains were disappointing. We have always read so much of the Scottish Highlands that our imagination far outruns the actual fact. I spent several days among the highest peaks of the Grampians, but they hardly would be considered foot hills alongside of the Rockies, however there is such a wealth of tradition clustered about that district that to me, with my historic sense, there was not a dull moment.

If you will recall the history of Prince Charlie's Rebellion in 1745, you will remember that it was around Inverness, Nairn, and the districts adjacent that his brief and glorious career ended. The district is known as Prince Charlie's country, and if you were to believe the stories told about him at one time or other, he and his romantic field companion, Flora MacDonald, stopped for the night at every other house in the country.

WAS AT COLLODEN

I visited the battlefield of Colloiden, one poscard picture of which I am enclosing. It shows the famous Cumberland Stone on which the Duke of Cumberland is supposed to have stood while directing the battle. There is an interesting collection of monuments marking the burial places of the different clans in that district. Over in one corner of the field, is a little stone on which this inscription is placed, "The field of the English, they are buried here." Not many flowers about that! In the centre of the field is a large stone cairn erected to the memory of the clansmen collectively. I am told that every year there is an old "fiddle" from Edinburgh, who is "dressed" and puts wreathes on the "Clans" on the anniversary of the battle of Colloiden. I imagine that story is true for I saw withered wreathes when I was there. I cannot tell you all the things I saw in Scotland for military reasons, but if I ever have a chance of talking with you we will have an interesting time.

The Scotch people are very hospitable and kind to Canadians. They seem to understand us better than the English people do, though they all have been most kind in every way possible.

Fine Work of Lumber Jacks

Our Canadian Foresters are doing great work in the Forest areas. Of course it is not all as romantic or disinterested as you might suppose on the part of the owners of the timber. As a matter of fact what has happened is that our Canadian lumbermen, because of their experience and the equipment that they have brought over, are able to take out timber which the owners could not themselves get at a profit under ordinary commercial conditions. They are selling their trees at a good price to the Government and are having them handled without a cent of cost to themselves.

There are some very interesting pieces of work being done. Some of our Forestry Companies have built light railroads up into the mountains and are bringing out logs and lumber in that way. They have some funny experiences with Scotch County councils.

One man, a Major in command of a Company, was telling me one instance he had to carry his railroad across the River Spey, and not wishing to build a bridge of his own, wanted to use the municipal bridge. The Borough Council were much excited at the most wonderful interruption of traffic while the railroad was being laid, so to their surprise and Sabbathly consternation, early one Sunday morning he had his men on the way across the bridge and the floor re-laid without any interruption of traffic!

AN OLD KIRK

Near this spot is an interesting old kirk, which has an unbroken history of over a thousand years. It is a little stone building set right in the heart of the woods. Its great age is indicated by the leper peeps, little narrow slits in the stonework through which in the olden days, lepers who were not permitted in the congregation could hear the service going on inside. In the Kirkyard is the grave of a Chief of the clan Stuart, who made one of the party of 80 men who fought a clan battle, the story of which is related in "The Fair Maid of Perth" one of Sir Walter Scott's novels. This was the 14th century. On the top of his grave stones are a number of curious stones and the highly superstitious state of the people of that time would result in the early death of the person thus trifling with supernatural powers. There is also there the grave of one of our Canadian Officers who died suddenly in one of the Camps. The Laird of the Parish gave the burial spot right beside his own family vault, and the officers and men subscribed and put up a fine gravestone and also established a fund to provide for the grave being kept in order forever.

I attended service in this little church and heard undiluted milk of the Word expounded by a Scotch Dominie of a good old type. There was nothing rambling or pompous about it. I can assure you. It would have satisfied Mr. Taylor.

There is another Camp not far from here called "Knocknane". The logs there are brought across the river valley, about 4 miles to a mill by a telfer, that is, a car which is swung on a cable about 30 feet in the air.

SCOTCH WANT "FREESH"

Another funny incident happened in connection with this place. The land-lord was perturbed, as the Captain in charge told me, for fear the shadow of the cable would prevent the salmon from running up the stream. As you probably know, fish and game are much more important to the minds of some of these old country land lords than a few mere men, or, I sometimes think, the winning of the war. The Captain, who was an old lumberman and a bit of a wag, in his way, told me that he replied that there was something in it because he himself had seen the fish swim up to the shadow which was 30 feet above the water, and when they saw the shadow they immediately turned about and swam down stream again! In the winter when the ice was running in the river, it jammed and threatened to destroy the suspension bridge which they had thrown across the river for the men to go backwards and forwards, so the Captain proposed to get some dynamite and blast the ice, which is the approved way to 'know of dealing with it. Immediately there was a great stir, the story going around that the Canadians were going to use dynamite in the river and kill the "freesh". However, Nature intervened, and dynamite was not required and the "freesh" survived.

DISTILLERIES GALORE

That particular neighborhood is famous for the number and size of the distilleries which make the real "Scotch". Of course they are not operating now, but are simply selling out under Government supervision stocks of "whiskey" held by them at the beginning of the war. Last year they should be nervous for the supply. I hasten to add that I lectured in one room of a distillery in another part of which there were 500,000 gallons in store. When I tell you that from one hill top there, you can count nine distilleries, you will realize that there is still enough of the native drink of the Scotch Highlands to supply the demand, even though the War may last another year or two.

Other interesting spots in that part of the country are Cawdor Castle, immortalized in Shakespeare's "Macbeth". Then, there are ruins of the old castles of the Wolf of Badenoch, the famous Highland robber, reputed a natural son of Robert Bruce. I have visited one of them which is on an island in Loch-an-Neilin. The story is that when the country got too hot for him on account of some specially bloodthirsty rank, he and his followers would wait down to the stone castle on the island and held the people so rather proud of his achievements. His practice seems to have been to kill the men, steal the cattle, and carry off the women, and according to tradition, the women of those days seemed to rather enjoy being carried off by this particular robber.

AN INTERESTING CITY

Edinburgh, I found, too, a very interesting old city. Edinburgh Castle particularly has a wonderful wealth of association. Among other things I saw there was a famous old cannon "Mons Meg." According to tradition this gun was made at Mons, Belgium, in the 15th century. It fired huge balls of gunpowder about 15 in. in diameter and must have been a fearsome weapon in its day. These blocks of

I can easily imagine that it would scare the men to death even if it didn't hit them. You get some idea of the size of this gun when I tell you I could easily crawl into the muzzle myself. I believe that the gun was finally burst when being fired in a celebration, at any rate, it is no longer serviceable, when being fired in a celebration, at any rate, it is no longer serviceable.

I have also visited Buxton, Derbyshire, which is near Belper, our old family home. When I had looked at the place our ancestors came from, I concluded that for once they had shown wisdom when they left there. It is pretty to look at but must have been an awful place to make a livelihood. Rocky, steep hillsides surrounded by moor seemed desolate as the 'burns' of Amabel.

4TH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Not long ago I was at Liverpool and am sending you a post card picture of, I think, the most famous event in the history of Liverpool, that is a party of American soldiers holding their 4th of July celebration. The large building in the background is St. George's Hall, a huge public building possibly the 2nd largest auditorium in the British Isles, the largest being Albert Hall, London, which accommodates about twelve thousand. Imagine the 4th of July Celebrations attended by thousands of American soldiers, held in the most British city of England! It is enough to make the shades of George 11 and George Washington walk the earth again.

We have had an alternation of very dry and very wet weather here this summer, but a splendid harvest is being gathered, and a particularly fine crop of wheat will help to solve the bread question during the coming winter. On the whole the food situation here is getting steadily better, and I think the Kaiser would be much disappointed if he could see how well we manage to live in spite of his submarines.

As to the War itself, we feel it is going much better recently though we had an anxious time in the Spring and early summer.

As for myself I am busy with educational work, arranging lectures, and lecturing myself in the Camps and Hospitals in England and Scotland, which gives a great opportunity to get around, see the country and have new experiences, and I am enjoying it tremendously. In all probability I will either go back to Canada or to France before very long. I hope it will be to France, however; when you are in the Army you go where you are sent, and the fewer questions you ask, the better you get along.

With kindest regards to all the Amabel folk.

Your loving brother,

ALBERT

Pte. Bert Porter Gets A Good Send Off

On Wednesday evening, of last week, about 125 friends and neighbors of Mr. Bert Porter, Lake Charles, met at the residence of his father, Mr. W. Porter, to bid him good bye prior to his departure for London. During the evening Bert was presented with a most flattering address, and was the recipient of a wrist watch and pen, and it is needless to say that he most suitably replied to the presentation and kindness upon the part of his friends. The evening was spent in games and dancing and Bert was assured that he has the good will of hosts of friends who hope to see him safely return.

COLPOY'S BAY

Colpoy has reason to be proud of her High School pupils, as again their successful work has brought them into prominence in securing the following prizes at the Warton Fair—Miss Ethel Thompson, of North Knap, (formerly of Colpoy) received 1st prize for essay "Canada's Part in the War", Miss Hilda Whitcher, 3rd prize for the same essay, also 1st prize for writing, and Miss Phyllis Bown 2nd prize for an essay on "Warton's part in the War".
A corn roast on the Bay front was enjoyed by some of our young folk last Saturday evening. A good time was had in who had the most empty cups?
Miss Ethel Pruder is home for a few weeks holidays from Dunbarton. The Eastern air apparently agrees with her.

Thanks are due to the young girls who so tastefully decorated the church with autumn leaves and flowers for the services on Sunday. The Ladies Aid have also got a new green felt drape across the platform in front of the choir, and Misses K. and S. Whitcher, kindly donated the brass rod and rings on which it is hung.
Mr. and Mrs. John Lemcke and Lloyd of Purple Valley attended service here Sunday evening.
Mrs. George Cooper is visiting at Hope Bay.

Master Walter Petter celebrated his birthday one day last week by entertaining a few of his little friends.
Miss Arnold, of Lions Head visited his sister Mrs. E. Kalbelsch last week.
Mr. Herbert Bull, the popular mail carrier, reported at Walkerton Wednesday last week and was placed in Class A. Up to the present he had been in Class E.

The Rally Service last Sunday in the S. S. was greatly enjoyed by the 80 persons present. A collection of $9.16 for the S. S. Extension fund was given.
Rev and Mrs. Matthews were in Owen Sound on Monday.

The cottage prayer meeting held at Mr. J. B. Bull's last Thursday p. n. had an attendance of 41, on a rainy and dark night. How does this compare with prayer meetings in Warton and other towns where they have electric lights and cement walks?
Prayer meeting service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Campbell next Thursday at 8 p. m.

The lake trout are coming back into the Bay about three weeks earlier than usual. Some good catches have been secured.
Silo-filling is on the program these days. Corn harvest is above the average some claiming to have it twelve feet in length.

Publisher's Notice

Owing to a world wide demand for newspaper there has been a very marked advance in price, and the probability is that it will still be higher. The Government regulations forbidding the starting of new newspapers, and the sending of the paper to subscribers in arrears, and anything that is a waste of newspaper, are expected early this month. In the meantime The Echo must call the attention of all subscribers to the fact that it is only a question of a short time until subscriptions must be paid in advance. By looking at the label the subscriber can tell how he stands. The present advanced rate is $1.50 per year, and if not paid the price is $2.00 per year. Look at your label and if in arrears, please act promptly.

A MILITARY FUNERAL

It was called semi-military, but it was unique in the history of this town, was a sad reminder, if that is necessary, of war conditions. On Sunday the body of Ruben McKachern was laid to rest in Bayview cemetery, and all the arrangements connected with the funeral were carried out with remarkable credit to those in charge. The procession was not spectacular, but it was most impressive. The procession was as follows: auto with flowers, the auto draped with the Union Jack, the Warton band, headed by their master Mr. Geo. Voght and the Rev. Mr. Emmons, the hearse containing the casket which was suitably draped with the Union Jack, and on each side of the hearse were four soldiers carrying rifles, preceding the hearse were Capt. Pickering and Pte. Dellimore and following the hearse were about thirty soldiers, some returned and others on harvest leave, with Capt. Simmie, Major Fletcher, and Capt. (Dr. Hay) in the rear then followed the members of the Orange Lodge, then the Boy Scouts, and last a very large number of vehicles. It was one of the largest funeral processions we have ever seen on the streets, and practically all the residents of the town were at the cemetery. During the ceremony at the grave the soldiers encircled around and an escort stood at each corner and the last post was given on the bugle. In these stirring times of war and the sacrifices incidental to it, this semi-military funeral was a fitting recognition to the patriotism of the deceased.
Pte. Ruben McKachern was a member of the Bruce 160th, and belonged to "C" Company. He took ill in England and a disease having developed, which afterwards proved fatal, he was sent back to Canada, was in the hospital in Hamilton for some time, and last summer received his discharge as a hospital patient.

OLIPHANT

(Too late for last week)
The Oliphant W. I. held their Sept. meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Winkill on Monday last and there was a good attendance of members. The Treasurer, Mrs. M. McKenzie reported nearly $100 and hand when the monthly dues were paid and it was decided that $40.00 would be sent to the Belgian Relief Fund and $40.00 to the Red Cross. The girls Red Cross Society among the campers having Mrs. James Clark as president donated our Society the sum of $10.00 and a number of hospital handkerchiefs. This society also gave $10.00 to the Overseas boys fund and our Institute tenders every member and the president our very sincere and grateful thanks. Some members did exceptionally good work and practiced much self-denial. Boxes will be packed for the Oliphant boys next Tuesday and the place of our October meeting will be given later.
On Monday Mrs. Eyre received a cablegram stating that her son Frank was out of danger but on Saturday word came that her son James of Warton was very seriously injured at Hope Bay and was taken to Owen Sound hospital. She and the family have the sympathy of the community. Thus far none of our Oliphant boys have made the supreme sacrifice but they are in the thick of the fray as nearly all have been wounded. Pearl Banshaw was wounded in his elbow. Mrs. C. B. McDonald received a letter from her husband last week who received a face wound on Aug. 31st. All are hoping for his speedy recovery.
Messrs. G. Porter and C. Gammon are occupying the Porter cottage here.

TOBERMORY

The Tobermory Branch of the Womens Institute met at the home of Mrs. Macartney Sept. 26. A Quilt donated by the Maple Leaf Club and 43 garments were packed and sent to the Belgian Relief Fund. I was decided to send $25 for yarn and to continue to sew for Red Cross.
SOCKS KNIT—Mrs. M. Belrose, 3; Mrs. G. Smith, 1; Mrs. A. M. 3; Mrs. W. Belrose, 1; Miss R. Belrose, 1; Miss B. Belrose, 2; Mrs. H. Martin, 3; Mrs. C. R. Golden, 2; Mrs. Ed. Hopkins, 3; Mrs. W. J. Simpson, 2; Mrs. K. Melver, 1; Mrs. M. Dean, 1; Miss M. Golden 1.

Good Work of Women's Institute

The Womens Institute are still engaged in "carrying on" to the best of their ability in working to have the children of this generation morally and physically fit. Dr. Smith, who inspected the Warton Public School in the Spring was given a hearty welcome. Dr. Sirra, who is inspecting the schools of North Bruce, at the present time, will receive the same cordial clasp.
In an interview with Dr. Sirra, she told the reporter that she had examined over 3000 children in the past year. The ground she had covered was part of York, Inlington and Eaton Schools, the larger part of Lincoln, East Kent. She had just completed Penetang, where she inspected two schools. In Penetang a rather curious fact was noted; there the Separate School, owing to the majority being Roman Catholic, is the Protestant one. Dr. Sirra stated that she believed that there were only two other instances of this in Canada.
The places yet to visit are—Hupke Bay, Oliphant, Hopewess, Dyers Bay and Tobermory. Dr. Sirra visited and inspected Park Head School last week and finds it is above the average.
On her return from the Peninsula, Dr. Sirra expects to give us a full report of her inspection there.

LION'S HEAD

The Tuk Queen and scow came in Saturday evening and loaded lumber on Monday for P. Forbes.
We have been experiencing some rough weather on the bay this last week. The Str. Pedwell was delayed on her trip and only managed to make our trip last week. The trawling is very good now but the storms have made it next to impossible to get out.
Mr. James Douglas, of Hopeworth, spent the week here scaling lumber.
Mrs. T. A. Bruin left on Monday for Toronto to keep house for her daughter after spending the past three months here.
Messrs. H. Bowman, of Owen Sound and John McCullough, of Warton, brought a Ford truck here for inspection last Thursday. Messrs. Hutton and Greig, of Barrow Bay, had purchased it and it is probably that one or more may be placed on the road from here. If freight can be delivered over the road cheaper than by water there must be room for adjustments of freight rates.
Mens heavy woollen socks for less than present wholesale prices at W. Moore's.
Dr. Roy Hacking, Mrs. Hacking and Master Jack went to Menaford on Sunday to spend Sunday with Mrs. Newton Cooper. Mrs. J. M. Pettigrew and Mr. Robt. Currie went with them.
The village Council met on Monday night in the Orange Hall to strike the rate for this years taxes. The total rate is 17 and a half mills for all purposes including fire protection.
Messrs Anderson and Morden, of Owen Sound did business here Monday.
The Tug Crawford and barge called here Monday.
A serious fire took place Monday forenoon a few miles from the village when James Speir's barn with nearly all this year's crop was destroyed. The loss is a big one with very little insurance. Full particulars have not received us but as far as we can learn it was caused by a spark from the engine which was being used to fill the silo.
W. B. Moore does conveyancing and also is Issuer of Marriage Licenses.

OXENDEN

Mrs. Geo. Stephens and daughter of Amabel, Sundayed with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons, of Hopeworth, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Taylor Sunday. Mr. Lyons is Mrs. Taylor's brother.
The S. S. Rally was well attended last Sabbath and very much enjoyed. A collection of $4.00 for S. S. Extension was taken.
Mr. and Mrs. C. Spencer, of Warton, Sundayed with Mr. and Mrs. G. Spencer.
Quite a number from here attended the Fair held in Warton Wednesday of last week.

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:
PTE. HIRAM GRAHAM, Dyers Bay, officially reported wounded in the thigh on September 10.
PTE. FREDERICK CARDER, Oxenden, passed Sept. 24th. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carder of Oxenden, and enlisted with the Bruce 160th.
PTE. ROBERT JAMES MARTIN, Tobermory, gunshot wound left arm, Sept. 27th. This young man enlisted at Tobermory with the 160th Bruce Batt. and trained at Lions Head. We are glad to report that his wound is not of a more serious nature.
PTE. ROY E. HEPHENSTALL, Warton, dangerously wounded, head, Sept. 28th. Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hephensall and came home from the West to enlist with the Bruce boys of the 160th. Prior to this he had enlisted in 1914 and due to the illness of his father had received his discharge. Roy was very popular in town and we hope that word will soon come that he is on his way to recovery.

Children Get Prizes

The Junior Epworth League, of Methodist Church, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Prudham, are to be congratulated on the success of their 2nd Annual Exhibition of flowers and roots. This is a movement in the right direction as it encourages the children to take an interest in the growing of roots and in the cultivation of flowers as these children are our coming florists and gardeners. We hope that when Mr. and Mrs. Prudham sever their connection with Warton that they leave some one behind who will take up this good work where they have left off, and that we have an exhibit of this kind, not only for the Epworth League of the Methodist Church, but one to include all the children of our town. The prizes are as follows:
CARROTS—1st Roy James, 2nd Burton Miller, 3rd Doran Johnson.
BEETS—1st Ethel Hackett, 2nd Jean Dobson, 3rd Horwath Matthews.
ONIONS—1st Kenneth Sutherland, 2nd, Glen Matthews, 3rd, Irene North.
STOCKS—Reta James.
ASTERS—1st Ellen Ewald, 2nd Anna Matthews, 3rd Edith Newman.
BONQUETS—1st Harold Cudde, 2nd Marjorie Stood, 3rd Nita Matthews.
The seeds for the exhibit were given the children in May.

DYER'S BAY

There has been no threshing done in this settlement yet, but people are hoping to get started soon.
The Annual Harvest Home was held in the Methodist Church last Friday. Although the roads were bad and weather threatening the crowd was about as usual and the usual good supper was served and program given. Ice-cream was also sold and proceeds of the evening amounted to $27.00.
Mr. and Mrs. James Caesar, of Spry, visited at the home of Mr. A. Amos for the week end and attended the Harvest Home.
Among those from a distance at the Harvest Home were, Mr. and Mrs. Blacklock, McVicar; Miss L. Rouse, Messrs. Roush, Holmes, McNair and Noble, of Miller Lake.
Mr. and Mrs. R. Bartley, Jr., accompanied by Mr. B. Bartley, motored and spent the week end in Owen Sound.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Achenman, of Lions Head, spent a few days visiting at the homes of Mr. H. Boyle and Mr. H. Pettigrew.

HANOVER

The sad news was received by Mrs. E. Hahn last Saturday that her grand son, Pte. Bernard Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ashley, of Boiesavien Man, and formerly of Hanover, had been killed in action on August 13. Strangely enough deceased parents had received no official notification of his passing and that word reached by his parents was from the boy's chaplain. He wrote that five had been sent out to man a front trench when a shell burst, killing three instantly and the other two were so seriously wounded that they died shortly afterwards.

Mr. W. G. Haastie, treasurer of Bentinck township, returned home last week from Shoal Lake, Man., where he made a short visit. His daughter, Miss Jessie, will remain there with her aunt for awhile. Crops around Shoal Lake are excellent, and Mr. Haastie was told that crops in Manitoba as a whole were pretty fair. The good old township of Bentinck will do him for a while yet, he says.

The death occurred in Hanover on Friday last of Mrs. V. L. Stude at the age of 59 years, 3 months and 24 days. She had been feeling in her usual good health until the day before her death when she suffered a paralytic stroke while shopping at a local store. She was driven home and passed away the following evening. Deceased's maiden name was Dorothea Steinhagen, and she was born in Mecklenburg, Schwerin, Germany, emigrating to Canada when she was about 23 years of age. She married Mr. Stude about 3 years later, when they moved to the 7th con. of Brant, where Mr. Stude worked for a farmer for some time. Later he got a farm of his own and remained in that township about 23 years and moved to Hanover 5 years ago. They had five children, three being deceased. Those living are Minnie (Mrs. Charles Rody) and Annie at home. The late Mrs. Stude was a kind good-hearted woman who knew many friends to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Wm. Mercklinger received the sad tidings that her brother, Pte. Frank Gerry, had been killed in action in one of the recent victories of the Canadians. Pte. Gerry was 27 years of age, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Gerry, of Brussels. He enlisted early in the war and was retained in England for a year or so as gas instructor. He had been in the firing line for about a year. Much sympathy will be extended to Mrs. Mercklinger in her sad bereavement.

A charming wedding took place at the home of Mrs. R. C. Wright here last Friday when her youngest daughter, Cassie Prudence, one of our most popular Hanover girls, became the bride of John Stuart Fleming, B. A., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fleming, of Owen Sound. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Jackson, only relatives and immediate friends being present. The ceremony was beautifully decorated with pink and white asters, myrtle and ferns. Miss Helen Fleming of Owen Sound played the wedding music. The bride, who was unattended, wore a lovely gown of white crepe and an exquisitely embroidered veil crowned with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of Alan Richardson roses, and she wore the gift of the groom, a pearl and diamond lavalier, set in platinum. After the buffet dejeuner the happy couple left on the afternoon train for Banff where the honeymoon will be spent.

CHESLEY

Last Thursday while assisting at the threshing of Henry Janke, a terrible accident happened to Walter, the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sully, of the 12th Con. Sullivan, when he fell through the scaffold into the cylinder of the separator. There was so much straw came down with the young man that those nearest the cylinder did not notice that Walter's leg was in the cylinder until the impact of the bone between the teeth of the cylinder and the concave threw off the belt and stopped the machine. It was necessary to take out the cylinder to set the young man free. The leg was badly mutilated and three doctors who were called in amputated the limb about four inches from the body. The young man helped to extricate his leg from the machine and when the doctors were ready to take his leg off he told them to give him lots of the anaesthetic so that he could not feel the pain. He stood the double shock splendidly and being a young man in perfect health and of sound constitution his medical attendants think his chances of pulling through are splendid. The opening through which he fell was about four feet wide. Had there been sufficient straw over it would have supported his weight. Too often the scaffolding in barns has been the cause of accidents by the necessary safety first precautions not being observed.

There has been a chapter of accidents in Chesley and locality in the past few weeks and none more distressing than that which befell Andrew, son of the late John Hetherington, on Monday at 10.30 a.m., when the chequer burst and a large piece of glass weighing about 50 pounds struck Andrew who stood squarely in its path, badly smashing his right leg and inflicting other serious injuries. The young man was carried home on a stretcher, and lingered till two o'clock in the afternoon when he passed away.

Mrs. Michie is to be congratulated on the success attending the production of her war drama, "The Throbbing of Democracy" given to a crowded and appreciative audience in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening of last week. The play is an historical synopsis of the present great war from its inception and through the first days of German success until the tide turns and the Hun forces are turned back. History and Literature are more impressively taught by the drama than any other way, and the amount of reading and arrangement necessary for this resume of the war entailed a tremendous amount of work on the authors. As we wish the soldier boys to see the names of those who represented the different countries, and there is no available space this issue we will make no comment on those who took part but hold this over till next week. The receipts on Fair night were $168.50 and the Red Cross, under whose auspices the play was given, realized $122.50 from the booth on the fair ground.

Dr. Mair and son Harold left yesterday for Montreal where Harold enters the same college which his father once attended to study for the medical profession. Harold has been one of our popular town boys and we wish him success. Dr. Mair will also visit his daughter Viola, who is in the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Midway, the youngest municipality in Bruce, has started off with a tax rate of 20 mills. This little burg will soon want to have all the modern conveniences of other towns and villages and will not be satisfied till it gets into the 35 or 40 mill class.

John Stephen has sold Standley Farm, the old homestead at Marmion in Sullivan Township. He had taken up 83 years ago and will move to Osprey Township where he has bought his father-in-law's farm, which is at Maxwell near the centre of Osprey Twp. There is a big family of Stephens but they are scattered far and wide by mount, stream and prairie and it is a long family name is now living around the old home. However, if the Stephen fam-

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-lives"

St. Martin's, N.B.
"For two years, I suffered tortures after every meal. I had constant pain after eating; pain down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth."

I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking "Fruit-a-lives," I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

Mrs. Stephen will likely make her home with her daughter in Owen Sound. The new owner of the Standley is in Albert Golen and the price he paid was $5,400.

Cross Sickly Babies

Sickly babies—those who are cross and fretful; whose little stomach and bowels are out of order; who suffer from constipation, indigestion, colds or any other of the minor ills of little ones—can be promptly cured by Baby's Own Tablets. Concerning them Mrs. Jean Parais, St. Bruno, Quebec, writes: "My baby is very ill and vomited all his food. He was cross and cried night and day and nothing helped him till I began using Baby's Own Tablets. They soon set him right and now he is a fat healthy boy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TARA

A special meeting of the Business Men's Association was held in their rooms on Tuesday evening. Several matters were brought before the meeting including an effort to have the Grand Trunk Railway light up the station and grounds with Hydro light. This is a worthy effort and we feel assured will meet with the approval of all our citizens. We all know how dark and dreary it is at the station on a dark night and how careful one has to be to get from the station across the bridge. The railway authorities know this to be a fact, for they had to settle in one case for damages received. An effort will also be made to get free express delivery from the station. If the Business Men's Association can secure these benefits for this town they will accomplish two very worthy objects.

Sad indeed was the official word received on Monday by Mr. and Mrs. R. Mundle, of the 10th con. Derby Township, that their son, Pte. Robt. Mundle, had died of wounds on August 31st. This is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Mundle to give his life for the cause of free-dom. Pte. William Mundle having been killed in action on August 29th. William was 22 years of age on the 18th of September and Robert 20 on the 27th of August. Both were fine young men and highly respected by everyone who made their acquaintance. They enlisted in Mar. 1917, with the 248th Grey Battalion and crossed to France in November. Sincere sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents.

A well-known farmer, of Derby Township, in the person of Mr. William Cramm, passed away Monday evening, at the age of 68 years. Deceased was sick only a few days, and was working in the corn field on the Friday previous to his demise. He suffered from an attack of inflammation, which was the cause of his death. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Sarah Sinclair, and a son, Donald, aged eighteen, and a daughter, Gertrude, aged sixteen. Deceased was a member of the Baptist Church and attended the services at the Reedy Church. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Sinclair burying ground in Sullivan township.

The fine large barn of Mr. Wesley Abra, Con. 4, Derby, was destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. Threshing was in progress and the fire was first discovered in the mow and spread so rapidly that all efforts to quench the flames were useless, and in a very few minutes the whole build was in flames. It will be a heavy loss to Mr. Abra as fifty tons of hay and the season's grain were also destroyed, and the insurance will not nearly cover the loss. The fire is supposed to have started from sparks from the threshing engine. Mr. Mel. Barber, the owner of the threshing outfit, had his team of horses burned.

OWEN SOUND

The Underwriters have served notice that certain classes of business in Owen Sound must pay a much larger amount of insurance than heretofore. For instance they have increased the rate on millinery by 50c on $100 of insurance and on Drugs, the rate has gone up 45 cents. Buildings containing billiard rooms and the contents of these buildings have been increased by 40 cents and certain hardware stores have also had their rate increased. Even ice houses are included in the big jump and where they formerly paid a rate of $3 this has now increased to $5. To the average person this would appear to be a very high rate on a building used for such purpose. The rate on ice has not been increased as far as we know. Just what caused this drastic action is not known but it looks as though the Underwriters are trying to put one over the town. The whole fire insurance should be government owned or controlled, and this step made by the Underwriters is just a step further in the direction of at least complete government control.

Barber--Ism

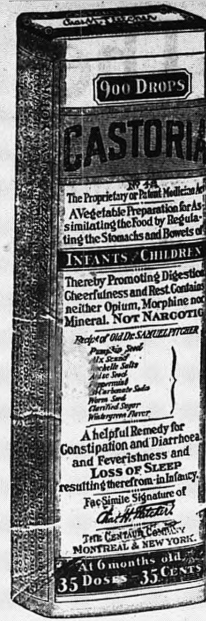

On Monday the barbers raised their rates for hair-cuts to 35 cents. The raise was a good one, and there has been some kicking. But in some other places price increases have been announced; and a writer in a Hartford Conn., paper is prompted to make a suggestion that barbers' charges should be based on time consumed instead of a flat rate for each job.

The suggestion is sensible; and the closer one examines it, the more sensible it appears. As thing are at present, a hair-cut is a hair-cut. It does not matter whether the subject—patient—victim—or whatever else you might call him—anyhow, the fellow getting the air-cut—as a mop like a modern Abolam on a Buffalo Bill, or only a sparse fringe around his ears and the back of his neck. It's a hair-cut, whether it takes five minutes or twenty-five; and the charge is the same. True, the man with the fringe may feel flattered at being charged as much as the chap with the hyacinthine locks; but it does not look right to the casual observer that the barber should get no more for the one than for the other.

Same with shaves. One chap wants to be gone all over—chin, cheeks, and upper lip—while another may wear side-burns and a moustache. Or a man may have a beard like wire, guaranteed to put any razor out of commission, while B's may be soft. Yet A. and B. pay the same.

It isn't fair, now is it? Why couldn't it be worked on a time basis—let the customer pay so much time, and have the say as to how it should be used.

We have not consulted the barbers. They may figure that every shave or hair-cut works out about the same, that it takes about as much time and trouble to find something to work on the bald head or the downy chin

ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. E. R. CHURCH, R. No. 1, Hellam, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which gave me relief at once and restored my health. I should like to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies to all suffering women who are troubled in a similar way."—Mrs. ELIZABETH HARRIS, R. No. 6, Box 83, Lowell, Mich.

WEAK BOYS AND GIRLS

It is a mistake to think that anemia is only a girl's complaint. Girls probably show the effects of weak very blood more plainly than boys. Delayed development, pale faces, headaches, palpitation, and a feeling of listlessness, call attention to weak blood in the case of girls. But many boys in their teens grow thin and "weedy" and have pimples on the face showing that they have not enough blood. The anemic boy is just as likely to become a victim of consumption as the pale breathless girl with her headaches and worn-out look. Let the boy in this condition catch cold and he will lose his strength and his health becomes precarious.

To prevent serious disaster to those of the rising generation, let both boys and girls be given the new rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are famous the world over for making. When given these pills watch how the languid girl or the weak boy becomes full of activity and high spirits. Remember that the boy has to develop, too, if he is to make a strong hearty man. Give both the boy and girl a fair chance to develop strongly through the new rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. You will then see active boys and girls, instead of weakly children around you.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or three boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR ARREARS OF TAXES.

COUNTY OF BRUCE, TO-WIT:

By virtue of a warrant issued under the hand of the Warden of the County of Bruce, and the seal of the said County, bearing date the 13th day of July A.D. 1913, and to use directed, commanding me to levy upon the several parcels of land hereinafter described for the arrears of taxes respectively due thereon, together with all costs incurred by me in the execution of the said warrant, the amount of $100.00, and by-law 137, of the County of Bruce, designated "A by-law to divide the County of Bruce into three districts for the purpose of tax sales of lands," I shall, unless such arrears of taxes and charges are sooner paid, proceed to sell by Public Auction, so much of the said lands as may be necessary for the payment of the said arrears of taxes, costs and charges thereon, at the following mentioned time and place for each of the several districts mentioned in the aforesaid by-law.

For the Lions Head District, at the hour of one o'clock p.m. at the Township Hall of the Township of Exeter, in the Village of Lions Head on Tuesday, the 22nd day of October, A.D. 1913.

For the Wlarton District, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m. at the Council Chamber, Town Hall, in the Town of Wlarton, on Wednesday, the 23rd day of October, A.D. 1913.

For the Walkerton District, at the hour of noon, at the Council Chamber, in the County Building, in the Town of Walkerton, on Friday, the 25th day of October, A.D. 1913.

Lands in the Lions Head District to be sold for taxes at Lions Head as aforesaid.

Editorial

The casualty list this week for this district is light for which we are all thankful.

Canadians are now put on an honor allowance of butter—2 pounds per month per individual.

And the years of 1918-19 will go down in history as the last years of high prices.

Sugar has not got much on newsprint except that white sugar is a little sweeter.

The war hit the newspaper business hard, but as all subscriptions must be paid in advance there is a "silver lining to the cloud."

Bulgaria has dropped out of the war, Turkey will be next, then Austria, and then what? The war critics now regard peace by Christmas as possible.

It is rather strange, and yet while the war is all our way, and Germany and her allies are getting a smashing there are no fireworks, ringing of bells or victory celebrations.

In these days of a decided scarcity of newsprint the question of the amalgamation of two or more papers in small towns should be quickly effected. There are some small towns in Bruce and Grey to which this will apply.

Mayor McEwan, who is now Fuel Controller, should see that every stick of wood is cut on the town's bush lot this winter and get ready for sale to the residents of the town. The outlook for coal is far from good, and there will be a big demand for wood. It is up to His Worship to have 1500 cords or thereabout ready for the consumers.

A meeting will be held in Ottawa October 16th to consider the advisability of the elimination of the comic supplements, the limiting of morning newspapers to one edition, and of evening papers to two editions, to not allow the starting of any new newspaper during the war, and to forbid the use of newsprint for posters, dodgers, etc. during the war. This is the newspaper situation.

Coal Situation and Foch's Appeal

It is believed that no war effort made by the United States will so profoundly impress the people of the British Isles as the decision of the American Government to shut down all the breweries in the land on the first of next December. Despite all the wonderful sacrifices the people of the Old Country have made in the past four years, they have refused to go without their beer, and the thought that the Americans are willing to take this step must strike them as something heroic. Maybe as Cunliffe Owen suggests, in the New York Sun, they will exaggerate the degree of self-sacrifice implied in the willingness of the American people to go beerless. In the British Isles there is something mysterious in the climate that renders malt and hop liquors more of a genuine need than on this side of the ocean, or it may be for other reasons that the Americans are not a beer drinking nation to the extent that prevails in England. At any rate the English people would not give up their beer though they submitted with only a reasonable amount of grumbling to a reduction in the quantity sold and also to a considerable lessening of its strength.

Beer VS Coal
It ought to be understood that the decision of the American Government to close the breweries and force the people to go without beer after the supply on hand is exhausted was not arrived at out of deference to temperance or prohibition sentiment. It was not because President Wilson considers beer drinking is wrong or in itself, impairs the war effort of the nation. It was because Fuel Controller Garfield told him that the need of the Allies for coal was serious, and would become more imperative as the Winter advanced and that every ton of coal that was used unnecessarily hampered the Allies and postponed the day of peace. Mr. Garfield said that the hundreds of thousands of tons of coal that were used to make beer were more urgently needed in

An Advertisement by Charles Dickens

CHARLES DICKENS is one of the world's great teachers. Here is what he has to say in one of his books:

"My other piece of advice, Copperfield," said Mr. Micawber, "you know. Annual income £20, annual expenditure £19. 19. 6—result, happiness. Annual income £20, annual expenditure £20. 0. 6—result, misery. The blossom is blighted, the leaf is withered, the God of Day goes down upon the dreary scene, and—in and short you are forever floored. As I am."

The saving of a part of one's income was always a good policy.

Prudent men and women have always maintained a margin of saving.

But to-day we must go farther in our efforts to save than ever before.

To-day it is a matter of the gravest importance that each Canadian seek ways and means to economize by cutting down expenditures for unnecessary things, saving the money he spends on things he could do without, so that when the Nation needs to borrow money he will be in a position to do his full duty.

There is war-shortening work waiting for every dollar that can be saved.

IF Charles Dickens were writing to Canadians to-day he would probably give us advice to this effect:

"My other piece of advice, Canadians, you know. No matter what percentage of your annual income you have previously saved, your efforts to-day should be to save more. The advantage of so doing is threefold: By the practice of economy you conserve the material and labor which must be devoted to the grim task before us; you cultivate the priceless habit of thrift; you gather more and more money to lend to the Nation for the prosecution of the war to a quick and certain victory."

France and Italy, and so President Wilson signed the death warrant of the breweries. It ought not to be overlooked that the wasteful or unnecessary use of coal in every other industry is also to be eliminated. It is not beer that the American Government has in mind, but coal.

Foch's Message

One of the most significant messages of the war was conveyed from Marshal Foch through Premier Clemenceau to the meeting of the miners' Federation of Great Britain held a few days ago in Lancashire. The Generalissimo declared: "Coal is the key to victory! Miners of Great Britain help me on! My brothers, the miners of Great Britain, let not a moment be lost to hasten the hour of peace!" This appeal to the miners of Great Britain struck home to the heart of every other miner in an allied country, and to every citizen of an allied country who consumes coal. Marshal Foch does not waste words.

When he says that coal is the key to victory he shows how each and every one of us can do something to hasten that victory, and that knowledge should make it easy for us to bear whatever discomforts and even hardships are involved in the sparing and patriotic use of coal. In Massachusetts the State Fuel Controller has ordered that no furnaces in public buildings of any kind, and in apartment houses and hotels can be lighted before December 1st. There is little doubt that other States will follow this example. There may be a nationwide order to this effect. If there is we may expect more stringent regulations in Canada.

Coal Shortage in Italy

How vital a part coal plays in this big war is indicated by the fact that in the Spring of 1917 munition plants and war supply manufacturing works of every kind in Italy were obliged to shut down because there was no fuel was with the utmost difficulty that the Italian Government was able to find coal to fire the locomotives hauling supplies to the front. Italy imports all the coal that she uses. In peace times she imported great quantities from Austria and Germany but more particularly from Great Britain. The Teutonic supply ceased altogether, and Great Britain not only needed far more coal than ever before, but hundreds of thousands of her experienced miners had volunteered for military service in France. The result was that there was a dangerous shortage, and now Great Britain's coal supply is cut to the bone. To-day the shortage amounts to about 30,000,000 tons. So while Great Britain will continue to ship coal to France and Italy it will be necessary that for every ton that leaves her shores another ton from this side the Atlantic will be received.

The French Mines

The situation has been made all the more serious because since the early weeks of the war the German armies have been in possession of the coal mining region of France, whose headquarters are at Lens. Even though the foe is being driven out of this district and will no longer able himself to use the French coal deposits, he will no doubt flood and dynamite the mines so that many months will pass before they can be worked again. Winter comes apace with no prospects that it will not be spent in the trenches by millions of our soldiers. At home the production of munitions and other war material must be increased, since the armies in the field are larger than before. It is with this situation in mind that Marshal Foch appeals to brothers everywhere to lose not a moment to hasten the hour of peace.

by the production and patriotic conservation of coal. "The Key to Victory."

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girl! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this newly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yeast is harmless.

SPECIAL PRICES

— ON —

BOOTS & SHOES

Having purchased the general stock of the Rourke Estate at Hepworth at a low rate on the dollar we have many bargains to offer in every line of goods carried, more particularly in BOOTS AND SHOES. The stock in this line is well assorted and comprises many lines in Women's, Men's and Children's wear that we are selling at less than the actual cost of production at the factories to-day. Before making your purchase for Fall and Winter it will pay you to see this stock.

There are also many lines in Staple Dry Goods and Groceries which we are offering at prices much below the present market value.

Wool Blankets

This week we place on Sale a Special purchase of White Wool Blankets—Seconds—slightly damaged, but not enough to affect the wearing qualities. We were fortunate enough to secure an allotment of 25 Pairs of these from the leading Blanket Manufacturers in Canada, and will sell them while they last at $1.25 per Lb.

In the face of the fact that ordinary Yarn is worth anywhere from $2.00 to $2.50 per lb. this price is obviously cheap. If you need anything in this line do not overlook this special offering as this small lot will certainly not last long.

Millinery Department

Our Millinery Department is now in full swing and owing to the fact that we made most of our purchases early in the season, forestalling the very decided advance in prices, we are in a position to offer you Stylish Headgear at practically old prices.

Ladies' Jackets

Our stock of Ladies' Jackets is now very complete and while prices have advanced over last year's quotations considerably we are in a position to offer you Garments at much less than prices quoted in catalogues of leading Mail-Order House. Put this statement to the test. We believe we can save you good money.

Ordered Clothing

We still have a goodly number of Woollen Suitings on hand at the old prices, but at the rate they are going out our stock will soon be depleted. If you need a Suit, Overcoat or Pair of Trousers save money by putting your order in NOW.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. Kastner and Gretchen are visiting friends in Stratford.

—Bugler Elgin Hahn, of St. Johns, New Brunswick, is visiting his mother at his home here.

—Mr. J. Bartley accompanied by Robt. Reid and Herbert Bull, did business in Southampton on Monday.

—Miss Amy Lawrence, who taught school last year at Miller Lake, is teaching this year at Cape Chin.

—Mrs. Irving, of Owen Sound, spent the week end the guest of Mrs. M. Hoover and several little affairs were given in her honor.

—Mr. Brock McAulay and Mrs. McAulay of Southampton, motored to town Monday.

—Mrs. Dan Campbell and little son of Owen Sound, spent the week end with her mother Mrs. Griffin.

—Mrs. Leonard, who had been visiting Mrs. E. Westfield for the past month, returned to Toronto Saturday.

—Lieutenants Beatrice and Eileen Symon, of the Toronto Base Hospital, are visiting at their home here.

—Messrs. E. Holler and T. Reiso, of Hanover, accompanied by Misses E. and C. Holler, motored and spent last week with friends in Elmira, Kitchener and Hamilton.

—Miss L. McLean, Miss C. Miller and Messrs. Bates, Burgess and Williams motored to Hepworth Monday, night and took part in the program held there in the Presbyterian Church.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pickard and family left last week for Paisley where Mr. Pickard will reside for some time. He has purchased a saw mill there preferring it to the whole-sale lumber business. Mr. Pickard spent quite a few years in Albemarle, and Warton, and his friends here will be glad to learn of his success in Paisley.

Here is one man who knows a good thing. His name is T. H. Reeve, he is living a few miles from Washington, the capital of the United States, but yet in writing to The Echo last week he says that he would rather be in Warton. The towns honored former citizen will be 90 years of age on the 1st of October, and his friends will hope that he may see many more years.

Special Harvest Home services will be held in the Baptist Church on Sunday next, October 6. In the morning Pastor Emmons will preach on "Christ the First Fruits" and in the evening the subject will be "The Waiting Husbandman". Both sermons will be devoted to the study of the Second Coming of Christ. Special music.

Sunday was Rally Day in the Methodist Church. The special order of service in which members of the school took a prominent part was very fine. Rev. Mr. Prudham gave the address. The attendance was the best in years. Between thirty and forty boys and girls were presented with a little book to keep accounts in with a view to cultivating better business habits.

St. Pauls Presbyterian Church was very tastefully decorated on Sunday in honor of the Harvest Home Services. Rev. Mr. Thompson, conducted the Services both morning and evening and the choir provided special music for the occasion. On Monday the congregation had a Harvest Home Tea which was well attended after which a good program was given.

The teachers of East Bruce are very fortunate in having for speaker at their evening meeting at Walkerton, Thursday October 10th. Lieut. Col. (Rev. Dr.) Johnston, Montreal, recently returned from overseas. The teachers are bound to have both pleasure and profit from Dr. Johnston's address.

The Kaiser as Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Need of the kind I had seen in some time and practically no one in Germany outside the royal family and the emperor was any better off than I in that respect.

While I was breakfasting, the Kaiser was dressing. His valet entered several times, I noticed, to take out articles of clothing from the massive wardrobes which lined the room. I had just completed my meal when I received word that my patient was ready to receive me.

As I entered the Kaiser's bedroom he was standing in the center of the room, fully attired in an army gray uniform, but without his sword. He looked more haggard than I had ever seen him, except once in 1915. Lack of sleep and physical pain were two things with which he had had very little experience, and they certainly showed their effects very plainly.

He didn't seem to be in the best of humor but greeted me cordially enough and shook hands.

"In all my life, Davis," he said, "I have never suffered so much pain."

I expressed my sorrow and endeavored to improve a dental chair out of an upholstered armchair on which I placed some pillows and, as the Kaiser sat down, he laughingly remarked:

"Look here, Davis, you've got to do something for me. You can't fight the whole world, you know, and have a toothache!"

When I was through and his pain was relieved, his spirits seemed to revive appreciably, and he explained why it was he was so anxious to have his tooth trouble removed as quickly as possible.

"I must go down to Italy, Davis," he said, "to see what my noble troops have accomplished. My gracious what we have done to them down there! Our offensive at Riga was just a feat. We had advertised our intended offensive in Italy so thoroughly that the Italians thought we couldn't possibly intend to carry it through. For three months it was common talk in Germany, you remember, that the great offensive would start in October, and so the Italians believed it was all a bluff and when we advanced on Riga they were sure of it. They thought we were so occupied there that we could pay no attention to them, and so we caught them napping!"

The Kaiser's face fairly beamed as he dwelt on the strategy of his generals and the successful outcome of their Italian campaign.

"For months Italy has been engaged in planting her big guns on the mountain-tops and gathering mountains of ammunition and supplies and food, in preparation for their twelfth month offensive."

"We let them go ahead and waited patiently for the right moment. They thought that their contemplated offensive must inevitably bring our weaker neighbor to her knees and force her to make a separate peace!" By "our weaker neighbor" the Kaiser, of course, referred to Austria, and how accurate was his information regarding Italy's expectations he has since the night his information was revealed by the publication of that famous letter from Kaiser Karl to Prince Sixtus.

"And then," the Kaiser went on, "when their great offensive was within a week of being launched we broke through their lines on a slope 3,000 feet high, covered with snow, where they couldn't bring up their reserves or new guns, and we surrounded them!"

"We took practically everything they possessed—food enough to feed our entire army without calling upon our supplies at all. Never before had our armies seen such an accumulation of ammunition. I must certainly go down to see it."

"We cut off their northern retreat and, as they swung their army to the south, we captured 60,000 of them up to their knees in the rice fields. One of the great mistakes they made was in carrying their civilian refugees with them—clogging their narrow roads and impeding the retreat of their soldiers. We had taken possession of their most productive regions, and their retreat was through territory which yielded them nothing. Just think of that retreating army thrown upon the already impoverished inhabitants of that section. Why, they'll starve to death!"

"Everywhere we went we found their big guns abandoned. In one small village we came upon a gun decorated with flowers and surmounted with a portrait of Emperor Franz Josef. It had been put there by the Italian inhabitants of the village to show their happiness at being released at last from the yoke of the intolerable Italian lawyer government! How terrible the Italians must have treated them! Italy will never get over this defeat. This was real help from God! Now, we've got the allies! And we struck his left hand with his right with great force to emphasize his argument that the turning point in the war had been reached with Italy's collapse."

That the Kaiser now regarded himself and his armies as invincible I felt,

Early in my presence I happened to mention to the Kaiser that I appreciated the friendship he showed me in invariably waving his hand at me as he passed my window when walking along the Tiergarten.

"It's a good advertisement for you, Davis," he said, "the people see me waving to you and they know I must be a good dentist or I wouldn't come to you. It will help your business!" In every act, he was conscious of the public.

During that period of my call on the Kaiser, he showed the utmost interest in my program and frequently inquired how my practice was developing.

The first bill I rendered him, as I have mentioned, he decided. On a number of occasions he showed me the bill and more than my bill called for. These overpayments never amounted to very much, but they impressed me because they went so far out of keeping with the Kaiser's bill. The Kaiser displayed in other directions.

From time to time the Kaiser sent or brought me autographed pictures of himself or others. At the time of the war, he sent me two months later, a picture of the Great, he gave me a picture of that incident. On another occasion, he presented me with a group picture of himself surrounded by his family and his friends. It was a large and handsome picture in celebration of his silver wedding. It was about twenty-four by eighteen inches in size. It showed the Kaiser and himself in a sort of cloud floating above his wife and children. The Kaiser and the Kaiser's family were in the foreground, and the Kaiser's family were in the background.

"I don't know just what this masterpiece was meant to signify, but I had it framed and placed it in my office. It came from a little boy who entered the room with his mother the following astonished remark: 'Oh, mother, look at the Kaiser in heaven!'"

A post-card picture of the Kaiser, signed by the Kaiser, was in his own estimation one of the most precious gifts he could bestow. I remember his donating one of them to an American charity bazaar in Berlin to be auctioned off. He thought that the fact that the card came from his Imperial majesty gave it a value which could not be measured in dollars and cents. A piece of jewelry or a sum of money might have been duplicated many times over by a gift of similar character from any American millionaire—for whose wealth the Kaiser frequently expressed the utmost contempt—but what could surpass the value of an autograph of the Kaiser?

No doubt the royal banquets were prepared much upon the same principle, for it was a common saying among the German aristocracy that one of the best things before going to a banquet; it was the Kaiser.

I happened to mention to the Kaiser the reputation his banquets held among his people. He was not at all taken aback by my remark, but he told me that "That's good," he commented. "The Germans are too fat, anyway. The majority of the people eat too much."

Long after automobile became more of less general, the Kaiser still employed horse and carriage for ordinary travel, relying upon his free use of the railways for longer distances. When, however, the Reichstag passed a law compelling royalty to pay for their railroad travel, the Kaiser took to automobiles. They charged him 11,000 marks, he told me, for the use of a train on one of his shooting trips, and that, apparently was more than he could stand.

"Autos are expensive," he declared, "but they don't cost me that much!"

The Kaiser speaks English with but the slightest trace of a foreign accent, and he speaks French, too, very fluently, and I believe, Italian. He is widely read on almost all subjects and knows the literature of England, France and America for as well as that of Germany. Mark Twain was one of his favorite American authors and Longfellow his choice of American poets.

He prides himself on his acquaintance with history and has little respect for the political opinions of others whose knowledge of history is less complete.

Shortly after Carnegie had donated five million marks to Germany to further world-peace, I happened to be talking to the Kaiser of American millionaires and the steelmaster was mentioned.

"Of course, Carnegie is a nice old man and means well," remarked the Kaiser, conceding, "but he is totally ignorant of world history. He's an advanced, up-to-date, up-to-date world-peace. We accepted it naturally, but, of course, we intend to continue our policy of maintaining our army and navy in full strength."

Indeed, there hardly any subject to which the Kaiser has devoted any considerable attention in which he doesn't regard himself as the final authority.

As an art collector and antiquarian he claims first place and he is rather inclined to feel that second place should be left vacant. He always resented very much the acquisition by American millionaires of art treasures and antiquities which their wealth enabled them to buy, but which their limited acquaintance with history and their lack of culture and refinement made them unable to appreciate—in the Kaiser's estimation.

Of his own taste in art little need be said. The monuments which he caused to be erected to his ancestors and their wives and children and his own family, the stags he had opened through the Tiergarten especially for them, are at the same time a monument to the Kaiser's ideas of art. They are the language of the artist's world. They have been so frequently defaced

Letters From Soldiers to Women's Institute Stokes Bay

Somewhere in France, Aug. 12th, 1918

Dear Friend—I am going to drag you a few lines now to let you know I received the box you sent, and I can assure you that we all appreciate them. I thank you from the depth of my heart for sending it. You women are doing a wonderful work at Dyer's Bay.

We are having fine weather just at present and I hope it keeps up for a while yet. I have not heard from Howard for a long time. I guess he is like I am, he doesn't care for writing. When one does start a letter there is no news to tell, that is all the news I dare on a field card.

Thanking you again for your kindness

Spr. NORMAN WARDROP.

France, Aug. 6 1918

Dear Friend—Just a few lines to thank you and the rest of the ladies of the Institute for sending me the parcel, which I appreciated very much. The things came in very handy as I was out of socks and my towels were worn out.

Thanking you again, I remain,

SPR. H. GRAHAM

18781 Sgt. H. H. Pilgrim, 4th Can. Res. Bn., Witley, Surrey.

Dear Friend—I don't know who you are or whether I have your name right or not, as it was nearly rubbed off, but I am hoping the P. O. authorities will be able to make a guest at it. As Dyer's Bay is not such a large place, I want to thank you very much for the nice parcel. I just happened to need everything that was in it and the cake certainly was good. It sure reminded me of home cooking. I may say that it is the first parcel I have received from any but my own folks and I have been away four years now. Oh, well, we are all thankful for small mercies, and the war should be over now in a couple more years. Things look better these days don't they?

I will certainly be glad to get back home, but I wouldn't have missed this show for the world, even if I lose my life yet I will be satisfied. I have had some thrilling moments of real life. No other generation of men ever had the experiences that we have had and no other will, I'm thinking.

Although this war has called for many sacrifices the men themselves don't mind getting killed. It is the sorrow that comes to the people at home that counts. Although I have been wounded twice, I never would have stayed in England so long were it not for my mother. If I followed my own inclinations I would still be in the thick of it, for it is there that we learn what real men are, and the hand clasp of men, who have faced death by your side, and gone through the battles with a grin, a curse or a prayer, according to their nature, is worth living for.

I hope you receive this note of thanks,

H. H. PILGRIM

Somewhere in France

Dear Friend—I it with much pleasure I write a few lines thanking you for the parcel which I received two days ago and appreciated very much. You can't realize how much everything was enjoyed. The cake, note paper, socks, towels were all in first class shape. The box was not even crushed coming in.

We have very little time to write out here and I suppose you will know all the news. I sent a field card home to-day and dated it a day ahead. I did not even know the date until I inquired.

My address is now the 3rd C. A. D. C. 1st Sect. Can. Army, A. P. O., London, Eng.

How is Howard? I have never heard of him since speaking to Paddy in England last Fall. I heard once he

Eczema Cured Five Years Ago

A Treatment Which Has Proven a Wonderful Healer of the Skin—Certified Evidence of Lasting Cure.

The old notion that eczema is a disease of the blood is refuted time and time again by the cure that so easily being effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It matters not what the cause may have been, if you apply Dr. Chase's Ointment regularly you will obtain relief and cure of eczema. Here is the proof:

Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites, Box 255, Jordan, Ont., writes: "My brother had a bad case of eczema on his legs. He was troubled nearly all his life with it, and had tried all sorts of treatment, but it did not cure him. He tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it gave almost instant relief. He continued to use it, and he did not quite subside the second box when he was cured. It is now about five years since then, and it has never returned. We certainly can never forget Dr. Chase's Ointment, and are very grateful for my brother's cure."

(Rev. S. P. Coffman, Vineland, Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites and her statements are correct.")

Mr. J. E. Jones, 228 University Avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I had eczema in my hands for about ten years. I tried a great many remedies, but found that while some of them checked it, none cured it permanently. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in six weeks my hands were completely healed. I have not had it since. I am a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house if it cost $2 a box. I am giving it to those who suffer as I did."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box. At all dealers. Edmondson, Bate & Co., Limited, Toronto. Substitutes will only disappoint you. Insist on getting what you ask for.

GREAT 15 DAYS SALE

Beginning Saturday October 5th

Look at these prices and smile. Did you think we could do it? You have heard goods are high and advancing, so they are, but it is by having a steady buyer in Toronto that we have been able to gather the merchandise we are offering at this sale. Many of these lines were bought six months ago for spot cash, and could not be bought to-day at double the prices asked. Most of these goods are last years goods, and are principally last years prices, and many of the prices are the same as asked two years ago. In some lines we have a right to reserve a limit.

About 100 people were unable to attend in the Baptist Church Sunday evening. The church was packed, aisles and gallery. The service was Memorial in its character in honor of Pte.
Lorne Macartney, Killed in Action, in France. The pastor of the church referred to the bravery of the young man, who had felt that no sacrifice was too great and had cheerfully gone to defend our homes and had made the supreme sacrifice. He then spoke words of comfort to all who were called upon to mourn the loss of loved ones in this great world war.
The choir had special music for the occasion, and the male quartette sang "Will be Circle be Unbroken"

The Northern Summer School

The Committee of Management of the Northern Summer School met in Harrison on Sep. 27th, to arrange for the 1919 session. A lengthy discussion took place on the transfer of the school to some more central than Warton. While much praise was given to Warton in the way her citizens have entertained the school it appears that if a larger constitution is to be reached the school must be brought closer to the door Mount Forest and Harrison have been suggested as desirable centres for the school. However Warton is to have the honor of having the School for 1919. The date will be June 30 to July 6. Some new features will be introduced in the program. The success of the past three sessions has created a warm place for the school in many quarters.
It is hoped 1919 will be the best of all.
Rev. W. W. Prudham of Warton and Rev. W. S. Daniels of Tara represented the Warton District at the meeting.

FIRE PREVENTION

EXTRACTS FROM

PROCLAMATION

Issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario

Whereas next to the care of those who are offering their lives on the front line of battle, the conservation of all our energies and substance is our most important problem;

And whereas the saving of human life, thrift, and the prevention of loss of property through destruction by fire, is an aid which every one should give willingly to the community at large;

And whereas the reckless and imprudent use of fire waste that confronts the people of our Province is appalling;

Therefore, believing that the loss can be minimized only by awakening in the public mind a universal watchfulness against carelessness, accumulation of rubbish and unsanitary conditions;

and Because of this great need and in order to arouse a sense of watchfulness, carefulness and cleanliness, and to create a greater personal responsibility in reducing the number of preventable fires;
We have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council for our Province of Ontario, to name, and do hereby name Wednesday, the

9th DAY OF OCTOBER, 1918

AS

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

And We do hereby urge that on this day, throughout our Province of Ontario, attention be called in schools and public places to the conditions that exist and to the need of immediate action and co-operation on the part of everyone; and special exercises, addresses and other means be employed to impress on the public mind lessons of Fire Prevention.

To insure the success of this great Clean-up Campaign it will be necessary to have the hearty and harmonious co-operation of all who have for their objects civic, social and industrial betterment.

The Proclamation should be read in all Schools and at Public Gatherings.
Office of the Fire Marshal of Ontario, Department of the Attorney-General,

WALKERTON

Mr. Adam Wilson, Accountant of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, left last Thursday, in company with one of the chief inspectors of the Bank on an important business trip to Mexico. Mr. Wilson was located in Mexico from 1910 to 1912 and has a knowledge of the language and conditions down there which few bank men possess. Mr. Wilson reached the Mexico border at San Antonio, Texas, Sunday night and expected to arrive in Mexico City Wednesday. He expects to be absent a month.

Rev. Thomas Wilson, who resigned a few months ago from the pastorate for Knox Church, Walkerton, has been called to the Presbyterian Ch. at Medicine Hat, Alta. at a salary of $2,000, free manse, and a month's holidays.

After having resided about thirty years in Walkerton, Mr. C. W. Cryderman, Collector of Inland Revenue, received a telegram from Ottawa on Friday instructing him to report in three days at Niagara Falls. On Mr. Cryderman left for his new post on Monday and Mrs. Cryderman and Eileen will follow later. His older son, Surg.-Probationer Wilbur Cryderman, R. N. who has been home since Spring left this week for Toronto to complete his course in Medicine at the University. Mr. Cryderman came to Walkerton in the eighties and for many years before receiving a Government appointment, was actively connected with the public and municipal life of the town. He sat at the Council Board for a number of terms and as Mayor of Walkerton showed administrative ability. In debating municipal issues on the public platform he had few equals. With three of their children serving King and Country, the last few years have been anxious ones for Mr. and Mrs. Cryderman. Their departure from Walkerton is deeply regretted by their many friends here, who however are glad to learn it is a promotion for Mr. Cryderman and that his happiness and prosperity will attend this esteemed family in their new home.

William Craig, West Ward, who has been thrashing with Harry Deming this season, was badly hurt at Lang Bros. on 6. Brant, on Friday morning. The machine was about to stop when a heavy square timber, which extended across the middle of the floor broke in the middle. The end of a piece about 15 feet long hit him as he was standing beside the separator and hurled him back against the scaffolding. When Harry dug him out of the straw a minute later he was first thought he was dead and he was unconscious for about half an hour. Medical examination indicated that no bones were broken but his arm and shoulder were so badly bruised that he will likely be laid up for the rest of the season.

CHESLEY

Krug Bros. & Co. have started work on the foundation of a cement smoke stack five feet in diameter and 12 feet in height. The draft will be strong in the furnace when the new cement smokestack is completed that it will draw in the coal from the shed as soon as it comes near the open door of the furnace. The big furnace

Farm lands continue to sell at a high price in the vicinity of Chesley. John Maxwell sold south half of lot 29, Con. 11, Sullivan, 100 acres, for $7200 to Wm. Myer of 4th Con. Sullivan. John bought this farm 3 1/2 years ago from Robert Miller for $5,200 and has cleared $5,200 by the sale. The farm is one of the best in Sullivan. Mr. Maxwell gives possession to the new owner about the middle of next March.

Rev. C. M. Farney, rector of Holy Trinity and Grace Churches, prepared an honor roll of the members of his parish who are in active service, or have given their lives for the cause of freedom in this great war. The honor roll is in black letters on bronze surmounted by a cross with the national flag on each side. It is very creditably done and shows the popular and public-spirited rector to be quite an original designer. At the head of the list comes Nursing Sister Pollock followed by 45 officers and privates of whom 8 have made the supreme sacrifice. They are: Ptes. Edw. Burden, W. E. Foster, Harold Gardiner, E. Parsons, Robt. W. Foster, S. R. Woodbridge and Arthur Lange.

Several of our citizens interested in the Earn and Give Campaign of the University of Medicine at the University. Mr. Cryderman came to Walkerton in the eighties and for many years before receiving a Government appointment, was actively connected with the public and municipal life of the town. He sat at the Council Board for a number of terms and as Mayor of Walkerton showed administrative ability. In debating municipal issues on the public platform he had few equals. With three of their children serving King and Country, the last few years have been anxious ones for Mr. and Mrs. Cryderman. Their departure from Walkerton is deeply regretted by their many friends here, who however are glad to learn it is a promotion for Mr. Cryderman and that his happiness and prosperity will attend this esteemed family in their new home.

On Monday about three o'clock the news reached Chesley by phone from Toronto that Bulgaria had surrendered unconditionally. The schools were notified of a parade, the church and town halls were set a-ringing, the factory whistles blowing and soon everybody knew the good news. A parade was arranged at 7:30 and headed by the band The Mayor, Reeve and Councilors, coming next. Some sixty autos some of them prettily decorated, paraded the streets. At Hero's Square the band rendered a patriotic selection and short addresses to a large and attentive audience, exulting on the prospects of a speedy termination of the war, were made by the chairman, Mayor Halliday, ex-mayor C. J. Halliday and Wm. McDonald, M. P.

THANKFUL MOTHERS

Mrs. Willie Theriault, Paquetville, N. B. says:—"I am extremely thankful that I tried Baby's Own Tablets for my baby. Through their use my baby thrived wonderfully and I feel as if I cannot recommend them too highly. Baby's Own Tablets break up colds and simple fevers; cure constipation, colic and indigestion and make teething easy. In fact they cure all the minor ills of little ones. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

OWEN SOUND

An effort is being made to organize a hockey club in town and at present it looks as though Owen Sound would be represented by an excellent junior team in the O. H. A. With good management and good sportsmanship on the part of the players, the town will give every support. A meeting was held last night at which a number of those interested in the game were present and a further meeting will be held shortly. There is no better game played than hockey properly played, and with good coaching there is no sport at present in Owen Sound can be made strong contenders in the big association. Owen Sound does not want Northern League Hockey, with its continual protests and unsatisfactory and unsportsmanlike administration.

Further honors have been awarded Lieut.-Col. W. A. Bishop. The department of public information has received the following cable from military authorities overseas: (Lieut.-Col. W. A. Bishop, V. C. D. S. O., with bar), M. C. D. F. C., Canada's greatest fighting airman, was today made a Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor of the first class and awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm leaf for distinguished service in the zone of the French armies.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rash, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-lives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-lives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

Mr. Harry Ross, miller at Park Head received a nasty kick in the face from the animal. His hand was cut and other injuries sustained. However he is able to be around and glad that nothing more serious took place.

Allenby, of Mons and Jerusalem

Gen. Sir Edmund Allenby's occupation of Damascus breaks forever the grip of the Turk on Palestine and Syria, and it entitles the commander of that magnificent British army to take rank with the most brilliant generals developed in the war. Like d'Espey, there are no failures, no half achievements, in Allenby's record. He has been in the war from the very beginning, and commanded the heroic cavalry in the Old Contemptibles, and perhaps in his daring and, as it appeared, desperate use of the cavalry a screen to cover the retreat from Mons, is due more than to any other cause the fact that a remnant of the first British expeditionary force in France survived. Probably there is not Allenby's equal living as a commander of cavalry, and if for no other reason, his genius in this respect suggested him as a successor to Sir Archibald Murray for a campaign in which mounted troops were obviously to play so important a part: "THE GENTLEST CONQUEROR."

Edmund Henry Allenby was born 57 years ago, and as a boy attended the famous Halesbury school where as at Rugby and Eton, the masters concerned themselves with the boys' character and manners quite as much as with their books, and where a certain proficiency in outdoor sports was considered as necessary as a familiarity with the dead languages. There is no record that he especially distinguished himself at school. His strongest interest was in literature, which has clung to him all his life, and perhaps has contributed much to the development of his character, whose most marked quality impresses the observer as gentleness. Those words that were applied to the beloved and lamented General Maude, "the gentlest conqueror who ever took a city," would equally well describe Allenby. PITTED AGAINST DELAHEY

As became a young aristocrat of 38 or 40 years ago, he entered the army with a commission in the Inniskilling Dragoon, and was said at the time to have looked the part of a dashing cavalier as well as one of Oudla's heroes. At the age of 23 he had his first introduction to warfare, for he served in the Bechuanaland expedition, and four years later in 1884 was through the Zulu campaign, becoming adjutant. He had already attracted the attention of his superiors by his courage and a sagacity that seemed to have something of the quality of instinct. He next served through the South African war, and was pitted against no less formidable an antagonist than General Delahey. For his work there he was twice mentioned in despatches and was decorated by the British Government. All this experience, of course, was child's play, compared with the tremendous task that was thrust upon his shoulders when the recent war broke out and he was placed in command of the cavalry division of the British force. But Allenby never lost his head for a moment in the most desperate encounters, and though he exposed himself to death a hundred times in the course of the retreat from Mons, he escaped without a scratch.

Of the Kitchener School He commanded the right wing of the British forces in the battle of Arras in 1917, and was credited with one of the most successful offensives undertaken by the allies up to that time. When he went to Palestine he was subjected to much uninformed criticism because of his obstinate refusal to move his army against the Turks. He was of the Kitchener school, and declined to go forward until he had at his command all the men and war material that he saw was necessary for his task. The fact that his inactivity was giving the German-led Turks more time in which to prepare for his advance did not trouble Allenby. So he waited imperturbably until his great organization was complete to the least detail and then the next moment launched his blow.

Believed by Arabs Few events of the war have thrilled Christian people more than the capture of Jerusalem by Allenby's army, and by the manner of entry to the city by the Commander and his officers. Instead of entering on horseback with military pomp they went on foot as pilgrims might approach a shrine. On a par with his military triumph was his capture of the hearts of the Moslem population about him. He issued a proclamation assuring them that they had nothing to fear, but might go about their ordinary business in safety. He guarded their sacred places and over those especially dear to the Moslems he placed Moslem guards. His fame spread rapidly and through all that great country his name is now a household word, as was Kitchener's in Egypt, or perhaps that of Gordon, whom he more nearly resembles. Already legends about Gen. Allenby have sprung up; the most interesting one being that his capture of Jerusalem was long ago foretold in sacred writings. There has been current among the Arabs for centuries the prophecy that "He who shall save Jerusalem and exalt her among nations will enter the city on foot, and his name will be God, the prophet." So the Arabs see in Allenby the equivalent of "God the Prophet" for they call him "Allah Nabi" which has precisely this meaning.

To every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.

But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money. Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

If anyone says "I cannot save" let him consider to what extent he would pinch himself to relieve the sufferings of a loved one at home; and surely he would not pinch less for our fighting brothers in France.

Without suffering actual privations, nearly every family in Canada can reduce its standard of living, can practice reasonable thrift, can make cheerful sacrifice to enrich the life-blood of the nation.

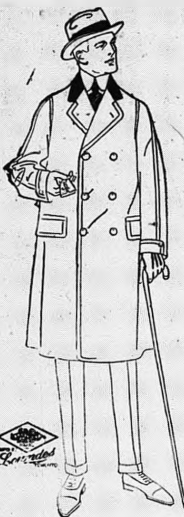

You who read this, get out pencil and paper NOW. Set down the items of your living expense. Surely you will find some items there you can do without.

Determine to do without them.

Start TO-DAY. Save your money so that you may be in a position to lend it to your country in its time of need.

Editorial

For the right kind of talk about the armistice by Germany, there is no better place in the United States Senate.

Should Spanish Influenza show its nose in this town effective measures should be immediately taken to exterminate the disease. If the closing of schools, churches, places of amusement etc. will do it then let us apply the remedy.

And peas at $2.25 per bus. is considered a small price. It is small compared with last year, but it is very big compared with five years ago. And probably might be big if compared with the price five years hence.

The fire on Monday morning reminds us that there are still some buildings on Berford Street not up to the requirements of the by-law. Of course these were built before the days of the by-law, but it is a great pity that the said by-law had not been retroactive.

A bulletin on Sunday announcing that the Central Powers were suing for peace sent every bell in the town ringing. Since victory has been on the side of the Allies and the defeat of Prussian militarism has been assured, there has not been very much rejoicing. There was far more in the days of the Boer War. Just what the reason is we cannot say.

The Central Powers have asked for an armistice to discuss peace. They are willing to accept President Wilson's fourteen points. The trend of sentiment is all the Allied nations is that there must be an unconditional surrender upon the part of Germany, Austria Hungary and Turkey. It is not yet evident that the war is over, but we have certainly had the beginning of the end. Germany is a great nation, and her forces are apparently still strong, but, it looks like she may soon have to beg for peace rather than to suggest an armistice.

Mr. James Adams, with his threshing outfit, are doing quick work here. They will finish this week.

Miss K. McDonald returned last week from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. McDonald, Silepans.

Arriving in Toronto after a successful summer work canvassing for the Imperial Publishing Co., Toronto, Miss Alice Pender was offered a splendid position in their office.

Sunday Sept. 29 was observed as S. S. Rally Day. The program was followed and given by the Scholars Pastor, Superintendent and Choir. $5 was sent to the General Board. A Home Department in connection with the S. S. was recently organized.

MARRIED

A very quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 5th, when Mr. Gordon Chambers, of La Chute, and Miss Flossie Stewart were married by the Rev. J. E. Thompson. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. John Stewart, and looked very winsome in a white silk crepe dress with a corsage bouquet of roses. After the wedding dejeuner the happy couple left for Toronto and from there will go to Deseronto, where the groom is stationed with the Royal Air Force. The bride travelled in a navy blue gown with black hat. As a present Mr. and Mrs. Chambers received a handsome cabinet of silver from the squadron with which Mr. Chambers is stationed.

OBITUARY

On Wednesday, October 2, 1918, there entered into rest, the beloved wife of G. Percival Weatherhead, from the residence of her mother, Mrs. A. Shute, of Frank Street.

Mrs. Weatherhead had been a patient sufferer and was confined to bed for several months, so her death was not unexpected. Everything that medical skill and loving care could do was unavailing and she passed peacefully away.

In all her home relationship she was of a loving and sympathetic nature, and her strong Christian faith, kept her cheerful, though suffering for many months.

On Friday afternoon, after a short service at the home, the funeral cortege proceeded to Bayview Cemetery for interment.

The large gathering of friends and acquaintance and the many beautiful floral offerings bespeak for the family, the sympathy that is extended in their bereavement.

The immediate relatives who are left to mourn their loss are, her husband, her widowed mother, four brothers, Dr. R. J., of Windsor, Ont., J. C., of Copper Cliff, Anthony and Arthur, of Edmonton, Alta., also two sisters, Mrs. R. H. Humphries, of town and Miss Sarah, of the Public School teaching staff.

The pall bearers were her two brothers, Dr. R. J. and J. C., two brothers-in-law and W. Weatherhead, R. J. Humphries and two cousins, Anthony Schute, Massie, Ont., and Thomas Desley of town.

OXENDEN

On September 27th, Miss Nellie Perkins, of Moorfield, (formerly teacher at Oxenden), became the bride of Mr. Russel Mills, of Dobbin. The bride's old friends here wish the happy couple much prosperity in their new relationship.

On Thursday evening of last week the Mothers' Club gave Miss Mabel Porter a miscellaneous shower. All enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davidson visited their granddaughter, Mrs. Matthew Porter, at Lake Charles, Monday.

Quite a number from here attended Mr. John Lobban's sale on Tuesday, October 1st.

Mr. Henry Loney and Mrs. Proctor visited at Mr. Ed. Walpole's on Thursday.

Quite a number from here attended the fair at Tara on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Atkey attended the wedding of Mrs. Atkey's sister, Miss Mabel Porter, Wednesday of this week.

Miss Lottie Siegrist was at Menford assisting as bridesmaid for a cousin last week.

Thanksgiving service next Sunday the pastor in charge.

Mrs. Fred Carder received a cablegram this last week saying her husband, Pte. Fred Carder, had been gassed. We hope for better news to follow.

Rev. W. C. Almack, of Hepworth, preached last Sunday, Rev. W. A. Mathews being on the Hepworth circuit.

Strong People Needed

The need for people to be healthy is urgent. Those whom illness has put outside the ranks of robust men and women feel their position keenly. They are handicapped in every walk of life and weak men and nervous women need more earnestly than ever to put their health right and become active and strong. Many who began "patching" months ago are as ill now as on the day they began vainly tinkering with common drugs. Every ailing man and woman should remember that the ill of debility, nerve exhaustion, indigestion, sleeplessness, neuritis, and depression come from a faulty blood supply. Worry, overwork or other causes have impoverished the blood and left the life stream impure. The nerves thereby are starving and the whole system is languishing for new blood. In this condition many thousands have won back strong nerves and new health and strength through the new rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. In a weak or bloodless condition it is not only a waste of time and money, but also a further menace to your health to tinker with common drugs. Follow the example of so many thousands by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and they will transform you into healthy, active, men and women.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Greater Triumphs For The Edison

Every day comes fresh appreciation of the wonderful life-like, almost human, music which the New Edison Diamond Amberola brings into the home. People realize that this new phonograph is as nearly human as any invention can be—and that coupled with its truly marvelous reproductions, are its mechanical perfection and convenience.

The NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA

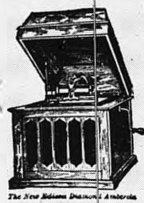

uses no needles—has a diamond reproducer point which never wears out; and plays the wonderful AMBEROL RECORDS, which are almost unwearable and nearly unbreakable

This is the phonograph and records which you may have for a while in your home, to entertain yourself and your friends, without charge and without obligation on your part to buy.

Simply pick out the model you prefer and the records you would like to hear.

We'll send them to your home, where you can enjoy the marvels of the Amberola at your pleasure. If you decide to keep the outfit, we will be glad to arrange convenient terms, or you may pay cash if you prefer.

Notes on Lions

Head Fair

The Fair was held last Friday and was a great success.

The directors will do well to consider the erection of a building upon the grounds right away.

The attendance was a record breaker.

The amount of money now offered for prizes is no inducement to show at all. Nothing but a prize in the Fair, and a desire to excel, will induce the exhibitor to show his produce.

Where can a better bit of road be found than between Warton and Lions Head for autists?

The tractor demonstration was watched with considerable interest.

The Concert in the Town Hall at night drew the largest audience ever seen in the hall, and the concert was a good one.

Messrs. Cook and Melver were busy men on fair day, and the crowd gave them the smile that will not come off.

SPECIAL PRICES

ON

BOOTS & SHOES

Having purchased the general stock of the Rourke Estate at Hepworth at a low rate on the dollar we have many bargains to offer in every line of goods carried, more particularly in BOOTS AND SHOES. The stock in this line is well assorted and comprises many lines in Women's, Men's and Children's wear that we are selling at less than the actual cost of production at the factories to-day. Before making your purchase for Fall and Winter it will pay you to see this stock.

There are also many lines in Staple Dry Goods and Groceries which we are offering at prices much below the present market value.

Wool Blankets

This week we place on Sale a Special purchase of White Wool Blankets—Seconds—slightly damaged, but not enough to affect the wearing qualities. We were fortunate enough to secure an allotment of 25 Pairs of these from the leading Blanket Manufacturers in Canada, and will sell them while they last at $1.25 per Lb.

In the face of the fact that ordinary Yarn is worth anywhere from $2.00 to $2.50 per lb. this price is obviously cheap. If you need anything in this line do not overlook this special offering as this small lot will certainly not last long.

Millinery Department

Our Millinery Department is now in full swing and owing to the fact that we made most of our purchases early in the season, forestalling the very decided advance in prices, we are in a position to offer you Stylish Headgear at practically old prices.

Ladies' Jackets

Our stock of Ladies' Jackets is now very complete and while prices have advanced over last year's quotations considerably we are in a position to offer you Garments at much less than prices quoted in catalogues of leading Mail-Order House. Put this statement to the test. We believe we can save you good money.

Ordered Clothing

We still have a goodly number of Woollen Suitings on hand at the old prices, but at the rate they are going out our stock will soon be depleted. If you need a Suit, Overcoat or Pair of Trousers save money by putting your order in NOW.

A Memorial Service was held Sunday evening in St. Paul's Church in honor of the late Pte. Garney Jernyn, recently Killed in Action. The pulpit was suitably draped for the occasion. In spite of the rain there were very many present to show their sympathy toward his parents and sisters. The Rev. Mr. Thompson referred to his boyhood, his promising career, and his death due to his sacrifice for humanity's sake. In his opinion his parents would sooner have his body where it is than that he should have remained at home indifferent to the call, and when he was willing to give his life he should not complain about taxes and the trivial gifts we are making.

If we are selfish or even careless, we are almost diabolical.

Letter From Pte. Frank Grant

Dear Father—Received your very welcome letters of June 16 and 23rd a few days ago.

We were up the line at the time of receiving them and I was out of paper, so I just had to let them go. I also received one from Maggie and Carrie.

Our weather is about as bad as yours is now for it rains every night and through the day too, and we have had several thunder storms this last while, I mean electric ones. There is a storm going on now a piece from here, sounding very much like a thunder storm but it is not accompanied by rain all the time.

I guess things are booming over there if everybody is rich enough to sport a car. I wonder if they know there's a war on.

Well father, I haven't seen much of the Red Cross work but for the Y. M. C. A. too much praise cannot be given. All winter they supplied us with hot coffee, tea and cocoa and we even got cocoa in the front line.

The Y. was in the support line and kept open night and day just for the convenience of the boys in the line, usually about midnight they would make up an extra lot of cocoa and send it up to the front line. They also ran a canteen and kept fruit (canned), biscuits, chocolates, in fact everything a person would want and Canadian goods at that. When we go out of the line the Y. is still close at hand, for there is one to every four Battalions. Free drink, hot or cold, is always supplied according to weather, now it is all cool drinks, lime juice, lemonade, cherry juice and I don't know how many more. The Red Cross work is seen more in the hospitals, I think.

I must close for this time. Your Loving Son, FRANK

Chautauqua Festival

The third week in October has been reserved for Warton Chautauqua Festival, which will be held in the Town Hall. These "3 Joyous Days" will occur on October 22, 23, 24, an entertainment being presented on the afternoon and evening of each day.

Chautauqua needs no introduction here, the entertainers who visited our town last Spring having left a happy memory in their wake.

THE FIRST DAY

There will be an entire change of program this season. The first day the Chautauqua Superintendent will introduce Mr. and Mrs. Michlago Ongawa and Pitt Parker who will give the opening entertainment both afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ongawa will present a Japanese play entitled "The Mirror" and a scene from Modern Japanese Life under the caption of "On the Road to Tokio". Japanese Scenery, Japanese costumes, Japanese objects of art and Japanese musical instruments will be used. We will learn much from these entertainers regarding life among the Allies in far away Japan. Pitt Parker, the famous cartoonist and clay modeller, by a simple twist of the wrist, produces sketches and models of art in crayon and clay.

THE SECOND DAY

The Second Day will be given by The Imperial Entertainers, the Misses Wells, Messrs. Alexander Skibinsky, and Hartwell De Mille, with the lecturer, Mr. Shoreland Fannon. The musical program and lecture will be both afternoon and evening. Alexander Skibinsky is a Russian Violinist, of remarkable ability. Hartwell De Mille, a popular Canadian baritone. Miss Bertha Wells is a Reader, Trombonist and Entertainer. Miss Mildred Wells, accompanist, Pianist and Reader. Mr. Shoreland Fannon's lecture "Community Parasites" will be a great booster for the home town.

THE THIRD DAY

The Pilgrim Girls and Mr. A. E. Wiggam are the entertainers on the third day. The Pilgrim Girls, an orchestra of six pieces, will give a varied program. From among their members they produce a cornetist, a clarinetist, a soprano soloist, a cellist, a xylophone player, a pianist and reader. They are a stirring band of brilliant entertainers.

Mr. Albert Edward Wiggam was sent to the front to secure first hand information for Chautauqua audiences and he gives it with a caption "Under the Stars and Stripes in France". Mr. Wiggam will exhibit interesting war souvenirs.

Tickets for the Chautauqua season will be on sale this week by members of the Committee and at Sawyer's Drug Store. Price of tickets up to $300 for the whole six entertainments, same as last Spring, $1.50 if bought before October 23rd. Practically $1.00 shows for 25 cents each. Secure tickets before the limit is reached.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

by vandals whose artistic taste they offended that it was necessary to station policemen in the Silesian Altes to guard them. Not long ago a burglary occurred in the vicinity. The burglars were observed while at work and a started civilian rushed to the Silesian Altes to summon one of the officers who were known to be on guard there.

"You hurry," exclaimed the civilian, excitedly. "You can catch these burglars red-handed."

"The report," replied the policeman, "that I cannot leave the station."

Realism is the Kaiser's idea of what is most desirable in dramatic art. When he put on "Hordanaapal," a Greek tragedy in pantomime, at the Berlin opera house, he sent professors to the British museum to secure the most detailed information available regarding the costumes of the period. Every detail, every article of wearing apparel, every button, every weapon, in fact, every property used in the play, was to be faithfully reproduced, particular pains being taken to produce the most realistic effect in a funeral pyre in which a king ended his life.

The Kaiser sent me tickets to see it. King Edward attended the performance at the Berlin Royal opera and I asked the Kaiser how the king of England enjoyed it.

"My gracious," the Kaiser replied, unable to repress his satisfaction at the effect the pantomime had had on his royal niece. "Why, the king was very much alarmed when the funeral pyre scene came on. He thought the whole opera house was on fire."

Perhaps the Kaiser's love for details might be attributed to his keen observation. Nothing, no matter how trivial, escaped his attention.

A couple of years before the war I had the empire furniture in my waiting room replenished. On the very first occasion of the Kaiser's calling at my office after the change of rulers.

"My, how beautiful the chairs look!" he exclaimed. "Good enough for Napoleon himself."

On another occasion, between two of the Kaiser's visits, I had had put up in the waiting room a new portrait of Mrs. Davis. The Kaiser noticed it the moment he came into the room and made some complimentary remark about it.

The Kaiser frequently accused the Americans of being dollar-worshippers and the English of being ruled by money, but that he himself was not totally unmindful of the value and power of money was clearly revealed by the manner in which he catered to people of wealth in recent years.

The richest man in Berlin and one of the richest in Germany was a Jewish coal magnate named Friedlander. The Kaiser enlisted him and made him Von Friedlander-Feld. Another wealthy Jew was to whom the Kaiser attached was Schwabach, head of the Reichswehr bank, one of the strongest private banks in Germany, and he, too, was ennobled, becoming Von Schwabach.

A number of other wealthy Jews in Germany were also honored by the Kaiser in another way. Although he was averse to visiting the homes of private individuals who lacked social standing, he departed from his rule in their favor and visited their mansions extensively to view their collections, but actually to tickle their vanity.

Shortly after Leishman became ambassador to Germany, the Kaiser called on me.

"Your new ambassador's daughter is the best looking young lady who has attended our court in many a day," he declared. "Half a dozen of my young staff officers are very anxious to marry her. Can you tell me, Davis, whether these Leishmans have money?"

If the Kaiser deplored the American propensity for money-making, he was certainly not averse to acquiring American dollars.

He told me once that every trip the Hamburg-American liner Amerika made from New York to Hamburg resulted in transferring $150,000 from American to German pockets, and added: "We're mighty glad to get some of your American money, I can tell you."

Of the Kaiser's voracity I had convincing evidence. In his conversations with me we usually wandered from subject to subject in the most haphazard manner, and he invariably displayed a surprising store of information on every topic we touched, and I am not vain enough to believe that he was so kind as to make a favorable impression upon me that he prepared for these discussions in advance.

Indeed, the Kaiser discussed so freely almost every subject that suggested itself that I often wondered what his advisers would have said had they been present on our conversations. His readiness to talk to me was undoubtedly due to a tendency he had to trust every one with whom he came in contact. For a man who was 55, he had no more control, he was less suspicious than anyone I had ever met. He seemed to trust every one, and his sense of security undoubtedly his former staff made him more talkative, perhaps, than was always discreet.

The Kaiser was very fond of listening to and telling stories with a point. I would frequently invite him to tell me any one of the stories we exchanged were more or less risque and would be out of place in these pages, but I do not mind to intimate that there was anything very much amiss with them. They always amused him very much and he was quick to catch the point.

The Kaiser's sense of humor frequently exhibited itself. He told me of a conference between representatives of all the powers regarding the selection of a king for Albania after the Balkan war. Some of those present thought the incumbent ought to be a Catholic, others insisted that a Greek Catholic was essential, still others maintained that a Mohammedan would be most logical.

It seemed quite impossible to come to any agreement as to just what religion the king of Albania should profess, and the Kaiser had ended the discussion by saying, with the suggestion, "Well, gentlemen, if a Protestant won't do, and a Roman Catholic won't, and a Buddhist is out of the question, why not select a Jew and call him Jacob the First? He'll have his throat cut, anyway, in three months!"

The powers did not select a Jew, but the prince of Wied, the Kaiser's nominee, was put on the throne, and within a month or two afterwards had to flee for his life.

In referring to Roosevelt's patriotic attitude toward America in France, the Kaiser declared that he admired him for his courage and zeal.

"I hear," he said, "that he is now on his way to Italy. It is too bad we did not get him before he left. Perhaps we might have captured him. Wouldn't Teddy look funny in a gas mask?"

Shortly after the Uboat Deutschland made its successful trip to America, the Kaiser called on me, and he was in a very jocular frame of mind.

I happened to mention to him that I planned to go to America the following summer in connection with the peace treaty I had patented.

"Well, it won't be necessary now, Davis," he commented. "We can send the Deutschland over and bring back a load of teeth."

"If my teeth well, Davis," he declared on another occasion, "so that I could go to America, I would like to visit you. There are lots of people I would like to visit, and he said his jaw together in a way that would have boded ill for the victims he had in mind, although his remark was evidently more facetious than vicious.

The courtesy and affability which the Kaiser almost invariably displayed in his relations with me did not prevent him on one occasion from showing his indignation when I touched upon what was evidently a very sore point—the part that America was going to play in the war, although he always claimed to be unperturbed about the American situation.

He had pointed out that America at that time had only 30,000 men in France and he believed that the U-boats would effectively prevent any great addition to our forces abroad, if indeed, they ever left our shores.

"As a matter of fact, however," he added, "your countrymen would be very willing, no doubt, to fight for their country to protect it from invasion, but I don't believe you'll ever get many of them to leave home to fight abroad. America will really be a very small factor in the war, Davis."

"Your majesty is underestimating the power of America," I replied. He turned to me indignantly, and in his most imperious manner exclaimed: "We underestimate no one! We know exactly what we are doing!"

How seriously he was mistaken in this respect has since been sufficiently proved.

No matter how gloomy the outlook for Germany, the Kaiser seldom showed concern. It is true that whenever things were going wrong, as when the Russians in the early part of the war were sweeping everything before them in their advance on the Carpathians, and he and the rest of the royal family kept as far in the background as possible, whereas when the German cause was triumphant, as in the case of the offensive against Italy, he could not make himself too conspicuous at the front.

But even when Germany's adversity was greatest, the Kaiser always put on a brave front. At such times I have seen him stop in the street, after leaving my office, and before the hundreds of people waiting outside to greet him, ostentatiously put a cigarette in his mouth and light it. That everyone might notice how steady his hand was and how little he was worried by the ugly things were taking place.

At the same time, on one or two occasions after the war started, I noticed that he acted differently when in the dental chair than had been his custom when everything was sunny.

The Kaiser once boasted to me that not a building was erected in Germany, not a bridge built, not a street opened, not a park laid out, not a house constructed without his approval. The project was first submitted to him. He kept posted on everything that was going on, not only in Germany, but in the world at large, and, so far as he was able, he endeavored to have his finger in every development of world-wide importance. I cannot imagine that he was less interested in what his countrymen were doing in connection with the war than he was in their achievements in times of peace.

If he did not actually order the staging of the military maneuvers, I am convinced that he was closely personally aware of the plan to blow it up and smothered it. That he could have avoided it if he had been prompted to do so is clearly indicated by another incident which left a very deep impression upon me.

I was informed by one of the German aviation experts that a plan had been made to drop gas bombs on London, which contained a deadly gas which would penetrate the cellars of houses in which civilians were in the habit of hiding during air raids.

Shortly before this hideous idea was to be put into effect the papers announced that bombs of this character had been dropped by the allies on Baden-Baden, but that, fortunately, they had fallen in a clump of woods in the center of the town and had failed to explode, which had given the Germans an opportunity to take them apart and ascertain their nature.

The purpose of this announcement, of course, was to forestall the storm of condemnation which the Germans knew would follow their use of the bombs on London—a race which they had invariably employed whenever they contemplated some fresh violation of the rules of international law and the dictates of humanity.

It happened that one of my patients who resided in Baden-Baden called to see me the day after the bombs had been dropped on her town, and she told me all about it.

"The airplanes which dropped the bombs had been flying over the city all the morning," she declared. "We thought they were our own machines out for practice and paid no particular attention to them. Then they dropped the bombs and they landed in the woods and we knew we had been attacked. What a dreadful thing for them to do!"

What a foolish thing for allied airplanes to do—to spend a whole morning studying the layout of the city and then to drop those deadly bombs on a clump of woods where they could not possibly hurt anyone, and yet careless of the Germans not to molest them while they were engaged in their devilish work!

But the point I wanted to bring out was this: these gas bombs were never used on London!

"Just as everything was in readiness for the raid," the officer told me regretfully, "we received orders direct from the Kaiser to hold off. Of course, there was nothing for us to do but comply, but if we had had the Kaiser there, I believe we would have strung him up by the neck! We still have those bombs, however, and you may be sure they will get used!"

For some unknown reason the Kaiser stopped the use of those lethal gas bombs for the time being. Why didn't he agree to save the lives and children on the Lusitania?

When I went back to Berlin in the fall of 1915, after a visit to the United States, the Kaiser was very anxious to see me and I found how America felt towards the war.

I told him that before the sinking of the Lusitania American opinion had been divided. There had been many who were strongly pro-Germans, but there had been others who were openly pro-German and there had been still others who maintained an absolutely neutral attitude. After the Lusitania tragedy, however, there had been a distinct change in public feeling. I told him, practically the whole country having become decidedly anti-German.

"Perhaps if the Uboat commander had known so many women and children were on board," was the Kaiser's only comment. "He might not have sent forth the torpedo and sent the vessel to the bottom, but what he was thinking of most, of course, was the 5,000 tons of ammunition on board which were destined to slaughter my people."

Of course the Kaiser knew that if the Uboat commander's orders were to sink the Lusitania, disobedience upon his part would have left but one course open for him: suicide. If, on the other hand, the Kaiser meant to intimate that the Uboat commander sank the Lusitania on his own initiative or without special instructions from his superiors, the fact still remains that the Kaiser could undoubtedly have prevented the tragedy and didn't.

But if there can be any doubt as to the Kaiser's direct responsibility for the sinking of the Lusitania, certain it is that he fully approved, openly defended and even excited in the murder of women and children by Zeppelin raids on London, Manchester, Liverpool and other non-military cities and towns.

"England expects to starve my women and children to death," he declared to me early in the war—long before we in Germany had begun to feel the slightest effect of the diminishing food supply. "But our Zeppelins will give their women and children a taste of war, too. Confound them! They sit on their island and try to starve us; we will give them a taste of what war is!"

This was the man whose various acts of consideration towards me, whose talents and personal charms, had made such a favorable impression upon me. How trivial and inconsequential they all seemed now! Clearly, they were all a part of the role he had been playing for years. While he was outwardly displaying all the signs of a gentle character, he was inwardly plotting to dominate the world. For twenty-five years he maintained the peace of Europe, he frequently asserted. He maintained peace just long enough to complete his dual preparations for the wickedest war that was ever waged!

And yet miserably enough, even after the war had revealed the Kaiser to his true colors and had shown him to be capable of deeds which I should have thought were foreign to his nature, his presence always had a most remarkable effect upon me.

I have a vivid mental impression of him now as I write. He is standing in the center of my room, looking up to his full height, his shoulders thrown back, his left hand upon the hilt of his sword and his right emphasizing his remarks, protesting in the most earnest manner that it was not he who was responsible for the war and all its horrors, but that it had come upon the world despite all he had done to prevent it. His ready, well-chosen words entrance me. I feel that this man must be telling me the truth and I am ready to believe that before me stands the most unjustly judged man in the world.

And then he shakes my hand in farewell and is driven away, and as I gaze at the spot where he stood, there comes before my eyes the revelation of Belgium, the tragedy of the Lusitania, the depopulation of France and Poland, the destruction of women and children in London and Paris and a thousand and one other atrocious deeds which belie the Kaiser's fair words, and I realize that I have been talking to the world's most finished actor and have simply been bewitched by the power of his personal magnetism.

CHAPTER IV.

America Disappoints Kaiser.
The Kaiser severed the throne in 1888. For twenty-six years his reign was unmarred by a single war, although there had been a few minor wars in 1905 and again in 1911, he never succeeded in precipitating a conflict. Subsequent developments have brought out clearly enough that during all these years of peace the Kaiser was only awaiting the opportune moment to bring on war.

Germany's preparation consisted not merely in arming her army and navy and developing a military spirit in her people, but in trying to establish friendship abroad where they would do the most good in the event of a world war.

The German military preparation was more or less obvious. The Kaiser was always its warmest advocate and frankly admitted that it was his intention to remain armed to the teeth, although he protested to me many times that his sole object was to maintain the peace of the world.

In 1913, for instance, I was in The Hague when Carnegie delivered a speech at the opening of the Peace Palace, in the course of which he declared that the Kaiser was a summing-up of the state of the world peace. When I got back to Berlin I mentioned the fact to the Kaiser, hoping to draw him out.

"Yes, I know exactly what Carnegie said at The Hague," he replied rather (Continued Next Week)

"It is his unhappy weakness," she remembered the yellow, "You know now she had passed him on the way. You felt her walk with her from the Mountain Valley house and the lawyer had told her he lived in the cabin just below the Knob, where she so often sat. She felt a queer repulsion. "He is not interested," she said coldly. "He is ill. You know him, don't you?"

"You know him?" he echoed and laughed dry, cackling laugh. "I ought to. And I guess he knows me. He shook the sheet around. "Get up, Hugh," he said. "It's President!"

These flashed through her mind the phrase of the sturdy hotel keeper, "His name's President, President!" Could it be? Had Hugh really been in the cabin which she had so often peered down during those past weeks? And with this known enemy?

She touched President's arm. "He is ill, I say," she repeated. "He must be here at once. Your cabin is on the hillside, isn't it?"

"The cabin?" he corrected. "A rough place, but it has sheltered as long as I have, and you know it. Lift him on my back," she said. She stooped and put her hands under the twitching shoulders. "He will help you. I am quite strong."

With a heave she lifted the swaying form to the saddle and supported it. "He is the cabin," he said presently. "Ah, you know it?" for she had turned into the side path that led along the hill, under the gray, snake-like thyme—the shortest route to the cabin.

The way was steep and rugged, and rhododendron clumps caught at her ankles, and once she heard a snake slip over the dry crust of leaves. But she went on rapidly, dragging at the body, turning back now and then anxiously to urge the horse to greater speed. She scarcely heard the offensively honeyed compliments which President offered to her courage.

It seemed an eternity they climbed. In reality it was scarcely twenty minutes before they reached the grassy foot of the cabin, whose crazy swinging door stood wide to the night air. She tied the horse, went in and found President's direction foundered and lit a candle. The large room interior revealed a vast, empty space, and a couple of heavy chairs were almost its only furniture. The window was broken and the roof adjoined on an arched, President laid the man they had brought on one of the benches and threw over him a shabby blanket.

"Your young lady," he said, "you are a good Samaritan. I'll thank you to thank you, my poor friend here and I."

Jessie had taken money from her pocket, and now she held it out to him. "He must have a bed," she said. "You must fetch one."

without your share of the last swag, but I've saved it for you. President wouldn't cheat a pig!"

From a cranny in the clay clunked that he took a canvas skin bag. It contained a quantity of gold and small nuggets, which he poured into a miner's scales on the table and proceeded to divide in two portions. This accomplished, he emptied one of the portions on to a paper and pushed it out.

"That's yours," he said. "Harry's eyes were on this with a piercing intensity now, as though they looked through him to a vast distance beyond. He was staring through a gray mist at something far off, but significant, that eluded his direct vision. The board table, the yellow gold, the flickering candlelight, recalled something terrifying, in some other time, in some other life, millions of years ago."

He reached to his feet, overturning the table. The gold dust rattled to the floor.

"Your death!" he said. Then, with a vague laugh, he fell sideways upon the bench.

August President stared at him with a look of amazement on his yellow face. "He's crazy as a chicken," he said.

He sat watching him awhile, then rose and knelt in a fire on the uncarpeted hearth. From a litter of coals and dried sticks in a corner he proceeded to cook himself supper, after which he carefully brushed up the scattered gold dust and returned it all to its hiding place. "Tasty he ruminated on a shelf and found a vital. This seemed to be empty, however, and he set it on the table."

"I guess you'll do well enough without any pain killer," he said to himself. "Factories are expensive. Anyway, I'll be back by midnight."

He threw more wood on the fire, blew out the candle and, closing the door behind him, set off down the trail to the town, where a fare bank soon required the bill Jessica had given him.

Chapter 15
It was pitch dark when Jessica reached the cabin. She found Harry Stires anxious and peevish over her late coming.

She felt a relief when the old man greeted her and was wheeled to his bedroom.

Left alone, her reflections returned. She alone to be tortured. She tried to read. The printed characters swam before her comprehension. At length she drew a hood over her head and stole out to the wide porch.

It was only a clock, and along the gravel path that wound among the shrubbery a few dim forms were strolling. She caught the scent of a cigar and the sound of a woman's laugh. The air was crisp and bracing, with a promise of frost and related leaves on the ground down across the dark gulches toward the town, a straggling design pricked in blinding yellow gold. Halfway between, folded in the cabin with her thought re-secured with a kind of compulsion.

There was no moon, but the stars were glowing like tiny green gold coins, and the yellow road lay plain and clear. With a sudden determination she drew her light cloak closely about her, stepped down, sped across the grass to a footpath and to the road. As she ran on down the curving stretch under the trees the crackling slip of bank paper that lay in her bosom seemed to burn her flesh. She was stealing away to gaze upon the outcast who had shamed and humbled her—going, she knew not why, with burning cheek and hammering heart.

She slipped through the side trail to the cabin with a choking sensation. She stole to the window and peered in. In the firelight she could see the form on the bunk, toiling and musing. Otherwise the place was empty. She lifted the latch softly and entered.

under her breath, clanking her robe. "I must have lost it!" she thought. "You have disgraced my present and ruined my future! What if you have forgotten the past—your crime? Does that make you the less guilty or me the less wretched?"

But within a silent voice within her gave the lie to her rebellious. Some element of her character that had been rigid and intact was crumbling down. An old devil something that a dreadful toll had ground and crushed and annihilated was rising whole and undiminished, superior to any petty distinction, regarding of all that lifted countenance in her inheritance, not to be gained or denied.

She leaned closer, listening to the lull of the broken and broken phrases borne on the lurid channels of fever. But she could not link them together into meaning. Only one name he spoke clearly over and over again—the name Hugh Stires—repeated with the monotony of a child counting a lesson.

She noted the mark across his brow. Before her marriage, in her blindness, she had used to wonder what it was. It was not in the least significant. It came a touch of the extraordinary. It was so small she did not wonder that in that ecstatic moment of her brother's she had not seen it.

Slowly, half fearfully, she stretched out her hand and laid it on his. As if at the touch the mutterings ceased.

She bent and touched her lips to his forehead.

The eyes opened, and a confused, troubled look crept to them. Then they closed again, and the look faded out into a peace that remained.

A thrill ran through her, the sense of moral power of the weak over the strong, of the feminine over the masculine.

A rising flush stained her cheeks. With a sudden burning and with a guilty backward glance she bent and touched her lips to his forehead.

She drew back quickly, her face flooded with color, caught her breath, then drawing her hand over her brow went swiftly to the door and was lost in the darkness.

When toward midnight the fever ebbed, Sanders had fallen into a deep sleep of exhaustion, from which he opened his eyes next morning upon the figure of President sitting, pipe in mouth, in the sunny doorway.

He lit his pipe on his side chair. That crafty face had been inexplicably won with the delicious fantasies of his fever. Where and when had he known it? Then in a great daze he opened his memory to his last conscious hours—the scene in the saloon, the fight, the music, the sudden appalling discovery of his name and repulse. He remembered the sickening wave of self disgust, the fierce agony of resentment that had best in his every vein as he walked up the darkening street. He remembered the throaty grunts. No doubt another minute had struck home or he had been set upon, kicked and pommelled into insensibility. This old man—a miner probably, for there were picks and shovels in the corner—had succored him. He had been ill, there was lameness in every limb, and shadowy recollections tantalized him. He retained a dim consciousness of a woman's face—the face he had seen on the balcony—leaning over him, bringing to a painful disorder a sense of grateful coolness, of fragrance and of rest.

As he stared again at the muted figure, the grim face reared like a grisly specter, deriding, thrusting its bugged presence upon him. In this little community, which apparently he had forsaken and in which he had by chance returned, he stood a rogue and a scoundrel.

He tried to put the finger at the finger and to avoid. The question that had burned his brain to fire flamed up again. The town

"I hate you! I hate you!" she said

"I'm going to cook you some breakfast!" he said. "What had been his career? How had he become a pariah? And by what miracle had he been so altered as to look upon himself with loathing?"

He lifted himself upright, dropping his feet to the floor. At the movement the man on the doorstep rose quickly and came forward.

"You're better, Hugh," he said. "Take it easy though. Don't get up just yet—I'm going to cook you some breakfast." He turned to the hearth, lit the fire, and set a saucepan on them. "You'll be stronger when you've got something between your ribs," he added.

"How long have I been lying here?" asked Harry.

"Only since last night. You've had a cold," he said.

"Where is my dog?"

"Dog?" said the other. "I never knew you had a dog."

Harry's lips set bitterly. It had fared more hardly, then, than he. It had been a ready object for the crowd to stare their hatred upon, because it belonged to him—because it was Hugh Stires' dog.

"Is this your cabin, my friend?" The figure bending over the hearth straightened itself with a jerk, and the blinking yellow eyes looked hard at him. President came close to the bunk.

"That's the game you played in the town," he said, with a surly sneer. "It's all right for those that take it in, but you needn't try to bamboozle me, pretending you don't know your own claim and cabin! I'm no such fool!"

A dull flush came to Harry's brow. Here was a page from that ingenuous past that faced him. His own cabin! And his own claim! Well, why not? "You are mistaken," he said calmly. "I am not pretending. I cannot remember you."

President laughed in an ugly, derisive way. "I suppose you've forgotten the half year we've lived here together and the gold dust we've gathered in now and again—slipped it all, have you?"

Harry stood up. The motion brought a temporary dizziness, but it passed. He walked to the door and gazed out on the pleasant green of the hillside. On a tree near by was nailed a rough, weather beaten board on which was scrawled, "The Little Farmstead Claim." He saw the grass grown gravel trenches, evidence of abandoned work. He had been a miner. That in itself was honest toil.

"The claim is good, then," he said over his shoulder. "We found the pay!"

President contemplated him a moment in grim silence, with a scowl. "You're either really fuddled, Hugh," he said then, "or else you're a star player and up to something devilish. Well, have it your way—it's all the same to me. But you can't pull the wool over my eyes long!"

"There were words and threat in his tone, but more than both, the evil intimacy in his words gave Harry a qualm of disgust. This man had been his associate. That one hour in the town had shown him what his own life there had been."

What should he do? Forsake forever the neighborhood where he had made his blustering mark? Fling all aside and start again somewhere and leave behind this disgraceful present, with that face that had looked into his from above the dusty street?

If fate intended that, why had it turned him blue? If such was the bed he had made, he would lie in it. He would drink the gall and vinegar without whimpering. Whatever lay behind him and whatever it drove, this man at least had befriended him.

What Will Relieve Kidney or Bladder Troubles

This is a question that thousands of people have asked; and a question that has been answered for them by the practical demonstrations of Glin Pills. For years and years, and in the satisfaction that thousands of people have derived and from the relief they have been given by taking Glin Pills, an answer has been given for Glin Pills.

Mrs. B. Walters, of Savona, B.C., writes: "I advise people who have not used Glin Pills to try them, as Glin Pills are within the means of rich and poor. I have been troubled for years with weak kidneys, and one box of Glin Pills cured me. I recommend them as an absolute cure for kidney troubles."

Mrs. Butler, of Vancouver, sends this message: "I think it my duty to write and tell you of the relief I have received from kidney trouble. I suffered much with my kidneys until I took Glin Pills; now I would not be without them in my home."

Can you have any doubt that Glin Pills have accomplished such wonderful results? If you have—you need not doubt. Write to me and I will have tried a sample box free. Just write to us and when you receive the box give Glin Pills a trial—and be convinced. You will be told by dealers everywhere at $1 a box.

THE FIGHTING MAC'S OF BRUCE

PENETRATED FARTHER INTO GERMAN TERRITORY THAN ANY OTHER PART OF BRIGADE; NAME OF McKINNON WILL LIVE IN HISTORY

Corp. Wm. E. Elliott, of the 1st Battalion, formerly with The London Free Press, writes as follows:

No one of all that company
But bore a gentle name,
Not one whose fathers had not stood
In Scotland's fields of fame.

France, September, 1918

During the last big "push" on the Canadian front, big "Mac" McKinnon, of Kinross, was doing traffic control on a busy cross road close up to the fighting line, when a German aeroplane dropped a bomb right into a motor lorry loaded with six-inch shells and made a mess of the right-of-way. All four roads were crowded with M. T. and horsed transport, and some of the trucks carried ammunition for next morning's barrage, which was to help the battalions "over the top." Not a vehicle could pass the smashed truck, and, indeed, the drivers did not care to risk their convoys without an order, for every little while a six-inch shell was exploded in the blazing lorry, while on top of it all the Fritz plane was machine-gunning the area lit up by the flares.

It looked like a costly all night tie up, but MacKinnon sailed into the tangle and started to roll the shells off the road BY HAND. At irregular intervals they would explode, but none of them happened to kill him, so he kept on; took a chance on the machine gun bullets as well, and in less than two hours had the thorough fare clear. An imperial artillery officer who witnessed the action was so struck with the Canadian's initiative and disregard of danger that he reported the occurrence to Mac's commanding officer, who promptly recommended him for decoration.

That's only one incident in the story of the MacKinnons and McDonalds, Farquharsons and Finlaysons, and others of the breed who came to the 1st Bruce from Bruce County. One of the heart breaking features of the great war, as it concerns Canada, has been the necessary disbanding in England of the overseas units such as the 160th Bruce and the 161st Hurons. Even the fine individual record of these men in the Battalions to which they were drafted to France makes one wish to see service under their own colors. In raising the 160th Battalion from a county as lightly populated as Bruce, Lieut.-Col. Weir and his officers accomplished what many people considered an impossibility and yet the quality of the rank and file was so well maintained that the drafts in France have added to the reputation of their original unit no less than the battalion of their affiliation reported killed in action.

MEN FROM BRUCE

March 5 last an even hundred men from the Bruce Battalion reached the 1st, and were divided evenly among the companies. Their three acting sergeants, Riechenback, Ruhl and Matheson, and five acting corporals, Field, D. J. MacDonald, J. Kitchen, W. A. McKinnon, and N. McDonald, were taken on as privates. There was no Bruce officer in the Battalion. The hundred were poor orphans. Strating at scratch, or even a wee bit handicapped, the newcomers plodded on from obscurity to recognition. Reporting without a single man on the march, and none in detention, they have kept up the record of good character and I do not recall an instance of a "551" or "552" man figuring in an orderly room case. Few have gone out sick, and only one has been sent to rest camp.

D. J. MacDonald, (Ripley) and U. Zettell (Walkerton) were promoted lance-corporals in the field in June. During this present month D. V. McCallum, A. Field, W. J. Eldridge, R. Hepenstall, N. E. Kaufman, G. A. Lidster, W. E. Fraser and J. W. Hudson have been made lance-corporals and John Kitchen is a full corporal. A. J. Weiller is employed in the battalion orderly room.

Since the original draft a number of others from the Bruce Battalion have reached the 1st. G. H. Hudson, A. S. Gilean and H. Whitman arrived on April 12th. P. Williams and H. A. Williams came in May and others since.

PATRIOTIC BOYS FROM MAR

Fred Tuffnell, who has been recently wounded, has been wounded five times, and is the proud possessor of Military Medal. He is 22 years of age.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. John White received word that their son Pte. George White had been wounded in the right thigh.

ed on April 12th. P. Williams and H. A. Williams came in May and others since. The first casualty occurred on March 22, the same month as the draft arrived. Pte. H. W. Farquharson, of Teeswater, and Pte. E. Boyle, of Southampton, were wounded during a tour of the line, and Farquharson died next day at a casualty clearing station. He was buried by our padre in a British military cemetery behind the lines.

Pte. V. Fournier, who arrived on April 7, went out wounded on the 15th; F. Black and G. B. Craig on the 20th; and W. H. Buckley on the 17th. A. Carter, W. H. Caldwell, H. Sproule, G. Swatman, J. S. Scott, J. D. Baker and A. C. Campbell were also wounded during the trench fighting of April, and J. Agnew was killed in action.

The battalion furnished 30 picked men for a guard of honor to H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught at corps sports on Dominion Day. Nine of these were chosen from the Bruce draft, as being of good appearance and soldierly bearing.

COULD PLAY BALL

During the summer somebody discovered that A. D. Matheson could play baseball and he was made a member of the battalion team, which won 12 straight games from all sorts of units in the division.

Then came the big August "push" on the allied front, with the Canadian corps, as one English paper said, the "speared" of Marshal Foch's thrust. The spearhead went in deep and came out bloody. The Bruce men went through the fighting with the battalion and suffered their share of losses.

R. Melver and R. J. Willie were the earliest to go out wounded in this campaign. Next day P. H. Robinson, J. A. Riechenback, W. A. McDougall, A. V. Nickel, G. V. Marshall and J. Sinclair were evacuated. During later operations the 160th contingent had four killed and seventeen wounded. A. W. Groves, Lance-Corp. Zetell, J. Wood (Chester) and W. J. White (Paisley) gave their lives during this attack in which the Canadians gained immensely important positions, captured a great number of German machine guns and much equipment and took many prisoners. White was in the section which penetrated farther into enemy territory than any other part of the brigade line.

The wounded were: D. J. McDonald, S. P. Sinden (only recently joined); A. E. Stewart (stretcher bearer), G. D. McArthur, Wm. George, R. J. Gray, W. Henson, E. R. Jackson, D. J. Jones, D. Gillies, T. C. Bugler, W. H. McCurdy, J. D. Becker, N. T. Walker, P. Wood, and H. E. Woolrich. Pte. George was at first reported missing but turned up later at a hospital at the base.

In another fierce action a few days later, in which the Hun was again forced to shift his front line, W. A. Blumh, F. H. Eyre, P. A. Renshaw, and G. A. Twamley went out wounded. A. C. Campbell was killed.

HONOURABLE SCARS

Some of the boys will have more than "honorable scars" to remind them of the big "show." As the folks at home have heard by this time, the Military Medal was awarded, after the earlier August fighting, Local Publicity Committees and District Canvassers will be announced in the next issue of this paper.

The minimum objective of subscriptions to be raised for the County of Bruce is Two Million Dollars.

The minimum objective for each municipality, or each district, if grouped, will be announced in the next issue of the paper. It must be remembered that this is only the minimum objective and in the majority of districts it is expected that the maximum objective will greatly exceed this amount.

The Publicity Committee in each town and village will shortly receive supplies of Literature, Posters, Window Cards, Auto Stickers, Parcel Stuffers and other matter to interest the public and to draw their attention to the necessity of investing their money in Victory Bonds.

It is the intention of the County Hedg. Publicity Com. to place all the information it can in the hands of the reading public. Local Publicity Committees are found in every Town and village not only for the purpose of co-operating with the Headquarters Publicity Committee, but more for the circulation of information about investments in Victory Bonds would do well to either consult the Local Publicity Committee or the Canvassers duly appointed for the District. County Headquarters at Walkerton is always available for any information in any way connected with the Victory Loan.

Please do not hesitate to communicate with us, directly or indirectly, and we shall reply promptly. David Robertson, Geo. D. McKay, County Chairman, County Sec.

Keep your eyes on the men from Bruce. They won't remain privates or even corporals and the sprinkling of medals will grow, even before this is read. The good Scotch-Canadian blood spilt on French soil has already been avenged but the Hun will have to pay the account over and over again.

In the meantime I'm speculating on the havoc these wounded men will be creating among the nurses in hospitals down the line and in Blighty. Good looking husky lads, those from Bruce.

Home From The West

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reeve, Orono, reached home Friday evening after a four months trip to Western Canada. They visited friends in Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Red Deer, Regina, Scintulat, Kisby and other points. At Edmonton Mr. Reeve shook hands with Mr. John Scott, Mr. S. Craig, Mr. Archie Chapman, Mr. Thos. Brown, Mrs. Atkinson, and the Hon. A. G. MacKay. At Red Deer he saw Dr. Frank McEwan, Mr. Jack Trout, at Moose Jaw, Mr. Robert Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson; at Scintulat Mr. T. H. Reeve and Mr. Robert Best and at Kisby, Mr. J. H. Whitcher, all of whom are doing well.

Mr. Reeve is not a Western enthusiast but was 20 years younger that is where he would go. The crops are good in some places and rather discouraging in others.

Word was received that Pte. Geo. White had been wounded. We are glad it is not serious and hope he will soon recover.

MUST USE SHIPPING TAGS

The Freight Association has issued orders to all freight agents that they are not to accept any freight for shipment that has not been properly tagged. Heretofore the public has been shipping freight, tagged with pieces of shoe boxes or any other old thing that was handy. This has resulted in loss and inconvenience to all parties concerned, as the tags invariably come off before the destination had been reached. This has led the Association to issue orders that all tags must be of the regulation variety—made of regulation tag manilla, with reinforced eyelets. This will be no particular hardship on local shippers as tags are cheap and can be procured at all times or in any quantity at The Echo Office.

BOAT LAKE DRAINAGE SYSTEM

At the last meeting of the Arlabell Council there was only one tender, and this was for clearing the brush out of the Rankin River. The figure of the tender was about $900. As this did not touch the main part of the work it was decided to proceed along the lines of the Engineers' report, so at the next meeting of the Council a by-law will be prepared and given its first and second reading, and then notices will be served upon the parties interested, who will have the privilege of appealing. The report, it will be remembered, calls for an expenditure of $9000. The Echo has been informed that it does not follow that if a majority of those interested object, that the scheme will not go ahead, but if a majority of those who signed the petition should object, then the scheme would be dropped. If those who appeal are not satisfied with the decision of the Township Council, then they have the right of appeal to the County Judge.

DYER'S DAY

The Tug Sanford called at our port on Thursday and took away two saw-logs of lumber and machinery from the old mill. There will be nothing new but the memory.

Miss Helen Ross, teacher here, left for Convention at Walkerton last Wednesday morning.

Miss Jean Matheson, who spent the summer with friends in Toronto, returned home on Saturday.

No threshing done to date, in our settlement, but we can hear the whistle.

Under the auspices of the Womens Institute, the Medical Inspector, Dr. Sirrs, of Campbellville, examined our school last Monday. Not one child was exactly normal, though none had serious defects. We consider this a good step, as parents, knowing the defects, can at once attend to them.

Mrs. G. Livingstone left last week for Barrow Bay where she will spend some time.

Mr. R. Turner is home from New Ontario but intends returning soon. Mr. A. McKinnley, of Owen Sound, who spent a week the guest of Mrs. Arthur Tyndall, returned home last Wednesday.

Word was received that Pte. Geo. White had been wounded. We are glad it is not serious and hope he will soon recover.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

WALKERTON

An interesting wedding was solemnized on Monday, September 30th, at 28 Kingswood road, Balm Beach, when Agnes Prentice (Ness) daughter of the late Thomas E. W. Silman and Mrs. Silman, was married to Capt. Edward Ross Clark, late of Walkerton and formerly of the 160th (Bruce) Battalion, now with the Signal Service, Canadian Siberian Expedition. The Rev. J. A. Stewart of Kew Beach Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony which was very quiet owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family. Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride, who was unattended, wore her travelling costume and a corsage bouquet of mauve orchids. A buffet luncheon was served, after which Capt. and Mrs. Clark left for London, Ont. The groom is a brother of Mr. Cloe Clark of Walkerton, and will leave shortly in charge of a co' for Siberia. Capt. Clark had charge of the guard at the Wireless Station Tobemory for two years.

About the first of June last Dr. Danard of Owen Sound reported to High Constable Briggs of Walkerton that somebody had broken into his cottage at Sauble Beach and stolen a boat and quantity of goods. The High Constable at once got busy and succeeded in putting across some fine detective work. The first clue he had to work on was furnished him when somebody broke into the house of Mrs. Johnston, a poor widow of that section, and stole some money and a quantity of eggs on July 22. Suspecting three Indians who later sold some eggs at the Park Head store, Briggs had warrants sworn out and two of the Red Skins were arrested by High Constable Green of Drayton and placed in the Drayton lock-up over night. Upon learning of their arrest Briggs went down on the early train to bring them up but on reaching Drayton found that the birds had flown. Having been given 2 planks and some bed clothes to sleep on, they took one of the planks and smashed a hole through the solid brick wall of the coop and fled. No trace of them has since been found. The other Indian, Peter Moses, was arrested in Owen Sound last week and is now in Walkerton jail on remand. He will appear before the Magistrate here on Thursday. High Constable Briggs had warrants to search some of the Indian houses on the Reserve and claims to have found part of the stolen goods. The red man now in jail is said to have confessed that he and his brothers broke into the cottage. The Indians, who had the missing goods in their possession, will be proceeded against as soon as the other two braves can be apprehended.

A complicated case arising out of a claim for half of the profits on the sale of some 27 head of cattle, which Laughlin McPhail of Bruce township maintains that his erstwhile neighbor George Fullerton, now residing in Palaly, had agreed to give him for caring for the cattle, was aired before Judge Klein in Walkerton on Thursday last, as well as a claim for $10 for other work done. The defendant, however, showed that he had given McPhail a cheque for $117.72 as payment of his claims and that the latter had taken the cheque and cashed it, and now was suing him for additional monies. The Judge after hearing much evidence on both sides and sifting out the arguments in this seemingly most intricate case dismissed the action and ordered each party to pay his own costs. D. Robertson, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and O. E. Klein for the defendant.

Dr. J. A. Wilson has sold his immense medical practise in Midway after practising there for nearly thirty years, and will go South for his health. He was a prominent figure in South Bruce politics and on several occasions was nominated by the Conservatives for Parliament, but withdrew. A fluent speaker and a fearless patriot, Dr. Wilson's removal is a distinct loss to the community.

The keg of whiskey addressed to a fictitious person and which License Inspector White seized at the Express Office in Lucknow last week was placed on view before Magistrates Tolton and Richardson in the Town Hall here on Friday last, and as it was the regular old race-horse brand with a kick in it sufficient to make the entire village stagger, the court ordered it confiscated. As whiskey is at a premium now, both the Inspector and his counsel, Mr. D. Robertson, K. C., are making strong overtures to the Department to donate it to the Bruce Co. Hospital. This is not done with a view to creating any particular rush on that institution, although it may have that effect, but is rather, we suppose, a provision against the time when the stuff will be scarcer in Canada than millionaires are in Paradise.

CHESELEY

The induction of Rev. J. A. Tuer, A. B. D., into the pastorate of Geneva Presbyterian church takes place on Friday evening of this week at 7.30. Rev. W. H. Burgess will preach, Rev. W. Curry, of Tara, will address the minister and Rev. A. Leslie, B. A. will speak to the congregation. After the service a reception will be tendered the new pastor and his bride. Rev. Mr. Tuer was married on Wednesday of this week.

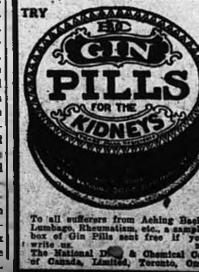

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Muller, was the scene of a happy event the occasion being the marriage of their eldest daughter, Mae, to Mr. John McIntyre, of Regina, Sask. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. K. Wilson, of Salem.

Chas. Maurer, a farmer living at lot 11, con. 13, Brant, lost his life on Saturday morning last when he went into his burning barn to take out his calves and pigs. It is supposed that his two grandchildren who lived with him, set the straw stack adjoining the barn on fire and soon the barn was in flames. Mrs. Maurer was attending her daughter, who was ill, at her home in Bentinck. The son was also absent at the time. The unfortunate man was seen to enter the stable a second time and was overcome by the heat and smoke. After a diligent search by the neighbors, his body, burned beyond recognition, was found on Saturday afternoon under a stable door.

There are three Chesley boys in the list of killed, namely Jack Kincaid, who was one of our H. S. boys pile of wheat about ten feet from a short time before he enlisted. Bert Knapp, who had been employed for several years with the Chesley Furniture Co. and Douglas Henderson, son of Geo. Henderson, of Keady who had been on the staff of the Merchants Bank here for about six months as ledger keeper. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. D. Douglas received word that their son David was wounded in the shoulder. Fred Bennett has also been wounded in the foot. Mrs. Lunney, of this town, received a telegram informing her that her son had been admitted to 22 casualty station on Sept. 29 with gunshot wound in right foot. This is the second son to be wounded. The eldest, Pte. Herbert, is still pushing back the Hun. Pte. K. Knapp, who was killed in action, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Knapp of the 12th con, Elderside, and a brother to Wm. and John Knapp, of Chesley. Pte. D. McNaughton, who was killed in action on Sept. 15th, was a son of D. McNaughton ex M. P. for North Bruce. He was 28 years old and an only son and worked with his father on his 200 acre farm when he enlisted. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kincaid, of 12th Con. Sullivan, received a telegram last Friday that their son Lance-Corp. Jack Kincaid had died of wounds. The first telegram contained the word that Jack was dangerously ill with gunshot wound in chest, the second that he was dangerously ill with gunshot wound in neck and shortly afterwards came the news that the wounds had terminated fatally. Jack left Owen Sound with 248th on May 26th 1917 with Wm. McLaggan, Jack Hinton, Maurice Smith and Wilfred Hetherington. Of these two have been killed and one wounded. In a letter Capt. Pollock said he never knew a more fearless soldier than Jack Kincaid.

AT OUR EXPENSE

OWEN SOUND

One of the pioneers of Keppel township passed away on Monday morning in the person of Mr. George MacKenzie, of Kemble, in his 81st year. He was born in Invernesshire Scotland, came to Canada in 1831, living for several years in Montreal, then moved to Green's Corners, Dundas, to Aberfoyle, finally coming to Kemble in 1858. In 1862 he was married to Catharine McHardy, of Ferris. When Mr. MacKenzie came to this part of the country there were no roads and only a blazed trail guided the travellers through the woods. He very frequently told stories of the early days when produce had to be carried to and from Owen Sound, because of the fact that oxen could not be used. Although a blacksmith by trade, on coming to Kemble, Mr. MacKenzie settled on the farm and remained there until ten years ago when he gave up active work and retired to the village. For years he had been a member of the Board of Managers of the Presbyterian Church and an active worker in that body. He was a Liberal in politics but did not take any part in public life.

Mr. John Cameron, North Keppel, received a telegram on Tuesday that his son, Pte. Wm. J. Cameron, Machine Gun Corps, had been admitted to No. 16 General Hospital at La Treport, France, on October 1st, suffering from gunshot wound in the legs. He went overseas early in the year and has been in France with a machine gun unit for a short time.

The rapid spread of Spanish influenza in Owen Sound has created a serious situation in many households where the entire family has been affected. This morning Dr. A. B. Rutherford, Acting Medical Health Officer, asked The Sun to make a special appeal for voluntary assistance. There are many homes where not a single member of the family is able to be about with the result that they are not receiving attention. Every available nurse is busy and Dr. Rutherford is asking the women of the town to give a helping hand. The need is urgent and while not so serious as at many points, there are many homes where help is absolutely needed.

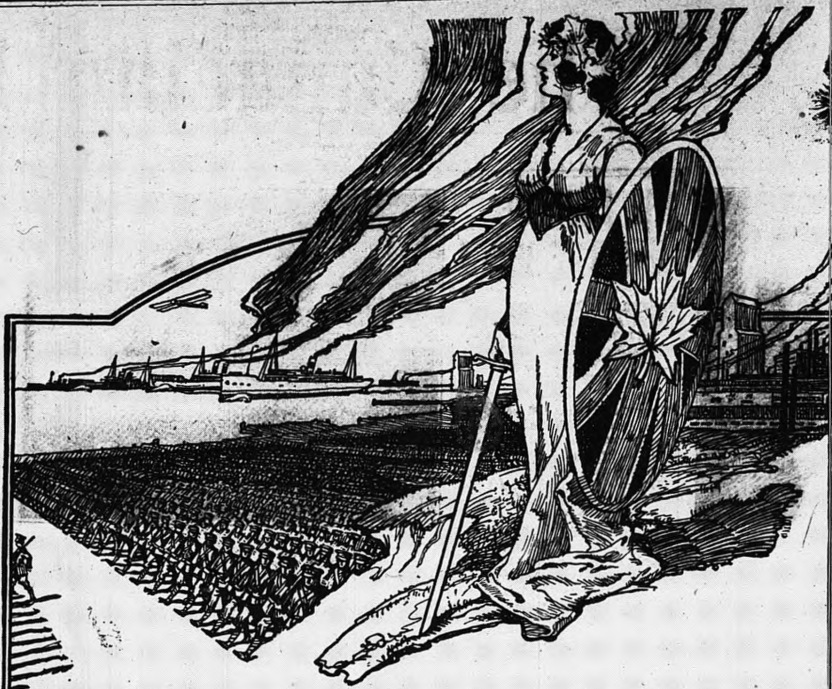

FOOLING THE PEOPLE

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier. Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Why Canada must borrow money to carry on

Because Canada has put her hand to the plow and will not turn back:—

—our country is in the war on the side of liberty and justice and will stay in it till complete victory is won and the unspeakable Hun is smashed and beaten to the ground;

—a nation at war must make tremendous expenditures in cash to keep up her armies and supply them with munitions, food and clothing;

—Canada must finance many millions of dollars of export trade in food, munitions and supplies which Britain and our allies must have on credit;

—for these purposes Canada must borrow hundreds of millions of dollars—

And, this money must be borrowed from the people of Canada:—

Therefore, Canada will presently come to her people for a new Victory Loan to carry on.

★ ★ ★

Canadians will loan the money by again buying Victory Bonds.

The national safety, the national honor and the national well-being require that each and every Canadian shall do his duty by lending to the nation every cent he can spare for this purpose.

Be ready when the call comes to see your country through in its great war work

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada

YOUTH-TIME

The important time to lay a strong foundation for robust manhood is while life is young and the body developing. A growing child needs every possible help to conserve energy and confirm the body in vigorous health. To a developing child comes with particular help. Thousands of the strong men and women of today were in youth-time nourished and strengthened to withstand the invasions of disease by the consistent use of Scott's.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR ARREARS OF TAXES.

COUNTY OF BRUCE, TO WIT:

By virtue of a warrant issued under the hand of the Warden of the County of Bruce, and the Seal of the said County, bearing date the 13th day of July A.D. 1918, and to me directed, commanding me to levy upon the several parcels of land hereinafter described for the arrears of taxes respectively due thereon, together with all costs incurred, I hereby give notice, that pursuant to the Assessment Act, R.S.O. and by-law 567, of the County of Bruce, designated by-law to divide the County of Bruce into three districts for the purpose of tax sales of lands, I shall, unless such arrears of taxes and charges are sooner paid, proceed to sell by Public Auction so much of the said lands as may be necessary for the payment of the said arrears of taxes, costs and charges thereon, at the following mentioned time and place for each of the several districts mentioned in the aforesaid by-law.

For the Lions Head District, at the hour of one o'clock p.m. at the Township Hall of the Township of Eastnor, in the Village of Lions Head on Tuesday, the 22nd day of October, A.D. 1918.

For the Warton District, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m. at the Council Chamber, Town Hall, in the Town of Warton, on Wednesday, the 23rd day of October, A.D. 1918.

For the Walkerton District, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m. at the Council Chamber, in the County Buildings, in the Town of Walkerton, on Friday, the 25th day of October, A.D. 1918.

Lands in the Lions Head District to be sold for taxes at Lions Head as aforesaid.

THE SPANISH FLU

There are not many cases of this late epidemic in Warton, and we do not want many. This disease is apparently sweeping the continent and is to be dreaded. The reports in the daily papers get on the nerves and create a panicky condition. One thing is sure, we cannot be too careful. At a recent meeting of the Board of Health, it was decided to notify all the doctors to immediately report any suspected cases, and it is the intention of the Board of Health to quarantine the houses at once. The Board of Health has practically supreme and arbitrary powers and in this case they will be well advised to use them. It has been decided to close all places of amusement, and we think the wisdom in this is apparent. There are many who would close schools and churches as well. The wisdom of this course becomes a debatable question. If the quarantine of every case is enforced it may not be necessary. The one thing to insist upon, with no uncertain sound, is the strict and impartial enforcement of the isolation of every house in which there is a case of this disease.

CLOSE THE SCHOOLS

The decision upon the part of the Council to close all places of public amusement in order to prevent the spread of Influenza is commendable, but we are of the opinion that 75 per cent. of the people of the town will favor the closing of the schools until danger is over. We are comparatively free of the epidemic, and we do not want it, and we should take every way to prevent it. A few weeks less to the school year will not signify, and if it prevents the disease from spreading it will be a big boon. It is argued that the schools may as well be open as the children from affected houses roam the street. This remark is a reflection upon our system of isolation, but let us concede this point and the fact remains that there is less danger of the disease in the open air than in a stuffy room. Health is the main consideration in the life of a child and we submit that the school boards will be wise to be on the safe side. On Tuesday not more than one-half of the scholars were present at the Public School, the reason being the parents are panicky. If all the parents and others who are of this opinion will speak to the members of the Public School Board, they will probably take immediate action, and immediate action is the only thing which is any good. Should one-half of the people get the disease it will be then a little too late to serve any good purpose.

How would it do to cut out all public meetings?

A delightful remedy—Any one taken in Spanish Influenza is advised to go to bed and stay there until it is all over.

Spend your money in Warton and it will not have to travel very far to come back to you in one way or another.

An objective of $2,600,000 for the Victory Loan may seem large for Bruce County but last year $1,800,000 was raised. It is a good investment.

Toronto has closed their Public and High Schools. Shall we wait until everyone has it before doing the same thing? This would be locking the stable, etc. etc.

The military situation is now one of great anxiety for the Central Powers. Could Germany have foreseen this day in 1914 there would not have been a world war. The internal conditions in Germany and Austria-Hungary may precipitate an early collapse and unconditional surrender.

SPRY

Spry was well represented at Lions Head Friday and many prizes were brought home by our farmers.

Mr. N. Pear lost a valuable horse last week.

Mr. Warder attended the Fair at Tara last week and reports a fine fair.

Our Women's Institute held a very successful meeting at Mrs. Richardson's last week. They are "carrying on" in this part of the country judging by the work they are doing in sewing and knitting. They also had a medical examination of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson, of Warton, are visiting at Wm. J. Walpole's. Mrs. Brown and children spent William Walpole's new barn is nearing completion and it is second to none in the township. Harvesting is later this year than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. McEwan, who have been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cameron for the past few weeks, have returned to their home in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Dorman, of Allenford, visited at the home of W. Warder last week.

Mr. H. Waters attended the wedding of his niece, Miss F. Stewart in Warton last Saturday.

Dr. Sirs gave our school medical inspection last week under the auspices of the W. I. and reported a large number of quite cases. Thirty three pupils were present and none were found to be in perfect condition. A full account of this will appear later.

Dr. Sirs made several suggestions in her report to the Trustees concerning heating and lighting of the school. The number of pupils on the roll are 36 and it is regretted that a few missed this inspection. The next move should be to have a clinic here and we hope that the parents will realize the urgent need of having their children undergo the necessary operations to have their health improved. It is through the Womens Institute this has been made possible.

Amabel Council

The Council of Amabel met in Downs Hotel, Hepworth, on October 5th, 1918, as a Court of Revision and for general business. The members all present the minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. After the usual declarations being taken, numbers formed itself into a Court with the Reeve in the chair. The appeal of Mr. Geo. Ewald against the assessment of his property made by the Engineer re drainage of Ames survey after hearing the evidence the Court sustained the Engineers' report. Mrs. Blackman asked the Court to have ditch opposite her lot lowered, and the appeal against the Engineers award was sustained. Mr. Moore was present on behalf of Myrtle M. Robertson re Lot 1, con. 21, Keppel, after hearing a number of witnesses, the Court sustained the report of Engineer. The Court then closed and the Council resumed general business. Thos. J. Aikin was appointed to act as Fuel Commissioner. The Reeve was appointed to have scrub brush cut along the sides of road on Con. 2.

A petition signed by a number of ratepayers asking the Council to retain as a public road the old survey between Concessions four and six on C line in place of the proposed deviation and that the Government and Municipal grants be expended thereon. The following resolution was passed. That re petition of John Hammond and others re sink hole on C line, that we comply with the Government Engineers recommendation and continue building the new road.

Orders were passed for the Council then adjourned to meet at Hepworth in Downs Hall on November 20th at 10-30 to consider the Engineers Report re drainage of Boat Lake and Rankin River and General Business.

LIGHTEN YOUR WASHDAY LABOR

Comfort and convenience count on washday, perhaps more than on any other day of the week. Anything that will lighten the work is doubly welcome then.

EDDY'S INDURATED FIBREWARE

Wash Tubs and Washboards

are labor lighteners. They save time and strength. Incidentally they cost no more. Eddy's Fibre wash-tubs are easy to lift and easy to carry. They keep the water hot a long time because they do not radiate heat as galvanized iron or tin will do. They are strong and durable because they are made in one piece, without joint or seam. And the cost is actually less because they will outlast several of the old-fashioned kinds of wash-tubs.

Eddy's Twin Beaver Washboards save time by the special crimp which loosens the dirt easily. A washing surface on each side gives them double the efficiency of the ordinary washboard.

When you buy matches look for the name "Eddy" on the box. A kind for every purpose.

BOOTS & SHOES

Having purchased the general stock of the Rourke Estate at Hepworth at a low rate on the dollar we have many bargains to offer in every line of goods carried, more particularly in BOOTS AND SHOES. The stock in this line is well assorted and comprises many lines in Women's, Men's and Children's wear that we are selling at less than the actual cost of production at the factories to-day. Before making your purchase for Fall and Winter it will pay you to see this stock.

There are also many lines in Staple Dry Goods and Groceries which we are offering at prices much below the present market value.

Wool Blankets

This week we place on Sale a Special purchase of White Wool Blankets—Seconds—slightly damaged, but not enough to affect the wearing qualities. We were fortunate enough to secure an allotment of 25 Pairs of these from the leading Blanket Manufacturers in Canada, and will sell them while they last at $1.25 per Lb.

In the face of the fact that ordinary Yarn is worth anywhere from $2.00 to $2.50 per lb. this price is obviously cheap. If you need anything in this line do not overlook this special offering as this small lot will certainly not last long.

Millinery Department

Our Millinery Department is now in full swing and owing to the fact that we made most of our purchases early in the season, forestalling the very decided advance in prices, we are in a position to offer you Stylish Headgear at practically old prices.

Ladies' Jackets

Our stock of Ladies' Jackets is now very complete and while prices have advanced over last year's quotations considerably we are in a position to offer you Garments at much less than prices quoted in catalogues of leading Mail-Order House. Put this statement to the test. We believe we can save you good money.

Ordered Clothing

We still have a goodly number of Woollen Suitings on hand at the old prices, but at the rate they are going out our stock will soon be depleted. If you need a Suit, Overcoat or Pair of Trousers save money by putting your order in NOW.

—Mr. Will. Abraham spent a few days here last week the guest of Mr. W. Ward.

—Miss Marjorie Stevenson, of Wallaceburg is the guest of Miss Jean McClure.

—Messrs. Fox, Reid and Burgess are on a trip collecting spawn for the fish hatchery.

—Mrs. Reginald Heppenstall, Detroit, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. Heppenstall.

—Miss Meta Whedmeyer, of Mildmay, spent Thanksgiving with her parents.

—Mr. James Kilborn, of Preston, Ont., spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. S. Kain, in town.

—Mr. J. E. J. Aston, Manager of the Union Bank, Alexandria, renewed acquaintances here this week.

—Mrs. Thos. Heppenstall and daughter, Meaford, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. Heppenstall.

—Mrs. G. P. Ames returned on Saturday to her home in Toronto after spending a month the guest of Mrs. D. McClure.

Quite a number of the teachers from here and from the Peninsula attended the Convention held in Walkerton last week.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith motored and spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. J. B. Ashley.

—Mr. Andy Gemmel accompanied by Misses Dorothy Grasser and Dorothy Bell, spent Thanksgiving Day here.

Messrs. F. Ewald and Oscar Day came home on Monday from Montreal where their boat is laid up.

—Messrs. G. Sheppard and R. Smith, Toronto, spent Thanksgiving the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. McVannell.

Miss Kate McDonald was hostess at her birthday party, last Thursday, to a number of her girl and boy friends. Games were played during the evening after which a tasty supper was served and an enjoyable time was spent.

Miss Dorothy Sutherland is to be commended upon her summer's record. For three months she has been picking fruit in the Niagara District and came home last Friday. As an appreciation of her services the Government has given a National Service Pin. Although the work was steady and sometimes monotonous, the farmers were good to their girl helpers, and she considers that she has not wasted her summer. Miss Dorothy is the only girl in Warton who can exhibit this Government acknowledgment and we are proud of her for it.

The annual Thanksgiving Supper and entertainment at Big Bay was a big success. When $124 are taken in at a country entertainment it is a proof of its popularity. Big Bay has made a record for itself and is keeping to the name of furnishing one of the best fowl suppers to be had in the countryside. The ladies of Big Bay have earned a just reputation far and wide and every year they break the record. The excellent program given will be long remembered.

Miss Craig attended the Teachers Convention in Southampton last Thursday and Friday, consequently there was no school. She also spent Thanksgiving at her home in Tara.

Rev. and Mrs. Hilditch, of Cape Croker, and Rev. and Mrs. Matthews were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Lemcke at Purple Valley Thanksgiving Day.

The Womens Institute decided to hold the annual bazaar at an early date. Miss Collins, the demonstrator for sewing who was here a year ago, will be here again on the 28th of October, of the week.

The Thanksgiving Service was well attended Sunday evening, and the pastor preached a good sermon from the text "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits to me?"
The choir gave excellent music, and were assisted by Mr. Carl Whitcher, Gordon Weir, Norman Gilbert, Earl Fraser and Wilfred Whitcher. The Thank offering was $111.75. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, flowers, fruits and plants, showing the good taste of our young girls.

day.

NEW HEALTH FOR WOMEN

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many of the sex enter this period under depressing conditions through overwork or worry about the home, or through a condition in which the blood is weak or watery and so they suffer heavily.
Among the commonest symptoms are headaches, feverish flushes, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, backache, depression and other well recognised disturbances of the health which signalize that the blood requires attention. Women urgently need rich red blood all their lives, but never more so than in middle life when the nerves are also weak and overwrought.

Not every woman can prove the help afforded to her health by renewing and building up the blood. It is a test that any ailing woman can make by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which in turn stimulates the appetite, strengthens the nerves and restores full robust health. Thousands of women have found in Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills new health and strength and with these a new happiness and interest in life.

So if you suffer, avail yourself at once of the splendid home treatment which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so easily afford, and you will be among those who rejoice in regained health.
These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mr. Fred George will assist in the service next Sunday evening in the interest of Missions.

Mr. Armstrong, of Burkes Falls, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Weir, at
M. and Ma. Chas. Gilbert, of Purple Valley, attended Church Sunday evening. Mrs. Waring, of Markdale, was with them.

Mr. Robert Scales and sister, from Melvins attended the Thanksgiving service Sunday P. M.

Mrs. W. T. Parke received the sad news of the death of her cousin, Mrs.
Palmer, daughter of Rev. T. C. Robinson, who died on her way home from Nova Scotia to Calgary, Alta., of Spanish Influenza. Mrs. Palmer leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, and two small children.

Mr. Henry Lemcke started his week on a month's fishing. We hope the finny tribe will come plentifully his way.

A very interesting session of the Womens Institute was held Wednesday afternoon of last week in Cunningham's Hall. The Pres., Mrs. W.
T. Parke, presided. The roll call was responded to by poetry on "the war."
Mrs. Carl Whitcher and Miss A. M.
Brown played several good instrumental duets on piano and last, but by no means least, was the debate on "Resolved that Single Life is preferable to Married Life." Miss Stella Whitcher and Miss Kathleen Cunningham for the affirmative and Miss Kathleen Whitcher and Miss Verna Farrow, negative. Both sides brought forward many good points, but the three Judges decided for the negative.
The young ladies did not mean all they said of course, especially for "single-blessedness."

Found on an Old Cuff (1913)
"Stop at market and order 18-pound larder roast, 5 pounds of butter and 22 pounds of sugar."
"Take dinner Thursday with the

INFLUENZA

Some Interesting Facts About Its History, Prevention and Treatment

Influenza, which is a sweeping epidemic, has been the cause of a great deal of suffering. It was known to the ancients and as early as 1300 it was reported as a world epidemic. It was in 1849-1850 when it was generally known as the French epidemic. The disease has always travelled from east to west.

SYMPTOMS—The symptoms are similar to those of a heavy cold, more in its severe headache, cold in the head and throat, fits of sneezing, in rooms as much as possible. The mouth, throat and nose should be systematically and frequently disinfected by antiseptic inhalations, sprays and washes. Such preparations as chloroform and listerine are well adapted for this purpose.

In fighting previous epidemics, doctors found quinine a useful preventive. The grain of sulphate of quinine mixed with (but not dissolved in) a wine glass of cold water makes an excellent antiseptic gargle. The antiseptic properties of quinine are well known and its use as described above at once relieves the symptoms of sore throat, which result from the strain of the fight between the white blood corpuscles and the invading germs in the tonsils—the body's first line of defence. Quinine is also given internally with success as a preventive. In one of the more recent outbreaks in Europe, an experiment was tried in which the men of one squadron of a regiment of cavalry were each given 7½ grains of quinine in ½ ounce of whiskey daily for 22 days, whilst those of the other squadron were given none. The latter squadron had from 22 to 44 each of influenza, whilst the squadron treated with quinine developed only 4 cases. Inhalations of oil of eucalyptus, thymol, oil of mountain pine and the like are also valuable preventives.

HOW TO TREAT IT—When a person is struck by influenza, only one course lies open. That is to take to bed with the least possible delay, and call a doctor. Rest, warmth and quiet are three sovereign remedies of the primary disease, and the best preventive of its more deadly complication, of which pneumonia is the most frequent. While there is no specific for influenza, yet there are many drugs which play a useful part in relieving it, such as quinine, aspirin and various tonics, anti-neuralgic, antiseptic and heart medicines, to be prescribed by the physician in charge.

WHAT TO EAT—The dietetic rules which apply to any fever apply equally to influenza. Liquid foods at first, solids a little later on in a gradually ascending scale from light soups to broths, and then to chicken, roast joints, etc. Water, cold or hot, may be sipped, and "egg water" may be given. This excellent dish is made by blending with a pint of cold water, the whipped whites of from 2 to 4 eggs, flavoured with salt or lemon. Then the animal broths may be given. There are many cases in which even the lightest foods are spurned with bathing and common sense must be used in adapting diet to the particular case in hand.

PRECAUTIONS against influenza—1. The sick should be separated from the healthy. This is especially important in the case of first attacks in the household.

2. Discharges from the nose and mouth should not be allowed to get dry on a pocket handkerchief or inside the house, office or factory. They should be at once collected in paper or clean rags and burned. If this cannot be done, they should be dropped into a vessel containing water.

3. Infected articles and rooms should be cleaned and disinfected. Use disinfectants everywhere. Wash the hands frequently.

4. Those attacked should not, on any account, mingle with other people for at least a period of ten days from the commencement of the attack.

Death of An Aviator

Many of the older residents of Warton and vicinity will remember a young lady, Miss Murray, by name, who came here more than 25 years ago from Galt, her home town, to occupy a position as stenographer in Mr. John Whitcher's office. With this she also assumed the office of librarian in our Public Library and thus came in contact with a large majority of our town people. She was a very active christian worker, a member of the Presbyterian church, and eminently esteemed by all. She married the Rev. J. A. McFarlane, then a student in charge of Mar and Mansville. They are now living in Ottawa. Their eldest son, Murray who was a student at Queen's University, beloved and highly esteemed by all his class and teachers, enlisted something over a year ago in the Royal Air Force, and had made good in aerial warfare, as the letter from his father, Major G. A. Howard, so warmly testifies.

Murray was reported "missing" on the 3rd of Sept. and from the official letter received by his parents they learned that his machine was brought down in flames by an Anti Air Craft shell, in a direct hit. His O. C., 18th Squadron, R. A. F., in his communication says: "A brave lad on a mission. I have never met in the Flying Corps, and when a vacancy should occur I had hoped to have him as a Flight Commander in my Squadron. He did not fear anything; if there was anything in the sky he would be certain to go after it." "He had a great reputation as a fighting pilot. Only another of the countless number of brave and dear young lives sacrificed to the blood lust for power which has crazed the Germanic ruler." Only another added to the colossal list of the dead. But yet after all

PUBLIC NOTICE

The expected has happened. After January 1st, 1919 newspapers cannot be sent to subscribers who are longer than three months in arrears. The subscribers of The Echo will please remember this fact, it is not something that we can change, but a law we must obey. Consequently The Echo requests all subscribers to look at their labels and remit the amount due the office. We sincerely hope that many of our old subscribers who have been on our lists for years, but who have never had the habit of paying promptly, will see that it is done before the date set. All arrears not then paid will be charged at the rate of $2 per year.

THE CANADIAN ECHO,

In severe cases, they should remain away from work for a longer period. 5. Special attention should be given to cleanliness and ventilation. Warm clothing should be worn, the feet should be kept dry and all unnecessary exposure avoided.

A PERSONAL APPEAL

Buy Victory Bonds Buy To Your Utmost

The duty of every Canadian citizen is plain—as plain as the duty of every Canadian soldier. The soldier's duty is to fight for Victory. The citizen's duty is to "lend" for Victory.

The time has come by far merited doing our "bit." We must do all we can. No true patriot can be content with a subscription to the Victory Loan than is less than he can afford.

Buy Victory Bonds and buy to your utmost. The loan is larger than before, the obligation on each and every one of us is greater. Buy all the Bonds you can, and if you do not hold any War Bonds now, it is more reason than ever that you should subscribe to the Victory Loan.

Back up our boys in France with a smashing over subscription of the Victory Loan—an over subscription that will wake echoes in Berlin. Every dollar you subscribe goes to arm and equip and protect our boys in France, to save the lives of those instinctively dear, to bring them home safely.

Let your subscription measure up to your Patriotism.

THE VICTORY LOAN

County of Bruce Headquarters
Walkerton, Ontario.

Oct. 16 1918.
Dear Sir—In our visit throughout

Pte. Gordon Hunter
Son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hunter, Warton. Belonged to Bruce 160th. Recently wounded.

The County last week, we were asked the cost of floating the Victory Loan of 1917. We have submitted the matter to Headquarters at Toronto, and have received the following reply:

Re Cost of Last Loan
"Answering your inquiry in this connection, I beg to say that commission paid, remuneration to brokers and organization expense amounted to $1,500,000.00. Newspaper Work and other Publicity $1,000,000.00."

This is the cheapest loan that was ever floated by the Dominion of Canada.

Yours very truly,
C. E. A. GOLDMAN,
Divisional Organizer

We may state that although Victory Bonds of 1917 of value of $100 were sold at $98.87, a discount of $1.13 on the dollar, there seems to be an impression amongst some that this discount is a part of the cost of floating the loan, but it has nothing to do with it. It is simply a discount on the principal sum of the Bond, the same as is often done in the sale of Municipal Bonds, and the purchaser does not reap the benefit until the Bond is paid at maturity unless the Bond increases in value, meantime.

Yours for the Victory Loan 1918,
GEORGE D. MACKAY, County Sec.
David Robertson, County Chairman.

Don't expect your friends to be stuck on your jokes if they are point less.

COLPOYS' BAY

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:

PTE. SAMUEL DAVID BLACKWOOD, Harrow Bay, killed in action.
PTE. WILFRID OTTEWELL, son of George Ottewell, formerly reported missing, now reported missing and believed killed.

SERG. WILLIAM A. RURL, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Ruhl, Warton, killed in action.

L. CPL. ROY HEPPENSTALL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heppenstall, Warton, again reported dangerously ill.

PTE. DAVE SINCLAIR, of Owen Sound, formerly of Warton, wounded in head.

PTE. SINCLAIR GIBSON, Clavering, Gunshot wound in knee.

PTE. JOHN A. CAMERON, seriously ill with influenza in England.

PTE. WELLINGTON PEDONQUOT, Cape Croker, gunshot wound in left leg.

PTE. B. LAVALLEY, Cape Croker, gunshot wound in head and arm.

PTE. MATTHEW SOLOMON, Cape Croker, gunshot wound in left arm.

PTE. CHAS. AIKEWENZKE, Cape Croker, gunshot wound in hip.

PTE. ARCHIE DUNCAN JOHNSTON, Cape Croker, killed in action.

The casualties this week awaken our sympathies and bring sadness to a number of homes. No one knows the sorrow of the bereaved except those who have passed through the same Gethsemane. What heart pang it gives to open the telegram telling the sad news can only be imagined.

In the list this week Sergt. William Ruhl was naturally the best known in Warton. He belonged to the Bruce 160th, and in England had been on guard of honor upon several occasions, once when the Battalion was inspected by the King. He was the very best type of Canadian manhood. The war is certainly coming home to Cape Croker. The Indians are giving proof that they are citizens of this country and entitled to the rights of citizens. It is certainly up to the Government to give them a different status.

HOW TO PREVENT IT—As it is such a deadly disease, doctors have naturally issued a great deal about its prevention and treatment. The first principle of prevention is to keep away from infected places, and the second is to keep the body in good resisting parts of the body by eating nourishing food, crossing comfortably, getting lots of sleep, and by living in the open air and in bright, well-ventilated rooms.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

HANOVER

The closing down of a local laundry because of insufficient patronage was the cause of a Halcyonarian to rise up and speak some truths, some of which are equally applicable to other places, not excepting Hanover. It says: "But every town has so called public spirited citizens, who would rather patronize a Chinaman than any Canadian concern; who'd rather patronize Eaton's than their local stores; who send out of town for almost everything they eat and wear. They don't subscribe to the home paper; don't go to their own theatre; and kick at every enterprise or improvement that is apt to come. When every citizen of a town makes up his mind that he will trade at home, support every home industry and boost for his home town then—and not until then—will his town prosper as it should."

The Bentick Council have arranged to pay Thos. Clark of Con. 12, Bentinck, the sum of $60 and the veterinary expenses in connection with the accident he met on Con. 10 Bentinck some time ago, when his horse had its leg badly cut as a result of getting its foot into a culvert. The Council were of the opinion that Mr. Clark didn't have a case against the township, but after consulting a solicitor, they decided that it was in the best interests of the township to settle.

Another Hanover boy has "gone West" in the person of Pte. Herman Haller, son of Mr. Louis Haller. Word came yesterday morning that he had been killed in action on Sept. 20th. Pte. Haller went overseas about the first of the year and so could not have been long on active service when he was called upon to pay the great sacrifice. Deceased was a fine young man, very popular with all who knew him, and his parents have the sincere sympathy of the community in their great bereavement.

Pte. Gilbert Liddle arrived in town on Wednesday noon of last week, having reached Quebec on the previous Monday. Previous to enlisting in the 147th Bn., he was employed with G. B. Rahn, hardware merchant of Hanover. He went overseas with the Greys and went to France on Feb. 17, 1917 and saw hard fighting at Vimy Ridge and Passchendaele. He went "over the top" three times, and on one occasion was the only private out of fifty who got back without being hit. He says the fighting at Passchendaele was desperate and the most awful. One night he was pulled out seven times by his comrades when going in the line. He was wounded on October 26th, 1917 at Passchendaele, being hit with a machine gun bullet in the right arm. He was taken to England to Norfolk Hospital, Norwich, for treatment, and from there was transferred to the 16 Canadian General Hospital at Orpington, where he remained until he sailed for Canada about 3 weeks ago. Pte. Liddle's wounded arm is paralyzed and he has to report in Toronto for treatment on the 22nd of October.

Charles Bailey, the 15 year-old son of Mrs. Isaac Bailey of Hanover, died on Tuesday night as a result of being struck in the back by a sharp corner of Mr. George Reichen's truck a few hours previous. Deceased and Arnold Harnett had been over to Milham with the truck in the afternoon and while there Mr. J. S. Wilson has asked them to deliver a parcel at his house in Hanover. It was at Mr. Wilson's house the accident happened. Deceased had got off to deliver the parcel and Harnett was turning the car in the meantime. The truck was still in motion when young Bailey returned and he attempted to get on, with the result that a sharp corner of the body of the car caught him in the small of the back. He was taken to his home hastily, but he had been seriously injured internally and he passed away a few hours later.

Mrs. Mary Little has returned from a six months sojourn in Toronto and the Western Provinces. She visited Winnipeg and saw the broad wheat fields of the Great West, the greater part of her time being spent visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. Callaghan, at Fort Francis, where Mr. Callaghan is in the wholesale grocery business. She was greatly surprised at the vast resources of that part of Ontario with its mammoth saw mills and pulp and paper mills and its great water power and its fine valleys in the fertile Rainy River Valley.

Guard The Baby Against Colds

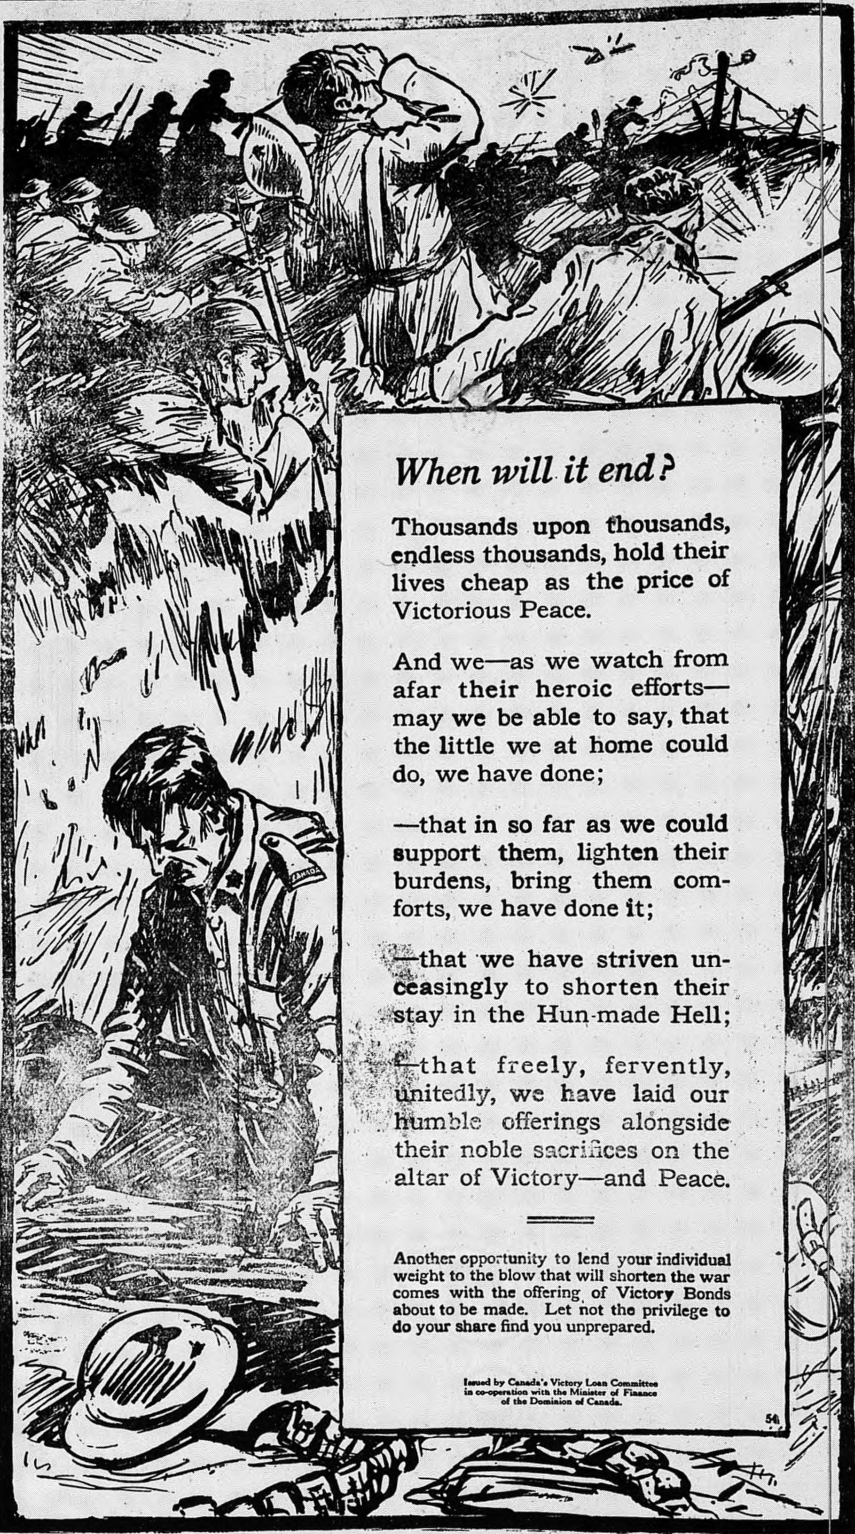

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative, that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds do not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy. OWEN SOUND

By order of the Board of Health, all schools, churches, theatres, amusement halls and other places used for public gatherings are closed; and they will remain until permission to reopen them is given.

Mrs. E. J. Porteous, 1070 Sec. ave. east, sustained serious injury on Saturday when she fell from a car while driving near Balclutha. While leaning out over the side to see if a tire had gone flat the door of the car opened and Mrs. Porteous fell to the road. She hit on her shoulder which is badly bruised, and the side below the arm. Fortunately the car was not going fast or she probably would have been killed. As it is she is suffering intense pain from the injuries, the extent of which is not known yet and it will be some weeks at the earliest before she will be able to be around again. She was brought home and is under treatment.

Mr. R. J. Henry, 555 Seventh St. east, received two telegrams on Saturday advising him of the wounding of his only brother, 1242 Pte. George A. Henry, on two separate occasions within a month. One telegram stated that he had been admitted to the 14 Field Ambulance on September 1st suffering from a gunshot wound in the hip, and the other said that he had been admitted to hospital on September 29th, as a result of gunshot wound in the knee. Pte. Henry was a sailor when he enlisted at the outbreak of the war in the famous Princess Pals Regiment, at Port Arthur. He served in France from December 1914, until his latest wounds and during that time he has seen his unit decimated many times. Few, if any, of his original companions are still in the trenches and most of them have "gone West." He was wounded about a year ago on the cheek, but this was only a slight one. He spent the winter previous to the outbreak of the war with Mr. and Mrs. Henry, of Owen Sound. He originally came from Batteaux, near Collingwood. The sympathy of the entire community will go out to Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Fraser in their very sad bereavement in the death of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Fraser, which occurred early yesterday. (Tuesday) morning at 74 Albany Avenue, Toronto, as the result of an attack of influenza. Miss Fraser was born at Annan in August, 1892, and received her collegiate education at Owen Sound. She was one of the most brilliant students who have graduated from the collegiate and her career later at the university quite fulfilled the expectations of her friends. After attending the faculty of education, Miss Fraser taught for one year at Kilgith and in 1917 she graduated from the Toronto university, winning the gold medal in biology. As a result of the splendid standing she took, the university board offered her a position on the staff and for the past year she has been doing some research work and has held the position on the staff of assistant to the professor of biology. While not of robust constitution which made her readily a victim to

When will it end?

Thousands upon thousands, endless thousands, hold their lives cheap as the price of Victorious Peace.

And we—as we watch from afar their heroic efforts—may we be able to say, that the little we at home could do, we have done;

—that in so far as we could support them, lighten their burdens, bring them comforts, we have done it;

—that we have striven unceasingly to shorten their stay in the Hun-made Hell;

—that freely, fervently, unitedly, we have laid our humble offerings alongside their noble sacrifices on the altar of Victory—and Peace.

Another opportunity to lend your individual weight to the blow that will shorten the war comes with the offering of Victory Bonds about to be made. Let not the privilege to do your share find you unprepared.

Black as Dirt About the Eyes

Liver Was All Upset and There Was Pain Under the Shoulder-blade — Two Interesting Letters.

So many people suffer from derangements of the liver that we feel sure these two reports, just recently received, will prove interesting reading and valuable information to many readers of this paper.

Mrs. F. L. Harris, Keasley P.O., Ont., writes: "I was suffering from liver trouble—had a heavy pain under one shoulder blade all the time, and was nearly as black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and before I had taken one box the pain had left me and I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My trouble was caused by heavy work out-of-doors, and, of course, heavy eating and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney or liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Pills a trial."

Mrs. Charles Terry, Tweed, Ont., writes: "Before I was married I was troubled with enlargement of the liver. My liver became so enlarged that you could detect the swelling on either side, and it was only with difficulty that I could get my clothes on. A friend advised me to get Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and take them. I commenced this treatment, and used nine boxes, which cured me at that time. Then, about two or three years afterward I was troubled again with the swelling, but only on my right side. I secured some more Kidney-Liver Pills, and took them, which finally cured me. I have not been troubled in this way since. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone having kidney or liver trouble."

"We have also found Dr. Chase's Liver and Kidney Pills most efficacious and well worth a trial, any of Dr. Chase's medicines which we have used have been found to be of great benefit. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 16c a box, 12 for $1.00, at all druggists, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto."

TARA

Spanish Influenza is spreading and yesterday claimed two victims in the country. Miss Maggie Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. Albert Bradshaw, of Elderslie Twp., who was employed at Mr. Wm. Herron's, Con. 6, Arran, died yesterday afternoon. She was a young girl, only 14 years of age. The second death was Mr. Adrian Black, son of Mr. Hinds Black, County Line, a fine young man only 17 years of age. Deceased was well known and very popular among the boys, being Captain of the Tara Baseball Club last summer. His death is deeply regretted. There are a few cases of the disease in Tara but they are not serious. The schools and churches in Tara and Arran have been closed under instructions of the Medical Health Officer.

Just previous to their departure from Desboro for their new home in Tara, a farewell reception was tendered to Dr. and Mrs. Oldham by the people of Desboro and vicinity. A presentation was made of two beautiful chairs, accompanied by an address and afterwards a nice lunch was served and an interesting program followed of speeches, music, etc.

The death of an old and well known resident in this section took place on Wednesday in the person of Mr. Neil Darroch at the age of 87 years and 11 months. Mr. Darroch was born in Scotland, Isle of Jura, and after coming to this country settled in the Township of Arran in 1853, on Con. 4, where she resided for a long period and was a prominent and successful farmer. He was a member of the Baptist Church and took a leading part in the work of the Baptist Church and took a leading part in the work of the Baptist congregations in the surrounding neighborhood. After the death of Mrs. Darroch he moved to Tara where he resided for several years, but for the past nine years has resided with his nephew, Mr. John Henderson, Twp. of Derby. One daughter survives, Miss Mary Darroch, who has been residing at Ottawa

SOOR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapypsin" neutralizes excess acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time told In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, flat breath or headache. Pape's Diapypsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and beside it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapypsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

BRUCE COUNTY COUNCIL ASKED TO HELP SOLDIERS

THE PROBLEM

The statement of the Allied countries realize, it is said, that a greater problem than the war itself is the aftermath of the war. The period of reconstruction and adjustment is difficult and dangerous. It will be characterized by social, political, and industrial upheaval and unrest. The thoughtful leaders in the world are already grappling with the problem. It is estimated that of the 550,000 Canadian soldiers enlisted for the war, 300,000 will return to former occupations and occupations, which will leave 250,000 who will have to be settled in some way or other. There are at present, it is estimated, 350,000 men employed in the manufacture of munitions who will be thrown out of employment at the close of the war. There are 150,000 women who have, since the war, taken the place of men. It will be seen that there are 550,000 soldiers and civilians who will have to be dealt with and adjusted to the new conditions arising after the war. In other words one person in twelve of our population will become a settlement problem.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION

To leave this problem for the future to take care of would be an act of supreme folly and the County of Bruce has led the way among the counties of Ontario in organizing a league to deal with these problems. If the County of Bruce will take definite action NOW it will, above a distinction in Canada which will become more apparent as the problem looms before the country.

THE FIRST CONCRETE PROPOSITION

The County of Bruce sent to war approximately 3000 soldiers, many of whom came off the farm, and many of whom have had experience in lumbering and bush life. The soldiers themselves outlined a plan known as the Bruce Community Farming Scheme and the League, at Southampton, on the 20th of June appointed the undersigned Sub-committee to deal with the proposition and report on its merits. The Sub-committee had a lot of meetings, making slow progress, but getting definite information. The Community Farming Scheme was laid before each of the Provincial Governments and the Soldiers' Settlement Board at Ottawa. All the Provincial Governments, except the Government of Manitoba, endorsed the plan and made offers of assistance more or less generous. We are very glad and proud to report that by far the most generous offer which we received was from our own Province of Ontario and the Provincial Government has given the scheme most serious and practical consideration; made very valuable suggestions and given assurances of very active co-operation and sympathy.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE

The Community Farming proposition has been laid before some 1500 soldiers, perhaps more. 400 of them have studied it, understand it, and have applied to come in under this plan; 30 of them are holding themselves in readiness to take up the plan this fall and start to work immediately; they are anxious and eager to be doing something. So far as the Soldiers are concerned everything is in line and the men in readiness to move at once. The Provincial Government and the County of Bruce are undertaking to assist and co-operate at the request of the Soldiers themselves. The plan is their own. The Government has expended already over $1000 in preliminary investigation and last Tuesday a Sub-committee of the undersigned committee met at the Department in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto and went over the whole ground with the Deputy Minister with the result that the Department has promised that immediately the County of Bruce and the Bruce Preparedness League give an assurance that they will stand behind the Community Farming Scheme to the extent of some necessary initial finances, the Department is prepared to expend this $10,000 in the erection of the first settlement buildings and proceed to carry out the terms of the offer made.

THE TERMS OF THE GOVERNMENT OFFER

Memorandum of assistance to proposed Bruce Soldiers' Settlement Limited which is to be worked out on the basis of a co-operative organization:

1. We will set apart for your settlement the unleased portions of any Township you may select, and so long as your colonization work is energetically carried on, will reserve to you the exclusive use of the locations set apart.
2. We will construct the necessary roads through the township.
3. We will maintain at a convenient point in the Colony a sufficient number of horses, waggon, sleighs and farm machinery for the use of the Colony. We will sell any portion of these to any settler at cost or rent them at a reasonable figure based on the cost of maintenance.
4. We will erect and equip at a central point for use, the necessary camp buildings to enable you to carry on your operations, including sleep house, dining room, blacksmith shop, carpenter shop, store room, laundry, and such other buildings as may be deemed necessary, and allow you the use of same free of charge.
5. Should you undertake a winter operation, we will provide, free of charge, sufficient foremen to supervise and direct the bush work.
6. We will provide you with the use of a sawing machine for the cutting of your fuel.
7. We will provide, free of charge, supervision of your farming operation by trained agriculturists.
8. We will give to each settler at the expiration of five (5) years from his entering upon the scheme, free grant of the lot that may be allotted to him. Settlement duties, as provided by the Crown Land Regulations, having been performed in the meantime, in addition to the ten acres of clearing hereafter mentioned.
9. We will pay into the funds of your Organization the sum of $500.00 when ten acres are cleared and made ready for cultivation upon each lot, and a habitable house not less than 10x20 feet erected thereon. Any proportion of this $500 may be advanced on progress estimates from our foremen.
10. We will allow to each settler $150 in labor and materials towards the erection of a house upon his lot.
11. We will make advance to settlers up to $500 under the terms and conditions of our Settlers' Loan Act.

WHAT IT MEANS

The Deputy Minister stated that the Department understood in making this offer that it would be committing itself to an expenditure in the long run of about $1500 for each Soldier. This is a splendid contribution to the problem of this County and all that is asked is that the County shall finance each man to the extent of $50 for the purpose of enabling the returned soldier to reach his destined lot in New Ontario and assist him in his living expenses until he can earn his first money. The Government is willing to set aside, provided it has the co-operation of the County as set out, the Township of Shackleton which consists of 55000 acres, covered with pulp wood, worth $1 on the stump and $7 at the siding, with a clay loam soil, and easily cleared. The Township would be divided into farms of 150 acres each, and 360 soldiers could be settled on the land. The prospect is that the County of Bruce would take up the entire Township. The value of the pulpwood in the aggregate is enormous and the Transcontinental line runs along the border of the Township. The returned Soldiers from this County who have been to the Township, examined the location, resources and possibilities, have reported favorably upon the proposition.

WHAT WE MUST DO

1. Co-operate with the Provincial Government in making this scheme possible for the returned soldiers.
2. Give the initial financial assistance of $50 a soldier to help in locating him in the Township and in supporting him until he can get started.
3. Give financial assistance to the extent, say of $1000, to the Bruce

Presentation To Percy Waugh

On Tuesday evening Sept. 24th, the members of the Epworth League Hunt, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Waugh to show their kind respects to say good-bye to Percy Waugh who has been called for King and Country. They presented him with a military Testament and fountain pen. The following address was read by the pastor. A short but suitable reply was made by Percy after which all present enjoyed a few hours of music and games after which lunch was served by the young ladies.

Dear Percy:—We your friends and associates have met here in your home to-night as a token of respect and to show the high regard in which you are held by us all. Very soon you will stand that you are soon to leave our midst to join the colors, so many of our young men have already done. While we regret and deplore the need of this sacrifice we are glad and rejoice that so many brave fellows have answered the call of their country at an hour when liberty and freedom were threatened. We believe and we have every reason to hope that our cause is a just one and therefore demands the support of every true and patriotic citizen. As you therefore go out in our defence we feel it our duty to show our appreciation of the part you will play in this great struggle and we know you will prove yourself worthy of the great cause for which you are fighting.

We can assure you that you will be missed everywhere, not only at home but those who have known you and with whom you have associated. We shall miss you in our Church, of which you are a member, and we pray that Godly influence felt there will ever pervade you and keep you from temptation.

To show in some tangible way our esteem and appreciation we ask you to accept this small gift, not because of its value, but that it may ever remind you of us, the true friendship which exists between us. As you leave us we can only commit you to God's loving care and protection, whose fatherly eye will ever be over you and who is able to keep you. We wish you God speed and a safe return to your friends.

Soldiers' Settlement Limited, to be incorporated largely for the purpose of maintaining supplies for the soldiers.... This money need not be a gift but a loan to be returned when the earnings from pulp wood etc., made it possible to do so. The Provincial Government is of the opinion that the first supplies would have to be furnished by his way.

THE CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

In incorporating as the Bruce Soldiers' Settlement Limited, it is not the idea to form a commune. Nothing of the sort. Every soldier at his own option may accept or reject the plan. Each Soldier will have the advantage of his individual effort, energy, enterprise and development. Each soldier will have his farm of 150 acres patented in his own name at the end of five years upon performance of the Crown requirements, but in the matter of buying and selling, and in the matter of manufacturing lumber and cutting pulp wood, the co-operative plan will be adopted, experience having proved it highly successful. Thus by a combination of individual effort and co-operation a colony may be built up which will be a matter of pride to this Country and a successful solution of one of the most difficult problems which is confronting this country at the present time.

Your obedient servants,

COMMITTEE:—W. D. CARGILL, C. M. BOWMAN, W. M. McDONALD, W. D. BELL, D. M. JERMYN, A. E. McNAB, C. J. MICKLE.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. A. WATT

Because of the spread of Influenza in the town, the meeting of the Women's Institute arranged to be held at Mrs. Hoover's Friday evening, has been postponed. It was to embrace a farewell to Mrs. Arthur Watt, Dist. Sec. of North Bruce, who leaves this week for this new home in Brantford. On Saturday evening a number of the Warton Branch gave a little surprise and presented her with the address given below with a handsome Club Bag, to which she gave a suitable reply.

Dear Mrs. Watt—We, a few of your friends, on behalf of the Women's Institute of North Bruce, call upon you this evening to bid you good-bye, and wish you God speed on the way to your new home and new life.

For seven years you have faithfully and capably performed the duties of Secretary in this North Bruce Women's Institute. From the day of small things you have helped the work to grow and increase in usefulness, till now, with our twelve branches, we can compare favorably in numbers with many of the strongest Institutes in the Province.

During the past year you have given most effective help towards the Medical Inspection of eleven schools in the District, that we believe will prove of great benefit to the young people of the Peninsula, from Park Head on South, to Tobermory at the extreme North.

With the most commendable thought and courtesy you have ever made the visits of our Department speakers and workers as pleasant and successful as possible. We hope that in your new home you may find both opportunity and encouragement to help in the good work of our Women's Institute for Home and Country.

We ask you to accept this Club Bag as a remembrance of your friends and fellow workers of North Bruce. Signed on behalf of the Local Institute

ETHEL MOORE, Pres.
M. Bolton, Pres. A. M. Logan, Sec.

Madam President and Ladies—I hardly know what to say to you. My tongue cannot express all that my heart would have me say. Will you convey to the members of the different branches my sincere thank you for this handsome gift, but alas for the kind expressions of friendship and goodwill. I feel I do not deserve the many nice things you have said. I have only tried to do what I could, often making many mistakes, which you have been pleased to overlook. You refer to the early days when the Women's Institute was not so well known as now. I have many happy recollections of those days. In the days when Mrs. Hoover was President and I, Secretary of the local Branch, we came through many disappointments and discouragements together, fortunately we did not both get "blue" at the same time, so we were able to "carry on" until we could place the work in other hands, and I am glad to be able to carry away with me the knowledge that the work I have loved to do is in such capable and efficient hands. In regard to the Medical Inspection, I felt that was children, not a temporary benefit, but something that would benefit their whole lives. Thus I was glad to be associated in a small way with the work that just now has been brought to such a successful close by the lady doctors. And now, I can only say "Thank You," I can only give you my good wishes, which I do with all my heart. I shall watch with interest the reports from time to time of your continued success, it has been my experience among the members of the Women's Institute one finds that the women that are doing the things worth while. I shall not forget my friends in North Bruce. God Bless you all, everyone.

Unfortunately, when people find it necessary to economize charity is the first thing to get in the neck.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES IN CANADA

Thousands of Cases Reported With Many Deaths.

THOSE WHO ARE MOST SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

"FRUIT-A-LIVES"—The Wonderful Fruit Medicine—Gives the Power To Resist This Disease.

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thousands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many deaths are already reported; Surgeon-General Blue of the United States Public Health Service having stated that "Spanish influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks".

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings with it those infected with the disease.

Surgeon-General Blue urges that "the individual take all the precautions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene". Plenty of exercise should be taken; the diet should be regulated, etc.

Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, work or worry, especially those who are "run-down" or "not feeling up to the mark".

The really great danger from the disease is not so much the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

What everyone needs now is a general tonic like "Fruit-a-lives". This wonderful fruit medicine is not a germ-killer. It is a body-builder; a strength-giver; a blood-purifier; a power in protecting against the ravages of disease.

"Fruit-a-lives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended.

"Fruit-a-lives" keeps the skin active, and purifies and enriches the blood.

"Fruit-a-lives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, insuring food being properly digested and assimilated.

Everyone can take ordinary precautions, avoid crowded places, and use "Fruit-a-lives" regularly to insure normal digestion, to keep the bowels and kidneys regular and the whole system in the best possible condition. Then we are safe from disease.

"Fruit-a-lives" is sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box, 4 for $2.50, and also 25c a box sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Blood Making Medicine

It took centuries for medical science to discover that the blood is the life. Now, it is known that if the blood were always abundant, rich and pure, very few people would ever be ill. It was not until the end of the 19th century that an instrument was invented for measuring the red part of the blood. Then doctors could tell just how anemic a patient had become, and with medicine to make new blood the patient soon got well.

All the blood in the body is nourishing and kept rich and red by the food taken daily, but when, for any reason, a person is run down and cannot make sufficient blood from the food to keep the body in health, then a blood-making medicine is required. The simplest and very best of blood makers suitable for home use by anyone, is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When a course of these pills is taken their good effect is soon shown in improved appetite, stronger nerves, a sound digestion and an ability to master your work and enjoy leisure hours. For women there is prompt relief of, or prevention of, ailments which make life a burden. As an all round medicine for the cure of ailments due to weak, watery blood, no medicine discovered by medical science can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Editorial

The Liberty Loan of $6,000,000,000 in the United States has been subscribed.

It is said that Ottawa may standardize shoes and set the price. Better late than never.

The clocks will probably be turned back October 27th. Very few will object.

No new newspaper can now be started in Canada during the war. This is to conserve newsprint.

Practically every town in this district has taken precaution against the spread of Influenza by closing schools, churches, etc.

Peace is in sight, but probably need not be expected immediately. It would appear that the Germans will still strive for terms.

The Victory Loan is a splendid investment and these bonds will probably sell at a premium within five years. The patriotic duty is also plain.

A celebrated American doctor says that the war diet is responsible for influenza, particularly the curtailment in sugar. Well, then, we know how to stamp out this disease.

There is no more striking evidence of the cowardly character of the Hun than in his appeal to President Wilson. Why does he not appeal directly to France and Britain? He knows what the answer would be.

An absolutely new condition faces the weekly newspapers on January 1, 1919. The subscription has to be paid in advance, the government says so. The reason is due to the scarcity of newsprint, no one is to get a paper unless he has paid for it. Newsprint is not only scarce, but high, and the outlook is that it will remain high in spite of after war conditions.

In recently addressing the Canadian Club Lt. Col. Bishop said that the Canadian Corps was the finest that ever went to France, and none there were better than those who went from Owen Sound, and he was sorry that they had lost heavily. But it was a fact that the troops who had lost the heaviest had done their duty best. He was proud to have come from the same town as those gallant soldiers. Future history would credit the Canadians with being the best troops that had fought in the war for freedom and all that was worth fighting for. There was a burst of applause from the fellow townsmen of the giant officer as he sat down.

McCallums Corners

H. Pettigrew made a business trip to Lions Head on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. Hayes had a large knitting and quilting bee on Wednesday, which was well attended.

We are sorry that our school is closed for one week and our church for two weeks on account of the Influenza epidemic.

Mrs. J. Ackerman did business in Lions Head last Thursday.

Mrs. A. Rouse and son, Davis, drove to Cape Chin on Thursday to visit friends there.

We are sorry to hear that Bobbie Blacklock, son of Robt. Blacklock, had another attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. Robert Nixon had a few friends in on Friday to help her quilt. They finished two quilts.

A. Shier made a trip to Stokes Bay one day last week.

A. McLay was helping John McDonald on Thursday.

Mr. W. Vickers is recovering from his severe attack of Influenza. Angus Rouse of Cape Chin and Bert Malcolm also had a slight attack of this disease.

Misses Vickers, of Toronto, spent a few days with her parents here last week.

Mr. Hugh Wilson is moving from our village to Cape Chin. We are sorry to have them move away.

It is with pleasure that we can report Pte. Wm. Morrow is rapidly recovering after his serious operation in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McDonald and family have the sincere sympathy of our community in their recent sad bereavement.

Mother is Well Now

Your Noise Does Not Disturb Me Any More—It is a Pleasure to Hear You Romp and Play.

"It is like a dream now to think of the long, weary months I spent in nervous helplessness. Some days I would be cheered by feeling better, but only to slip back again, and to be more than ever discouraged."

"I had always been very active. Had a wide acquaintance and did much entertaining. In addition to helping in whatever was going on at the church, there was Red Cross work to be done, and all the time I had my little family to look after and could not get help."

"I suppose I tried to do too much, for I got so I could not sleep at nights and always felt tired out in the mornings. Then I would have headaches and did not seem to care for my meals."

"Instead of the usual ambition and energy I found myself putting off the duties of the day. I got behind with the housework, and this worried me."

"I did not think that I was sick, but only tired. However, the time came when I did not get up in the morning. I simply could not. The doctor came and said, 'Nervous Prostration.' It seems I had kept on the go until the nervous system was wrung dry of all nerve force."

"Then came the long, weary weeks, and weeks dragged into months, without finding much improvement. I was completely discouraged and almost devoid of hope."

"But one day a friend told me of her experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and she was so sure that this treatment would do me good that I decided to give it a chance."

"I need scarcely say that there were some dark, discouraging days after beginning the use of the Nerve Food, but as my appetite and digestion improved I felt that I was gradually getting back the old-time vigor. Sleep became more natural and refreshing. The dark days passed and I began to take a more cheerful view of the future. Then I began to plan what I would do when I got around again. The house must be decorated and the children brought home, for I had to send them to my sister's on account of the way their noise disturbed me."

"Now I feel that I am entirely well again, and without hesitation give the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I cannot tell you the pleasure it gives me to be restored to my husband and children after the long period of helplessness."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Last Sunday was a most quiet Sabbath. There were no services in the Churches. This will no doubt last as long as there is any danger of the epidemic hitting this town any harder. There are not many cases here yet, and it is a good thing to have the disease under control.

There will be an auction sale of household sale of furniture, at the residence of Mrs. Wiggins, corner of Frank and Bedford Streets, Saturday afternoon, October 26th at 2 o'clock, consisting of sideboard, kitchen table, extension table, kitchen chairs, dresser, couches, rocking chairs, bed-room suite, dishes, carpets, curtains, linoleum, stoves and other articles. See Bids.

Last week Frank Ewald, youngest son of Mr. George Ewald, passed away, aged 18 years. He had been getting well, was not confined to his bed for a number of days, when the crew being short-handed, he was ordered by the Captain to take a night watch. He did so, and was severely chilled. He continued with the boat as long as he was able, when he left for home Pneumonia soon developed and ran its fatal course.

Heating Stoves

A big variety of Oak Heaters, Quebec Heaters, Box Stoves and Queen Heaters

For Wood Only, the Queen Heater is very economical. The construction of the draft is so it can be regulated to a fraction, besides being economical they are not expensive. 18 inch Queen Heater, Russia iron body, double lined, with Queen patent draft $7.00

Larger size to take 22 inch wood $8.50

Another style is fitted with a nickle plated rail and urn and takes a 22 inch stick $11.00

For a big heat the Double Heating Queen is the stove, large opening lid for rough wood and chunks and will take a 2 foot stick and is fitted with extra collar for double heat $15.00

For That Spare Room

which may be hard to reach with a stove an Oil Stove will do the trick.

Large size Oil Stoves with round wick, japanned finish $6.50.

With Nickle Plated... $7.25

Hot Blast Oil Stoves

Here is a very handy Heater can be carried around quite easily. Will heat a pan of water quickly. At $2.75 should have one of these Steam Cookers as they save time, labor and fuel. Poke the fire under one lid of your stove and cook the whole dinner with the odd chips. No stove top full of pots and pans and the whistle warns you so that there is no danger of burning any of the food.

EVERY WOMAN

Small size $5.50

Regular household size $6.75

With Extension Copper Bottom $7.50

Boarding House size $8.75

Schools, Churches Etc. Closed

Last Thursday the Board of Health issued a proclamation closing Public and High School, Pool Room, Movies, etc. etc. until the epidemic known as the Spanish Influenza subsides. The citizens are asked to co-operate in order to prevent the spread of this disease, and it is certainly something in which everyone should assist. If there is a suspected case of influenza it should be reported to the authorities at once. If anyone is not sure whether he has a cold or influenza he should remain at home until he finds out. All parties and meetings of any kind should be discontinued. Let us try to stamp out this disease. There is very little of it so far in town, and we do not want it at all.

ROUSE—WYNCH

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wynch, of Cape Chin, on Wednesday October 9th, when their second eldest daughter, Etta, was united in marriage to Edward Rouse, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Alfred Rouse of Hayes Settlement. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Etherington, of Ferndale.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of pale blue silk with net overdress, with veil and orange blossoms, also a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride was supported by Miss Maud Blacklock, who was prettily gowned in a dress of soft blue silk trimmed with lace. Mr. Charles Wynch, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the immediate relatives. A reception and dance was given in Hayes Hall in the evening, to a large number of friends.

A large number of useful presents were received including money.

Medical Report

of Schools

Dr. L. K. Sirra, as before mentioned, under the auspices of the Womens Institute, inspected the schools at Oliphant, Colpoys Bay, Hope Bay, Hopewell, Lions Head, Spry, Dyers
Bay, Tobernory and the Settlement School two and a half miles from Tob-ernory. The following table is a summary of the above schools, including Park Head, Warton not included.

Number of pupils with defects of:
Mal Nutrition

Lack of Oral and Nasal Hygiene, 36%

Not Vaccinated

Tonsils or Adenoids, both,

Should be removed

Impaired Vision

Decayed Teeth

Filled Teeth

Gait

Requiring medical attention

Requiring Dental attention

Normal Pupils

A study of the above shows the vast need of Medical Dental Inspection of the Schools of rural Ontario. Each child receives a report of its defects

if any, which should receive attention and a written report is left with the Institutes to be presented to the School Board of Inspected Schools.

This report besides stating the Medico-Dental condition of the children, draws attention to the school as to lighting, heating, seating etc., and other surroundings so far as they affect the health of the child.

The schools are the average found in the rural districts.

Dr. Sirra declared herself pleased with the great interest shown by the women for the work being done, and their desire and endeavor to have the girls and boys become healthy men and men.

North Bruce owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. A. A. Watt for her persistence and final success in securing the Inspection. And the Doctors, Dr.

Smith and Dr. Sirra have certainly fulfilled their part of the work.

Anyone wishing to purchase wood at a reasonable price apply to MRS.

W. B. DANARD, of Oliphant, for terms.

OXENDEN

Miss Lottie Siegrist, who has been away for some weeks visiting in Meaford and Owen Sound, returned home last Saturday.

The school is closed on account of the prevalence of the Grippe of Spanish Influenza.

No service in the church last Sunday on account of the close proximity of the "Flu" not wishing to spread the disease.

The run of fish are good this fall.

The Canadian Echo

Vol. XXXIX—No. 17

WARTON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30th, 1918.

Price: $2 per year, $1.50 if paid in advance

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:

ANGUS SINCLAIR, son of Capt. Sinclair, Warthon, Killed in Action.

WILL LAURENCE, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Laurence, Warthon, gunshot wound in shoulder.

ANDREW BLAKE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blake, Mar. Killed in Action.

ROY DEAN, Tobermory, gunshot wound in foot.

PTE. WILFRID OTTOWELL, Claver, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ottowell, officially reported Killed in Action.

PTE. FRANCES EDWARD DAVIS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Warthon, previously reported missing, now officially reported Killed in Action.

PTE. BERT BLACKMAN died of pneumonia in 2nd Eastern General Hospital, Brighton, England.

Andre Blake was a Mar boy who had been in the West for a number of years. He enlisted at Regina, and was not able to drop off to see his parents, whom he had not seen for 7 years.

The death of Angus Sinclair has cast a gloom on the younger element in the town, and over the High School students, for he had been attending that institution for a number of years, and by diligence had succeeded in passing his Senior Entrance work. He was a faithful student, and was a faithful soldier. He went to England in April and had been in France last a month.

Pte. Blackman was one of the first from Warthon to enlist, was accidentally wounded in a sham battle in England, and was kept there after he recovered and given different positions. His death from pneumonia, following the cable informing of his illness, is a surprise to his widow and three children, who will have the sympathy of everyone at the time.

To Our Subscribers

As intimated last week subscriptions to The Echo on January 1st, 1919 are payable in advance. The newspaper commissioner has issued this command, and the publisher has to obey. Hitherto a great many have paid during the year. This, while strictly speaking, was not paying in advance, yet it was satisfactory to us, as we knew our subscribers. However, although we may know everyone, yet we cannot show any difference whatever, and we shall be obliged to drop the name of any old subscriber and friend should his remittance fail to reach us by the first of the New Year. We trust that those who have been our life long subscribers will remember that we are governed by a new law and will remit in time. And now a word to all who are in arrears, some for 1918, some for two years and some for three years, etc. On January 1st we will be obliged to stop sending the paper should we not hear from you in the meantime. We have sent the paper so far in good faith, and we confidently expect that you will make good. Look at your label and see what you owe. Do not wait until the last of the year to remit, but send along the money to-day. Do it now—"Go over the top". Others are going over, one subscriber $7, another sends word that $9 will soon be here. Please let us hear from you.

COLLINGWOOD, ONTARIO

Influenza on Saugeen Reserve

(Southampton Beacon)
Spanish Influenza, with its heavy hand, visited the Reserve a little over a week ago and took heavy toll. The first death, that of Mrs. Isiah Shawbados, occurred in the village. Within a week some fourteen others have died. Scarcely a house in the village was missed, in some cases the whole family being ill at once.

Scotch Settlement seemed to be visited about the same time. From this district it took the heaviest toll. In one house three of the family died and two children. No doubt some of the deaths were due to a lack of care the parents being sick as well as the children, and the whole community being down at once, one was not able to help nurse the other.

Practically the whole Reserve has been swept. Most of those sick are now on the mend, although some cases are still critical.

Among those dead are—Mrs. Isiah Shawbados, Mrs. Wm. Nakhwa, Mrs. Jos. Patoquet and two children, Mrs. Louis Wines and child, a child of Richard Nakhwa, Levi Kakege, and a number of children.

Besides those on the Reserve David Nakhwa, son of Mr. Adam Nakhwa, was brought home from Christian Island, where he had died after a very short illness. Another is reported dead at Orillia, at present unconfirmed.

The doctor and Mr. Stout, the Agent have done their utmost to cope with the disease, but it spread with such rapidity it was hard to deal with.

The Indian Department have authorized Mr. Stout to secure help for the many, but this is also a difficult problem as nurses are in such demand these days. We trust the worst is over and the ill will soon be able to be around again. A number of cases among the white people have also proved fatal in the immediate vicinity. Schools and Churches have all been closed for the protection of those not ill.

LETTER FROM CAPT. A. HEEDLANDS, M. C., TO HIS COUSIN, MRS. JAS. PARKER, LIONS HEAD

France, Sept. 18 1918
Dear Cousin—Just got your letter of August 25th, and pleased to hear all your news. I am in good health and feeling fine and dandy. Had a good time in both these last two shows. Would like a rest and a change, but then I always feel like that no matter what I am doing.

Do you know we have some people from your part of the country in our Battalion, now. When the 260th Bn. was broken up one platoon, under Lt. Pettigrew was sent to the 10th Pioneers, and when the 10th Pioneers were broken up that platoon was sent to our Battalion. They all come from around your part of the country, and they are all good boys and soldiers. Lt. Pettigrew makes a first rate officer and is a first rate chap all round. The two Battalion boys are among them. They are both well and doing fine. Nice boys and good soldiers.

I have been both Frank Butchart and Clarence Hagarth in the last few days. Frank is Gunner with the 2nd Bn. B. and Clarence is a Lt. with the 28th Bn. They are both well and looking fine. Had Clarence to supper for dinner to-day.

I have not had box yet, and I am afraid it will be a month any way before I get it, which will make about eight months. Pleased to hear your news about Dave Butchart and family.

I admired two snaps very much. They are very natural.
Much love and good luck,
RUPERT

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lougheed, of Lions Head, and Mr. Wilson Teague and children, spent Sunday the guest of Mr. W. H. Barnes.
We are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. R. Wilson, of Shallow Lake, Corp. Hilton Johnston is home and is staying with his uncle, Richard Johnston.

Councillor Pope Threw the Monkey Wrench Into the Fuel Controller's Wood Pile

Dreams do not always come true, and dreams of lots of wood at $3.50 per cord, will likely be another bit of imagination, unwarranted by facts. Just before the Council adjourned, Monday evening, Coun. Pope wanted the Mayor to report on his wood pile. And to tell the truth that official has never encouraged very much conversation upon the subject. He has been Fuel Controller, boss of the job, and none of the Councillors have had the courage to interfere although they have been much doing which will reflect a great deal of credit upon the Council.

"The wood," said the Mayor, "What we want to know?"

Coun. Pope: "Why everyone is asking about it?"

"Well," said this worship, "We are not getting it out very fast, but if anyone in the Council or out of the Council, can recommend a better way I will be glad to hear him."

"And just how much has been cut already? A shack has been built, a lot bought, a Fuel Controller appointed, and the cold winter coming on, and yet this Worship had to report that about only 30 cords had been cut so far, and 12 cords of this amount is 4 x 4 x 8, the balance store wood. Now will the people figure out how many sticks each house can be given. It looks like the Mayor has had a hard job, one he cannot very well handle alone, and The Echo would respectfully suggest that he should get a committee to work with him right away. There is no time to be lost. If within two weeks there is not sufficient progress made the Council must deal immediately with the matter because coal is not coming to town, and is not likely to, and we are depending very largely upon the bunk lot to help us out. It is just as well to remember that while the Council hold the Mayor responsible for the job, yet if wood is not forthcoming the people will hold the Council responsible. The money has been spent and we want the wood this year, and when wood is high, not next year, when it may be cheap.

There was an offer from Fred Taylor to cut and deliver 100 cords wood at $6 per cord, and 18 inch wood at $3.75 per cord. The Council considered the offer a little high. The Mayor was instructed however, to offer $1.50 per cord to get 20 inch wood cut and $1.50 per cord to get 16 inch wood cut.

Coun. Irwin said the man on the job was there on a contract to cut 250 cords, but we want from 1000 to 1500 cords and then we will be boss of the job.

His Worship was advised to put a number of men at work and to rush matters.

Another matter which was discussed was the electric light situation. The Company have not yet made a report to the Council how they propose to be prepared for next summer, whereupon the Clerk was asked to write them and to request the information immediately.

Coun. Plante is scarcely in sympathy with the proposed way of putting the sewer on Scott St. He would like to know how much it is going to cost.

There was very little business before the Council and only sufficient Councilmen to make a quorum.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS TO DYERS BAY WOMENS INSTITUTE

Somewhere in France,
Aug. 16 1918.

Dear Sister—I received your very welcome letter, also the parcel from the Women's Institute, for which I am very thankful. I wish to express my thanks to the other ladies of the Institute for their kindness to me. The box was just dandy and I was lucky enough to get the pair Eliza knit. I am sure they are very nice and am pleased that Eliza is knitting for us soldier boys. The writing material is splendid and the cake tastes good. Everything was in first class condition. I am very grateful to the Dyers Bay women for the work they are doing for us boys across the Sea.

Thinking you all again.

Dear Ethel—I received your most welcome parcel a day or so ago. It sure was a great surprise to me. I wish to thank the ladies of the Women's Institute for sending me such a nice parcel. The box was very nice, also the writing material and the cake tastes like homemade cooking. I am cutting a piece just now as I write.

I was over to England to see Lew. Tyn before he came to France. I tried to go in his place, but I could not, and I even couldn't go with him. He was hard to part, but I trust Lewellyn may be spared to return home.

The weather is very pleasant now, and the harvest good here this year. Now I will close.

FRED BALLS PASSES AWAY

One after one there disappears the pioneers of the Peninsula, the men who truly laid the foundations, which made this part of Bruce what it is to-day. And as the bodies are quietly laid to rest their neighbors gather sorrowfully around the grave and pay their last respects to those who endured the hardships of early life, and laboured hard to give the present generation a good inheritance.

On Sunday afternoon a long funeral cortege, consisting of autos and vehicles, proceeded from Adamsville to the Colpoys Cemetery, where the body of Frederick Balls was laid to rest. Most of all the prominent farmers of Albion were present, as well as many from Easton. The funeral was attended by many Orangemen from Warthon, Purple Valley, Lions Head and Hope Bay, the deceased belonging to the lodge in the last named place, and the beautiful ritual of the lodge was read by Dr. S. E. Foster, Warthon.

The deceased was born in the famous township of East Zora, County of Oxford, Sept. 26, 1856. In early life he learned the trade of a blacksmith and carried on a business in Elms Township, and later at Adamsville. It is now 36 years since he settled in Albion, and during all these years he was a most prominent citizen of the township. He was a good farmer, and engaged quite extensively in timbering. But he had also a fondness for municipal life and for 16 years sat at the Albion Council board. He first served in the Council in 1888, and his last term was in 1911. And he was a good Councillor. Those who sat there with him will remember that he worked for the best interests of Albion.

He was married in 1883 to Miss Caroline Matheson Scott, of Mornington, who with the sons and six daughters, survive him.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. William Balls Woodstock, Mrs. Greacen, Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Poole, Brantford, Mrs. Barton and son, Mr. Barton and Mr. J. Scott, and Mrs. Madic, of Dundonald, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Alex Buchanan, of Milverton.

Orders to the amount of $67.02 were issued on the Treasurer.

Craig and Weir—That this Council do now adjourn to meet again at Cunningham's Hall, Colpoys Bay, on the 28th day of October, 1918 at 4 o'clock a. m. as a Court of Revision of Engineers Assessment of lands in area of Ashcroft Municipal Drain and for general business. Cd.
THOS. COVENEY, Clerk

COLPOYS BAY

The funeral of the late Edson Brown who died at Orillia, Oct. 21, of pneumonia, was held Thursday morning. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Matthews, interment in the Colpoys Cemetery.

Miss Craig, teacher, was at Tara Saturday attending the marriage of her sister.

The attendance at the public school was very small all last week, as the parents seemed to be afraid to send their children on account of the Flu but there are no cases in or around Colpoys, as far as we have heard. School this week as usual.

The funeral of the late Mr. Fred Balls of Adamsville, was very largely attended last Sabbath afternoon. The Orange Order held it in charge, Orange men were present from Lions Head, Purple Valley and Warthon. Rev. J. Thompson conducted the funeral.

Miss Collins, the dressmaker, demonstrator, for the Women's Institute, is here all the week giving lessons in Cunningham's Hall. A goodly number of ladies are attending.

We are sorry to report the death of Mr. George Green of Chesley, from pneumonia, on October 14th. Mr. Green visited here several times at Mr. Henry Lemcke's and his E. E. Whitcher's. He had done his bit overseas and returned home suffering from a wound in his knee, and his lungs were badly affected by gas, as he was an easy victim for pneumonia. Mr. Green was a fine young man and much sympathy is extended to the bereaved friends.

Our High School boys and girls are having a holiday these days, owing to the prevalence of the Spanish Influenza in Warthon.

Mrs. S. Weir Sundayed at Mar, with friends.

Died—In Orillia, on October 21st of Pneumonia, Edson Brown, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Brown, aged 26 years.

Mr. Robert Armstrong, of Toronto was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Weir for nearly two weeks. Mr. Armstrong is an uncle of Mr. Weir's. Miss Olive Gilpin and Mr. Heber Gilpin, of Warthon, visited at the Parsonage Tuesday of last week.

Most of the people turned their clock back an hour on Saturday night before retiring, so as to be on time on Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Ward and daughters, of Warthon, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Brown, last week.

S. S. was held last Sunday at 11 a. m. and the usual service in the evening. Next Sunday will be the Quarterly Missionary Program. Mrs. W. H. Brown to give the report of the Diast. Meeting held at Lions Head, relative to missions. Suitable music will also be given.

Distribution of Seed Grain

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, a free distribution of superior sorts of grain will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers.

The samples for distribution will consist of Spring Wheat (about 5 lb) White Oats (about 4 lb), Barley (about 5 lb), and field peas (about 5 lb). These will be sent out, free, by mail from the Central Experimental farm Ottawa, by the Dominion Cerealist, who will furnish the necessary application forms.

Only one sample can be sent to each applicant. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early.

WALKERTON

The 'Flu' epidemic in Walkerton and vicinity is still raging, but the facts that no deaths have occurred so far from the malady, in town, shows how well the situation is being handled here. While many old cases are being cleaned up and the patients getting around again, some new cases are developing, but if the present favorable weather continues for a few weeks longer, it should prove a great germ extinguisher, and will enable this cow country to soon rid itself of the plague. The doctors are busy in consulting the people against pneumonia, which is the real danger to be feared from the disease. The town diet kitchen hasn't as yet been opened, but soups and other delicacies for patients are being made and distributed from the home of Mrs. Edna Wasey, President of the I. O. O. F. The Hospital is rapidly receiving Flu patients and the V. A. D. nurses are ably doing their bit among the infected homes, and the situation is being well handled here.

Lt. Col. James J. Fraser, D. S. O., a former Walkerton physician who returned last summer from the front, was married in Ottawa on Monday of last week (Thanksgiving Day) to Miss Georgie Beech McCullough, a former head nurse in the Ottawa General Hospital. The bride was overseas, and like the groom, won distinction at the front, she receiving a decoration for her efficiency as a nurse, while the groom received the Distinguished Service Order medal for valorous service to the wounded on the field. The engagement, it seems, was contracted.

The After Effects of Dreaded La Grippe

La Grippe, or Spanish influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over all America is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble. La Grippe, or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends in a complication of troubles. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly disease. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid a gripe by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a tonic medicine which enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. If, however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once go to bed, and call a doctor before complications set in. This is the only safe thing to do. But to recover your strength after the severity of the attack has passed, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an unsurpassed tonic. Through the use of this medicine all the evil after effects of this trouble will be banished. This has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, where in previous seasons la grippe has attacked them. Among the many thus restored to full health is Miss Irene Boster, Portmouth, Ont., who says—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved, and in little more than a month I felt all my old time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only cure the distressing after effects of la grippe, but also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anæmia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments, and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get these through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ed amid the pounding of guns in Flanders, and is a phrasing romance from the Great War. 'Goli' and Mrs. Frase left immediately for Winnipeg where the doctor is in charge of the mammoth 2000-bed military hospital.

Ed. Erdman, who has been at the front for nearly three years and participated in most of the big fights of the Canadians in the war and escaped the casualty lists, is now the victim of a mishap which has temporarily put him out of action, his mother Mrs. M. Erdman, receiving a wire here on Saturday that he had been admitted to the 54th General Hospital at Abenque on Oct. 9th with a fractured shin. Just how the accident occurred is not known as yet here, but it is believed that Ed, who has been with the Motor Signalling Corps, has broken his leg by a fall from the motor.

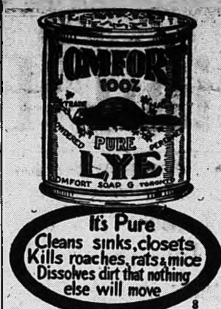

Mr. John McWhinney, formerly of the 6th con. Brant, now of Markdale, received word early last week that his son Clayton, who enlisted with the 160th Bn. at Walkerton had been wounded at the front. This message from the Canadian capital was followed a few days later by one from the Canadian West stating that his eldest son, Ivan, had succumbed to the 'Flu'. During the building of the C. P. R. into Walkerton, Ivan had the distinction of being the youngest laborer on the construction work between here and Hanover. Leaving about five years ago for the West, he had of late been employed as brakeman on the C. P. R. at Regina. He was a fine sturdy chap of 26 years, and leaves to mourn, a wife and two young children.

Lieut. Victor McKechnie, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. McKechnie of Walkerton, and who crossed overseas with the 160th Bn., has been sent with five other Canadian officers on a military mission to the Orient. The party left England for the Orient on Oct. 11. The exact nature of their errand has not yet been disclosed, although it is possible that they may act as instructors of some big levies of Indian troops, which are being raised for service at the front.

OWEN SOUND

Indications seem to point to the early cessation of the 'Flu' epidemic in Owen Sound. While new cases are continually developing and two deaths occurred over the week end as a result, the number of serious cases seem to be diminishing. Further precautions have been taken by the M. H. O. in that Auction Sales have been cancelled, billiard parlors and bowling allies closed. The Board of Health acted quickly as soon as it was seen the epidemic was of a serious nature, and as a result, present conditions seem favorable for the early ending of the epidemic. In many places the epidemic is reported to have passed the high water mark and the number of cases and deaths are rapidly declining. Boston, where over 4,000 deaths occurred, has the 'Business as Usual' sign out again and several other American cities have also been opened up. Toronto reports a decline in the number of deaths. Some of the small towns and villages near Owen Sound were heavily hit, Tara, particularly, feeling the full force of the epidemic. There have been a number of deaths there and it was reported here yesterday that the old British Hotel had been transformed into a hospital. In Owen Sound six deaths have so far resulted, and a number of serious cases have developed. Some of the factories have been especially hard hit and it is reported that the Nut and Bolt Works, Kennedy's, Corbets, and other factories in town have a large proportion of their men absent. Kennedys have given the men an hour off in the morning to permit of them helping with the sick at home before coming to work. So far as can be judged here the worst of the epidemic is over, but it will be a week or ten days before restrictions are removed.

Out in Shallow Lake the authorities advertised in the Toronto papers for a Medical Doctor and were fortunate enough in securing the services of one. He has been very busy attending the sick there since his arrival, and this in spite of the fact that he is far from well himself. He had practiced in the West and his health gave out under the hard work and he was compelled to take a rest. But with the present serious epidemic in full swing, he sacrificed his own desires, and has risked much to help where he was needed most. He is making many friends in Shallow Lake and vicinity.

There has been a certain amount of petty thieving at the Grand Trunk Station during the past few weeks and as a result suspicion was resting on several of the employees for want of knowledge of the real criminal. Last night the thief was caught with the goods on him and he proved to be a "neway" on the train. A couple of the young men on the staff watched the "neway" go through the till, saw him pin the money in his coat sleeve, and then called the police. The young fellow is from Stratford and will be tried to-morrow. It is said that he has admitted to the theft of about $53 over a period of several weeks.

HANOVER

One of the most popular of the younger generation of local business men passed away at his home here about midnight on Wednesday night of last week in the person of Mr. C. H. Heather. He was only 33 years of age. Deceased contracted influenza which later developed into pneumonia and in spite of attentive nursing and medical skill, it was all over in about ten days. Whole-souled, big-hearted "Charlie" will be mourned by a wide circle of friends, not only in Hanover but in Neustadt, Aytton and the Township of Normandy, where he was known and liked by everyone. On the Hanover lawn bowling green his big figure just radiated good fellowship, and when the local bowlers went visiting it always added to the spice of the occasion to have Charlie along. Charlie was a friend maker, and we are told that when bowling in outside towns it wasn't very long before everyone was calling him "Charlie". In addition to his likeable personality, he was an nature insurance writer, and as district agent for the Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. he had qualified for the "Hundred Thousand Club" this past two years. Deceased was born in Alpena, Michigan, on the 25th of August, 1885. His father, Henry Heather, died in Alpena, in 1896 when Charlie was only 9 months old. He lived with his grandfather, John Himmeler at Neustadt, after his father's death, until he entered the Royal Bank at Aytton, 14 years ago. He left the Bank three years ago, and took an agency with the Crown Life Insurance Co., working the Aytton field, and moved to Hanover in 1916. He was married 8 years ago to Miss Winifred Gilbert, of Southampton, who survives him with two children, Betty and Gilbert. Deceased also leaves his mother and one brother, D. J., who is employed with the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co., of Toronto, to mourn his death. Deceased was a Royal Arch Mason and a Conservative in politics.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon to the family burial plot at Neustadt. Rev. Mr. Shaw, of the Anglican Church conducted the obsequies.

A citizen's meeting was held in the council chamber on Monday evening to devise ways and means of fighting the influenza epidemic. The fact was brought out at the meeting that Hanover hasn't a Medical Health Officer—the post was not filled upon the removal of Dr. Eede to Galt. The meeting went on record that the council be urged to appoint a Medical Health Officer at once, so that an organization could be formed under proper authority to assist in fighting the epidemic. Members of the I. O. O. F. and the Women's Institute were present, and some initial work was planned. It is hoped to provide for a diet kitchen and endeavor to secure volunteer nurses, and if possible retain the services of Miss Withnith, trained nurse, to instruct the volunteers.

Are You Helping to Defend Your Own Freedom OR LETTING SOMEONE ELSE DO IT FOR YOU?

LAST year over 800,000 people helped to defend their freedom through the Victory Loan 1917. If you were one of these you will now be one of the million or more patriotic Canadians who will help to over-subscribe

Canada's Victory Loan 1918

The same principles, the same love of your Country, and the same anxiety to do your share, however small, towards the great work, will guide you now as it guided you then.

It is the privilege of every Canadian man and woman to help to provide the means by which our gallant boys are enabled to finish their great fight for freedom.

Money has been and is the greatest asset in the greatest war in the history of the world.

Your money is needed.

We will do our best also to see that others come forward, we will tell them of the security of the investment which Canada offers to us, of the 5½ per cent. interest their money will earn, and the absolute certainty of the repayment of their loans. But above all else, we will ourselves each and every one of us, buy to the extent of our ability.

Thus shall we be able to look our boys in the face when they come home again and show them that we did what we could to help while they fought for us.

The Dreaded Message

It is the women that have suffered most in this terrible war—

"For men must work
And women must weep."

Theirs has been the worry and anxiety. The watching and waiting in constant dread of what might happen.

Because mental suffering is far more distressing and debilitating than physical pain and discomforts women have had the greatest burden to bear.

The strain has been both severe and long, and the result is an alarming increase in diseases of the nerves. Nervous headaches, neuralgic pains, nervous prostration and exhaustion, restlessness, irritability and melancholy.

These are some of the indications of nervous breakdown.

The building up of an exhausted nervous system is oftentimes a somewhat tedious process, but with the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can be sure that restoration is both natural and lasting.

Get out into the fresh air as much as possible. Seek the companionship of healthy, cheerful people, and depend on this food cure to enrich the blood and supply to the depleted nerve cells the nourishment essential for their restoration.

Mrs. S. N. Hurst, Barrie, Ont., writes: "About thirteen years ago, owing to a shock I had received, my nerves simply got the better of me. I could not sleep at night and my work in the day time. I suffered from a trembling sensation in my stomach, which kept up continually. I doctored for about a year and a half without getting any benefit. Then someone advised me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did so, and at first was nearly discouraged, but as I was finishing the first box I found I was getting a little better. I then continued the treatment until I had taken six boxes, and during this time seemed to be getting stronger and better as time went on. The trembling in my stomach ceased, and I was able to eat and sleep without any difficulty. I am very grateful for having been advised to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, as I had about given up hopes of ever getting any relief. I therefore gladly recommend the use of this treatment to any one suffering from nervous trouble of any kind."

In order to be sure of getting the genuine Dr. Chase's Nerve Food it is only necessary to see the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the box you buy. 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

TARA

Dr. F. A. and Mrs. Thomas received the sad intelligence on Monday that their son, Frederick Tracey Thomas, had died at his home in Minot, North Dakota, on Sunday. No particulars have been received relating to his death, but it is thought likely that Spanish influenza was the cause of death. Deceased was born in Tara thirty-two years ago and spent his boyhood days here. In 1916 he went to Souris, N. D., where he was employed as clerk and express agent of the Canadian Northern Railway. Afterwards he took a position in the head office of the Piper Hume Lumber Company, at Minot, where he was employed up to the time of his death. In 1910 he married Miss Anna Hopman, of Souris, who survives along with three daughters, aged respectively seven, five and one and one-half years. He is also survived by his parents, sisters, Bessie and Kathleen of Tara, and three brothers, Wallace and Ned, both overseas and Roy at Ridgeway. Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Word reached here this week that Pte. Thos. Croome had been wounded in France. The telegram which was received by his father, Mr. Thomas Croome sr., briefly stated that he had been wounded in the arm and head. Previous to enlisting Pte. Croome was employed in Toronto. It is hoped that his injuries will not prove serious.

The death took place at Havelock on Wednesday last week of Mr. Clarence Diebel, formerly of Allenford. Deceased was sick only a week with Spanish influenza, which developed into pneumonia. He was married in November, 1916 to Miss Eva Carson of Skipsnes, who survives along with two children. Mr. Hector Diebel, of Allenford, is a brother of the deceased.

Shot At His Mill

J. W. Rae Shot in Head by Stranger—Described as About Thirty Years of Age and Wore Grey Overcoat

(Kincardine Review)

It is rarely that a town or hamlet the size of Kincardine has not something pending in the shape of coming events that the citizens look forward to, or are enjoying the events if they happen, during the past week the epidemic of influenza that every person was either discussing or trying to avoid was side tracked when on Wednesday evening it was rumored that Mr. J. W. Rae, the miller, had been shot at in his mill basement, and one of the bullets hitting him in the back of the head inflicting an ugly wound. The story, as far as can be obtained is this: On Tuesday evening Mr. Rae was milking his cow in the yard, when a well dressed man about thirty years of age wearing a grey coat and green soft hat, approached him. Mr. Rae bid him the time of day, the stranger replying. The stranger asked if he sold chicken feed. Mr. Rae said that he did, and asked him if he wished to get some, the stranger replying in the affirmative. Mr. Rae said that he would be through milking in a few minutes and would attend to his wants. Mr. Rae remarked that he was a stranger to him, and asked if he lived in town. The stranger replied that he was a stranger in town and was staying at one of the hotels. About the time Mr. Rae completed the milking of the cow, a team came into the yard and drove up for chop. Mr. Rae turned his attention to the man with the team naturally, and when he came to look for the man who wanted the chicken feed he was no where to be seen. Mr. Rae thought this was strange, but decided that perhaps he was in a hurry and did not care to wait.

On Wednesday afternoon about four o'clock while Mr. Rae was engaged in the mill, two farmers drove in for chop and Mr. Rae had them attended to, and after they drove away he decided to go down to the boiler room and start up the machinery. After everything was running smoothly he again decided to go upstairs to the main floor. Climbing up the steps to the main floor, and when fairly well up, he heard a report and was hit in the back of the head. Another report followed, but by this time he had fallen to the floor below. Mr. Rae was stunned for a second, but upon gaining consciousness crawled over and shut off the engine. In doing so he noticed his man who had been after the chicken feed, the evening previous (and who had passed the mill a few minutes previous while Mr. Rae was waiting on the farmer who wanted the chop) at the engine room door. Mr. Rae again hastened upstairs with his head banded up in time to see him pass the mill door towards Queen Street. After reaching the street he went north towards the Town Hall. Mr. Rae went into the house and tried to call up Mr. Huffman at the Town Hall, but the latter was not within hearing distance at the time, so Mr. Rae followed up town, but the villain had made his mistake.

What the motive was is what is troubling the citizens. Mr. Rae is one of our best citizens and does not interfere in anything that is not his own business. He has a host of friends and no enemies that he knows of. The only feasible suggestion is that Mr. Rae handles considerable money in his daily transactions in business, and no doubt the stranger wished to get acquainted with the lay of the building and where the money till was situated, which opportunity he had on the first evening, when the man who came for chop would disclose while paying for his toll and as the mill is situated in a quiet part of the town, and the desperado was after money, took the chance on shooting to carry out his impious designs. But on hearing the machinery stop so suddenly, he evidently realized that he had made a bad job of it and took 'leg hail'. Some people were inclined at first to think that some part of the rapid moving machinery had burst, hitting Mr. Rae on the head, and rendering him unconscious; that he might have imagined that he saw the man at the boiler-room door. But upon examination of the premises there is nothing to be found that would justify the impression.

CHESLEY

Every Church and Sunday School in town was closed last Sunday and will continue closed next Sunday. We don't like a Churchless Sunday and we don't know any who do excepting those who never attend church services and the ministers would be surprised if they knew how many in town or country rarely, if ever darken or brighten a church door. Last Sunday we went for a walk up Main Street and at the top of the South incline where we had a good view both ways, we could not see another person on the street. The interior of the Board of Health was assuming the proportions of a plague in Toronto Ottawa and some other Canadian cities. But it is as Chicken Fox to Bohemian Plague which visited Old London in 1665 when those who could leave the city got out. 50,000 persons died of it from June to September. The bells tolled incessantly, most of the shops were closed, grass grew in the streets and nothing could be heard but the rumbling of the death carts. Verily a Plague isn't very helpful to business. The longest church closing on record was in the reign of King John, when Pope Innocent III. aggrieved at the King's refusal to accept his nominee as Archbishop of Canterbury, closed all churches in England for 7 years and no marriage or funeral services took place in that time.

Last Thursday the appeal of John A. Bradshaw and John Robinson of the 8th Con. Eldership against their assessment on a ditch constructed under the Municipal Drainage Act came up before Judge Klein at Warkenton. The appellants had contended that under a former judgment the whole cost should come out of the municipality or assembly, that having constructed another ditch, under the Ditches and Water Courses Act they had not been allowed sufficient for the work done and should be exempt from all liability on this assessment. The Judge rejected the first plea, but held that a greater allowance than the engineer had made should be granted, and relieve them of direct liability and assess them for outlet and maintenance. The Township pays the witness fees amounting to $21. Robertson and McNabb were solicitors for the plaintiffs and C. J. Mickle for the defendants.

Clayton Lackie, a young man in Elmwood forged the name of his step father, Mr. Bochart, to a $25 check which was cashed by Chas. Knapp, the Iversman. He also issued a check for $10 on the Royal Bank and got it cashed by T. O. Henderson, who is out the money because there were no funds when he presented the check. The police will soon be after the young forger. His crime is a penitentiary one.

Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—headache, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Gomez, 255 Napoleon St., Freemont, Ohio.

Victory Loan Will Be a Success

It looks as if Warton will be good for any amount between $75,000 and $100,000 for the Victory Loan this year. The first day saw nearly $25,000 subscribed and while the first day is always the best, yet it is reasonable to suppose that only a beginning has been made. The amount asked from Warton is $50,000 so it looks as if we will go over the top easily.

On Tuesday evening the subscription to the Victory Loan exceeded $48,000 so the objective is easily in sight.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Ball and family, Adamsville, desire to thank their neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness, during the illness of the late Mr. Ball, and for the sympathy shown since their bereavement.

Editorial

One thing is sure that there are not too many doctors in Ontario. Many towns have been realizing this during the present epidemic.

The Walkerton Telescope says that there is no real "flu" there. Probably some who have had the ache in their bones have thought it terribly real.

Major Moffat was "big Injun" during the days of the recruiting for the Bruce 160th—but Major Moffat did not go to France, and his cake is dough throughout the whole county.

And should there be a whole lot of Republicans elected to Congress in the United States on Nov. 5, no very great harm will be done. They talk the way Canadians like.

It is up to parents and guardians of soldiers to beware of all schemes to work upon their sympathies and to extract large sums of money from them without giving value received.

Mr. B. Bowman, the farmers candidate won the bye-election on the Manitoulin last week in a riding which had been strongly Conservative and was represented by the late R. R. Gamble.

There was never one half the prosperity in the rural parts of Canada that there is to-day. This prosperity is due to the war, and it is only reasonable that those who enjoy it should subscribe for Victory Bonds.

The flags have been flying at half mast most of the time lately, and when the war is hitting this remote section of the Empire so hard we can the more realize the sacrifice Great Britain is making.

The desire of the Bell Telephone Co. to raise their rates is a good time to consider the State ownership of this system. It is understood that a half time service will not begin until 8 o'clock which will mean that people will have to pay full rate or remain up half of the night to get a call through.

It would appear that Quarantining like many other things, is a matter of degree. An effectual quarantine would mean that everyone stays in, or is confined to, their own yard, that the only provisions for the family are sent on the verandah, and possibly some one is provided to see after the house. An effectual quarantine means that the inmates of the affected house have either to stay in or stay out—they cannot do both. There can however, be a pretty effectual quarantine in a house without these restrictions. Those affected with the influenza can be confined to a room entirely isolated from the other members of the family, and only one person need be allowed in the room. If this method is followed then there can be very little danger of the infection spreading. If, however, there is not this isolation in the house, and the other members of the family come and go, then we cannot see that the red card board serves any useful purpose.

German People Are Barbarians

(Mail & Empire)
"We Germans are barbarians," writes Herr Krause, thus confirming what has for a long time been more than a suspicion on the part of this newspaper and of Canadians generally, and in fact of all nations, that have been fighting the Germans. We may expect many such confessions in the near future, but it is to the credit of Herr Krause that he made the admission at a time when an average German might have been expected for believing that the Central Powers would win this war. Karl Ludwick Krause was born in Bavaria, and has lived the greater part of his life in a suburb of Munich. He was, according to the Brooklyn Eagle, a man of means, highly respected as a public-spirited citizen, and well known throughout Germany as a liberal. He hated Prussianism, and before the war he would have been to the fore in the anti-Prussian propaganda. When the war broke out he flanked his life by declaring that Germany was to blame for it, and expressed his sorrow at such an appalling act of barbarism. For a while his prominent position protected him but eventually he was deprived of his property and had to flee to Switzerland, and it is from Switzerland that he issues his book called "What is the German Nation Doing For?" Civilization vs. Germany.
The greater part of the book was written while Herr Krause was in

OFFICIAL PROSPECTUS

The proceeds of this Loan will be used for War purposes only, and will be spent wholly in Canada.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA offers for Public Subscription the Victory Loan 1918

$300,000,000. 5½% Gold Bonds.

Bearing Interest from November 1st, 1918, and offered in two maturities, the choice of which is optional with the subscriber as follows:

5 year Bonds due November 1st, 1923
15 year Bonds due November 1st, 1933

Principal payable without charge at the Office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the Office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest, at any of the above-mentioned offices. Interest payable, without charge, half-yearly, May 1st and November 1st, at any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank. Principal and Interest payable in Gold. Denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.

Issue Price: 100 and Accrued Interest Income Return 5½% per Annum

Free from taxes—including any income tax—imposed in pursuance of legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

The proceeds of the Loan will be used for war purposes only, including the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, munitions and other supplies, and will be spent wholly in Canada.

Payment to be made as follows:
10% on application; 20% January 6th, 1919;
20% December 6th, 1918; 20% February 6th, 1919;
30% May 6th, 1919.

The last payment of 31.10% covers 30% balance of principal and 1.10% representing accrued interest at 5½% from November 1st to date of the respective instalments.

A full half year's interest will be paid on May 1st, 1919, making the cost of the bonds 100 and interest. Subscriptions may be paid in full at the time of application at 100 without interest; or on any instalment due date thereafter together with accrued interest at the rate of 5½% per annum.

This Loan is authorized under Act of the Parliament of Canada, and both principal and interest are a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

The amount of this issue is $300,000,000, exclusive of the amount (if any) paid for the surrender of bonds of previous issues. The Minister of Finance, however, reserves the right to take the whole or any part of the amount authorized in excess of $300,000,000.

Bonds of this issue will, in the event of future issues of like maturity, or longer, made by the Government, during the remaining period of the War, other than issues made abroad, be accepted at 100 and accrued interest, as the equivalent of Cash for the purpose of subscription to such issues.

Conversion Privileges
Bonds registered as to principal only, or as to principal and interest, will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds without coupons, at any time, on application to the Minister of Finance, or any Assistant Receiver General. Forms of application may be obtained from any Official Conveyancer, from any Victory Loan Committee, or member thereof, or from any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Form of Bonds Interchangeable
Subject to the payment of 25 cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons, will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds with coupons, at any time, on application to the Minister of Finance, or any Assistant Receiver General. Forms of application may be obtained from any Official Conveyancer, from any Victory Loan Committee, or member thereof, or from any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Subscription Lists will close on or before November 18th, 1918

Behind the Gun the Man - Behind the Man the Dollar

Make Your Dollars Fight the Hun

Germany and it shows that Herr Krause was seized with the significance of the Battle of the Marne as swiftly as Ludendorff or Hindenburg could have been. It was at the Battle of the Marne, he says, that Germany lost the war. After that battle, he says, the best thing for Germany to have done, was to have admitted defeat. Her rulers should have seen then that Civilization itself would never permit Germany to emerge victorious whether the final decision was to come in a few months or to be delayed through long years. He writes as bitterly as a Belgian of the action of the German Government in violating international law and permitting atrocities. What filled him with shame was that these crimes should have been committed by "the Government of a highly civilized nation, the Government of my own country."

The Barbarians
Herr Krause is unusually interesting when he seeks to explain why the German people have submitted to Kaiserism. It is not, he said, because they feared to resist autocracy. It is simply because the German people are barbarians. "Yes," he says, "what we are, German barbarians. Yet there seems to be a little bit of pity mingled with the repugnance expressed in this epithet which is bestowed upon us by the democratic nations. People had thought the countrymen of a Kant, a Beethoven, or a Wagner were no longer barbarians. They now discover their own mistake. They find that the Germans actually are barbarians. And the poor German barbarian even goes and lays down his life for his real enemies, who are also the enemies of civilization and culture."

Murderers and Accomplishes
The rest of the world is no longer deceived by the pretence that the German people are, to use the words of the New York Times, "an aggregation of saints who have gone wrong because they had wicked leaders," or, as the New York World puts it, "the honor of the German people was involved in everyone of the atrocities and villainies of this war." Nor does Herr Krause seek to excuse the German people. They submitted to Kaiserism because they were barbarians. The captain of the U-boat who sank the Lusitania was a murderer. The writer does not excuse him because he was obeying orders. This means no more than that he had accepted the complicity; it did not lessen his guilt, even though his accomplices was the Kaiser. "They are worthy of one another," he says, "are the murderer and those who gave him his horrible orders, William II and his servants." Unlike Burke, Krause finds it possible to indict a whole people. The German people supported the policy that led to the war. They went almost mad with joy when war was declared. They approved German barbarians act. They are Huns like the Hohenzollern down.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY AID VICTORY LOAN

As an instance of how science and industry have co-operated in helping to win the war, it is interesting to note that Sir Thomas White, K.C.M.G., Minister of Finance, has made a special "His Master's Voice" record for the purpose of actually informing the Canadian Public in his own voice concerning the need of the second Victory Loan.

Science has thus made it possible for the voice of the Finance Minister to be heard in thousands of places in every part of the Country at the same time. The illustration shows Sir Thomas "caught in the act" as he made his special recording at the laboratories of the Berliner Gramophone Company, Limited, Montreal.

The death occurred in Cobourg, Thursday, October 24th, of Mrs. Levi Miller, formerly Margaret Ellen Ferguson, of this town. Death was due to a lingering illness of heart trouble. Besides her husband and little daughter, lone, she is survived by four brothers and four sisters. Funeral was held on Sunday morning, Oct. 27th, from her brother, Alfred Ferguson's residence, Louise Street, to Bayview Cemetery.

There was a sad ending to a fishing party at Hope Bay, Monday. Three gentlemen from Buffalo went up to fish last week. Thursday was the first day they went out on the bay. One of them, John Austin, by name, took a chill that night. On Saturday the doctor was called in, and by that time pneumonia had developed. It soon ran its fatal course for on Monday he died. His friends returned to Buffalo Tuesday, with his body.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girl! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply the ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and you know freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McCure Newspaper Syndicate.)

But while the Kaiser's armies were triumphant in the field, the principle which he was combating was everywhere gaining ground. On March 15, 1917, the czar abdicated and Russia, whose autocratic form of government had long been the envy of the German aristocracy, became a republic!

"The downfall of the Russian empire was brought about by England because she feared that the czar was about to make a separate peace," the Kaiser commented to me. "As a matter of fact, however, neither the czar nor his government ever approached us on that subject, and when England overthrew the Russian monarchy she defeated her very purpose. With the czar on the throne Russia would probably have gone on fighting us."

Although the Kaiser had no particular love for the czar whom he was fighting, he had no desire to convert the empire into a democracy, and his bitterness toward England for what he thought was her part in the establishment of the Russian republic was very pronounced.

When, a few months later, the abdication of the czar was followed by the nomination of King George V. of Greece, the Kaiser sustained another blow which hurt him more than the defeat of one of his armies would have done.

"They are trying to force their rotten form of democratic government on Greece," he declared bitterly. "They say they have treated her poor sister, the queen of Greece, in a shame and a disgrace. They talk about the restoration of Belgium, but their actions in Greece are infinitely worse. I have studied the Lazian people for twenty-five years, and they always try to cause their wars with the Greeks and talk of benefits to civilization and humanity, but, hypocrites that they are, they continue to grab all they can get from their hands on just the same!"

The fact that Greece had a treaty with Serbia, which required her to take up arms, Serbia was attacked and that she had failed to meet her obligations in that respect was another of his sore points. The Kaiser, to whom treaties were but scraps of paper.

The keynote of the Kaiser's military policy lay in the fact that he realized that it was never for his own benefit to be in a position to hold his hands. I feel quite sure that if the allies were willing to concede to Germany all her territories she has conquered—Belgium, Serbia, Poland, Roumania, and parts of France, and restore all her colonies, upon condition that the Kaiser step down from the throne, he would reject the proposition without a moment's hesitation.

"Your country would like to make a republic out of Germany," he commented. "A republic like France, perhaps, going down and down all the time—a country ruled by lawyers! And he mentioned half a dozen of the great French statesmen who were members of the legal profession. "It's a sad thing for a country when it gets into the hands of the lawyers. France and Italy are already controlled by them, and America and England are rapidly following their example!"

The Kaiser regarded the German people as his own property to do with as he liked. When he was asked the "German people" in conversation he would delicately correct me by referring in his reply to "my people." When, for instance, I said on one occasion, "I understand, your majesty, that the German people are fighting for peace," he answered, "Yes, Davis, my people are strongly in favor of peace, but they want a German peace—an allied peace!"

He believed that just as the universe is ruled by God so should the earth be dominated by an earthly ruler and that God had selected him for the task. To displace him in favor of a republican form of government, to substitute a ruler elected by the people for a monarch designated by God, was in his opinion the basest sort of sacrilege, and the unfortunate part of it all was that the majority of his people coincided with him. This, he preferred to be ruled by a hand of iron rather than to rule themselves. Some day they may be awakened to the blessings of self-government, but up to the present time they have not shown the slightest indication that they would prefer to elect a ruler, and because of the Kaiser's unwillingness to the Kaiser's domination he has become obsessed with the idea that the rest of the world should follow suit.

CHAPTER VII.

The Japanese.

According to the talk of the German diplomats before the war the expectation was that Japan's power would be used against America at the first opportunity. Whether the object of this campaign was to stir up trouble between Japan and America or only to weaken this country for the purpose of the danger which the Germans professed to believe threatened her I don't know. I do know, however, that prospect of a Japanese-American war seemed to worry the Germans considerably more than it worries us.

The day England declared war against Germany, August 5, 1914, the Prince von Plless called to see me professionally. "There will be two wars fought," he said, "originally. The present one, by which we shall gain control of the continent of Europe forever, and then a war with the yellow races, in which we shall probably have your country to assist us."

That this opinion was more or less general in Germany may account for the fact that from the time war was declared until August 25, 1914, when Japan declared war against Germany, the Japanese residents in Berlin were made the subject of the most degrading attentions. It was reported that Japan was going to attack Russia, and the Germans could not do enough to show their newly born admiration for the yellow race which they had hitherto so deeply despised. The Japs were carried through the streets on the shoulders of the populace and blessed and cheered wherever they appeared in public.

And then Japan declared war against Germany! Instead of the war which demonstration in the streets of Berlin, which would have resulted most disastrously for the Japs who had so recently been hailed as friends, but for the humiliating fact that even after Japan had succeeded in getting away from Berlin before the news of Japan's entry into the war became generally known.

In the absence of Japanese upon which to vent their spleen, the Germans did everything they could to make life miserable for those who resembled Japs. The few Chinese who were there were terribly treated either because they were taken for Japs or because they were of the same race. The Siamese minister, Prince Traidon, who was one of my patients, told me that when his wife and children went out on the streets the crowds would follow them and jeered, referring to the Japanese as monkeys and using other opprobrious terms. In fact, even so far as to spit in Princess Traidon's face, and the minister finally decided to send her and the children to Switzerland, although he himself remained at his post.

I saw the Kaiser shortly after the Japanese declaration of war, and he was very bitter against the United States because of that development.

"What is your president thinking of to allow a yellow race to attack white race? Now the Japanese are attacking Kiau-Chau, and America could have prevented it. All that America has to do is to make a finger and Japan would have known enough to keep her place!"

He spoke in this strain on several subsequent occasions.

When Kian-Chau fell he again criticized the United States for not having stopped Japan.

"How can your president allow Japan to increase in power at the expense of a white race?" he asked, indignantly. "China is lost to the world forever. America is the one power that could have prevented it, but now Japan has got her fingers on China and she is lost to us forever!"

After we were in the war, the Kaiser expressed to me his opinion that our object in taking this step was fourfold:

"First," he said, "Wilson wants to use the money you are loaned us to the allies. Second, he wants to have a seat at the peace table. Third, he wants to give your army and navy a little practical experience—unfortunately at our expense. And fourth, and principally, he wants to prepare for the war with Japan which he knows is inevitable. The Japanese are the ones which your country must look upon as its greatest enemy."

A German officer of high standing told me just before I left Berlin that America had made the great mistake of sending ammunition, guns and supplies to Russia, via Japan, because Japan, and just retained the finely made American articles and had dumped on Russia a lot of good-for-nothing material of her own in their place. "My advice to America," he declared, "is to cut the throat of every Japanese in America and get rid of the internal danger." He did not suggest cutting the throats of all the undesirable Germans who were in America and who had already demonstrated that they were far more dangerous than the Japanese had ever been.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Kaiser's Confidence of Victory. About twelve years ago I attended the German military maneuvers at Legnica, in Silesia, having been invited by some journalistic friends of mine to accompany them in the motor allowed the press. The military representatives of England, France, America and other countries were there with the Kaiser's staff to witness the display of Germany's military power. Apparently they were very much impressed by what I heard afterwards that one of the French officers who had been present had written a book in which he said: "With such an army, Germany could annex France in six months."

I happened to mention this fact to the Kaiser shortly afterwards and his significant comment was: "Six months! I should hope so. It wouldn't take that long!" The confident belief that when "Der Tag"—the day—finally arrived, Germany would crush her enemies and accomplish her object within a few months, the outside world knew not only by the Kaiser but by the people generally and their conduct when the war broke out clearly disclosed it.

When Germany's men power was mobilized, no one in Germany believed it would be very long before they would be all back and every effort was made to make their few weeks of active service as little irksome as possible. "Liebezahlen" gifts of love, consisting of clothing and food of every description, were forwarded to them by their relatives and friends in the most lavish manner, although, of course, at that time the German economy was able to satisfy all the soldiers' requirements.

One of my patients told me that she had sent seventeen hundred pounds of sausages to one regiment with a week's ration when it had been sent to the front. She had been so generous she replied that her chauffeur was a member of the regiment!

The extent to which the country's resources were squandered in those early months is evidenced by the fact that the soldiers had such an excess of ill-fitting woolen winter apparel that they used to burn the better quality capes and covers for their horses. No one had the slightest idea that the time might come when the whole nation would be clothed in paper!

At this late day it can hardly be necessary to establish how thoroughly prepared the Germans were for the war, but an incident which occurred in the early days of the conflict may not be out of place to show the self-satisfaction and confident attitude which all the Germans assumed.

One official gave me a table in an outdoor cafe shortly after the war began overheard one of several ladies who were passing remark: "Look at those officers sitting there drinking. They are the ones who will lead the fight. One of the officers got up and, approaching the ladies, said: 'Our work was completed months ago. We worked from early morning till late at night on plans which our armies are now carrying out. It is our time to rest.'"

The resistance that France would be able to put up was always very lightly estimated, and if the intervention of England was at all taken into consideration, the comparatively small army she could place in the field was regarded as but a drop in the bucket compared with the well-trained German border that was ready to sweep across the border. How could England's 80,000 men cope with Von Kluck's 500,000 or the massive French armies resistant to the thoroughly prepared, equipped and well-disciplined German warriors?

It is really not to be wondered at that the Germans firmly believed that they would bring the allies to their knees within a comparatively few weeks and that the conquering German armies would celebrate Sedan day, September 2, in Paris. What actually happened in the course of too well known here to require recital, but I know that the Germans were kept in absolute ignorance of the marvelous resistance the allies were able to put up in those critical days of August and September, 1914, and to this day the majority of Germans have not heard of the battle of the Marne!

Just after the English passed their conscription law I was called to see the Kaiser at the great army headquarters, which at that time were at Pless. Although the war had then lasted two or three times as long as the Germans had expected, the Kaiser marked the depression he must have felt by putting me on a broad front.

"How foolish for England to start conscription now," he declared. "She thinks she can accomplish in a few months what it has taken Germany hundreds of years to attain. Armies and colonies cannot be developed overnight. We have never stopped preparing since the days of Frederick the Great!"

"Yes, your majesty, but the Northern states in our Civil war put in conscription two years after the beginning of the war," I suggested.

"But just how long your war lasted," the Kaiser replied quickly. "This war won't last that long. The allies will feel what the power of Germany is long before American conscription can avail them anything!"

And while England is slowly building up her industrial army," the Kaiser went on, "she will see America's navy and merchant marine constantly growing and the dollar replacing the pound as the unit of the world's finance. No, Davis, England will soon be sick of the war and will look with 'our America's growing power'."

"The French army, too, was generally belittled and the Russians were believed to be absolutely negligible. The French army was so poorly equipped, my lord, that it could not be taken to go to the field in winter without boots, and on the Russian front, only the first-line men had guns, the others being armed with clubs!"

Germany, with her soldiers returning from the western front on furlough or passing through the country on route from one front to the other brought the report of the defeat before Paris, which was refuted. The Kaiser's triumph could be seen in the triumphal retreat wrote from the new trenches to their friends and relatives telling of the terrible experiences they had undergone, when they were sent to the front with no food, raw potatoes and turnips which they picked from the fields.

When these reports finally spread through Germany the people began to realize that their generals in the west were not meeting with the same success that Von Hindenburg had had in the east and Von Hindenburg became the idol of the people immediately, a fact that was very disconcerting to the high command.

The Kaiser's dislike of Von Hindenburg was of long standing. He had never forgiven that general for the mistake he made during military maneuvers in 1907, when he was defeated by a brilliant stroke of strategy he had succeeded in capturing the Kaiser's forces, including the Kaiser and his whole staff!

I have referred in a previous chapter to the Kaiser's unshakable confidence after the Italian collapse in 1917. "Now, we've got the allies!" he exclaimed, with an air of conclusiveness which emphasized the optimism he displayed.

After the capture of Roumania, he exhibited a similar degree of exultation. He believed that in that achievement he had successfully solved the food problem of the empire, and he constantly darkened the Kaiser's horizon.

"Now the allies will never succeed in starving us," he said to me in my first meeting after the Roumania drive. "With Roumania in our pockets and Serbia already ours, their wonderful agricultural possibilities will supply our food needs for the rest of the war. As a starve us, indeed, they had better look out for themselves. Don't forget we have a monopoly on the potato mines of the world. Without proper fertilization American crops will go on decreasing and decreasing and they won't get any potato until we get ready to let them have it!"

The failure of the Zeppelins from a military standpoint was undoubtedly a great disappointment to the German people at large, who had counted so much upon them to bring disaster to England, but it cannot be said that the Kaiser shared the disappointment. On the contrary, I have reason to believe that he never expected very much from that arm of his military force except as it might be useful to terrorize the civil population.

A day or two after Zeppelin's death, in 1917, a patient of mine, a lady, happened to remark that it was too bad that the count had not been able to see the triumph of his invention, and when I saw the Kaiser shortly afterwards I repeated her remark to see what he would say.

"I am convinced that the count lived long enough to see all that the Zeppelins were capable of accomplishing," was his only comment. It recalled the answer he had given me some years before when he had been asked a place where he had been and I had asked him which held the greater promise: "We do not know. Time alone will tell the only reply."

The last time I conversed with the Kaiser was on November 26, 1917. Up to that time he had sent over 100,000 troops, according to the figures which have since been revealed by Secretary Baker. According to the Kaiser's information, however, we had only 25,000 men in France at that time and he was of the opinion that we would never have many more. "America is having a fine time trying to raise an army," he declared satirically. "I hear that 1,800 mutilated soldiers are being sent home, and refused to get on a transport, and a town in the Northwest composed principally of citizens of Swedish blood refused to register at all! We are getting excellent information about all conditions in America."

Shortly before this had come the revelation from Washington of the intrigue of Count von Luxburg, the German minister to Argentina, and I knew the Kaiser was getting the information he referred to. In nearly every case, it appeared, the Kaiser's informants were misleading him.

Both before and after we entered the war the Kaiser was thoroughly convinced that he could play only a national part in it so far as man power was concerned and his assurance on that point undoubtedly accounted for his decision to carry through his submarine program even though it resulted in bringing us into the war.

"Do you realize how many tons of shipping it takes to ship a single soldier?" he asked me on one occasion. I confessed my ignorance on that point.

"Well, it takes six tons to the man! To send over an army of 500,000 men. Therefore, your country would require 3,000,000 tons of shipping in addition to the tonnage required for regular traffic. Where is it coming from, with my submarines sinking the allied vessels faster than they can ever be replaced? Unless you are doing your dirtiest work and we are prepared to take care of all the troops America may try to land in France."

"How foolish for America to have come into the war!" he went on. "If she could succeed in landing a real army in France, what good would it do? America can see how easy it was for me to break through and to capture 300,000 of the Italians, and they must realize that I can break through on the western front and do the same thing there. If America had kept out of the war she would have gone on making untold profits and when peace was finally declared she would have been in a most enviable position among the nations of the world. As it is, Wilson will never have a seat at the peace table if I can help it, and now America shall have to pay all the costs of the war!" Evidently he imagined that his triumph would be so complete that there would be no peace table, but that the warring nations would be compelled to accept the terms he offered them. In which event, knowing the magnitude of the German machine I should say the world at large would have to be content with very little.

How the Kaiser felt now that the failure of the U-boat to intercept American troop ships must be ultimately apparent to him, and America has so overwhelmingly overcome the shortage of shipping, I don't know, but it is more than probable that for some time to come the real situation will, at any rate, be successfully concealed from the German people. I know that the failure of the U-boat campaign was unknown to the Germans up to the time that Berlin was taken in 1918. While the Kaiser and the Germans generally felt confident that we would never be able to send many men across, they professed to feel little concern over it.

According to some of the German officers with whom I spoke, even if we landed 2,000,000 men in France it would not be enough to break the deadlock, as the Germans were taking a similar number of trained troops from the Russian front. The only menace of American participation in the war lay in the possibility that we might considerably increase the allied air strength. Man power alone, they contended, would never be sufficient to help the allies much, but overwhelming superiority in the air might occasion the German army to endure life in the trenches. He is too long-strung and couldn't start the inactive life which is such an important part of modern warfare. Besides, he lacks discipline and trained officers."

The American soldier could possibly give a good account of himself in open fighting," he declared, "but he is not built for the kind of warfare he will encounter in France. He lacks the stolidity to endure life in the trenches. He is too long-strung and couldn't start the inactive life which is such an important part of modern warfare. Besides, he lacks discipline and trained officers."

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Dandruff right now—Also stops itching scalp.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is sure evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff; of dead scalp. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its growth and its very life, eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—the hair falls out fast. A little Dandruff tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store. You surely can't lose by trying a little Dandruff. Save your hair! Try it!

due to excessive acid in stomach.

How Kaiser's Rule

Is Established

According to Dr. Solf there has been a change in the Constitution of the German Empire to the effect that "the consent of the Federal Council and the Reichstag is required for a declaration of war in the empire's name, except in a case where imperial territory has already been invaded and the coasts attacked." It is as well known to Dr. Solf as to the rest of the world, that a change in the German constitution cannot be made except by Bunderath, and no minutes of the Bunderath are presented to show that it has met and approved this amendment. If it has then the change has been approved by the Kaiser, for the Bunderath, or Upper House, can do nothing without his sanction. Fourteen votes in the Bunderath are sufficient to defeat an amendment, and the Kaiser himself is represented by seventeen voters in that assembly. It is pointed out by Frederick Von Stevenson, in the Brooklyn Eagle, that even if the amendment quoted has been adopted it is worthless as a proof that Germany is bound towards democracy, since the last clause vitiates it.
We recall at the beginning of the war,
Germany announced that her territory had been invaded by French aviators. There was not a word of truth in the statement. It was a trick.
The amendment proves for the success of similar tricks in the future.

THE REICHSTAG

A glance at the constitution of Germany and particularly at the constitution of Prussia, which rules Germany will show that any great reforms there in the matter of systems of government can be made in one or two ways. Either there must be a revolution or the reforms must be granted by the Kaiser. By law he is entitled to block every change.
Let us look at the Reichstag, which is the nearest approach Germany has been able to make to a Parliament.
The Reichstag can be dissolved at the will of the Kaiser, and if a new Reichstag should not please him any better he can dismiss it, and keep on dismissing Reichstags until one is found to do what he commands. In other words he can deprive the German people of the right to any share in the Government as long as he chooses.
The Reichstag has neither judicial nor executive powers. It is simply a forum, a debating society, and serves the same purpose in Germany that the soap-box orators in Hyde Park serve in Great Britain.

PRUSSIA IN CONTROL

There are 397 delegates to the Reichstag. There has been no change in the number of members since it was established in 1867, when Germany had a population of 39,700,000.
Now Germany has a population of 70,000,000 less casualties in the war, or according to some investigators, who alleges that Germany has underestimated her population in order to deceive the outside world about her man-power, a population of 90,000, 000. The city of Berlin with a population of 2,000,000 has six representatives, and all the Cities of the Old North German Confederation are similarly under-represented. The reason is that in these cities Socialism has flourished, and if they were represented according to population the Socialists might have seized the reins of Government before the war. Of the 397 delegates, Prussia elects 230.
Prussia therefore controls the Reichstag, and the Socialist Bebel was right when he declared, "When the Social democrats have won Prussia they have won all."

THE JUNKERS CLUTCH

Now Prussia has two legislatures, an upper and a lower house. All the members of the Upper House are appointed by the Kaiser, so that there might as well be no Upper House as far as the people are concerned. The people are permitted to choose electors for the members of the Lower House on the following basis. In each riding or district the total of taxes is divided into three parts. The taxes of the heaviest tax payers are combined until they amount to a third of the taxes; then the taxes of the next wealthiest group are combined until another third is reached. The tax payers in the first group are entitled to elect or nominate one-third of the members, those of the second group another third, and those of the third group the rest of the electors. In other words, if in one district, there appeared to be a magnate who paid a third of the taxes he would be entitled to nominate an elector for the Legislature from that district; if three other men paid a third of the taxes, they would name the second elector, and the ordinary people would choose the third.

Kaiser Owns Bunderath

It is by this system that the Junkers rule Prussia, and through Prussia, the rest of Germany. In the Bunderrath, which is the Upper Chamber of the German Empire, the members are Result—Bruce has never failed yet—and won't this time.

For the last Victory Loan, Bruce was asked to raise $850,000 and actually raised $1,800,000.

This year Bruce is asked to raise $2,000,000 and the committee wants to do better than that.

This is quite possible. Last year we had over 4,000 applications and the committee hopes to have at least 6,000 applications this year in Bruce.

all appointed by the kings and princes and Grand Dukes of Germany. Each sends delegates according to the population of the kingdom or state he reigns over, and, as remarked, Prussia has enough delegates to block any amendments to the constitution.
Moreover, the votes of the delegation from the various kingdoms and duchies and states are never divided, since that would be against the constitution.
In other words the Bunderath consists of the kings and rulers of Germany, with the Kaiser as chief voter. This should make it clear that there is no constitutional way in which the German people can change their system of government without the consent of the Kaiser. It might be remarked in conclusion that there is no evidence that the present system did not suit them admirably as long as they seemed winning the war.

The Fall Weather Hard on Little Ones

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is no thing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine
Co., Brockville, Ont.

For the WARTON DISTRICT, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. at the Council Chamber, Town Hall, in the Town of Warton, on Wednesday,
November 6th, A. D. 1918.

For the WALKERTON DISTRICT, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, at the Council Chamber County Building, in the Town of Walkerton, on Friday, November 8th, 1918.
When I shall offer for sale by public auction such lands as remain unsold from the Tax Sales held in the aforesaid places respectively on the 22nd, 23rd and 25th days of October preceding; for such sums as can be realized, unless the taxes and charges are sooner paid. In compliance with the directions of the Assessment Act, R. S. O. 1914, notice has been given by the following Municipalities of their intention to purchase at the above mentioned Tax Sales under the provisions of the said Act: namely,

NEW CREAMERY ANNOUNCEMENT

In making our announcement our first duty, which is a very pleasant one, will be to thank our numerous patrons for a most generous patronage accorded us in the past, for which we are pleased to say, has been demonstrated in the fact of our ability to compete successfully with all our opposition. The reasons for this are accounted for in part, from the following facts.
First of all, our local position secures us a paramount advantage, which may be most readily seen, namely, cream may be delivered to us direct without cost, whereas it costs two or three cents a lb. to deliver butter in the form of cream by express (with 25 or 30 lbs. of tin ware to and fro) to Toronto or outside places, and if a local agent is employed it adds two cents more to the cost which the shipper has to pay directly or indirectly. Please Don't Forget It.

Butter from all the creameries is now commandered by the government and the same universal price is paid to all for a corresponding grade. How then, may we ask, can an outside creamery offer any advantage to the farmer? It is manifestly absurd.

Butter Graded No. 1 by Govern- ment Inspector

In this connection it is with pleasure and pride that we point to the fact that our butter was graded by the Government Inspector and

GRADED NO. 1

This is the highest grading possible to any butter made in Canada. We will be pleased to show our certificate to any one.

NEW CREAMERY

Now we can secure and maintain a first-class place for the quality of our goods and thus secure the highest price obtainable for the same in our old creamery we surely have ample justifications in giving our patrons the most absolute assurance of our ability to serve them incomparably better than any other concern in the future, as we have now nearly ready for occupation the most modern and up-to-date creamery in Ontario which will be run continuously throughout the year. The highest price will be paid and buttermilk returned to patrons after Nov. 1st for cream delivered at old creamery, or in a short time at new, all winter.

Pte. Geo. Bennett, Who Has Lost a Leg, Is Very Cheerful

In a recent letter from a hospital in England, to his mother, Pte. Geo. Bennett says:

Dear Mother—Just a few lines letting you know I am getting along fine. I have just eaten a big dinner, in fact almost everything in sight, so you see I am not very ill. I hope everyone at home is well.

The people of this hospital are fine. The Doctor is supposed to be the most clever doctor in England, and that is a pretty fair reputation for a man to hold. Then there is the professor, who is an old hand at the game. So you see everything is fine.

Had a real nurse come up to me just now and told me to be sure and send you her love. She is a fine young girl. They are all that here. I have been lucky I think, seeing what

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:

PTE. STUART HAWKE, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hawke, Warthon, reported missing.

ROY BEPPENSTALL, previously reported dangerously ill, now reported out of danger.

PTE. HUNGAN E. CAMPBELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Campbell, Claverham, killed in action.

PTE. JAMES WATSON, Colpoys, shell gassed.

PTE. CHARLES BRUCE MILLER, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Miller, died of wounds received in battle about five weeks ago. Pte. Miller, who was well known in Warthon, died about five years ago. A family of six survive, three of whom live in Claverham and three in Warthon. Pte. Miller enlisted when practically beyond military age and his death is deeply to be regretted. His parents and family will have the most profound sympathy of all.

I have, and getting through alive. So hope you understand and are as thankful as I for I will be alright. There are a lot of people the same as I am only they have had their leg amputated a while longer than I have and they have a new limb. To see them walk out of here with a new suit and all fixed up you can hardly tell the difference. They do not carry a stick and walk as smart as ever.

So don't worry and send along a nice box and all will be O. K. Could not write you anytime.

Hope you are all well at home. I will close.

COLPOYS BAY

Tax Collector, Alf Balls, was on his rounds this week.

Prepare to invest all you can spare in victory bonds as the canvassers will call to see you. Give the final blow to win the war.

Mrs. Thos. Raudle and children are spending a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gilbert.

Mrs. Finch, of Warthon, spent Sunday with her daughter Mrs. H. Robinson.

Miss Lottie Hepburn, of Hope Bay, spent last week the guest of Mrs. W. Gilbert and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert and their daughter Pearl, of Toronto, visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gilbert and other relatives over Sunday.

Last Sunday morning the Quarterly Missionary Program was given at the close of the Sabbath School; Reading by Mrs. Harry Pettor, Music "Never Give Up" by Mary and Jennie Whicher, Ethel and Grace Farrow; Reading Miss Phyllis Brown; Talk on "Signing the Pledge" Rev. W. A. Matthews Collection $4.70.

At the Quarterly Executive Meeting of the S. S. held last week it was decided to hold the annual S. S. entertainment on Dec. 20th.

Measrs. Herb Gilbert and Chas. Gilbert, of Purple Valley, left last week on a hunting trip up north.

Mr. John Lemcke of Purple Valley and Mr. Fred Lemcke were up the Peninsula hunting last week. They returned for Sunday and left again Monday morning.

Miss J. B. Ball returned from a visit with her daughters near Tavistock last week.

Little Miss Kathleen Harrington has come to live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Farrow.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Weir attended the Memorial Service of Pte. A. Blake at Mar last Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Warthon. He was a nephew of Mr. Weirs and had done his bit, and his body is lying somewhere in France.

Service was held last Sabbath P. M. Miss Collins and Miss K. M. Whicher contributed a very pleasing duet and Miss Collins also a very choice solo during the service.

Thursday, "Hallow'E'en" our quiet hamlet was besieged with a cosmopolitan crowd, Chinese, Negro, Indian and etc. One could almost imagine they were at "All Peoples Mission" in Winnipeg. One home received 20 callers, several couples "wanting to get hitched." Serenaders were also abroad, near the "witch's hour" Who were they? No damage was done, only jokes played.

Miss Alice Tyson of Warthon visited her cousin Miss Hilda Whicher over Sunday.

The Misses Given, of Mar, attended the service Sunday evening.

Mr. Fred Balls, of Adamsville, was in the village Sunday and at service.

Mr. Vernon Loney, of Oxenden, Sunday on this side of the Bay.

Mrs. McFaul, Mrs. Chas. Gilbert's mother, is not enjoying as good health as her friends would wish, but we hope she will soon be feeling better.

Mrs. W. A. Matthews received the sad news of the death of her cousin, Pte. Wray Chambers, of Salford, who died from wounds received in battle. Another young life given for our safety.

A painter may not be superstitious but he is apt to believe in signs.

DYER'S BAY

Threshing is almost completed in this section.

There have been several cases of influenza here but so far all are doing nicely. The only fatal case was that of Miss Flora Watson who succumbed to double pneumonia following influenza, last Thursday morning.

Her two sisters are also ill at present. Miss Watson was a fine bright young woman, loved and respected by all who knew her. She will be much missed in the home and among friends and acquaintances who have deep sympathy for the bereaved family.

Dr. Wigle, of Warthon, has made two trips to patients here. Mr. R. Boyle is the latest case and is under his care.

Mr. John Hilditch, of Cape Croker, passed through here on his way to Willow Creek where he will spend a few days hunting. He was accompanied by Mr. Jernyn, merchant of the same place.

Pte. Leory Graham, who was wounded over a year ago, returned home last Friday. We are delighted to see him although he is physically disabled and hope that his treatment at Guelph Hospital will greatly improve his health. He is our first returned soldier and is proud to be "one of the boys who went."

MAR

Mar should be given a great deal of credit. So far they have raised $2,100 and they hope and ought to raise $5,000 for the Victory Loan. Miss Grace Weir canvassed the village.

Misses Lizzie and Agnes Given, who teach in Alma and Morefield, are home.

Mr. R. Armstrong, Palmerston, is visiting friends here.

A memorial service in honor of Pte. Andrew Blake, recently Killed in Action, was held in the Mar Presbyterian Church, Sunday, and was very largely attended, notwithstanding unfavorable weather. Many came from quite a distance to show their sympathy towards the bereaved family, and to show that they appreciated the sacrifice.

School has been closed on account of influenza, although there is only one case in immediate vicinity.

ZION, KEPPEL

Mrs. Rachel Evans, who has been teaching at McKellan, is home on account of the school being closed until the epidemic is over.

Mr. James Daw is in Hamilton attending the funeral of his son-in-law Mr. Edward Burford.

We are sorry to report that Charlie Preston is sick with pneumonia.

Miss Helen Evans is visiting Miss Janet Radcliffe this week.

Mr. Dave Hill, of Mar, was here on business this week.

Miss L. M. Earle returned to Owen Sound last week.

SEVEN TONS SHORT

Mr. R. Young received a car of coal last week seven tons short. Where did it go to? Some one along the route, between here and the mine, evidently got tired waiting on coal dealers and decided to help himself.

BARROW BAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Blackwood and family of Barrow Bay have the sincere sympathy of the community in the loss and bereavement of their son, Samuel, who was killed in action on October 1st. He was a loving son, and a brave soldier and died a noble death fighting for his country. This is the second son that Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood have lost since the war started, and another son has been in France for two years.

The following letter was received a short time ago by the Lions Head Ladies' Club from Pte. Sam Blackwood, who has since been reported Killed in Action.

France, Sept. 26 1918
Mrs. Wm. Sharpe,
Barrow Bay.

Dear Madam—Just a few lines to thank you for a pair of socks I received in a box of comforts a few days ago from the Lions Head Ladies Club. We boys, in France, have a right to feel grateful to think we have people in Canada so generous to provide comforts for us. The socks were just what I needed, as I lost my kit last time I was wounded.

We are having good weather over here.

Thanking you again, I will close, hoping you and your family are all well.

Yours Sincerely,
SAM

Letter From Ed. Hyde, Who Is A Prisoner of War in Germany

Gissen, Aug. 18th 1918

Dear Mother and Jean—Just a few lines to let you know I am well, and hope that you are too. I received the parcel that Tom sent, only it was not the one I expected. I suppose you are only allowed to put a limited supply of things in the parcel. I have not heard from Bill, or the other boys for a long time now. I expect they are tired waiting.

It will be four years for me in Europe very soon. The time certainly does travel along. I sincerely hope I will not finish my fifth year on this side of the Atlantic, as old Canada is good enough for me after this time is over.

I am sending you a photo of myself which I had taken recently. It is not so bad, only I had my mouth open a little.

I hope everything is going O. K. at home. If mother has any relatives in Ireland I might go over and see them when I get back, if I only had an idea where they lived.

Will close for this time with love,
Your loving son,

Receiver and Giver Same Name Letter Received By Mrs. John Skeene

France, Sept. 30 1918

Dear Mrs. Skeene—Just a few lines to let you know I received a pair of socks from you some time ago. I was going to write you some time ago, but I haven't had much time, but will do so now.

My address is 10001 1st. Rd. from St. Louis, B. C. O. Chas. Skeene, Box 2, R. F. E. France, so if you can write, I will be glad to hear from you. I suppose I will seem funny to you, as it did to me, to find out that the sender and I received have the same names. I came from Toronto. By chance you may know my father, he is a carriage agent in Toronto. There are very few Skenes who spell their name the way that I do, and I have never run across anyone out here who does. Anyway I was a lucky Skeene to get your sock. Hoping to hear from you sometime I will close now.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

WALKERTON

Col. John Gunn, K. C., M. G. D. S. O., of Toronto, President of the Gunns Limited and of the Walkerton Eggs and Dairy Co., paid a flying visit to the Walkerton plant on Monday afternoon. Col. Gunn has been on active service for four years and has been through most of the big battles on the west front, he returning from overseas about a week ago. He went over in command of the 23rd Victoria Rifles of Montreal, which went to the front as a unit and which force was almost completely annihilated in battle.

Mr. Broadfoot, K. C., of Goderich, leader of the Ontario Opposition, has been engaged to defend Reeve Moses Fiskinger, of Carriack, who will come before the Fall Assizes at Walkerton next month on a charge of having made disloyal and seditious utterances in the village of Midway.

The case of full v. Hunter has been set for trial at the Fall Assizes next month. Allan Bell, a farmer in Bruce Township, asks $75,000 damages from Mr. William Hunter, of Kilmory, for injuries which he sustained when an auto, driven by Mr. Hunter's daughter, pinned him against an electric light post at Port Elgin two years ago. The plaintiff claims to have been permanently disabled by the accident. David Forrester, of Paisley, is acting for the plaintiff and P. A. Macdonald, for the defence.

The Victory Loan Campaign which is to last three weeks was ushered in here on Monday by the ringing of bells and the blowing of whistles. The local canvassers, Messrs. A. Collins, (Capt.) Alex. McNab and J. H. Bessington have already set away to a good start, and at time of going to press Wednesday, had signed up $20,000, or a third of the $60,000 which is Walkerton's objective. That this town will go over the top with a nice margin to spare is generally believed here, the cause being good and the security to the money lenders the very best. In the last year loan Walkerton's objective was $35,000 and this town came across with $150,000 or four times over its apportionment. This has been a great year for the farmers and it is expected the townships will go big. Port Elgin was the first municipality in Bruce this year to go over the top, it raising by Tuesday night $36,400 or $2300 more than its objective of $34,000. The entire amount asked from the county is $2,000,000 and by present indications Bruce will put it over.

A gloom has been cast over the village of Formosa by a number of deaths of young people in their prime through the Flu epidemic. No less than six funerals took place at Formosa Church the past week. These were—Philip Weiler, of Formosa, S. B. Manning, of Toronto; Fred Myer, Simon Euber, and Mrs. Chris. Kunkel of Carriack and Jos. Schlosser, of Culross. All but the last two were victims of influenza.

An old and highly respected resident of Brant passed away Saturday noon, October 29th, in the person of Mr. Duaghl McLeod. He had been ill since April last; death resulting from heart failure. Mr. McLeod was born 77 years ago on the townline between Erin and Caledon, Oxford County. In 1865 he moved up to Brant, settling on a bush farm, lot 18, Con. A. By dint of hardship he cleared the farm and with the assistance of his help-mates established a comfortable home. His wife, to whom he was married in 1873, was formerly Miss Hannah Johnston, of Zorra. After living thirty-five years on the same farm he removed to lot 11, Con. 1, Brant where he lived up to the time of his death. Mr. McLeod was a quiet industrious farmer of good principles, and had the respect and esteem of the community in which he lived. He was a faithful member of the Christian Church, Walkerton. Besides his wife a family of six sons and two daughters, survive. They are John and Norman, of Los Angeles, Cal. Norris and Webber, overseas; Edwin at Alberta; Cecil, at home; Mrs. A. D. McLean, of Saskatoon; Mrs. Jas. Abell, Kandahar, Sask.

HANOVER

Mr. W. H. Burgess, public school inspector for West Grey, has been notified that his son, Major Fred Burgess has lost his left arm, as the result of a wound received on Thanksgiving Day, and which was reported about ten days ago. The loss of the arm is particularly unfortunate as it will likely prove a serious handicap to Major Burgess in the practice of his profession. He has been specializing on surgery and just prior to his enlistment, in the early part of the war, he had completed his course of study. He was with the 5th Field Ambulance in the C. A. M. C., and has been in France since 1915.

Mr. E. J. Damm, of Carriack, cousin of Mr. Harvey Damm, of Walkerton, and whose marriage to Miss Lillian Gress, daughter of Mrs. Phillip Gress of the 14th con. Carriack, on Oct. 11th was saddened by the groom taking seriously ill with the Flu on his wedding day, succumbed to the disease on Saturday last, at the early age of 25 years, 8 months and 2 days. The suddenness with which the young husband was cut off is one of the saddest and most tragic features of an epidemic that is claiming so many lives in this Province. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Phillip Gress to the Evangelical cemetery, at Alsfeld.

"Flu" in Hanover is on the down grade. Such was the opinion expressed by Dr. Leonard yesterday afternoon by Dr. Leonard, recently appointed M. O. H., of Hanover. While he could not state definitely just how many cases there are now in Hanover, without taking it up with the other local doctors, he considered the situation vastly improved and he did not at the moment know of any serious cases. The serum or antitoxine ordered by Dr. Leonard, some days ago, has not arrived yet, but is expected shortly. Dr. Leonard was of the opinion that the churches and other public places will not be allowed to open next Sunday, but as the situation looks to-day, they probably will on the following Sunday. It has been reported around town that there was a case of diphtheria in a Jewish family in the vicinity of the Grand Trunk station, but The Post and The Free Press say that this was incorrect. He said, to

The Bridge to the British Market

The Victory Loan is a bridge over which the farmers of Canada drive their hogs, their cattle, their grain and all their surplus crops to the profitable British market.

For, the money raised by the Victory Loan enables Canada to give credit to Great Britain. And only by means of that credit can Great Britain buy the products of Canada's farms.

Therefore, when you come forward at your country's call and loyally lend your money that Canada may continue her vigorous prosecution of the war, you are also benefitting yourself and the whole farming community.

It is the duty of every earnest Canadian not only to invest heavily in Victory Bonds 1918, but to work among his neighbors to make the loan a success.

Before the subscription lists close, every man should realize the sterling character of the investment; the good interest return of 5½%; the undoubted security offered in the Bonds of this wealthy nation; and the vital importance to all classes of people, particularly to the farmers, of the Victory Loan 1918.

Victims of La Grippe

Left Weak, Disheartened and An Easy Prey to Other Troubles.

A Nova Scotia Man Tells How He Found New Health and Strength

If you have had an attack of la grippe or Spanish Influenza you are not out of danger until your blood is restored to normal.

Influenza leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion, and over-sensitive nerves. In this condition the system becomes an easy prey to deadly pneumonia, bronchitis, nervous prostration, rheumatism and even consumption. Ask anyone who has had an attack of influenza what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer, "Since I had the grippe I have never really been well." This general feeling of weakness will continue until the blood is built up again, and for this purpose nothing can equal a fair treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last these pills make new, rich, red blood which reaches every organ and nerve in the body, and through this weak, despondent victims of influenza are transformed into cheerful, healthy, happy men and women.

Among the many victims of la grippe who proclaim the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. Amos Kaulback, of Petite Riviere, N. S., who says:—"I was taken down by a severe attack of la grippe, or influenza."

After a time the early symptoms of the trouble left me, but I did not regain my usual strength, and I had always been a strong man. There were times when I felt I could hardly crawl about, and I was so run down I could scarcely go about my business. I continued taking medicine, but it did me no good. Then I found the trouble was affecting my digestion and the disagreeable feeling from this added to my general misery. I was finally advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I had only been taking the pills a few weeks when I found my strength returning, my appetite improved, and still continuing the use of the pills a few weeks more found me restored to my old-time vigor. I can most strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who have passed through an attack of influenza as a safe medicine for renewing their strength."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

his knowledge, there wasn't a case of diphtheria in town.

Not in many years has the Messenger of Death dashed a Hanover home under such pathetic circumstances as are instanced in the passing of Mrs. J. A. Magee last Sunday afternoon. When a young wife and mother passes out at the age of 30 years

GIRLS! WHITEN YOUR SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Make a beauty lotion for a few cents to remove tan, freckles, sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. The juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just as how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how beautiful, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! it is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.

leaving a husband and three children the eldest, Larry, aged 7, the second, Max, aged 3½ and the baby Kathleen aged 16 months, the climax of irreparable loss has been reached. In the midst of death all about us in town, in the country district, and indeed throughout the whole of Canada, due to the ravages of the influenza plague, when a victim succumbs situated domestically as was the late Mrs. Magee was, it seems very hard to understand.

TARA

The coal dealers of Tara and the Council discussed the fuel situation in the council room last night. Mr. J. Hamilton, the local fuel controller, read a telegram from the Dominion Fuel Controller stating that no more hard coal was likely to be shipped to Tara this year and advised the municipality to procure a quantity of wood. After much discussion on the matter the Council decided to endeavor to buy a quantity of bush and have it cut and delivered at Tara.

The Publicity Committee is trying to make arrangements to have Sir Wm. H. Hearst address a public meeting in Tara some time during the week in the interest of the Victory Loan of which due notice will be given.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. Martin J. Craig, Tara at 12 o'clock, noon, on Saturday, when his second daughter, Myrtle Lamela, became the bride of Mr. William Thomas Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, of Arran Twp. The service was performed by Rev. J. W. Currie, in the presence of immediate relatives. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Lorna, and little Mary Dolphin, of Toronto, niece of the bride, dressed in cream duchesse silk, acted as flower girl. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a suit of navy blue with fur and hat to match. After the ceremony the bride led the way to the dining-room where a dainty luncheon was served. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl sunburst, and to the pianist and flower-girl each pearl pin. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Hamilton and Toronto.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girl! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; add if not overcome it produces a fever, lameness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

"I know exactly what is the matter with you, Jack. You have lost confidence."

"YOU were getting along fine until you had that nervous breakdown, but since then you have been worried and anxious."

"Now you have got discouraged and down-hearted, and it is no wonder you cannot make sales."

"The salesman must have lots of energy and vigor as well as confidence in himself and what he has to sell."

"But you cannot have confidence in anything so long as your nerves are weak and you spend the nights worrying instead of getting good, refreshing sleep."

"Take my advice, boy, and go straight to the drug store and get half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Then make up your mind that while you are using this you will get out into the fresh air all you can and forget to worry."

"Now, you may feel pessimistic after all the treatments you have been taking, but I know what I am talking about."

"My nerves were in a worse condition than yours ever were. I could scarcely get a wink of sleep, and did not care whether I got anything to eat or not."

"Besides, I got so irritable and down-hearted that nothing seemed to go right."

"The experience that I had enables me to sympathize with you now, and also to say that I am certain that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you."

"It is entirely different to most medicines used for the nerves, because instead of merely stimulating the tired nerves to over-exertion, it nourishes them back to health and vigor."

"Now, Jack, you must give the Nerve Food a trial, and I know you will consider me your best friend for telling you about it."

Here is an interesting letter from another business man who had a similar experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food:

Mr. W. J. Wilson, Grocer, Perth, Ont., writes: "In fitting up this building for a grocery business I worked very hard, and after putting in my stock I continued plugging away, good and hard, too. I commenced to feel myself going down—my weight went from 150 pounds down to 164 pounds. My appetite began to fail, and, of course, upon retiring I could not get a good night's rest. Sometimes after going to sleep my nerves would twitch, and I would wake up with a start, and then lie awake for hours. I remembered having used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food before, so I started in again, and took a good treatment, using about half a dozen boxes. I soon felt my appetite returning, I could sleep well, and commenced gaining in weight. Until I felt like a new man. From the benefits I have received from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I cannot speak too highly of it."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the box you buy.

OWEN SOUND

Pte. Leslie Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong, 1263 2nd Ave. West, returned on Wednesday night from overseas and gladdened the hearts of his parents and intimate friends. He still walks with the aid of crutches, after spending almost a year in hospital. He, with his brother Jack, went overseas with the 14th Bn. over two years ago and in March 1917 he went to France. He was a nat. Vimy, through the severe fighting at Lens and Hill 70, and Passchendaele on Nov. 7th, he was wounded in the thigh, the bone being fractured. He was taken to England immediately and was making good progress when he met a serious accident that set back his complete recovery for a long time. He was going about the ward of the hospital on his crutches, and one of the crutches slipped, letting Pte. Armstrong fall, the injured thigh bone again being broken. He has been in hospital almost ever since. Everyone will hope that the young man will quickly regain the use of the injured limb and will have a bright and happy future.

Elijah Henry, who was sent up for trial on Wednesday charged with breaking into the station at Holland Centre, appeared before Judge Sutherland at the Court House on Wednesday afternoon and after the evidence was taken he was found guilty and given a six month's term in the prison farm. He and a young squaw drifted up this way and in their meanderings they got into considerable trouble. It is said that the male aborigine stole a turkey from a farmer and cooked it in a pail. Mr. E. J. Thornloe, C.P.R. constable, of Owen Sound traced the pair from Holland Centre to near Chatsworth. They evidently took to the bush there on Friday night last, but were picked up on Saturday morning by Deputy Chief Thompson, and given a preliminary hearing. They were in a very filthy condition, as lousy as they could be, and no doubt one of the first things done to Elijah when he goes to his next residence, will be to give him a good bath. The young squaw went sent back to her home near Strathroy.

Mr. G. S. Sinclair, who resides with his daughter, Mrs. Geo. E. Dunoon, Ninth Street E., received word that his son, Pte. David Carson Sinclair, infantry, had been admitted to No. 30 Casualty Clearing Station, suffering from gunshot wounds in the head. He enlisted with the 52nd Bn., in Port Francis, and has been on active service a long time.

The investigation into the fire in the Wm. T. Lee and Sons' drygoods store which occurred in the early morning of Wednesday, August 28th, was re-opened in the council chamber this morning by Provincial Fire Marshal R. E. Heaton, of Toronto. Crown Attorney Grier, of Toronto, and Mr. Clitherow, a government reporter, were also at the investigation. Five witnesses had been called up till noon to-day and very little evidence has been obtained as yet beyond what came out at a previous investigation. It was definitely proved that the store was deliberately set on fire but there are no clues yet as to the person guilty.

Though the influenza epidemic still shows every indication that it has pretty well spent its force, the prospect is that the schools, churches and other public buildings will not be allowed to reopen for some days. So said the Acting Medical Health Officer last night in answer to The Advertiser's enquiry as to the prospect.

Capt. Ed. Reid, 1st officer of the Canadian Government steamer Dollard is at home on a weeks leave. The steamer is for the time being out of commission, on account of the influenza epidemic which has laid hold of practically all the crew. The captain and Capt. Reid were about the only members that escaped the disease; so the ship is lying at Parry Sound until the invalids recover and are able to resume work.

SOUTHAMPTON

Mrs. John Tackaberry, of Lions Head, is back in the old town for a few days' visit. She came to attend the funeral of the late W. H. Harmer. Last Sunday was Anniversary Sunday in the Southampton Presbyterian Church. Rev. J. M. Nicol, of Listowel, delivered splendid sermons at both the morning and evening services, and the church had prepared special music for the occasion. Owing to sickness in many homes, and the fact of the influenza epidemic, the attendance was not as large as is usual at the anniversary service.

Last Tuesday evening Mrs. Edward Cook, bride of a few days, was given a miscellaneous shower by her friends at the home of Mr. W. Walker. There was a large gathering and a very pleasant evening was spent in songs, games etc., and the bride and groom received hearty congratulations of a host of friends.

Mr. Russell Robertson, of Toronto, was here for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late W. H. Harmer. Mr. Robertson had been travelling for a few weeks and was near Cochrane when he heard of Mr. Harmer's death. He immediately went to Cochrane and accompanied the remains home.

Many Boats In Harbor 'In 1888'

Far More Than at the Present Time—More Schooners in Those Days.

Owen Sound Times

Mr. Brownlee Ward has contributed to The Times a list of the boats which were in the harbor in 1888, the first year of The Times under present management. The list is exceedingly interesting as it revives memories of many an old two-sticker and three-sticker which frequented this port, as well as many of the old wooden propellers which arrived and departed regularly from the harbor here. Mariners particularly will appreciate the list and The Times is pleased to receive from Mr. Ward the contribution. The following is the list:

Steamers—Albion, Athabasca, Campana, Carmona, Cmbria, Pacific, Atlantic, Baltic, Northern Belle, Magnetawan, W. M. Alderson, Meteor, Bayfield, Celtic, Cherokee, E. M. Foster, Imperial, Skylark, Cruise, Steam Barges—Kincardine, City, Montreal, M. S. Hubbell, Scotia, United Lumbermen, Nashua, Lother, Matawan, Erin, C. W. Chamberlain, T. D. Stinson, Auronaut, Isaac, May, Africa, Mary H. Boyce.

Schooners—Shigo, Gold Hunter, M. L. Breck, Jesse Drummond, Little Wolf, Minnie Slawson, Emily B. Max, Skylark, Reed Case, D. S. Austin, Huron, St. Louis, Corsica, Starling, Niagara, Sophia J. Luff, Mary, Phoebe Catharine, Eric Stewart, John Miner, Barbrin, Gordon Jerry, Mary D. Ayer, Granger, A. E. Vickers, Melvina, Waukeha, L. M. The Price of Newspapers

Newspaper readers here in Canada sometimes think that the yearly subscription prices are high, and sure enough they are a little higher than they used to be. But they are not high as compared with newspaper prices elsewhere. The mail brought this week, a copy of the Cincinnati, Ohio "Enquirer" and at the top of the editorial page we find the following rates of subscription quoted: By mail (one year) including Sunday $14.00; one year daily, except Sunday, $12.00. The enquirer runs from ten to twenty pages, or the same as the Toronto Daily papers, and is in no way superior to our dailies. As a matter of fact in spite of the slight advances of the past two years our newspapers are still very low priced. Pile up your daily papers for a month and they will look a pretty big dollar's worth as compared with things in general.—Ex.

CHESLEY

George Ruhl, the Sharon cider and apple butter man, is doing land office business these days. One farmer started for Ruhl's at five in the morning, but there were five teams with loads of apples ahead of him. Mr. Ruhl makes a fine brand of apple butter and the cider is of such good quality that some had as high as 70 gallons made. With mustard, raisins, sugar and corn syrup added, it is said the sweet cider becomes hard in about three weeks, and enough of it has the same effect as the real old fashioned prohibition days. In three days owing to the high price of vinegar it is largely used for that purpose.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES IN CANADA

Thousands of Cases Reported With Many Deaths.

THOSE WHO ARE MOST SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"—The Wonderful Fruit Medicine—Gives the Power To Resist This Disease.

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thousands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many deaths are already reported; Surgeon-General Blum of the United States Public Health Service has stated that "Spanish Influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks."

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings those infected with the disease.

Surgeon-General Blum urges that "the individual take all the precautions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene." Plenty of exercise should be taken, the diet should be regulated, etc.

Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, worry or worry, especially those who are "run-down" or "not footed up to the mark."

The really great danger from the disease is not so much in the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

What everyone needs now is a general tonic like "Fruit-a-tives." This wonderful fruit medicine is not a germ-killer. It is a body-builder; a strength-maker; a blood-purifier; a power in controlling against the ravages of disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and purifies and cleanses the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, insuring food being properly digested and assimilated.

Everyone can take ordinary precautions, avoid crowded places, and use "Fruit-a-tives" regularly to insure sound digestion, to keep the bowels and kidneys regular and the whole system in the best possible condition. Then we are safe from disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

A Greenock sharpshooter, left yesterday for Johnston's Harbour in St. Edmunds Township, where they will be in readiness to bring down the merry deer which abound in the northern confines of Bruce. The deer season is from May, 1st to 15th. These four sons of Esau expect to bring home savoury meat which in these days of high hog and cattle prices will mean a big saving in these four homes if the hunters have good luck.

Who should land in town on Tuesday unheralded, but Pte. Whittington Ince. He is a son of a clergyman at Farnham in Hampshire, Eng., now deceased, and was employed as clerk with Jos. Brennan at the McDonald House when war broke out, and he enlisted with the first contingent and after training at Valcartier Camp, went overseas. He went to France in 1915 and was invalided to England in 1916. He is looking fairly well and expects to return to England shortly.

The War Up To Date—A Retrospect

The hard fighting is probably about over. Germany is still able to wage a defensive war, but it will be murder in the first degree to do so, and as that nation knows that she has nothing to gain, and everything to lose in doing this, it is within reason to hope that peace will soon be declared. But how long it has been since the summer of 1914, when war was declared. It was less than five years ago, and yet it has seemed as long as fifty. What a nightmare it has been, on and on, everyday there were battles compared with which Waterloo was only a scrimmage, but it will soon be over.

How quickly the people of the Allied nations responded. About 400,000 soldiers were raised by voluntary enlistment in Canada alone. A number of years ago the late Sir Richard Cartwright spoke in the House of Commons of the British overseas dominions as being able to maintain an army of 250,000, well, including India, they raised over 2,000,000. Nor was the response by the men more spontaneous than that by the women. When the history of this war is written the writer will pay the highest tribute to Canadian Womanhood. The sox, knit, knit, knit, the shirts, sew, sew, sew etc., and in every way that it was possible to assist the men at the front they were there every time.

And if the men went to the front, the women went there to care for them when they were wounded. In every way that it was possible the Canadian women brought honor to this young nation.

The great wonder in Germany will be that they did not win. And when the history of the war is written it will be found that they were nearly winning on several occasions. But Germany could not win, and that is all there is to it. The current of the world's history in its onward march of progress cannot run backward. There has been a Divine plan since the creation, and that plan could not be changed by Germany. Forty years of the most intensive and careful preparation were useless before nations fighting for justice, their homes and everything they hold sacred.

And what won the war? The heroic Belgians won the war when they opposed the mighty German Machine, and died because they would not allow their country to be over run. Italy won the war when she cast in her lot with the Allies. Russia won the war in relieving her pressure on the Western front, in her two great offensives. First, last and all the time the British Navy won the war. The United States won the war by throwing all her power into the balance when that power was needed. But then Providence had the most to do with events. There was the hand of Providence at Mons, at the first battle of the Marne and last Spring when the waters of the Piave overflowed the banks and helped to defeat the Austrian offensive.

The Casualty List—Will we ever forget it? How we have read it. How much space it has occupied. Young Canadian manhood, the best that we had was given, the supreme sacrifice was made—to save the world for democracy. And many of these casualties came right home. That list touched the most remote place in Canada. It is perhaps safe to say that no place escaped. The war cloud will lift, the daily routine will go on, but in thousands of Canadian homes the heart thoughts will forever go out to the loved ones whose bodies are resting somewhere in the battlefields of Europe.

What a changed world! Probably it will be a better one. Sure it is the autocratic forms of governments will go, and democracy will be enthroned everywhere. The Central Powers are practically ruined. They threw everything into the dice box and lost. And it has taken millions of lives and wealth beyond imagination to defeat them. And upon these ruins the nations must build and re-construct.

Canada will naturally have a big war debt to pay and it will take a few generations to wipe it off, but the sad part of it is that Canada will not have so many men as in the summer of 1914, and besides those "killed in action" we will have many to care for who were wounded in action, and they have to be seen after. No matter what it may cost, Canada has to take care of her wounded soldiers.

Will there ever be a war again? We would think that this war should make future war among all civilized nations impossible. Surely of this proposed League of Nations will come some way to disarm armies, and to put an end to the mad expenditure in naval construction as prior to the war. But time alone will tell.

THE VICTORY LOAN

The honor of the Bruce Peninsula is at stake. The report in another column is far from flattering. What is the reason? It is not a lack of money. Yesterday a farmer, who was in town, and who is nearly 70 years of age, was buying Victory Bonds. He told the writer that during these last three years he had added about as much to his bank account as he had accumulated before that during the rest of his life time. We believe that this is the experience of scores, but the subscriptions to the Victory Loan to date do not indicate as much. This thing is more than a good investment it is a patriotic duty, and the man who has the money and does not lend it is a mighty poor citizen of Canada. It is probably the last time Canada will ever ask his help.

Keep the lid on while there is any danger.

A few days ago silk that sold for $30 per yard is now being offered in Austria for 8 cents. There is something ridiculous about such a break, and it may be due to the bankrupt conditions of the country. However those who argue that prices will not drop in Canada very quickly may be disappointed.

Many towns and cities where large war orders have been placed will be turning their attention very quickly to other war conditions. They will want their factories employed at some thing else. A town that has never had any war orders, should likewise get busy.

The Owen Sound Sun has purchased The Times and the two papers have amalgamated. The Times says "Few towns or cities can provide patronage sufficient in the way of advertising and circulation that will make a heavy

We, the undersigned, hereby mutually agree that we will not conduct funerals on Sunday except on the written order of the Medical Officer of Health.
 Fred P. Emmons W. A. Prudham
 J. E. Thompson W. A. Matthews
 Signed at Warton, Nov. 3, 1918.

REV. S. S. HARDY'S POSITION

Mr. Editor—In reference to the petition regarding Sunday funerals, which has been handed to you for publication, I wish to state that the opportunity of signing such a petition was very kindly afforded me last week. I could not, however, concur in the petition so worded and wrote a statement upon the position which set forth my position on the subject. The statement I wrote was substantially as follows: The Rev. S. S. Hardy is strongly adverse to Sunday funerals and does not care to conduct such services except under extenuating circumstances. I shall be obliged if you will publish this letter when you publish the petition to which it refers.

Very truly yours,
 S. S. HARDY

A Triumph Of Edison's Genius

Those who hear the New Edison Diamond Amberola are amazed at the fidelity of its reproductions. They can hardly believe that any instrument could be so nearly "human".

If you will permit us to occupy a corner of your living room with

we will repay you many times over by giving you the most delightful musical treat you have ever experienced in your home. Without obligating yourself in any way whatever, we will send to your home some of the greatest singers, instrumentalists and musical organizations of various kinds.

We do this by sending you an Amberola and a dozen AMBEROL RECORDS. It won't be more than five minutes before you will decide that you will never part with the Amberola; but you can have a week in which to try it out and decide whether you will want us to bring the outfit back to our store, or whether you want to keep it by paying cash or arranging convenient terms.

Take advantage of this free trial offer today—come in and select the style of Amberola you prefer and your favorite records. It won't cost you a cent unless you buy.

That Northern seed potatoes produce more than Southern was proved by a young farmer in this vicinity this year. He secured 2 pounds of Northern and 2 pounds of Southern grown seed from Guelph. The Northern grown seed produced 36 pounds more than the Southern, was a more vigorous growth and there were no decayed potatoes.

The War—On Tuesday the situation was good. Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria-Hungary out, and terms of an armistice had been sent to Berlin. If Germany accepts there will soon be peace, if she decides to fight there will, no doubt, be war for some time. The issue, however, will never be in doubt.

The Women's Patriotic League sent away a very creditable array of Christmas stockings last week. The socks were donated to the Toronto Red Cross for Canadian boys in hospitals. They prepared and sent 48 stockings which averaged $4 apiece. The stockings looked very Christmasy and tempting, with the packages wrapped in tissue paper and tied with holly ribbon.

"I guess the boys from around home got quite a cutting up alright. I was very sorry to hear about so many being wounded. I saw all the ones you mentioned just the night before we went over the top and everyone was in the best of spirits at the idea of at last doing something. It was so deadly tiring standing in trenches all winter." So wrote Sergt. Jack Allan to his father, Mr. T. C. Allan. The Warton boys have been tried in the balance and not found wanting. Sergt. Allan has been wounded in the foot and it is less than likely that he will see active service again. We are glad to hear that the boys still keep up their spirits, no matter what odds they are against. In this way, also, they are showing themselves true men of Bruce.

CONTINUE PRECAUTION

So far there is no move to re-open the schools or churches. By closing these and taking other precautions we have avoided a severe epidemic. The 'Flu' has been mild here, and the few cases have been under control. However it is not mild elsewhere, and it is best to keep all public places closed for a time longer. This disease has been too fatal for us to cease taking precautions.

THE ONTARIO FUEL COMMISSIONERS GIVE TIMELY ADVICE

October 20th, 1918

GENTLEMEN:—

The anthracite fuel situation in the Province of Ontario at this date stands as follows:—

The United States authorities have limited the export of anthracite coal to the Dominion of Canada for this coal year to approximately 4,000,000 tons, a reduction as against the coal year 1917-1918 of 1,200,000 tons. Under existing war, labor and domestic conditions this allotment is in line with the allotment made for the neighboring States of the Union.

Arrangements have been made, and will be made, by the Ontario Fuel Administration for facilitating and supervising the transportation and distribution of its portion of this allotment.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL

Careful consideration has been given to the framing of regulations and the instituting of economies to effect the general saving of anthracite which must be made to meet domestic necessities, but in the last fortnight a new and more serious condition has arisen, in that the working force at the mines have been affected by the prevailing epidemic of influenza, and there are grave fears as to the ability of the mining companies to turn out the estimated tonnage and supply this Province's allotment in full.

Under these circumstances, it is evident that the Ontario Fuel Administration, in co-operation with the Commissioners for each Municipality, must put forth every effort to deal with a serious situation, and this circular has been prepared in order that the Municipal Commissioners may be advised as to the policies adopted by the Fuel Administration to meet conditions and assist in putting the same into immediate effect.

STOCK UP WITH BITUMINOUS

(1.) Every coal-dealer must at once put in his bins a supply of bituminous coal. He must hereafter keep an adequate supply of bituminous on hand, and it will be his duty to canvass his customers and urge upon them the necessity of using soft coal in substitution for anthracite. At the present moment no difficulty is experienced in securing bituminous, while later on there may be a shortage even in this fuel, and the wise householder will therefore immediately insure himself by placing an order for a substantial portion of his full requirement in bituminous coal. Dealers who experienced any difficulty in securing supplies of high grade bituminous should at once communicate with the Ontario Fuel Administration. Unless the dealers comply with this notice, regulations to the same effect will be enforced.

USE OF BUCKWHEAT IS ADVISED

(2.) At the present time stocks of buckwheat coal are available, and can be secured by dealers. This coal, which is a small sized anthracite, runs best satisfactorily used in a mixture of which 25 per cent. is buckwheat and 75 per cent. ordinary size anthracite, and users who have now part of their winter's anthracite supply in bins will greatly improve their position by ordering buckwheat coal.

GET OUT ALL AVAILABLE WOOD

(3.) Every effort must be made in each and every Municipality to secure a supply of wood fuel. While it may now be too late in the year to satisfactorily season fresh-cut green wood, ingenuity and effort will secure dead-wood for use, especially in small towns and villages, and while the cost may be comparatively high, the fact must be emphasized that only at high prices, and with considerable effort, will sufficient supply of any fuel be available for the coming winter.

(4.) As each urban Municipality has been allotted its supply of anthracite coal for the coming winter, care must be taken by each local Municipal Commissioner, and dealer, to see that orders coming from those outside his Municipality are not unfavourably affected. A user who has in past years secured his coal supply from a dealer carrying on business in a Municipality other than that in which the user lives, must in reason and fairness be supplied with coal, if but only if, he cannot procure and use wood fuel. Farmers and others owning bush or wood lots must supply, and use, their own wood fuel, and dealers must refuse anthracite coal to those who can use bituminous coal or can supply themselves with wood fuel.

CO-OPERATION BY CHURCHES IMPERATIVE

(5.) The Provincial Administration has urged the Church authorities of the various denominations to save coal and set a good example by such a scheme of mutual co-operation in each Municipality as will best save coal and, at the same time, interfere as little as possible with the Church services. The enclosed letter shows the excellent results in this direction achieved last year in the City of Brockville, and this example can, and must, be followed by the Churches in every Municipality in the Province. The Fuel Administration is anxious to place any fuel regulations upon the Churches, and it is earnestly hoped that a cheerful voluntary arrangement will render such a course unnecessary, but if a proper response is not made to this appeal the necessary regulations will be forthcoming.

REGULATIONS OF PRIVATE RESIDENCES

(6.) A regulation will shortly be issued limiting private residences, affected by Par. 21 of the Fuel Regulations regarding the sale and delivery of coal, to the use of a maximum of forty tons of anthracite during the current coal year. Residents who have used over that amount in previous years must this season arrange to either close or partially close their residences, or substitute for their excess requirements with buckwheat, bituminous coal or wood.

ANTHRACITE AT DISPOSAL OF ADMINISTRATION

(7.) A further regulation will within a few days be issued requiring that all buildings, other than residences, fitted with furnaces in which bituminous coal can be used, shall use no anthracite, and all anthracite in stock, or in transit for the use of such buildings, shall be placed at the disposal of the local Fuel Commissioner for sale and distribution to domestic users, at a price which will compensate the owner and provide the rehandling and delivery charges.

(8.) Regulations have been issued for the Winter golf and country clubs, and arrangements are being made to render available for public use the stocks of anthracite coal carried by these clubs.

(9.) Arrangements have already been made with the Dominion and Provincial authorities for the substitution of bituminous for anthracite coal in the heating of all public buildings, and release of their stocks of anthracite for domestic use. While all Municipal Councils, School Trustees, both Public and Separate, and the authorities of other public bodies will be brought within the subject to the above-mentioned regulations, it is advisable that these public bodies voluntarily make such immediate arrangements with the local Fuel Commissioner as will meet the situation.

A PATRIOTIC NECESSARY

(10.) Each and every citizen must be impressed with the patriotic necessity of saving coal—late lighting of furnaces, the use of grate fires during moderately cold weather, and a reasonable self-restraint by those who have coal—will assist those who have no fuel to secure at least a temporary supply, and it must be again and again emphasized that the coal shortage is war situation, in which the duty of every citizen is to save fuel, and keep on saving fuel, thus doing his or her part in winning the war.

(11.) Many Municipalities have paid no attention to repeated requests that they appoint local Fuel Commissioners, and as the Provincial Administration cannot deal with local troubles, except through the local Commissioners, these defaulting municipalities should at once appoint their Fuel Commissioners.

COAL CONSERVATION A WAR MEASURE

While the fuel situation in the Province of Ontario is serious and uncertain, the Provincial Administration is doing everything possible to secure the delivery of the coal allotted to the Province, but it is evident that each Municipality must actively co-operate by increasing its supply of wood fuel, and by saving every possible pound of coal. Every Commissioner who in his Municipality puts into practice economies in the use of coal, or substitutes wood for coal, is doing his share to win the war.

Rheumatism Every Winter

To be crippled by Rheumatism is to have life become an intolerable burden, especially in the winter, when the persistent cold and damp aggravate this complaint till it is almost unbearable.

Can you picture the dread that any man would feel winter in when all it meant to him was a yearly return of his Rheumatism and the agonizing pains that it brings?

Such was the case of Mr. A. Beaudry of Bedford, Que. Each winter he was forced to undergo the torture of Rheumatic pains, until he discovered GIN PILLS. Read what he says about these little doctors:

"Every winter I suffered from Rheumatism, and this is the first reason I have been able to go through without return of my old trouble—thanks to GIN PILLS. The pills are all you claim for them, and more."

Testimony such as this should convince even the most skeptical that GIN PILLS do remedy Kidney troubles.

If you have friends or relatives who suffer from this dread affliction, tell them to try GIN PILLS. So many people have written us stating in glowing terms how GIN PILLS have relieved them of Kidney troubles, that we are convinced that all any person needs to do in order to obtain relief is—try them.

THE SHIPS

Some day great ships will come within our ken.

Proud, unafraid.

Their decks alive with lean, bronzed fighting men—

Men who have made

Their stand for liberty and victors come,

Wearing their hard won laurels, as they bring

Peace and security to those at home.

Across the sea no longer menacing.

Some day great ships, weighed down with precious freight,

Will reach our shore—

And Oh! the hearts of those who patient wait

Will give no more!

Tears left unshed when partings racked the soul

Will fall when they return, like summer rain.

For they have sought and found, have reached the goal,

And, crowned with victory, come to us again.

Some day proud ships will land, and we shall scan,

With anxious eyes,

Their decks, perhaps in vain. For, since the world began,

Was sacrifice

That all might live. So, when the stately ships,

Empty for us, come proudly home again,

Crush back the tears, press firm the trembling lips,

Rejoice, rejoice, because they died for us!

—Helen Combs, in New York Times.

A Long Wait

"It was a rash promise. I wonder if he'll remember me."

"What's that after?"

"Four years ago, it was yesterday."

I promised to marry Maggie after the war ended."

His Aim In Life

"So your boy is in the medical corps."

"Yes, and he writes home that he has just one ambition."

"What is that?"

"He wants to conduct the post-mortem examination on the Kaiser."

WRONG BOTTLE AGAIN!

Mr. Thomas Wade, of Alton, Ont., accidentally applied some acid to his nose, thinking the bottle contained balsam. Writing of the error, he says:

"The acid burned deep into my flesh and set on poisoning, causing me intense pain. I really thought I should lose my leg, but a friend advised me to try Cam-Buk. I did so, and the effect was marvellous! Cam-Buk very quickly ended the pain and drew out the poison. Eventually it completely healed the sore places."

Cam-Buk is best for all skin injuries and diseases. All dealers, 50c box, for $1.25.

The Principles of Pension

1 Soldiers are not pensionable for service only.

2 Pensions are awarded only in cases of disablement due to a wound or disease occurring on, or resulting from, or aggravated on service.

3 Disablement is estimated only by the effect it may have upon the soldier's capacity for ordinary work. That he cannot return to his former occupation does not entitle him to a higher pension than the extent of his disability warrants.

4 If a soldier is so disabled that he is completely incapacitated for ordinary work, he receives a 'Total Disability' Pension, which has been fixed at $50.00 a month.

5 If by his disablement a soldier's capacity for ordinary work is lessened, he receives a percentage of the 'Total Disability' pension equal to his handicap.

6 This percentage has been most carefully and thoroughly worked out for every disability and it is as accurate and fair as it is possible to make it.

7 The earnings that a man may be capable of making, or the amount of his previous war earnings, will not in any way affect the amount of pension awarded. The extent of his disability is alone considered.

8 Widows of sailors or soldiers who have died are entitled to pension for so long as they do not remarry.

9 Children of sailors or soldiers are entitled to pension up to the age of sixteen, if boys, seventeen if girls.

10 Pension is only granted to the parents of a sailor or soldier when he was their main support previous to his death.

Canada has not blindly neglected to be guided by the lessons learned and the experience gained by other countries in matters concerning pension legislation. Care has been taken in the framing of her pension laws to protect the nation from the possible occurrence in Canada of pension scandals as those in which the United States was involved during the period of 1818 to 1820. The pension laws of that country, previous to that time, were loosely worded, and there were many opportunities for the practice of fraud. Thousands of fraudulent pensions had been awarded and this created a situation calling for drastic legislation to bring order out of chaos. Ultimately Congress passed what was known as "The Alarm Act" which provided for a more thorough examination of all claims for pensions and the claims on which pensions had already been awarded. This together with other remedial legislation resulted in the elimination of fraudulent practices and the evolution of wiser and sounder pension laws.

Prospective pension is, to a vast number of returning soldiers the one bright gleam in a future clouded with uncertainty. The necessity for wide spread dissemination of reliable information regarding not only the actual payment of pensions but the general guiding principles governing pension law is therefore obvious. The general public and the returned soldier, sailor, especially, must know what a pension is and when or why it is awarded. It is the duty of everyone concerned in the welfare of returned soldiers and sailors not only to acquaint himself with the main principles of pension legislation and administration, but to pass on to others the knowledge he has obtained.

Start with a pension is an award of a monthly or annual sum of money made by a country to a soldier or sailor in consideration of the disability he has suffered during the service; or to the widow, children, or other persons dependent on a deceased soldier or sailor on account of his having been killed in action or having died as the result of his service.

Pensions for members of the Canadian forces are awarded under regulations adopted by the Governor General in Council and administered by the Board of Pension Commissioners. The Board of Pension Commissioners has no power to alter these regulations in any way whatsoever.

Some of the guiding principles on which Canadian pensions are awarded and with which all pensioners, prospective pensioners and those interested in their welfare should be acquainted are set out in special form at the beginning of this article.

These are not intended in any way as a comprehensive explanation of the basis of Canadian pension awards, but merely as an outline of the salient features.

NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917.

EMPLOYMENT OF MEN IN DEFAULT UNDER THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT.

The following Regulations, recently approved by the Governor General in Council, impose strict obligations upon every employer TO ASSURE HIMSELF THAT EACH OF HIS EMPLOYEES OF MILITARY AGE AND DESCRIPTION IS IN POSSESSION OF DOCUMENTS PROVING THAT HE IS NOT IN ANY WAY IN DEFAULT UNDER THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT.

An employer who is charged with having a defaulter in his employ must be able to prove THAT THE MILITARY SERVICE PAPERS ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OR MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO THE EMPLOYEE IN QUESTION WERE PRODUCED FOR HIS INSPECTION at the time when the employee was taken into his employment, and that it was reasonably established to his satisfaction that the man was not in default under the Military Service Act. It should be clearly understood that the Canadian Registration Certificates given on June 22, 1918, at the time of general registration, in no way define the status of a man under the Military Service Act.

REGULATIONS.

"106. Every person who employs or retains in his service any man who has deserted or is absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force, or who is in default in the performance of any obligation or requirement for reporting or for military service, imposed upon him by the Act or Regulations, or any proclamation thereunder, shall be guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by a penalty of not less than One Hundred Dollars, and of not more than Five Hundred Dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine, unless such person prove that he made due inquiry and that THE MILITARY SERVICE PAPERS ISSUED BY THE REGISTRAR OR THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO THE MAN SO EMPLOYED OR RETAINED IN HIS SERVICE WERE PRODUCED FOR HIS INSPECTION, and that it was reasonably established to his satisfaction by such inquiry and papers that the man was not a deserter or absent from the force without leave, or in default in respect of any of the obligations or requirements aforesaid."

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Stagnant Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Bloating Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and sluggish bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which rots and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first sign of trouble. Indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, neuralgia, everything that is horrible and annoying. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently leave out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

To Our Subscribers

As intimated last week subscriptions to The Echo on January 1st, 1919 are payable in advance. The newspaper commissioner has issued this command, and the publisher has to obey. Hitherto a great many have paid during the year. This, while strictly speaking, was not paying in advance, yet it was satisfactory to us, as we knew our subscribers. However although we may know everyone yet we cannot show any difference whatever, and we shall be obliged to drop the name of any old subscriber and friend should his remittance fail to reach us by the first of the New Year. We trust that those who have been our life long subscribers will remember that we are governed by a new law and will remit in time. And now a word to all who are in arrears, some for 1918, some for two years and some for three years, etc. On January 1st we will be obliged to stop sending the paper should we not hear from you in the meantime. We have sent the paper so far in good faith, and we confidently expect that you will make good. Look at your label and see what you owe. Do not wait until the last of the year to remit, but send along the money to-day. Do it now—"Go over the top". Others are going over, one subscriber $7, another sends word that $9 will soon be here. Please let us hear from you.

Another of these Popular One Day Specials in Grafonolas To-morrow

We never let a Saturday go by (if we can help it) without presenting our patrons with a good special in Grafonola outfits, and with manufacturing difficulties becoming increasingly perplexing we are finding it harder each week. But here we come with another of these splendid offers such as we made three weeks ago—just as good as ever and sure to bring us the usual big rush of buyers. We will take orders to-morrow only for 50 of these outfits, consisting of

Mahogany Grafonola --or Quarter-cut Oak if You Prefer it-- With Record Cabinet $85

Just as you see it illustrated here, for only $85. This is a notable combination of high quality and low price. It is an entirely enclosed and cabinetized Grafonola, made of selected mahogany or oak, of excellent design. The height of Grafonola with record cabinet is about 43 inches, and 17½ by 17½ inches at base of instrument. It has two-spring drive, non-bearing motor, plays three records with one winding, has speed regulator operated on graduated dial, tone control leaves, new bayonet-joint tone arm, and No. 6 Columbia reproducer, lid is piano hinged. Cabinet has capacity for close to 100 ten and twelve-inch records.

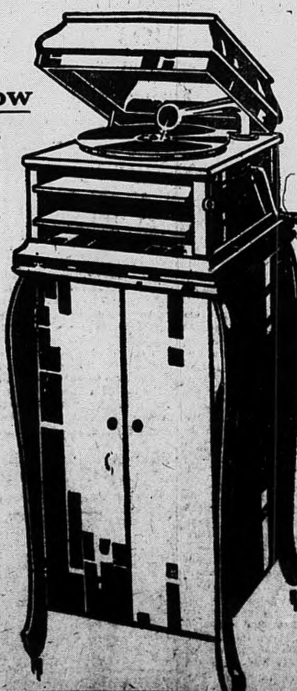

No Money Need be Paid Down To-morrow on This Outfit if You Purchase Ten Records

All we ask is that you buy 10 Records, costing you only $8.00, and giving you 30 selections. We will send the complete outfit home to you at once, and you can pay us the price of outfit in small weekly sums afterwards.

These are sure to be a rush to own one of these grand new Grafonolas, and as the quantity is limited, you should get your order in as early as possible.

REASONS FOR GRATITUDE TO A HIGHER POWER

The Canadian government has most appropriately asked that next Sunday be observed in all the churches as a day of National Thanksgiving. On different occasions, when victory was in the balance, when the German hordes were driving towards the Channel ports and Paris, the government very wisely set apart days for national humiliation and prayer for victory. If, therefore, in the hour of national danger we sought Divine aid it is only fitting that we should acknowledge that aid in a spirit of gratitude. As the various churches are closed on account of the epidemic The Echo asked the different clergymen to speak through this paper. They kindly consented, and what they will strike a responsive chord in the heart of everyone who had been longing for the hour of victory and peace.

REV. S. S. HARDY

The war is over! Thank God we have long prayed for peace and now it is here. Suddenly, it came, like a bolt from the blue. Ungrateful is he, who, in this supreme moment of the world's history, would fail to give thanks to God.

For four years we have unceasingly offered up prayer before the common altars of our religion and from countless human hearts has the cry that the awful carnage might cease, gone forth. Since the angels' song at Bethlehem, no word has brought such cheer to the earth as the present glad tidings that peace is at hand. Please God, may the angels' anthem be established amongst men on earth.

From the outset we believed our cause was just. What comfort now that God has set His seal upon our faith and crowned our arms with victory! And yet in this conflict of Right against Might what terrible sufferings we have been called upon to endure. God does not needlessly call upon the righteous to suffer. There was design even in the death of the Son of Righteousness and who can doubt but that there is some great underlying purpose in the stupendous suffering, sorrow and sacrifice we have just gone through? Truly sacrifice, like mercy, is twice blessed; it blesses him that gives and him who receives.

The very essence of sin is selfishness, and the antithesis of selfishness is sacrifice; sacrifice comprehends Love. Did we ever fail to realize, certain now is that "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend." The tragedy of the cross has been re-enacted in our day and it is not too much to hope that the world of ideas has been redeemed for man by man. We thank God for that.

Let us thank God that for the present at least, and for all time may be, we have been delivered from those selfish pursuits which, prior to the war, engaged so much of our time and talents. Never before have women and men devoted so much of self to unselfish ends as during the past four years. Verily the spirit of the Master has possessed the masses in the realization that our duty here is to minister and not to be ministered unto.

Today we are entering upon the period of re-construction of society. It is almost as though we were starting all over again. We shall be wise in carrying over into peace the lesson we have learned, in war; namely, that the only success which society can sanction is social achievement. The criterion of success in life must henceforth be, not 'what have I gotten from the world?' but 'what have I given to the world?' For the sake of society many mothers' sons and sisters' brothers have given their all. We thank God for those priceless sacrifices whose lives laid down and before His Throne humbly placed themselves that their example of sacrifice will not be in vain; that society which they redeemed will not soon relapse into social conflicts for selfish gain. 'Social achievement' is the slogan of peace which our fallen heroes have bequeathed to us. For that bequest we render humble thanks to God.

And has the enemy gained nothing from this war? Thank God he has gained something. In the words of one whose name is better forgotten than remembered, the enemy has "learned to transvalue his values." To quote the words of Prince Maximilian: "The victory for which many had hoped, has not been granted us. But the German people have won this still greater victory over itself and its belief in the right of might." Thank God that the scales of delusion have fallen from the enemies' eyes and that he has been led forth into the light of day. But at what an awful sacrifice that lesson has been learned. Rivers of blood have flowed that the lie might be given to the doctrines of the Junker class of Germany and to verify the teaching of scripture, that he who taketh the sword will perish by the sword, and that Right, not Might, must dominate the world. Though that lesson has been sternly taught, thank God it has at length been learned.

And so our reasons for thanks go on and on. So many lessons have been learned, so great a deliverance has been gained and granted us that the very wight of reasons for thanksgiving ought to face us to our knees. Conventionally we speak of owing thousands of thanks, 'to day that convention is literally true. Never since God created man was there more reason why he should fall at His feet and give Him thanks.

REV. W. W. PRUDHAM

The war is over, Militarism has received the death stroke. The last of occupants is a fugitive. The common people become the King. Let flags flutter and bells peal while huzzas ring our throats. The world never saw such an hour. Political freedom becomes possible for the last autocracy. Let us give thanks. First, that Right rules the world, power that would make serfs of small states, that trampled on treaties, that spoiled Belgium and violated bleeding humanity, lies writhing in a death agony. The machinations of 40 years crumble before the four years assertion of right. Right wins the day.

Second, that the Spirit of Sacrifice abides. Canada's 50,000 have not died in vain. They only live who die to make men free. No tablet of bronze or monument of stone can be a substitute for the gratitude we owe those who have stood to keep us free. To live worthy of such sacrifice is surely the duty of the hour.

Third, that the spiritual dominates. Not for aggression did our armies advance. Freely money and means were offered as a means to an end. All that men had they were ready to give that liberty might not be banished from the earth. The constant and confident appeal to Heaven has been rewarded.

Fourth, that the unity of the Empire has been demonstrated. The lion roared, the cub responded. From the rural strand and Africa's sunny veldt, from Anzac's sea girt isles and Canada's fair domain, a common cause received concerted action. "We are not divided, all one body we."

Fifth, that the brotherhood of man is an attested fact. British and French, American and African, Moslem and Christian, black and white, in the trench knew no distinction. There was a common baptism of fire. Ours is a sacrament of sympathy. Men are brothers to-day the whole world over.

Sixth, for the allied friendship. We could have succeeded alone. We are too close to events to value the meaning of this allied friendship. France has been born again, Italy has come to her own, Japan has done a service in the East, that the West hardly apprehends. The United States can no longer stand aloof from other free states. Hats off with "Thanks to all."

REV. J. E. THOMPSON

"The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad." So sang an inspired psalmist on the occasion of the deliverance of his people from exile in Babylon. The human agent of their deliverance was Cyrus, King of Persia, but the chief agent was their God. In the judgment of this writer it was not Cyrus who had done the great things for them, it was God and to Him be given as the praise.

It becomes us as a people to do like wise at this time. The Lord hath done great things for us. After 4 years and 3 months of struggle and loss and sorrow, unparalleled in the world's history, the cause of freedom and justice and truth has triumphed gloriously. Many human factors contributed to this end, but it is not minimizing the wisdom of our leaders or the courage of our soldiers, or the loyalty of our allies or the devotion of our civilians to say that they would have proved impotent, unless the Lord of Heaven and earth had been on our side. All through this war from the day of the retreat from Mons to the swelling of the Piave River and the turning of the tide at the Marne, there runs a stream of Providence and the facts as they come to light serve but to increase its volume. And so it becomes us in the day of victory to give praise be God and to say with another psalmist: "No unto us, Oh Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory."

And that is not all. God has been with us and we need him still. It is not for us to cease praying with the cessation of the hostilities. There is no rest so severe as the test of victory. We face a future bristling with problems political, social, economic and religious, and we dare not face them in our own strength and wisdom. To do so is to invite disaster. The need of the hour is a new consecration to God through prayer, of all our powers and resources, if we would prove worthy of the new era he has permitted us to see. And so when the noise of battle ceases and the soldiers return home, when "the tumult and the shouting dies" and we assume the responsibilities of the future, well may we pray Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget! Let us forget! St. Paul's Manse, Warton, Nov. 11.

REV. MR. EMMONS

And David said to all the congregation, Now bless the Lord your God.

What a fitting climax to a noble life! David was truly great, great as a man, great as a leader, great as a warrior, and great as a king; but the highest manifestation of his greatness is seen in that act when, after having rehearsed in the ears of the children of Israel the goodness of God to the Jews as a people, and as a nation, he concluded his famous address with that appropriate exhortation "Now bless the Lord, your God." These words were uttered, as David, nearing the end of life's journey, paused a moment, and letting his eyes sweep back over the course of time, he beholds the battles fought and victories won, the seeming defeats of God through it all, he is led to exclaim "Now bless the Lord your God." Had it been a Priest of Israel, or a Prophet we might have passed it by; but when we see a King giving all glory to God, then we are filled with wonder and holy reverence at the sight.

And now, when the clanging of bells, the blowing of horns, the beating of drums, and the shouts of joyous hearts have ceased, and we stop to review the awful history 'since July 28, 1914, shall we think of our days of weakness in the earlier part of the war when a few stout hearts stood before the blood-thirsty hordes of Prussian militarism. Truly it was a time of weakness, but we believe that God, as he looked upon that sea of grey-clad, lust-filled, God-defying men, said "so far shalt thy proud waves go, and no farther;" many testimonies have come to hand to that effect. Prayers have gone up to God during these years as never before, and those who know of the power of God cannot help but feel that God has given us the Victory.

What a fitting climax it would be at this time when the roaring of the guns has ceased, and peace has come to earth, if our Kings and Governments would say, on an appointed day when all is still, and companies of people have gathered in the meeting houses, "Now bless the Lord your God." And all the people would join in blessing the Lord their God.

REV. J. LANGHOIZ

It was a blessed moment in the history of the world, when in the first hours of Monday, November 11th, 1918, the Armistice was declared and the way paved to Peace on Earth. In suspense the world awaited the outcome of the three-days' negoti-

Roy Heppenstall

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Heppenstall, Warton, reported dangerously wounded and seriously ill, now reported out of danger.

For King and Country

The casualties to report this week are:

JIM WILSON, Warton, wounded, SYLVESTER KEESHIG, Cape Croker, Gassed, LIEUT. W. PILGRIM, Dyers Bay wounded.

The Town's Bush Lot

The expenditure on this scheme to date has been approximately as follows:

Lot	$500.00
Fuel Controller's charge	61.00
Shack	100.00
Paid for wood cut	101.00
Total	$761.00

On Nov. 6th there had been cut 24 cords 4 x 4 x 8, and 23 1/2 cords of stove wood. Operations under the direction of the Fuel Controller, who is his Worship, have been proceeding upwards of two months. A contract has been given to Mr. E. Crane to supply 1000 cords, which has to be cut and delivered before March 1st. He is under contract to deliver stove wood at $3.25 per cord, and 4 foot wood at $6 per cord, and as security he has put up a deposit of $100, which he will forfeit should he not fulfill his agreement.

The Victory Loan

Warton has gone over the top with flag at top mast. On Tuesday night the amount subscribed stood $99,600 while the objective was $50,000. Everything is still going strong and it looks as if the list will go considerably over $100,000 by Saturday night. On Nov. 11th Warton reported the following: Lions Head, St. Edmunds, Easton, and Lindsay $3,360, or 16 per cent of objective. Albenmar, objective $20,000, amount subscribed $10,400 or 52 per cent of objective. North Amabel objective $22,500, amount subscribed $2,500 or 11 per cent of objective. The objective in Port Elgin was $34,000 and they have raised $116,050. In fact Port Elgin will probably exceed its objective more than any other place in the County. There are a few days yet and if the rural parts do not want to fall down badly they will do well to bestir themselves.

town, with the whole world, rejoiced at the sound of the bells of peace. "Peace on Earth." Peace, after more than four years of bloody warfare, hushes the noise on earth, may end of time, to the dawn of a better world, where war is unknown.

But the one lasting Peace can only be given by the Lord. Therefore let us, as his followers, lift our eyes to Heaven, with thanksgiving and prayer, thanks for the Peace at last granted us; and with this prayer that henceforth the peace on earth may acknowledge themselves as brethren in God our Father; for only in this lies the guarantee of lasting peace. And may this Lord heal the wounds caused by this terrible war, and may He dry the tears that ever flow from the eyes of the noblest sons of the land.

THE CELEBRATION WAS A GREAT EVENT IN WIARTON

Early Monday morning about 5 o'clock the news came that the Armistice had been signed and the bells began to ring, whistles to blow, etc. and the bells have rung more this past week than for many years put together. The sound was heard many miles in the surrounding country, and this, with the rural telephone now in every direction, told everyone that the great world war was over. Country people for miles around came to town and the crowd was a large one.

the glorious boys, saluted Mr. T. C. Allan on either cheek.

Capt. (Dr.) Hay said he hoped that this was only the first of many meetings to be held in the near future to welcome the returned boys.

Rev. W. W. Prudham said that we as a British People, were the Victor and should be too big to hold enmity against those whom we have conquered.

Rev. Emmons compared this world war to the killing of Goliath by the stone from David's sling. "Right shall triumph over Might."

Father Cadot hoped that now differences in creed would be a forgotten thing. The Army was united, why not the people?

Mr. G. Kastner, Warden of the County, said that he thanked his Maker to-day that he was alive and taking part in the present celebration.

"Time is a great healer of wounds," said Mr. T. C. Allan. "And I hope to be able to greet the boys who come back with never a sign for the ones they have left behind—those who have given their all, their lives."

Rev. Mr. Hardy expressed gratitude at thus being able to express his thanks to the Giver of all Good Things.

Rev. Mr. Thompson said that Britain, with her new settlements, would have new problems to face, but it would be done the same as ever, in a true British way.

Mr. A. A. McLaren headed the Pipers Band and the Town Brass Band was in evidence all day. Patriotic pieces and all other selections of a catchy strain were played.

Celebration Last Thursday

That guy who got in the wire in France last Thursday, certainly created some of the North American continent. The world was anxious to hear that Peace had come and he catered to the desire. And the public bit—Oh! no! we were not the only ones fooled. In every city town and village in Canada where the word came that the armistice had been signed there was a half holiday and general rejoicing. It was all out door demonstration, due to the fact that the Board of Health has still on public meetings, the day was foggy and somewhat damp. However nothing prevented the spontaneous outburst of loyalty.

Well just how did it go? Let us see! Andy McLaren was first on the street with his bagpipe, and the Mayor was dancing. But the bells, how they rang. They were heard in Wolesey long after the Owen Sound horns, bells, etc. had gone out of commission. And then the procession of autos, gayly decorated, with bunting vehicles, men on horseback, the brass band, the pipers band, paraded the streets and it was kept up the whole afternoon. Everyone had a half holiday and everyone who could get on the street was there.

In the evening there was a further demonstration and from the upper balcony of the St. Albans Hotel a number of stirring patriotic addresses were delivered.

Yes, it was all a joke, but apparently no one was sorry for the demonstration, and had the news been genuine it could not have been better nor more sincere.

OWEN SOUND

Despite the unsettled weather on Saturday morning there was a record attendance at the market and the square was crowded the whole forenoon. Butter and eggs were the most plentiful produce although there were quite a few fowl offered and considerable grain. Eggs were still up in price and brought 53 cents a dozen with the stores paying 52 cents. Butter dropped a little and was selling for 47 to 48 cents a pound with 45 cents to the wholesale price. Chickens were 30 to 33 cents a pound, ducks 22 cents and geese 23 cents. Dressed pork was 22 cents a pound and live work 17%. Potatoes were lower and were sold at prices ranging from $1.30 to $1.50 a bag. Apples were from $2.50 to $3.00 a barrel, the latter being for Spinal. A load of peas was sold for $2.50 a bushel and wheat was $2.05 to $2.11 a bushel. Barley was from $1.00 to $1.05 a bushel and oats 75 to 78 cents a bushel.

A report is current in Toronto, according to the Toronto News that Mr. James Playfair, of Midland, is negotiating with the C. P. R. with a view to purchasing from that company the steamers Manitoba, Athabasca and Alberta. Just how much foundation there is in the report is difficult to find out but the fact that the two latter steamers have hardly turned a wheel during the past season, leads to the belief that there may be some grounds for the report. Since leaving Owen Sound the C. P. R. has lost a large portion of the lake passenger traffic that was at one time a very considerable item. What the C. P. R. lost, the Northern Navigation Co., with new steamers gained. The removal to Port McNicoll gave the C. P. R. faster grades and a shorter run to Montreal for freight, but reduced passenger trade very considerably. Just what Mr. Playfair would do with the boats if he got them, is a matter that leads to much speculation. It is hardly likely that the steamers and other passenger accommodation would be removed, and should this surmise be correct, the route on which they would be placed would be the question that would agitate the people mostly. They would more than likely have their headquarters at Midland and would probably run to Collingwood, Owen Sound, Soo and the head of Lake Superior, each making weekly trips at least during the summer. But it is mere speculation even to the report of negotiations. As far as the C. P. R. is concerned, Owen Sound has been served fairly well with the weekly sailing of the Manitoba, during the season, but would welcome any change that would give them three sailings where there used to be but one. A statement by the Playfair interests would be welcome.

Another very sad death occurred in Owen Sound on Tuesday last, Nov. 5, when Ida Gilbert, beloved wife of Wm. Chapman, 3rd. Ave. E., passed away as a result of complications caused by influenza. She was 29 years of age and was born in Keppel, Ont., and nine years ago married her now bereaved husband. Besides the widower, three small children, Thomas, Charlie and Jennina. Her father, Mr. Thomas Gilbert, resides in Owen Sound, and two brothers, William of Shallow Lake and George, of Owen Sound, and two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Pointin and Miss Christiana Gilbert, of Owen Sound, also survive. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon to Warton cemetery, the services here being conducted by Rev. Judson McIntosh and in Warton by Rev. W. W. Prudden. Only a couple of weeks ago the little baby of Mr. and Mrs. Chapman died and at that time both parents were critically ill. The husband was only able to leave the hospital a short time before his wife's death.

The following is the report by the Gaoler, Mr. W. A. Green, for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1918, and shows a considerable decrease from the previous year in the number of prisoners committed and also in the number of days that the prisoners were in the gaol. The report is an excellent one and reflects considerable credit upon the Gaoler, Mr. W. H. Grier, and his assistant, Mr. Wm. Wright. There were four prisoners "on hand" when the year started on October 1st 1917, and 40 males and 2 females were committed during the year. Twenty six were committed for the first time nine males were second offenders, and five were old offenders. One was of unsound mind, three were committed as debtors, six were acquitted on trial, and two were allowed out on suspended sentence and thirty were sentenced, including the two female prisoners. Seven were sent to the Reformatory for males, an one female went to the Mercer Reformatory. Two were sentenced to less than 30 days, five got up to two months; six got 60 days; six got up to six months and one up to four months. Five were sentenced up to terms of six months and five up to a year. Four who elected to be tried by the County Judges' Criminal Court were found guilty. Twenty-two had their maintenance defrayed by the government and twenty by the municipalities.

CHESLEY

Two members of the Dominion Military Police landed in Chesley on Wednesday last week, and at once began to show their authority. They asked Russell Morran and W. G. Krug for their marriage certificates and these young married men asked permission to go to their homes and get them. But this did not suit the young soldier detectives, and the two benedicts were hauled before Magistrate Bell who was quite disgusted with the high-handed proceedings of the two policemen who knew they were carrying out the letter of the law which is that a married man of military age must carry his marriage certificate with him. The magistrate did not consider the offence a serious one and fined the two offenders $2 and costs each. The costs go to the informants who pocketed their share, amounting to $3.50 each, and got out of town. The citizens were indignant over the whole proceedings, and if the informers had remained in town over night they would have met with a hot reception.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bradshaw, of the 8th con. Elderline had been sorely stricken by the prevailing epidemic. Two boys and a girl died of it, the eldest son, Pte. John, is still in the Walkerton Hospital, not having completely recovered, and another girl, Jennie, aged 14, a twin sister of the one that died was taken to the county hospital on Monday. The family have not received proper care on account of the mother being ill and the father having to attend to the whole family. There has been unfavorable criticism of the Elders Board of Health for not securing a nurse in time to help the sorely-afflicted family.

After five days' illness Edwin T. Haynes, who had been a resident of Chesley for about four years, and left this town the first of the year for City of Peterboro where he was doing a large photographic business, died on Wednesday, October 30th, of pneumonia following the flu. A great deal of sympathy has been expressed by the many friends of the Haynes family here for the widow and little Revlin. Interment took place in Toronto on Saturday. Mr. Haynes was born in England, but came with his parents to Canada when a young man. He had been an active member of the George street Methodist church.

Last week John Blohm, the local Nikola Tesla, installed 160 hydro lights in the big furniture factory, and it will be his heaven now as

As a matter of business, what do you think of the plan?

You are a farmer.
Canada is a farming country.
Canada grows more food than the people of Canada need.

To prosper she must sell that surplus food.

Great Britain is our best customer for grain, pork, beef, cheese and other farm products.

Every practical man must see how important it is to hold the British trade. Canada wants not only the profit on this trade, she wishes to create a good-will in Britain towards Canadian products and thus assure our export business for the future.

At the moment Great Britain asks for credit, asks Canada to sell her the products of the farm, "on time." To hold her trade, it is necessary to give this credit.

This takes capital—immense capital. For Britain's purchases from Canada are huge, and these purchases must be paid for in cash.

In these times, it is not easy even for a nation as wealthy as Canada to procure money. Certainly, no other country can lend us money. The only way now open for Canada to secure money is to borrow from the people of Canada.

This is the reason for selling Victory Bonds.

Can anyone deny the sound business sense of this plan of protecting our valuable market?

From the standpoint of the man who lends, what better security could he get for his money? Where else could he get a five and a half per cent. return on such security? Where would he find an investment to pay interest so regularly and with so little trouble to the lender? Certainly Canadians have an opportunity to benefit very directly from this borrowing plan.

And the money Canada borrows is spent entirely in Canada—a very large part of it for the very crops the farmer has to sell.

Therefore, if the Victory Loan is a success, business in Canada must be good, the nation must prosper and so be able to carry on a vigorous war effort in France and Flanders.

As a practical man you must approve of the Victory Loan plan.

Then help it along. Put your own money into Victory Bonds; urge your friends to buy; work hard among your loyal neighbors to make the Victory Loan 1918 an overwhelming success.

"There is no night there." The Chain Co. is installing two 35 h. p. dynamos to replace the present 20 h. p. dynamo. This additional load on the hydro will eventually reduce the price to all users, because there can be no surplus of receipts piled up under hydro system. Those of us who have been using both light and power from the hydro since it was installed over two years ago, would exclaim Durkay were every household to install hydro instead of oil lamps, and manufacturers to use hydro instead of steam and water power.

Last Thursday the Chesley Woolen Mills Co. completed an order for ten thousand blankets for the American Army. Mr. Wilkins informs us he is now working on a large order of blankets to keep the Canadian soldiers warm. He also has several orders for the wholesale trade, and isn't worrying about work nearly as much as he is about coal. However, he has a supply of soft coal on hand to keep up steam, and reliable hydro supplies the power.

WALKERTON

At a meeting of the Bruce Preparedness League held at Chesley on Thursday last to deal with the Bruce Soldier's Colony scheme, and at which Messrs. W. D. Cargill and A. E. McNab were present from this section it was decided that on account of the lateness of the season not to commence operations until the 1st of May next, and in the meantime to get busy and perfect the organization. The Deputy Minister of Lands for Ontario Government was present, and strongly commended the Executive for the effort they were putting forth for the Bruce soldiers.

Joseph Waddell, a farmer of the Township of Culross, has been charged by Chief Constable Ferguson of Walkerton with making disloyal statements in Culross on or about the 22 day of October last. The Walkerton sleuth accuses Waddell of stating in effect that "Great Britain could stop the war any time it would, that it was Great Britain started the war, and that Great Britain had perpetrated as much cruelty and destruction of property as the Germans, only we never heard about it." The case will be ventilated in the Town Hall, Walkerton on Friday afternoon next, commencing at 2 o'clock, when Waddell will appear before Magistrate Jast, Tolton and Robt. Richardson to answer to the above serious charges.

The ugliest looking weapon that has yet come into Walkerton from the seat of war was received here yesterday by Mr. David Robertson from his son, Mr. David Robertson, D. S. O. and was none other than a kukri knife used by the Gurkhas, the British Indian soldiers, to top off the head of the foe. It is crescent shaped like a scimitar, and being a fairly heavy weapon, the Gurkhas use only to lead the neck once with it to get the head. In fact they have been known to cut down a fair sized tree with one blow. Two little knives which the Gurkhas use for throwing at the human temple or gorging out one's eyes at close range, are part of his kit and were in the scabbard with the big blade that arrived here.

Mr. W. H. Elliot, late agent and inspector of the Bruce County Child, ren's Aid Society has been appointed to a similar position for Oshawa and the County of Ontario at a salary of $1700.00, and commences duties on Dec. 1st. Mr. Elliot had also an offer of a big church in Bay City District in the Detroit conference but on account of the above appointment coming first he could not accept it.

Frederic Moore, an Indian from the Saugeen Reserve, who was implicated in the robbery of a number of cottages at the Saugeen and a house at Park Head, was sentenced by Judge Klein here on Monday to four months in the Walkerton Jail for the part he played in the affair. The Judge had previously remanded Peter to the County Court pending the capture of his two brothers, Elijah and Michael Moses, who, it seems, really did the stealing, while Pete merely watched outside and got his share of the loot for keeping guard. As Elijah died the other day at Orrilla and Michael himself, is very ill, Judge Klein decided to dispose of Pete without any further delay and hence passed him a four months term at the Court House here on Monday.

HANOVER

Many friends will regret the removal to Toronto this week of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Brunt and family. Mr. Brunt has resided in Hanover and vicinity all her life, while Mr. Brunt has been here for 24 years. They have been good citizens and will be missed. Mr. Brunt was the veteran barber of the town and his removal from the tonsorial trade seems like the removal of a land mark. He possesses a genial nature and has a large number of friends here who will wish him well in his new home. Mr. Brunt will also be missed from various ladies' societies of the town, not only perhaps, the Women's Institute, in which she took an active interest.

Another fateful message came to Hanover from Ottawa yesterday morning announcing the death in action of Pte. Edgar George, only son of Mrs. Alex. George, of Hanover, on Oct. 25th. Deceased only left town March last which shows the rapidity with which some get into khaki, go overseas, get into the firing line and are snuffed out. He was about 26 years of age, popular with those who knew him, and who deeply regret that another Hanover boy has been called upon to pay the supreme sacrifice. His mother and sisters have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community. The late soldier's father passed away a couple of weeks ago.

The Post joins with a wide circle of friends this week in extending congratulations to Mr. Albert Brock Curry, barrister of Hanover, and eldest son of Mr. John Curry, of New Market, who on Tuesday of this week was married at Kewick, to Miss Dorothy A. Pollock, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pollock, of Kewick. The event took place at the bride's home at 8 o'clock, Rev. J. I. Simpson, President of the Toronto General Conference, officiating. Owing to the recent death of the groom's mother, the event was very quietly attended, only the immediate friends being present. The young couple were unattended. The bride wore white silk crepe de chene. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Curry returned to New Market where they remained for Toronto and left on a short honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a travelling suit of navy blue serge. They expect to arrive in Hanover next week to take up residence.

Mr. Richard Burrell, of Brant Tp. who sold his farm some months ago and bought a small place of the western outskirts of the town, has bought another 60 acres near Hanover from Mr. Tony Ernest, "Dick" is one of the young "old boys" of Brant Tp. and in spite of his 60 odd years, can do a day's work yet with a good many of the young chaps.

The Bank will trust you

Perhaps you never had an account in a bank—maybe you've never done business in a bank—hardly even cashed a cheque in one. But—that is no reason why you cannot go to a bank and borrow money to buy Victory Bonds.

If you are a steady, industrious, thrifty citizen, working and saving a part of your income, you are just the kind of person Canada's chartered banks stand ready to help to-day.

Any bank will lend you as much money as you can save during the next twelve months, with which to buy Victory Bonds.

All you have to do is to pay ten per cent. of the amount you want to buy and deposit the receipt for that ten per cent. in the bank.

The bank will lend you the 90 per cent. balance at 5½ per cent. interest and will give you a year to repay it, the interest you get on your bond being just the same as the bank charges you.

This is a fine opportunity for you to begin a real savings account, to make a first class investment and to help your country at the same time.

Why not see a banker to-day—he will tell you all about it and you will be glad of the advice and help he can give you.

AFTER DEEP THOUGHT.

A young man had been put on sentry duty for the first time and was stationed near the barracks. It was not long before an officer came along. The young man suddenly fur-got the challenge, "Who goes there?" and after a deep thought, thinking he had remembered, called out loudly, "Look what's here!"

He Cannot Sleep

IT isn't the body that craves rest, but the mind.

When you are bodily tired you can usually fall to sleep at the first opportunity.

But when the nerves are irritated by anxiety and worry rest and sleep seem to be impossible.

The mind seems to be most alert, and you are thinking, thinking, thinking—first of one thing and then of another—often matters of little or no importance. But you simply cannot sleep.

Sleeplessness is the most common and often the first indication of a breaking down of the nervous system.

The object of sleep is to allow the body to rebuild tissue and the nerves to recover tone. Sleep is the ideal condition for this process.

If you cannot sleep you worry, and worry breaks down nerve cells at a tremendous rate, so that instead of laying up nerve force for the demands of the day you are using up the reserve.

The nerve centres are sometimes likened to storage batteries. If you continue to consume the nervous energy in reserve, without paying back, these centres become sooner or later depleted, and you find yourself a nervous wreck.

After a sleepless night you get up feeling tired and lacking in mental energy. Your day's work seems more than you can face, and you become down-hearted and discouraged.

The future is not bright, for you must realize that the natural result is exhausted nerves, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or some form of helplessness.

In Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is found the most natural and the most rational treatment for the nerves imaginable, because this food cure contains the vital substances which go to the building up of the blood and the depleted nerve cells.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does not induce sleep, but it does restore the nervous system, and after you have been using it for a few days you will begin to find yourself resting and sleeping naturally.

A little patience is necessary if your nervous system is greatly exhausted, but you will be encouraged by the benefits obtained to keep up the treatment until the exhausted nerves are fully restored, and you feel the energy and snap which means success and happiness.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
CHAPTER IX.

The Kaiser's Plan for World Domination. The history of modern Germany is, perhaps, in itself sufficient indication of the underlying plan of the Tenth War barons to control the whole of Europe and eventually the world. The program has been slowly unfolding itself since the time of Frederick the Great and the present generation is now witnessing what was intended to be the climax.

There can be no doubt that if Germany had succeeded in her efforts to gain control of the major part of Europe she would have soon looked toward the western hemisphere and the east.

This program is fairly indicated by the course of events as history lays them bare, but I have the actual word of the Kaiser to substantiate it. At one of his visits to me shortly after the beginning of the war we were discussing England's participation in it.

"What hypocrites the English are!" the Kaiser exclaimed.

"They had always treated me as well when I visited them I never believed they would have come into this war. They always acted as if they liked me. My mother was English, you know. I always thought the world was big enough for three of us and we could keep it for ourselves—that Germany could control the continent of Europe. England, through her vast possessions and fleet, could control the Mediterranean and the far east, and America could dominate the western hemisphere."

How long it would have been before Germany would have tried to wrest dominion from England can readily be imagined, and with the whole of Europe and the far east under her thumb America would undoubtedly have proved too tempting a morsel for the Kaiser's or his descendants' rapacious maw to have resisted. He said that he believed that the world was "big enough for three," he didn't say it was too big for one.

What was really in his mind, however, is indicated by a passage in an address he made some twenty-five years ago, in which, as Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis has pointed out, he used these words:

"From my childhood I have been under the influence of five men—Alexander, Julius Caesar, Theodoric II, Napoleon and Frederick the Great. These five men dreamed their dream of a world empire; they failed. I am dreaming my dream of a world empire, but I shall succeed!"

The Kaiser's plan to dominate Europe included the control of Turkey, and he made every effort to strengthen that country so that she might be a valuable ally in the war to come.

When Italy took Tripoli from Turkey before the Balkan war I mentioned to the Kaiser how opportunely Italy had acted, but the Kaiser disclaimed my remark with an exclamation of displeasure, realizing, of course, that Turkey's loss was in a sense his own since he had planned to make Turkey his base.

To that end he had sent German officers to train the Turkish army and had supplied them with guns and munitions. With an eye to the future, too, he had constructed the great Bagdad railway.

When the Balkan war broke out in 1912 the Kaiser had great confidence that the German-trained Turkish army would acquit itself creditably and that in the outcome of that conflict his European program would make considerable progress. He told me that he had a map of the war area placed in his motor and that with pigs he followed the fortunes of the fighting armies while he still travelled.

The Turkish defeats were naturally a great disappointment to him.

"These Montenegrins, Serbians and Bulgarians are wonderful fighters," he confessed to me, shortly after the war began. "They're out-door people and they have the strength and stamina which fighters require. If they keep on the way they're going they'll be in Constantinople in a week! Confound those Turks! We furnished them guns and ammunition and trained their officers, but if they won't fight we can't make them. We've done our best!"

The defeat of the Turks lessened their value to the Kaiser as an ally and he immediately put into effect a measure for increasing the German standing army from 550,000 to 900,000.

To restore the balance of power, they said. For this purpose a "Wohlfahrt" or increased armament tax, was levied on capital and, incidentally, I was informed that I would have to pay my share. The idea of paying a tax to uphold the German army, which was already so powerful that it menaced the peace of the world, did not appeal to me at all and I spoke to Ambassador Gerard about it. He advised me to pay it under protest, agreeing with me that there was no reason why an American should be required to contribute to the German war budget. However, I had to pay it.

The German efforts at colonization, which were more or less of a failure because the Germans refused to inhabit the German possessions, and the measures adopted to conquer the commercial markets of the world were an important part of the program of world domination which Germany planned for herself, and it is not unlikely that if she had confined her efforts along those lines she might have progressed further along her chosen path than she has advanced by bathing the world in blood.

"I have nearly 70,000,000 people," the Kaiser said to me on one occasion, "and we shall have to find room for them somewhere. When we became an empire England had her hands on nearly everything. Now we must fight to get ours. That is why I am developing our world markets, just as England secured Hawaii and the Philippines as stepping stones to the markets of the far east, as I understand it. That's why I developed the wonderful city of Kiao-Chau."

His plans in this connection were changed somewhat apparently by the developments of the present war, for he told me that when it was over the Germans would not emigrate to the United States any more.

"No more American emigration for us after the war," he said. "My people will settle in the Balkans and develop and control that wonderful country. I have been down there and I know it is a marvelous land for our purposes."

The Kaiser's vision of the part he would take in the reconstruction of stricken Europe was indicated by a remark he made to me in 1916 when I was visiting him at the army headquarters at Pless.

"Here I am nearly sixty years of age," he soliloquized, "and must rebuild the whole of Europe!"

Although the Kaiser so freely admitted his designs on the world at large, he was impatient of any expansion on the part of other nations. He often spoke of England's "grabbing" propensities and viewed with suspicion our annexation of Hawaii and the Philippines and our development of Cuba after the Spanish-American war. He professed to see in our new policy a strain after world power which was inconsistent with the principles upon which our government was founded.

He objected to our interference in Mexican affairs, although, as was disclosed by the Zimmerman note to Von Eckhardt, he was making every effort to have Mexico interfere with ours.

"What right has President Wilson to attempt to dictate the internal policies of Mexico?" he asked. "Why not let them fight their battles alone?"

Alluding to America's threat to enter the present war, he asked: "What right has America to insist upon the Monroe doctrine of America and then mix in European affairs? Let her recognize also a Monroe doctrine of Europe and keep her hands out of this conflict!"

There is no doubt that the Kaiser imagined that the great army and navy he had built up would enable him to carry out his ambitious program without effective resistance.

The one power he most feared but for which he professed the utmost contempt was England. He had an idea that England would never dare to measure swords with Germany and that he could provoke a war when the opportune moment came without much fear of England's intervention. In 1911, when the international situation over the Moroccan affair was particularly acute as a result of Germany's having sent a gunboat to Agadir to demonstrate that she was agitated in her demands, the Kaiser had great hopes that war with France might thus be precipitated and he was confident that England would keep out of it.

"England would be afraid to war with us," he told me at the time, "for fear of losing Egypt, India and Ireland. Any nation would think twice before fighting my armies, but England particularly because she would not dare a risk the loss of her overseas colonies."

END STOMACH TROUBLE. GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapnein" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you feel bloated and crumbly sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapnein from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

"Watch Your Feet"

Editorial

The world war is over.

The Kaiser and his following are refugees in Holland.

Locally we have done our bit, and many did a big bit.

The Anglo-Saxon nations emerge as the ruling force in the world.

PEACE—The Song of Angels—and Monday was the greatest day since the birth of Christ.

The signs point to a German republic, the biggest and best day in German history was the day the Kaiser abdicated.

Spain was once a most powerful nation, but the defeat of the Armada put her in quite another class, and it looks like the mighty German Empire will have a similar fate.

"I am a Roman citizen," it was a proud privilege in its day, and there never was a time when we felt more proud of being a British subject.

It is no wonder we rallied to the colors. "Britain always has stood for justice." Earl Grey tried to avoid this war, but having been forced into it Britain was determined to see the thing through. The German menace had to be removed. It is gone forever.

And think not that the guilty shall escape. A rising tide will demand that those guilty of barbarisms which would have disgraced the Mahawk or Iroquois Indians, shall be punished. How, we do not know.

The public will never forget those homes, where sadness and sorrow have come, but it was this which made victory possible.

It is over, now the work of life has to go on the same. It is up to the victors to show themselves worthy of victory. Let us live in peace and good will with all, and work together for the common good of this town and district.

We have celebrated but when the boys come home we will celebrate again. There is no welcome which will be too great for their home coming.

Lindsay Council

Council met at McDonald Hall Oct. 25. Members present except R. Bartley.

A. J. and N. McDonald—That minutes just read be adopted.

The report of Engineer E. D. Bolton on the Big River Municipal Drainage scheme was read to those parties respectively interested.

D. and N. McDonald—That the Clerk be directed and authorized to draft a By-Law to provide for the drainage of the lands described in the petition of A. Shearer and others in accordance with the Report, Plans and Specifications and Assessments of E. D. Bolton, O. L. S., the engineer appointed to examine and report upon the said drainage work. Said By-Law to provide for the issue of Debentures to the amount required to complete the drain as set forth in the Engineer's estimates and for a term of five years.

D. and N. McDonald—That the By-Law No. 286 being a By-Law to construct a Municipal Drain in the area described in Petition of A. Shearer and others in accordance with the Reports, Plans, Specifications and Assessments of E. D. Bolton, O. L. S., be now read a first time and that a Court of Revision of the Engineers Assessment of the said Drainage be held at McDonald's Hall on Saturday December 7th, 1918 to consider and deal with appeals, if any, against such assessment.

Orders were issued as follows: Willis Kent, $0.40; Earl Boyle, grant on Tyndall swamp $100.00; Archie Rouse, rep's Cape Chin bridge $5.00.

D. and N. McDonald—That the Council now adjourn to meet again at McDonald's Hall on Saturday, December 7th 1918 at 1 o'clock p. m. as a Court of Revision of Engineers Assessment of lands in area of Big River Municipal Drain and for general business.

Letter From Tom Johnston To Women's Patriotic League

France, Oct. 17, 1918
Women's Patriotic League,
Warton, Ontario

Received your parcel of soap and Maple Sugar for which accept my thanks. The Maple Sugar was delicious and the soap arrived in the nick of time, as I have several soiled pairs which I was planning to wash today, and washing soap and underwear is a job which we all detest over here, not having any utensils for the job, but it is as necessary as eating to keep our clothing clean and free from vermin, which abound in millions in this country.

Last night I came very nearly not having a chance to wear my new suit. Was returning from headquarters with some despatches and on the way back caught up to one of our boys who was returning from hospital. Old Fritz was shelling on our left, but they were bursting a couple of hundred yards away, and we were walking along, talking and paying no attention to the shells when suddenly Bang! one of them dropped on the road a few feet in front of us. We turned and started to beat and the fellow with me fell. I ran back to him and asked if he were hit, he said yes, but scrambled to his feet again. I asked him if he could make a bank a few yards off where there were some funk holes dug in. We managed to get to it alright, and just in time for he pounded all around us. I bandaged his wounds the best I could, he was hit in the leg and head, and got him back to headquarters, where the M. O. fixed him up and sent him to a dressing station.

Well I started out again, but had not gone far when the squarheads opened up again, and chased me back. I got into a funk hole with Dan Loney and another runner were eating a piece of Dan's birthday cake, when Jerry walloped one a few feet from us that nearly jarred the salt out of the ocean, and almost made me swallow the dime that was in the piece of cake I was eating. Presently he quit shelling around us, so after saying a little prayer I made another start and got back to the company without further mishap. Of course, that is all part of a day's work, but it was an experience I don't want repeated. I needed a new pair of trousers when I got back, a piece of shrapnel had ripped up my left trouser leg but didn't touch my underwear.

We have had a bit of rain lately and the roads are rather sloppy, but it is getting around to that season when we can look for wet weather and that is the time we need good socks and a change almost daily. The women of Canada are doing great work in this war and are doing more to make the soldiers comfortable than they realize. We have to take off our hats to them, for while we endure a certain amount of hardships over here, it is the wives and mothers back home who do the real suffering, and for their sakes as well as our own I hope this war soon ends.

Again thanking you for your kindness in remembering me, I remain,
Sincerely yours
Spr. Thos. Johnston

The deceased was interred in Bayview cemetery.

The Cow Puncher

THE POPULAR NOVEL FOR THE CHRISTMAS TRADE

Author Robert J. C. Stead. Publishers, The Munsion Book Co., Ltd. Price $1.50.

The author has quite prepared the public to expect something good when he wrote "The Homesteader" "Kitcheners and Other Poems." The Cow Puncher is among the big Canadian novels. It is a gem in good English, and the poetical rhythm throughout the whole book attracts attention at the start. The Cow Puncher is a young rancher, illiterate but possessed of physical strength and character. Through an auto accident a doctor and his daughter were delayed at the ranch for a few weeks. This talented young lady put the "pep" into his life. Upon the death of his father he left the ranch went to the city, worked as a coal heaver, clerk in a wholesale grocery, reporter on a newspaper, for which he had qualified himself by hard private study. Later he became a successful real estate dealer. The one thing he never lost was character. And last he joined the army, while the daughter's daughter, who became his wife, ran the ranch. The Cow Puncher is a story to read. There is not a dull chapter, and it is without doubt one of our very best Canadian novels, and will have a large sale.

DYERS BAY

The Fls. cases are all better now and no new cases developing.

Mrs. Wm. McNair went to Tobermory last Friday where she will spend a few days with her daughter Mrs. Leonard.

Mrs. A. Wardrop left last week for Stokes Bay to look after her son Henry who is seriously ill.

Mrs. E. Pettigrew spent a few days in Lions Head with friends on account of the death of her sister, Mrs. Ackerman.

There have been a few hunters passing through these parts lately, otherwise things are pretty quiet on account of so much sickness.

Mr. Herb. Boyle left for camp at Melon Creek last week. He will be there all winter.

Hot Shot From Lt. Paddy Pettigrew

The Editor, Canadian Echo, Warton.

Sir:—Seeing the kind remarks in your paper dated August 25th, taken from the Ontario Express headed "Hot Meeting in Warkenton regarding Major Moffat", I would for the benefit of those back biters, who would not support their own sons at the last Dominion Election, who were in the army and possibly had as much right to sign up as Major Moffat, or their sons, that every man of the 160th Bn. will stand fast for Major Moffat, and when they hand out such remarks as that, they are hurting the men, who are fighting and dying in the field to-day for such people as that, and still we are satisfied to put up with the consequences.

I have been a member of the 160th Battalion from the start to finish and Major Moffat made it a Battalion that every member was proud to be and was a credit for anybody to enter.

Our men were fed better than any Battalion in Witley Camp. Our kitchens were visited by members of the army of higher rank from other camps in England and from France. This was due to Major Moffat's skill and was a credit for anybody to enter.

Major Moffat stuck with the boys right up to the last when they were all taken away from him. It was impossible for him to go to France with them and I know just how he felt. It is very well for people to sit in Bruce County and talk about what people should do, but let them come over here and they will find it is much different.

I have the honor of representing the Lions Head Platoon of the 160th Bn. and I am the only officer of the 5th Division that was able to come to France with my men, and I certainly had to put up a hard fight to do it.

The people of Warkenton sang the same song and dance when Capt. Dainard returned on account of his age who had shown his breeding much more than the people who talked about him.

I also noted in an earlier date of your paper regarding the Canadian championship of England re wiring, copied from a Warkenton paper, that Lieut. R. C. Rowland was the officer in charge. Well for the benefit of those who do not know, it was my platoon and I was the Officer in charge and I carry the medal for it just the same as I bent home for the boys.

Thanking you in advance for your space in your paper, if you see fit to publish the same.

E. PETTIGREW, Lieut., 1st Batt'n Can. Engineers, France

OXENDEN

A cement platform has been completed in the front of the church and a porch is to be built, both necessary. They will improve the appearance of the church as well as add to the comfort.

Mr. E. J. Loney has had his house newly shingled.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reeve, Miss Elida, Warkenton and Miss Belya Flarity spent Thursday of last week in Paisley. They went by auto.

Quite a number went into Warton Thursday afternoon and evening to join in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reeve and Mr. Drew Sims moved into Warton last week. They will be very much missed from here.

Mrs. Vanslyck, of Pt. Elgin, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Reeve, last week and is also visiting her in Warton.

There was no S. S. nor Church last Sunday and the day school is still closed. It makes our village very quiet.

Thirty boxes were recently sent to the boys at the front by the Patriotic League. Each contained: 1 pr. Sox, 1 can chocolate, 1 can oxi, 1 trench candle, loaf sugar, 1 nut bar, kisses, candies, bar of soap, gum and cakes. The League is doing good work. Mrs. J. T. Reeve is president.

NOVEMBER

As I look from my chamber window To the Islands far away I can catch a gleam of sunshine On the darkest, dreariest day.

No matter how lowering the visage The Storm-King here may wear; The Spirit of Summer Sunshine Seems to linger fondly there.

The sullen water is lying Facing the sullen sky Sobbing her heart out, and sighing For the beautiful days gone by.

When the shores hung low to listen To listen—perchance to weep O'er her low-cadenced musical mur-murs The sweet, sad songs of the Deep.

But the Storm-King, Lord of the Northland Coveted country so fair, And his battle-clouds, and his loud winds shrieked And his hail hurled thro' the air.

He stripped from the grand old forests Their vestments of yellow and red And the leaves that had lapsed thro' a summer On a forest floor lay dead.

The Wood-folk went scurrying homeward Each to his chosen lair And the Tree-folk fled, from the wood-land dead Or perched on the branches bare.

But the Spirit of Summer Sunshine Dear Maiden of heart's delight Tho' she fled from the Lord of the Northland Could not be conquered quite.

"I love those lake-washed islands Those grim and stubborn rocks; I love those lonely old forests gray; And those wind swept upland walks;

Dear to my heart is the water; Responsive, deep-hearted and true Answering, as face to face in a glass Each mood of mine, grey, golden or blue.

Beautiful are the reflections Caught in some pool-still deep, In the hush of the heart of summer When the breezes are lying asleep.

Lovely the flush of the dawning; Lovely beyond compare The cloudlets with wings like glorified things

That live in their heaven of air. Grand are the sunset splendours Crimsoning water and sky; And the calm moonrise, and the nights pure eyes Trench that beauty can never die.

And I fear not the Lord of the Northland I fear not his clouds and his sleet I can travel fast, o'er regions vast For nimble and light are my feet.

So look from your chamber windows O'er the landscape far away You may catch a gleam of a midsummer dream On the stormiest, dreariest day.

O! spirit of Heavenly sunshine, Dwell in my heart always; For the soul, like the earth, hath its seasons of death Its gloomy and desolate days.

THIS WEEK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHELINE, 2542 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays are overworked and run-down, and upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headache, back-ache, irritability and depression, and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Wortheline.

Plan For Jewish State Criticized

PROFESSOR DIRECT FROM HOLY LAND GIVES HIS OPINIONS OF PALESTINE.

New York, Nov. 6.—Prof. Sylvain Levi, of the College de France, Paris, who has come to America almost directly from the Holy Land, where he accompanied the Zionist Administrative Commission as the official representative of France, believes that Palestine and Syria should be allowed to develop under some western control until both are strong enough to lead independent political lives, or until both are included in the League of Nations.

The appointment of Prof. Levi, although he is not a Zionist, was acceptable to Zionists because of his long connection with Jewish philanthropy, and especially because of his 22 years' service with the Alliance there are several differences of opinion between the Zionists and this alliance; still, the Zionists attach importance to his conclusions about the Holy Land.

Prof. Levi is opposed to the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine, but favors the internationalization of Palestine and Syria, if such an arrangement can be made when peace comes. He does not favor a Jewish State because he believes that "even after the end of this war, and even in the manner we all hope it will end, the smaller nations will not be able to defend their liberties, and should a State be built up in Palestine it will be unable to preserve its own life." Prof. Levi, therefore, favors for Palestine and all the smaller nationalities, an association with more powerful nations in a league which will protect them and encourage their development, granting them their independence when able to support it.

Meanwhile Prof. Levi believes that the development of Jewish Palestine ought to continue as it was before the war and as amplified by the Zionist Administrative Commission, and that it ought to remain what it is now, an agricultural country, with an ever increasing number of farming colonies.

To this end he advises that immigration must not be haphazard, but carefully regulated and controlled by selection. He opposes the development of large cities. He is convinced that the Jews of Palestine can, want to be and will be agriculturists. What he saw there shows, he says, promise of the development of a society democratic in the best definition of the word.—Christian Science Monitor.

SOUTHAMPTON

After an illness extending over some five years death brought rest last Monday morning to Frederick J. Longe, who was born in Southampton in 1864, and who has resided here all his life. He put up a plucky fight against tubercular trouble in the throat, and bore his long illness with fortitude and resignation. Up to some fifteen years ago he sailed on the Great Lakes, and after that until illness compelled him to give it up he was employed in one of our furniture factories. Deceased was twice married. His first wife's maiden name was Melissa Greathhead and from this union two children survive—Mrs. James Rush of Sarnia and Pte. John Longe, on active service. About twenty-three years ago he married Christina McNeill, who survives him along with two daughters, Francis and Lucy, both at home. A son, Fred was drowned in the Saugeen river six years ago. He is also survived by four brothers and one sister, Ed, Peter, Frank and Miss Annie of Southampton and John of Kenora. Funeral services were held at the family residence, Grosvenor street, on Wednesday morning, and interment took place at Southampton cemetery.

A couple of weeks ago a business man was here from Toronto with a proposition to start another factory in Southampton. A local committee was appointed to look into details in connection with the new industry, and later reported to the Town Council. The Council passed a motion stating roughly what terms they were willing to give the new Company, and this week a reply has been received by Mayor McGregor stating that the town's proposition was satisfactory to the men interested and to take steps to have details arranged and place the matter before the ratepayers of Southampton for their approval. Matters are not yet far enough advanced for The Beacon to go into details regarding the new industry, but from such facts as we

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE

IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin whitener at about the cost of one penny for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whiter and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this lovely fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

TARA

The death took place on Saturday evening of Miss Mary H. Gilchrist, daughter of Mrs. Donald Gilchrist, of Derby Twp., after an illness of only a few days from influenza followed by pneumonia. Deceased was born in Derby Township in 1876 and where she spent her life. She was a member of the Knox Presbyterian Church. Although of a retiring disposition those who knew her appreciated her sweet and tender nature, and the news of her death was received with great sorrow by her many friends. She is survived by a mother, a sister, Mrs. J. D. Calder, Mount Forest, and four brothers—Angus, of Derby Twp.; Donald and Douglas, of Arran Twp.; and James of Toronto. The funeral was held on Monday to Tara cemetery.

Mrs. (Dr.) F. A. Thomas received the sad word yesterday of the death of her brother, Mr. Albert Monkman, which took place in Winnipeg, on Tuesday. Deceased was a harrister in that city.

A telegram received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Beatty of Invermay conveyed the sad word that their daughter, Mrs. Robt. J. Nelson, of Rockhaven, Sask., and the latter's little daughter, aged about three years, had died. It is supposed that influenza was the cause of death. Mr. Nelson is also ill with the disease. The death took place in Amabel Twp. on Thursday last week of an old and esteemed lady in the person of Mrs. Sarah Cruickshank, who resided in Arran Twp. for some time. Death was due to old age and heart trouble. She was born in County Armagh, Ireland, in 1831, and came to Canada with her parents eight years later; settling first in Haldimand County, near York, and on the Grand River. In 1849 she married James Cruickshank, also of York. A few years later they moved to the 14th con. of Arran where they were among the first pioneers of the township and underwent all the hardships of the new country. The deceased was a prominent member of the Methodist Church.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It rises the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink loose and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Satan Canderson

"I know," he said at length. "I may have lived in my whole life, but I haven't known how to tell David Jones, especially since we heard of his death. I had written to him—the whole story. The ink was not dry on the paper when the letter came from Jessica telling us of his death."

Behind them as they talked the man on the pavement was walking on feverishly, the dog following with a reluctant white.

At last he came to a wide, dark lawn set thick with aspens clustering

"It was here," he said aloud, about a white house. He hesitated a moment, then walked slowly up the broad, weed grown path toward its porch. In the half light the massive silver door plate stood out clearly. He had known instinctively that that house had been a part of his life, and yet a tremor caught him as he read the name—Stiles. The intuition that had bent his steps from the street, the old stirring of dead memory had brought him to his past at last. This house had been his home!

He started. A man in his shirt sleeves was standing by a half open side door regarding him narrowly.

"Thinking of buying?" The query was good humoredly satiric. "Or maybe just looking the old ranch over with a view to a shake-down?"

"The trespasser admitted grimly. It was not the first time he had seen that weather beaten face. "You have given up surgery as a profession, I see," he said.

The other came nearer, looked at him in a puzzled way, then laughed. "It isn't the case we picked up on the railroad track," he said, "dog and all," thought you were far down the coast, where it's warmer. Nothing much doing with you, eh?"

"Nothing much," answered the man he addressed. Others might recognize him as the luckiest sheep, but this nondescript watchman whose chance had seen him had been in the last of the new in shirt sleeves. "I struck this place about two months ago as gardener and now I'm a kind of a sort of a watchman. They gave me a bunk in the summer house there," he jerked his thumb backward over his shoulder and I know a game warden two of 'em for these cold nights. I'll show you. I can put you up for the night," he said, "if you like."

The wayfarer shook his head. "I must be away tonight, but I'm much obliged."

"Haven't done anything, have you?" asked his one time companion curiously. "You didn't seem that sort."

The bearded face turned away. "I'm not wanted by the police, but I'm on the move, and the sooner I take the trail the better. I don't mind night travel."

"You'd be better for a rest," said the watchman, but you're the doctor. Come in, and we'll have a nip of something warm anyhow."

His guest followed him into a spacious hall, serene conscious of what he did. A double door on the left was what, but he nevertheless knew perfectly that the room it hid had a tall French window letting on to a garden where camellias had once dropped like blood. The open door to the right led to the library.

The yellow light touched the dark valenstoc, the marble mantelpiece, dim paintings on the wall and a great brass bound Korean desk in a corner. What black thing had once happened in that room? What face had once looked at him from that wheel chair? It was an old face gray and lined and passionate, his father doubtless. He told himself this calmly, with an odd sense of apathy.

The other's glance followed his proudly. "It's a fine property," he said. "The owner's an invalid, I hear, with one leg in the grave. He's in some sanatorium and can't get much good of it. Nice pictures, them," he added, sweeping a candle round. "That's a good looking over there. Must be the old man's daughter, I reckon. Well, I'll go and get you a finger or two to keep the frost out of your lungs. I'll be cold tonight. Make yourself at home." The door closed behind him. The man he left was trembling violently. He had scarcely repressed a cry. The portrait that hung above the mantelpiece was Jessica's, in a house dress of soft Honiton blue and a single white rose caught in her hair. "The old man's daughter!" The words seemed to echo and re-echo about the walls, telling a new story without a name. The lesson was his guest's.

As he stared dry eyed at the picture in the candle light the misery slowly passed. He must know. Who she was, what she was to him, he must learn beyond peradventure. He cast a swift glance around him. Orderly rows of books stared from the shelves; the mahogany table held only a pile of old magazines. He strode to the desk, drew down its lid and tried the drawers. They opened readily, and he rapidly turned over their litter of papers, written in the same embossed hand that had etched the one damning word on the draft he had found in the cabin on Smoky Mountain. Most of the papers the searcher saw at a glance were of no import, and they gave him no clue to what he sought. Then, mysteriously guided by the subtle memory that seemed of late to haunt him, though he was but half conscious of its guidance, his nervous fingers suddenly found and pressed a spring, a panel fell down and he drew out a folded parchment.

Another instant and he was bending over it with the candle, his fingers tracing familiar phrases of my estate, and he read them long ago. He read with the blood shivering from his heart:

"To my son, Hugh, to return for the cure and sorrow he has caused me all the days of his life, for his disolute career and his graceless desertion, I do give and bequeath the sum of $1,000 and the memory of his mispent youth. The seal of my estate, real and personal, I do give and bequeath to my ward, Jessica Holmes."

The blood averted to his heart in a flood. Ward, not daughter! He had and still knew the one who left him. His love was justified. Tears spring to his eyes, and he laid the parchment back and closed the desk. He hastily brushed the drops away as the watchman entered and set down two glasses and a bottle.

"There you are. That'll be worth five miles to you," he poured noddily. "The guest drank, set down the glass and held out his hand. "Good luck," he said.

The dog thrust a cold muzzle into his hand as he walked down the gravel path slowly, feeling the glow of the liquor gratefully, with the grudging release it brought from mental torment. He had not consciously asked himself whether now.

In some sense, his disolute career, the memory of his mispent youth! Only to ask his forgiveness and to make what reparation was possible; then to go out once more to the world to fight out his battle.

The guest turned from the words, with quick question, to the mound. He came close and to the fading light looked at the name on the low headstone. So he had come too late! If he could only have learned the truth earlier! He might only put back the hands of the clock!

Hours went by. At length he rose to his feet, his limbs cramped and stiffened, and made his way back to the lonely cabin on the hillside. There he found fast, kindled a blaze in the fireplace and cooked his frugal supper.

He thought of the loving battle he had fought there once before, when tempest shrieked without—the battle which had ended in defeat. He thought of the will he had seen, so sealed with great seal of death. He was the shorn beggar, the beneficiary. What duty she had owed his father was ended now. Desolate he might be in need of a hand to guide and guide, but she was beyond the reach of penury. This gave him a sense of satisfaction. Was she there on the mountain at that moment?

the steep slope of the little Catholic church on the edge of the town, and the yellow tone came clearly up the slope of the mountain where once more the one time partner of Prendergast stood on the threshold of the lonely cabin, sentinel over the mound of yellow grave that marked his life.

The returned wanderer had met with a disquieting surprise in the town. As he had been walking the streets more than one had nodded or had spoken his name, and the recognition had sent a glow to his cheek and a lightness to his step.

Since the daring feat in the automobile the tone of the gossip had changed. His name was no longer connected with the sludge robberies. The lucky find, too, constituted a material boon for Smoky Mountain and bettered the stock in its hydraulic enterprises, and this had been written on the credit side of the ledger. Opinion, so all powerful in a new community, had altered. All this he who had been the outcast could not ignore, but he felt the change with satisfaction.

Till the sun was low he sat in the cabin thinking. At length he called the dog and fastened it in its accustomed place and began slowly to climb the steep ascent toward the Knob. When he came to a certain vine growing trail that met the main path he turned aside. Here lay the spot where he had first spoken with her, face to face. Here also had told him there was nothing in his past which could not be buried and forgotten.

As he parted the bushes and stepped into the narrow space beside the jutting ledge he stopped short with an exclamation. The place was no longer a tangle of vines. A grave had been lately made there, and behind it, fresh cobbled in the rock, was a statue—a figure seated, cloth on a base, as if regarding the nearby mound. As to a dream he realized that its features were his own. Awestruck, the living man drew near.

It was Jessica's conception of the prodigal son as she had modeled it in Anton in her blindness, after Hugh's early return to the house in the nation. David Stiles had pointed out the distant spot where the statue was to be placed, and he would choose to be buried, and the wish had been observed. Her sorrow to his death had been deepened by the thought that the prodigal son would not return.

That thought for David Stiles to have remodeled his son. This sorrow had possessed him, and comfort—that he had known at the last and had forgiven Hugh. Of this he could assure him when he returned, for she could not but believe—so deep in the heart of a woman—that he would not return. In the days of vigil she had found relief in the rough, hard work of the mine, but when he had returned, for she could not but believe—so deep in the heart of a woman—that he would not return. In the days of vigil she had found relief in the rough, hard work of the mine, but when he had returned, for she could not but believe—so deep in the heart of a woman—that he would not return.

The living man drew near.

King's Crown Missing

In cottage or in palace he found the same spirit, prevailing. The party was received by King George at Sandringham, with as little ceremony as would have been expected from a business man. "Indeed," says Mr. Kellogg, "his office is just what might be expected in the work room of a business man, only perhaps a little more intimate." He continues:

"We were extremely surprised to find that King George was much like other people, and not at all impressed with his own dignity and importance. He is very human and has a keen sense of humor. He told us a story about himself of which Lord Northcliffe, who was of our party, said: 'If you don't tell that when you go home, I'll tell it for you.' So here goes:

"The King had been talking with General Pershing and General Bliss in the open at American headquarters. As he turned to go away he heard an American soldier say to another: 'If you don't tell that when you go home, I'll tell it for you.' So here goes:

"The King told the story with droll humor and evident glee. Mr. Bok, as our chuckles subsided, said:

"You know your Majesty, many of our boys think you spend your time wearing your crown and carrying your sceptre."

"Don't forget my ermine robe,"

the King came back with a laugh. "Don't forget my ermine robe."

Wilson Consults Allies

Of Lloyd George, he writes: "The day after the visit to the King we met Lloyd George at a luncheon given for us in London. The Premier impressed me as very active and alert mentally. He has a charming manner and a magnetic personality. He answered freely and easily every question we asked, and with a most open and frank manner. He is confident that the end of the war is in sight, and he assured us that any attempt by Germany to break the Entente of England and France would fail. He also has the utmost and implicit confidence in President Wilson's integrity and ability. At the same time he assured us that Mr. Wilson never took a step without previously consulting with both French and English but that the President's answers to Germany had been so cleverly prepared and his use of the English language so able, that neither French nor British had found it necessary to suggest a change of a single word."

American Soldiers to Stay

In Mr. Kellogg's opinion great numbers of American soldiers will make their permanent homes in England and France at the end of the war. He was told that before the war France had 2,000,000 more women than men, and the disparity has probably been doubled in other European countries also there has been a tremendous drain upon the man-power of the country and the probability is that there are hundreds of thousands of girls, who in the ordinary course of events would have been married, but who will perform remain single unless the war is chosen by soldiers from other lands. Great numbers of American soldiers will be educated in England after the war on a plan authorized by the United States Congress, and they have already been made to feel so much at home that those without particular hostilities in the United States are likely to become British or French citizens.

Starting a Newspaper

(The Perth Examiner)

It is natural for people to imagine they know how to run a newspaper. Most newspaper men think they can run any old kind of a business, even farming, and being good sports do not unduly resent the hint that publishing is a business that anyone can handle. All of which is introductory to a statement that the farmers of the province contemplate issuing a daily paper in their own interests. Promoters have advanced the scheme so far as to obtain incorporation with a capital of $500,000, and are now selling stock at $25 a share. There was a time when this amount would make a daily hum but a metropolitan daily today requires double that amount. It was not so long ago when a good town weekly could get away to a good start with an expenditure in plant and equipment of from $1,000 to $2,000; to-day it takes from $12,000 to $15,000 capital, plus all the hard work you cram into a day

Britain Profoundly Impresses Americans

Mail and Empire

There has recently returned to the United States a party of newspaper men from having spent a couple of months in England and France. Among them was Mr. F. W. Kellogg, editor and publisher of the San Francisco, Cal., who has given an interesting interview to the American Editor and Publisher upon his impressions. Judging from some of Mr. Kellogg's connections he did not go to England with the most cordial feelings, but if this assumption is correct it must be all the more to his credit that he speaks with such warmth of the achievements of the British people. "I was amazed at what I saw," he says, "in four years Great Britain has done what it took Germany years to achieve. The United States has done marvellously well in the brief time since we entered the war, but England and Scotland have done better. On the Clyde where the great ship building plants are located, there is as much work going on as in all the ship yards of the United States. We saw 300 ways that they accomplished their work in building, and being turned out and launched at a rate of almost unbelievable."

The Women of England

He pays a handsome tribute to the women workers in the following passage:

"In the munitions plants there is a hustle that vies with the fastest of our American factories, which opens the vision to the vigor and efficiency of British women, and which certainly places on their heads the deserved crown of patriotism. Row on row of American machinery are established, in great batteries, and at them, as well as at British-made machines, 900,000 of the women of that country occupy their places in order that their men may risk and lose their lives in battle. We saw some of these devoted women, wives, mothers, and sweethearts, many of them of gentle blood, handling enormous 1,600 pound shells. It will be something after the war is over, to have been a British woman munition worker. Danger of explosion has not terrified them, and heavy manual labour has not deterred them. Their spirit is not for victory, and the part that America is taking has added to their strength and increased their determination."

King's Crown Missing

In cottage or in palace he found the same spirit, prevailing. The party was received by King George at Sandringham, with as little ceremony as would have been expected from a business man. "Indeed," says Mr. Kellogg, "his office is just what might be expected in the work room of a business man, only perhaps a little more intimate." He continues:

"We were extremely surprised to find that King George was much like other people, and not at all impressed with his own dignity and importance. He is very human and has a keen sense of humor. He told us a story about himself of which Lord Northcliffe, who was of our party, said: 'If you don't tell that when you go home, I'll tell it for you.' So here goes:

"The King had been talking with General Pershing and General Bliss in the open at American headquarters. As he turned to go away he heard an American soldier say to another: 'If you don't tell that when you go home, I'll tell it for you.' So here goes:

"The King told the story with droll humor and evident glee. Mr. Bok, as our chuckles subsided, said:

"You know your Majesty, many of our boys think you spend your time wearing your crown and carrying your sceptre."

"Don't forget my ermine robe,"

the King came back with a laugh. "Don't forget my ermine robe."

Wilson Consults Allies

Of Lloyd George, he writes: "The day after the visit to the King we met Lloyd George at a luncheon given for us in London. The Premier impressed me as very active and alert mentally. He has a charming manner and a magnetic personality. He answered freely and easily every question we asked, and with a most open and frank manner. He is confident that the end of the war is in sight, and he assured us that any attempt by Germany to break the Entente of England and France would fail. He also has the utmost and implicit confidence in President Wilson's integrity and ability. At the same time he assured us that Mr. Wilson never took a step without previously consulting with both French and English but that the President's answers to Germany had been so cleverly prepared and his use of the English language so able, that neither French nor British had found it necessary to suggest a change of a single word."

American Soldiers to Stay

In Mr. Kellogg's opinion great numbers of American soldiers will make their permanent homes in England and France at the end of the war. He was told that before the war France had 2,000,000 more women than men, and the disparity has probably been doubled in other European countries also there has been a tremendous drain upon the man-power of the country and the probability is that there are hundreds of thousands of girls, who in the ordinary course of events would have been married, but who will perform remain single unless the war is chosen by soldiers from other lands. Great numbers of American soldiers will be educated in England after the war on a plan authorized by the United States Congress, and they have already been made to feel so much at home that those without particular hostilities in the United States are likely to become British or French citizens.

Starting a Newspaper

(The Perth Examiner)

It is natural for people to imagine they know how to run a newspaper. Most newspaper men think they can run any old kind of a business, even farming, and being good sports do not unduly resent the hint that publishing is a business that anyone can handle. All of which is introductory to a statement that the farmers of the province contemplate issuing a daily paper in their own interests. Promoters have advanced the scheme so far as to obtain incorporation with a capital of $500,000, and are now selling stock at $25 a share. There was a time when this amount would make a daily hum but a metropolitan daily today requires double that amount. It was not so long ago when a good town weekly could get away to a good start with an expenditure in plant and equipment of from $1,000 to $2,000; to-day it takes from $12,000 to $15,000 capital, plus all the hard work you cram into a day

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Boy Who Lies Out Yonder

These are the fathers and mothers who wept when the whistles blew,
Visioning over and visioning over, and seeing once and again
The little lad they had seen march off—a man—with men;
Broken of heart, and visioning now in their tears
An empty chair, and the lonely, empty years.

What shall repay the services which brought on earth can repay?
How shall a nation render a thanks in its heart this day?
Whistle and horn and clamor, trumpet and shout and song—
But the boy who lies out yonder, . . . he will sleep long.
And the father and mother who lost him, the man with his story place,
The mother with lips tremble, the man with his story face—
His room, she had kept it ready to welcome him back again.
Since the little lad they had cherished marched off—a man—with men.

What shall requite their service, which brought on earth can requite?
Who shall appraise or name it, who measures its worth aright?
Out from the noise and clamor, now while the siren blows,
What shall a nation whisper, knowing the debt it owes?
When the father and mother who lost him steal up to his room to weep,
What word shall a nation send them, to lighten the watch they keep?
For not in whistles or trumpets, and not in the tunes they play Shall a broken heart of a mother find comfort and strength this day.

Not in the horns and trumpets—but 'en as the mourners kneel,
Thus shall a nation whisper "Know ye the pride we feel.
Ye who have paid our ransom, paid it in blood and tears,
Your sons have bought us freedom, and they are the holiest tears.
And the thing they have bought us is finer than palace or jewels or gold.
The right of the weak to flourish as the strong have flourished of old.
Ye—ye have sown in your tears that a world may reap in joy.
Ye also have cleaned the years . . . with the life of your boy."

These are the fathers and mothers who wept when the whistles blew,
Visioning over and visioning over, and seeing once and again
The little lad they had seen march off—a man—with men;
They have bought freedom, . . . they are the holiest tears;
They and that sleeping boy, who have cleaned the years.

LOOK AT YOUR LABEL

If it reads January 18 or December 18 you are paid up to date. If it reads Jan. 18 you owe for one year. If it reads Jan. 17 you owe for two years for Jan. 17 means Jan. 1917. You will now understand the label. During the past week we sent statements to all who are in arrears. Possibly we may have overlooked some and possibly the statement may go astray in the mail. However, the label tells the tale. If you are in arrears we ask you, as old friends, to remit while the rate is $1.50 and to not put it off any longer. We want all arrears paid this month and would remind all our subscribers at home and in the west, that The Echo cannot be sent any longer unless it is paid in advance. We have been giving you the news, now please do your part, and "go over the top" to-day.

Speaking Nautically

The stately patroness was making her yearly tour of the charity school. Presently she came upon the sewing class.

"What progress does this little girl make in her sewing?" she asked the teacher in charge, indicating the daughter of a longshoreman.

The little girl looked up reproachfully before the teacher could reply. "About 50 knots an hour," she replied.

Albemarle Council

Colpoys Bay, October 28th 1918.
Albemarle Council met on the above date owing to an error in date filed on Clerk's notice of meeting. All members present, minutes of last meeting read and approved.

As there were some of the parties interested in the Ashcroft Municipal Drain present it was decided to give them an informal hearing and the following parties presented appeals against the Engineers Assessment: Christian Krumholz, Alex. Hardman and Prior Hardman. Alex. Hardman and Prior Hardman also Jesse Lawrence Jr. to have Lots 6, 7 and 8 Con. 3 E. B. R. and Lot 6 Con 4 E. B. R. included in the Engineers Assessment for injuring liability. No action was taken on appeals which will be dealt with at the Court of Revision to be held on October 28th, 1918.

Lemcke and Craig—That J. W. Cotton be instructed to have the bridge or culvert on 5th Con. E. B. R. repaired as he can get Thomas Rydall to repair same and furnish all material for a total cost of $20.00. Cd.

Lemcke and Weir—That Chas. J. Craig repair culvert on 10th Con. E. B. R. opposite Lot 25. Cd.

Weir and Couch—That By-Law No. 574 authorizing the expenditure of $1500.00 on the Public Highways of Albemarle for the year 1919 in accordance with the provisions of the Colonization Roads Act and that the Ontario Gov't grants one half of the above amount be now read a 1st and 2nd times and submitted to the Minister of Public works and that the number of Bylaw Roads and the description of same and the amount to be expended thereon shall be as set forth in the schedule appended to said By-law and that the Clerk keep a copy of same on file for inspection by the Ratepayers and that the Commissioners under By-law No. 564, as amended, shall be reappointed under the present bylaw. Cd.

Craig and Couch—That that Council do now adjourn to meet again as a Court of Revision of the Engineers Assessment of lands in the area of the Ashcroft Municipal Drain and for general business at Cunningham's Hotel, Colpoys Bay, on Monday, the 28th day of October, 1918, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

THOS. COVENEY, Clerk.

Colpoys Bay, October 28th 1918.
Albemarle Council met on the above date at Cunningham's Hotel, Colpoys Bay as a Court of Revision of the Engineers Assessment of lands in the area of the Ashcroft Municipal Drain and for general business. All members present, minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Couch and Weir—That this Council be now formed into a Court of Revision of the Engineers Assessment for drainage of lands in the area of the Ashcroft Municipal Drain and that the Reeve be chairman of said Court. Cd.

The members of the Council having made and subscribed to their declarations as Members of the Court of Revision the Reeve took the chair and directed the Court to be open and the following list of Appeals was presented for the consideration of the Court.

Christian Krumholz, self, wrongly assessed.

Alex. Hardman, self, assessed at too high a rate.

Prior Hardman, self, wrongly assessed.

Jesse Lawrence Jr., That Lots 6 and 7 and 8 Con. 3 E. B. R. and Lot 6 Con. 4 E. B. R. be added and assessed for injuring liability.

After discussion and consideration of the evidence in each case it was moved and seconded by:

Couch and Lemcke—That the respective appeals of Charles Krumholz, Alex. Hardman, Prior Hardman and Jesse Lawrence Jr. against the Engineers Assessment of the lands set forth in said appeals be not entertained and that the Engineers Report and Assessment be sustained. Cd.

Lemcke and Couch—That the Court of Revision be declared closed and that the Council take up general business. Cd.

Council then took up general business.

It was moved, Seconded and carried unanimously—That this Council express their sincere regret at the passing away of an esteemed friend and fellow citizen in the person of the late Frederick Balls. Those of us who have sat with him in Council of Albemarle, in which body he served the Ratepayers of this Township well and faithfully for sixteen years will remember and appreciate his sterling honesty and worth and his genial presence will ever be missed.

We further extend to Mrs. Balls and family our sincere sympathy in their bereavement and our appreciation of the loss of their respected husband and father.

Also that the Clerk be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Balls, and that this Council as a body append their signature to the same.

Signed—C. E. Whitcher, Reeve; W. J. Weir, D. M. Couch, Chas. J. Craig J. C. Lemcke Councilors.

Orders to the amount of $140.59 were issued on the Treasurer.

Craig and Weir—That this Council do now adjourn to meet at Cunningham's Hall, Colpoys Bay, on the 25th day of November, 1918 at 10 o'clock, a. m. for reading of By-Law and for general business. Cd.

THOS COVENEY, Clerk

Passes Away In Winnipeg

On Tuesday Mr. B. R. Spragge received the sad message that his eldest daughter, Louise, had died in Winnipeg following an attack of the 'flu'. He received a despatch at 10 o'clock that morning informing him of her illness and then at one o'clock came the word of her death. 'Louise' as she was known by her friends in town, has been absent from Warton about 10 years, the last four years were spent in the West. A letter was received from her but a short time ago and she was quite well! She had been inoculated, but this did not prevent her from taking the disease. The body will be brought home and interment will take place in Colpoys Cemetery Saturday afternoon. The funeral will be private. The many friends of Mr. Spragge and family and of the deceased will read this news with deep regret.

The Ban Lifted

The Board of Health has decided to lift the ban so schools will re-open Monday and there will be services in the Churches on Sunday. The ban has been a wise precaution, and if the utmost care is taken now it can be lifted without danger. But there is still need of being careful.

WOLSELEY

Mr. and Mrs. George Maloney expect moving to Warton very shortly. We are very sorry to lose our old friends and kind neighbors.

Miss Eliza Beacock visited friends in Owen Sound last week.

Pte. Basil Farrow drove from Colpoys Bay on Sunday and was the guest of friends here.

Mr. Bryce Sinclair has sold his farm to his brother Jim and expects to move to Sydneyham.

Miss Arnetta Schroeder spent the week visiting at the home of Mr. J. Jones.

A merry crowd of young people were entertained on Tuesday night at the home of Mr. Abraham Beacock and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Mr. R. W. McClelland, R. A. F., of Toronto, spent last week visiting at the home of Mr. A. Beacock.

Mr. and Mrs. King have moved to our settlement from Hope Bay.

No Hope For Him

A volunteer officer insisted on the members of his corps saluting him wherever they met, whether in uniform or not. When going along the street the other day he saw a private in civilian attire coming towards him.

When a few yards separated them the man turned into an inn.

The officer reached forward and tapped him on the shoulder. The other, looked round, but gave his head a shake, saying:

"Sorry, I can't. I've only got three-pence."

THEIR OPINION

A jury recently met to enquire into a case of suicide. After sitting through the evidence the 12 men retired, and, after deliberating, returned with the following verdict:

"The jury are all of one mind—temporarily insane!"

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Loose, slippery, If turgid in coated, cleanses little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

WALKERTON

Alex McDermid, an old man from Black Horse, who recently had a gang of young men fined for chivvying him, laid a charge on Saturday against a chap named Stanley, charging him with breaking 36 panes of glass, and also window sashes in his house at midnight Friday. A stick eight feet long was found in one of the windows and was evidently used for doing the job. Stanley denied everything. The case was remanded until next Monday. In case the damage done proves to be more than $20 it will bring the case under the heading of an indictable offence to be tried by the Judge. Lawyer O. E. Klein appeared for McDermid and A. E. McNab for Stanley.

Mr. R. E. Trux, M. P., had a telegram Friday night, that his nephew Lieut. Percival Roy Shannon, had died of wounds on November 3rd. Percy was a Walkerton boy and lived here until he grew to young manhood. He was a splendid young fellow with splendid prospects ahead of him in his profession. He had pluck as well as ability and was engaged in putting himself through Medical College, when he offered his services in the 34th Bn. in 1915. He had not been with this unit long when transferred to the Canadian Medical Corps, with which he went to England. Before reaching the firing line he was sent back to Canada to complete his course but no sooner had he done so than he accepted a commission with a British Field Ambulance Corps and started for the front. We are very sorry to hear of his death.

The After Effects of Dreaded La Grippe

La Grippe or Spanish Influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over all America is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble. La Grippe, or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly disorders. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid la grippe by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a tonic medicine which enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. If, however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once go to bed, and call a doctor when complications set in. That is the only safe thing to do. But to recover your strength after the severity of the attack has passed, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an unsurpassed tonic. Through the use of this medicine all the evil after effects of this trouble will be banished. This has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, where in previous seasons la grippe has attacked them. Among the many thus restored to full health is Miss Irene Boutes, Portsmouth, Ont., who says: "I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved, and in a little more than a month I felt all my old time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only cure the disastrous after effects of la grippe, but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments, and the generally worn out feeling that afflicts so many people. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

James Waddell, a farmer living 5 miles west of Tetaywater, was fined $1,000 and costs by Magistrate Tolton on Friday, for using seditious language. The charge was laid by Reeve Ferguson, of Teeswater, and was that Waddell had said "it was Great Britain's fault that the war did not stop, that Great Britain had started the war and Britain had done as many acts of cruelty and destruction of property as the Germans had done only we had never heard of it, and other words to that effect." David Robertson appeared as Crown prosecutor and Waddell acted as his own lawyer. The Magistrate thought this kind of talk should not be encouraged and fined Waddell $1,022.35.

Solomon Bosence, who recently threw up his job as teamster with the aid of going to Stratford, was arrested on charge laid against Bosence last night at Woodstock charging him with criminal assault with intent to do bodily harm. It is alleged that he evaded trial by leaving Woodstock hurriedly for the West last year. Bosence was remanded by Magistrate Tolton until Tuesday when an officer from Woodstock came to take him there for trial.

Lieut. A. T. Gregg, who when a boy lived with his parents near Lovat, is among those recently killed in Action. The deceased was in the West since boyhood, and previous to enlisting had entered upon a course of study for the Methodist ministry. His father, Mr. Robt. Gregg, lived at Swan River, Man., Mrs. J. E. Cottrell, of Perth, is a sister of the deceased soldier. He enlisted in the West with the Canadian Engineers and was given a commission after taking the training course in England. He went to France last August.

OWEN SOUND

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Danard, Kemble, are very much worried about a further telegram which they received on Wednesday last from the Record Office, stating that their son, L. Corp. Harold Danard, formerly reported wounded and missing, is now reported to have been killed in action on October 1st. As noted in last Friday's issue a letter from a chum, in another battalion, Pte. Wilson Bell, under date of October 22, states that he saw Harold in hospital, presumably a few days before, so that the young man was undoubtedly not killed on October 1st. There is a mistake somewhere and the fact would seem to point to an error on the part of the Record Office. The paper was eagerly awaited and the hope is expressed that Harold is alive and not seriously wounded.

The Annual Meeting of the Curling Club was held on Tuesday evening in the Club Room at the rink and elected their officers for the ensuing year. A large number of curlers were present and the meeting was most enthusiastic. Mr. W. R. Chester, the retiring president, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by the singing of the National Anthem, the minutes of the last year were read and confirmed and the treasurer's report for 1917 was read by Mr. R. G. McKay and adopted. It showed receipts of $1750.80 and expenditures were $1608.33, leaving a balance of $144.87 to the good on the year's operations.

Twenty-seven of the young ladies employed at the Jas. McLaughlin and Sons, were most agreeably surprised last week to receive as a gift from the president of the firm, Mr. Jas. McLaughlin, a fifty dollar Victory Bond and three forewomen were each given a hundred dollar bond. The gift was made to all the women employees that had been in the employ of the firm for six months or over and is a reward for faithful service. Mr. McLaughlin is always doing something for his employees and this last beneficent action on his part is but what a big hearted Scotchman, such as he is, could be expected to do. He needs to say his popularity with his employees has not decreased as a result.

Another Owen Sound soldier has been awarded the Military Medal, word being received in town on Wednesday that Pte. J. A. Stewart, 1888 8th Ave. E., had been given that distinction, along with seven days leave to Paris, for especially good service and conduct at the front. Pte. Stewart went overseas with the 147th Bn. in which he was one of the non-commissioned officers, but reverted to the ranks to go to France two years ago. He is in one of the infantry units and though through many of the biggest battles, escaped unharmed, with

"For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This, I refused to permit."

I heard about "Fruit-a-lives" and the wonderful results it was giving because this medicine is made from fruit juices, so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent. I am free of pain and swelling, and I give "Fruit-a-lives" my warmest thanks."

the exception if being slightly gassed. He still feels the effects of this. The recommendation of the coveted honor, was made in October, and on his return from his leave in Paris, the award was made. The young man was employed at the Canadian Hospital and Ventilating Co.'s plant before enlisting and has a host of friends in Owen Sound. Everyone will join in congratulations to him and will hope that his future will be bright as his conduct overseas was creditable.

SOUTHAMPTON

The tug Douglas M., in charge of the crew, Messrs. George Long, Bert Webster, Dan McKay and James McGregor, left last Tuesday morning for Lake Erie, where the tug has been chartered to engage in the herring fishing of the season. The crew will also be engaged in the work.

Mr. A. G. C. Dinick, of Toronto, who is representing the men interested in starting a new factory in Southampton, has purchased from Mr. Birch the Wheeler property out near the golf club. It is probable that a golf club will be organized here and eventually the property will be used for golf links.

Miss Anna McGregor visited with her aunt at Elmwood last week. Next Tuesday she leaves to join her father in California.

Miss Jean Gemmill has been home for a couple of weeks as her school at Clavering was closed on account of the flu epidemic.

Mrs. C. H. Heather and her two children, of Hanover, are visiting with Mrs. Heather's mother, Mrs. W. Gilbert. She intends to reside in Hanover for the coming winter.

Mr. W. J. Cameron went to Toronto a week ago and Mrs. Cameron and Miss Lisa Cameron expect to go before winter sets in. They will occupy apartments there for the winter and their residence here will be closed temporarily. We all hope the absence of Mr. Cameron and family will only be temporary.

A COLD PREVENTIVE

Have you ever come out of a theatre, or church or over-heated room and felt, immediately the cold night air caught your throat and breathing passages, that you were going to catch cold? That is the time to take Fepa. Two or three Fepa taken at once will prove an unfailing preventive. A cold developed means needless suffering and expense. Safeguard yourself by always keeping a box of Fepa on hand.

They are also best for coughs, sore throat and bronchitis. All dealers, 50c. box.

American Lutheranism

(The Globe)

The presence in large numbers of Lutherans in the United States, together with the use of the German language in churches and schools, has naturally given rise to much concern in view of the present relations of America with Germany. This state of affairs gives special interest and real value to the publication of a booklet "The Lutheran Church Versus Hohenzollernism," by Professor Graebner, of St. Louis, a leading American Lutheran (Concordia Publishing House, St. Louis, Mo.). It contains information which will be at once novel and surprising to many in Canada.

It seems that there is no such organization as a Lutheran Church, pure and simple, in Germany. Some of the Federated States in the German Empire have Lutheran State Churches, but the Empire itself, has none. What is more surprising is that the Kingdom of Prussia has none, for while Prussia has a State Church, it is neither Lutheran nor "Reformed," but a union of these two forms of Protestantism. This union was brought about by a forcible action of the Prussian Crown in 1817, and is called the United Church. It is of this ecclesiastical hybrid organization that the Kaiser is head, not, however, as Kaiser, but as King of Prussia. Thus the Kaiser and his family are not members of the Lutheran Church proper.

The story of the tyrannical action of the King of Prussia in 1817 is sad reading for those who believe in religious liberty. By State order clergymen were commanded to use the Church book prepared under direction of the King, and refusals were met by fines and imprisonment. On the other hand, ministers were thrust upon unwilling congregations, the military being utilized to bring the people to terms. One result was the emigration of many thousands to the United States and Australia. Even today the position of strictly Lutheran ministers in Prussia is precarious, and they often are endangered that they are compelled to resign.

That the Kaiser is not strictly a Lutheran, but a member of the United Church, will be news to very many. Only a few years ago an American religious paper claimed him as a Presbyterian, which it is hardly likely to desire to do today.

The pamphlet has no difficulty in showing that the Lutherans in the United States are not only independent of the Kaiser and Germany, but have actually been opposed and persecuted by the Prussian and German authorities. It is also significant to read some utterances of a leading American Lutheran, as far back as 1902 and 1903 in regard to the Kaiser:

"The German Emperor apparently has little regard for moral or religious truth. He employs both for the purpose of retaining and augmenting his power. When among rationalistic theologians he speaks of the 'evolution of religion.' When among believers he talks about the 'Divinity of Christ.' Both religious and moral truth he subordinates to the summum bonum—Hohenzollernism."

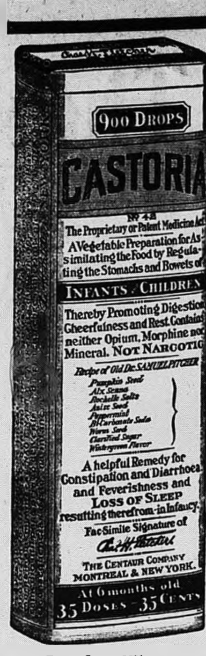

These words read curiously enough in the light of recent developments connected with the Kaiser's utterances about religion and his alliance with Turkey.

Another American Lutheran traveling in Germany in 1906 tells a similar story of the hopeless mixture of creeds in the Prussian State Church and of the deplorable condition of religion in Germany. His account is a clear proof that American Lutherans have had for years past a strong antipathy to the current and dominant views of religion in the Prussian State Church.

With regard to the use of the German language in the American Lutheran schools, it is argued that is a difficult thing to break away from the language of one's ancestors, as may be seen from the retention of Norwegian, Swedish and Dutch in the American schools. It is psychologically difficult to "relinquish the language one has learnt at mother's knee." But for many years past the German language has been limited in Lutheran schools to religious instruction and to its linguistic basis, and the process toward complete elimination is very rapid.

The entire pamphlet should carefully be read for its valuable information, and also for the ample proofs of the loyalty of American Lutherans to the cause of the Allies. Thousands of their young men are in the American navy and army, and large sums of money have also been forthcoming in defence of democracy and for the purpose of assisting to carry on the war to a successful termination.

The average man resembles a whale. He is sooner gets on top than he begins to blow.

Peace Celebration At Chesley

(Chesley Enterprise)

On Thursday afternoon a number from the town and country who doubted the loyalty of certain citizens of German birth or extraction, compelling them to leave their homes and they were marched down street carrying a Union Jack or made to get out of their beds to kiss the British flag and declare their allegiance to it. The Mayor endeavored to put a stop to such proceedings, but got no support from the citizens, and to uphold law and order. It is the duty of the press to stand behind the municipal authorities in the maintenance of good order, in the town, even at the risk of being called pro-German by those who would be shocked beyond words to express to read that the leading dailies had sympathized with lawlessness.

Refusal to obey the Chief Magistrate of a municipality or the Federal authorities where the observance of law and order are concerned, is what has brought Russia to its present condition of anarchy. But in these momentous times when our toleration has been sorely tried by the cruelties inflicted upon our soldiers, nurses and civilians by the German officials and soldiery, men and women are feeling deeply and are not very discriminating where loyalty to the Empire in the four dark years we have gone through, are in question.

A Canadian Magistrate in passing judgment recently on one who had given forcible expression to his loyal feelings by announcing an alien citizen said: "Cognizance should be taken of the excited condition of men's minds in these stirring times," and he let the offender off with a reprimand to go and offend no more.

With few exceptions those whose feelings had been grossly outraged, took their treatment in good part, protested they were loyal, kissed the flag, sang alone, "God Save the King," from the band stand where they had been brought, made statements that they were loyal Canadians and good British subjects.

Right at this point we believe it is our duty to plainly tell those who have been using the German language in their churches to change to the English as speedily as possible. The Government has prohibited newspapers being printed in the German language and we heartily commend its action in this respect and would go further to say that not only the language of the press, but of the pulpit, should be English if this British province of Ontario is to assimilate the people of foreign birth who have made their homes here.

CHESLEY

The earliest gastronomic stunt pulled off was when Rebekah prepared veal so that it tasted like venison to Isaac, her husband, and he was deceived and gave the patriarchal blessing to Jacob instead of Esau the hunter. In these modern times you may talk of universal food fit for the gods, of systems on the half shell, red white and blue ice cream, turkey, duck and chicken, but if properly cooked by a left-handed, au-buff-haired woman, who understands how to prepare venison, though she never went to the school of Domestic Economy, but just learned it in the good old way from her mother, deer meat will still touch the cockles of the heart. Mrs. McDonald, ye editor's better half, has bestowed her blessing on W. S. Smith of this town, who did not forget her when he brought down a deer weighing 138 pounds, on Bruce Peninsula. Though the blessing may not be as far reached as Jacob's, it is none the less sincere, because of the human interest in one who is slowly but surely being restored to health and strength.

A very nice memorial service was held in the armchairs on Monday afternoon when the out-of-town citizens who have lost sons and brothers in the great war, the A. Newns, Kincaids, McLaggans, Hoocys, Jackers and the Knapps, were addressed words of comfort and sympathy by the Mayor and ex-Reverend Cass of Elderside Prayer was offered by Rev. C. M. Ferry and the "In Memoriam" meeting closed by the singing of an appropriate hymn.

CHEERING INFORMATION

Man in chair—Here, be a bit more careful with that razor; that's the second time you've cut me!

Freed from Chronic Pains

To those who are afflicted with the agonies of a chronic aching back, loss of strength, weight and vigor, the case of Mr. F. Herbert of Pleasantville will appeal with special significance. Mr. Herbert had suffered with kidney trouble for years and failed to find a prescription that would give him any relief. Finally he tried Glu Pills because he was impressed by the fact that Glu Pills contained the beneficial ingredients of Juniper without any Alcohol being added.

Note these extracts from his letter: "I suffered from kidney trouble for several years and tried almost every remedy without finding any permanent relief. My case appeared chronic."

I knew that Juniper without alcohol was excellent for the kidneys, so decided to try Glu Pills. One single pill gave me great relief, and since taking four boxes, I find myself completely cured. I am no longer had tempered, have increased in weight, and am strong and vigorous again."

Here is another case. Mrs. M. E. Gardner, of Richmond, Que., writes: "My husband was taken with severe kidney trouble last winter, and could not work for some time. He heard of Glu Pills, and after taking one box was able to resume his work. Two boxes relieved the pain in his back, and to-day he is well and strong again."

Glu Pills help others—surely they will do the same for you. Try them. Write to us at once.

"If I Could Only Be Strong and Healthy Like Other Girls."

THIS is the longing of the girl who is pale, weak and anaemic.

She is lacking in energy and strength, and is so easily tired out that she does not feel like taking outdoor exercise or joining others in social gatherings.

The healthy, happy outdoor girls get in the way of leaving her to herself, and she gets lonely, discouraged and despondent.

The source of trouble is in the condition of the blood, which has become thin and watery, and utterly lacking in nutritive qualities.

The anaemic condition is shown in the pallor of the lips, the gums and the eyelids, as well as in the pale face and angular form.

Nature has provided for the purifying of the blood by having it sent to the lungs periodically to come in contact with the fresh air and take up new oxygen.

Unfortunately this plan of nature has been defeated by human beings living too much indoors and breathing over and over again the vitiated air of ill-ventilated rooms. This is the usual cause of anaemia, as well as a reason for its continuation.

The blood gets ever thinner and more watery, until the human system is literally starved.

The digestive system has failed, and your health must go naturally downhill until you can find some means of restoration.

Fortunately, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food furnishes the vital substances needed for regenerating the entire organism when in a run-down condition.

Gradually and certainly the building-up process is established, and the pure, rich blood created in the system carries health and strength to every part of the body.

Weakness and disease, the cause of discouragement, failure and unhappiness, give place to new hopes, new confidence and stronger determination to succeed.

The appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, and you find yourself enjoying your meals and taking a new interest in life. As you gain in strength and energy you feel encouraged to keep up the use of this restorative treatment until thoroughly restored to health.

The rosy cheeks and healthful appearance of people who have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is its strongest recommendation, and accounts for its ever-increasing popularity.

It is for sale by all dealers, 60 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, or by mail from Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the box you buy.

HANOVER

The death of Mr. J. Metarns Fursman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fursman, of Bentinck township, took place at Portage la Prairie, Man., last Friday, at the age of 28 years. Death was the result of pneumonia, preceded by influenza. Deceased was born and raised in the township of Bentinck, and was one of the most popular boys in the township. He went West about five years ago, and took a position on the farm of Mr. D. McKillop near Portage la Prairie, where he had worked ever since. Besides his parents he leaves one brother, Pte. Edgar Fursman, at present in England, and three sisters, Emma, Lavina and Nellie, all at home. Deceased was an Arch Member of the Orange Society. The remains were brought home for burial, arriving on Tuesday and interment taking place in Hanover cemetery. Rev. J. M. Shaw conducted the obsequies.

Mr. William Helwig, of Hanover, has received a message stating that his son, Flight Lieut. Norman W. Helwig is a prisoner in Karlsruhe, Germany.

Mr. William Roloff, well known former Hanover photographer, passed away at Ontario, California, Tuesday of this week at the age of about 42 years. He leaves a wife and three children to whom many old Hanover friends will extend sympathy. Three sisters also survive to mourn his loss as follows, Mrs. E. Graff, of Hanover, Annie, missionary in China, and Madeline, of New York City. The late Mr. Roloff was an exceptionally good photographer and during his business life here sold out provisionally to our present photographer, Mr. Norman Lorenz, and bought a photographic studio on Fifth Ave., New York City. The venture, however, was not a success and he returned to New York City. Ill health—he was afflicted with throat and lung trouble—compelled him to go to California several years ago where he resided until his death.

Another sad death occurred in Hanover on Monday when Mrs. John H. Orff passed away at the early age of about 30 years, leaving a young husband and three small children to mourn her going. She was another victim of influenza and pneumonia and had only been ill about ten days. The sympathy of the entire community will go out to the bereaved ones. The two little daughters, Erna and Laura, are aged 6 and 4 respectively and the baby son, Walter, is 18 mths. Deceased also leaves her mother, Mrs. Spier and an uncle, Mr. William Barton, of town; two sisters, Carrie (Mrs. Earl Diamond) of Flint, Michigan; Louise (Mrs. Newberry) of Pontiac, Mich., and one brother John to mourn her loss. The late Mrs. Orff, whose maiden name was Georgine Marie Spier, was born on December 13, 1888, in Brant township. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spier. She moved to Hanover about ten years ago, and married Mr. Orff in 1912. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to the Hanover cemetery. Rev. M. Twietmeyer having charge of the services.

McKinnon (Dimp) Young, of Hanover who went overseas with the first Canadian Tank Battalion, has been raised to the rank of Corporal. In a letter to the editor of The Post, he says in part: "I received your welcome letter the other day and certainly was glad to see that old signature of yours at the bottom. It certainly brings back fond memories to me to hear from Hanover. In fact I sort of style it my home. Don't know why, but it must be because every one was so good to me during my stay there. We are nearly ready for France, just down here putting in the finishing touches, that is in shooting. Don't expect we will see much of the fighting in France for it is about over. Don't know what Canada will do after the war, for from the talk of every Englishman I meet here, every one of them say they are going over to Canada."

Mr. C. E. Henning has bought Mr. Jacob Elbert's farm in Hanover. It is within the town limits, west end, and is nicely situated for apoultry farm. C. E. is having installed the latest type of mammoth incubator of 2400 egg capacity, being operated with hot water and 2 electric fans. He intends to do 'custom hatching' and go into the baby chick industry. Mr. Henning is one of the most enthusiastic and well informed poultry men in the province and we trust that his venture into poultry raising on a large scale will prove successful and profitable.

OUR UNGUARDED MOMENTS

He—I've got to take you in to dinner, Miss Travers, and I'm rather afraid of you. Everyone tells me you are very clever.

She—How absurd! I'm not a bit clever.

He—Well, do you know, I thought you weren't.

MOTHER'S IDEA OF IT.

Mother—I'm so glad I used to make my boy help with the house cleaning—now his knowledge will come in handy cleaning out the German trenches.

MAKE POULTRY PAY

Laying Hen Needs Plenty of Food, Grit and Shell Material.

In Preserving Manure Prevent Leaching First and Then Keep Pile Moist and Well Packed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

MANY times the failure of securing a satisfactory winter egg yield is due to neglect of the pullets early in the fall. The ordinary pullets begin laying at from six to seven months of age, and many farmers get a few pullet eggs in October and November, followed by little or no production in December or early January. This frequently is due to a change in roosting quarters or being over-crowded and underfed in the poultry house.

To get the best results the pullets should be placed in winter quarters by November 1st. Sometime in August or September the henhouse should be thoroughly cleaned, the walls, ceiling, etc., brushed down, and all old cobwebs, etc., removed, then give the house a good white-washing, and if the floor is earth or sand at least four inches of it should be renewed.

If at all possible, separate the pullets from the old hens and cockerels. In order to lay well, they should be fed all they will eat, particularly of ground grains and green food, and should not be over-crowded. About twenty-five to thirty-five pullets is plenty for a pen twelve feet square; in fact, in many cases, twenty-five pullets in the pen will lay almost as many eggs as the thirty-five. Should you be fortunate in getting many pullets, or where you can make a selection, get the earliest and best matured ones into the pen first. If you have to rely on your own stock, pick the small, weak ones and those that are slow to develop.

The pen should be light and well ventilated. Have all the ventilators or openings on one side of the house and close together. Do not have an opening in one end of the house and another in the other end. These cause drafts, which are very apt to produce colds and sickness. It usually takes a pullet at least three weeks to get over a cold, and she seldom lays while she has a cold. Keep the house dry, and use plenty of straw or other material for the birds to scratch for the feed.

Remember a laying hen needs plenty of food, grit, and shell material. Also there should be a variety to the food; that is green food such as clover leaves, cabbage, or sprouts, or if none of these can be had, some roots. She also needs some form of meat food—sour milk in the best, or beef scraps, or other meat offal. If untainted, will answer. Usually about one-third of the grain should be ground or even up to one-half. The whole should be carefully mixed in the straw. Always remember the pen should be clean, dry, and sweet.—Prof. D. W. Graham, O. A. College, Duluth.

To Preserve the Fertility of Manure.

In fresh manure the plant food materials are not in as available condition for growing plants as in well-rotted manure. In the drying of manure, the tendency is to get it well rotted, and considerable losses of plant food occur unless the manure pile is properly packed.

If the quickest returns are not wanted following the application of the manure to the soil, then the manure may be added in the fresh condition. If this is done in warm weather, the manure should be ploughed in as soon as possible after application. The total plant food materials present in the manure will thus be added to the soil, where they will be prepared by the soil bacteria for use by the growing crops.

The main objection to putting fresh manure on the land—first, it is not always convenient to do so; second, weed seeds may be numerous in the fresh manure, consequently a heavy weed crop may be expected, third, its action is not so rapid as in the case of well-rotted manure, but it is active over a longer period. Where manure is to be stored in piles or pits until it is ripened, or until it is convenient to use, then the greatest care is necessary to prevent losses of plant food materials from it. In the first place the bottom of the pile or pit should be impervious to water so that leachings from the pile will not occur. Second, it is well to have a layer of old well-rotted manure at the bottom. Third, the manure as it is piled up should be well compacted or tramped down to prevent escape of air from getting into it. Fourth, it should be kept moist but not wet. These precautions apply more particularly to horse manure, which is loose and comparatively dry. Unless this is kept well packed and moist, loss by fire fanning is certain. This is an oxidation process, or fermentation, set going by certain species of bacteria in the manure. If cow or pig manure is available it should be mixed with the horse manure in the pile, as these are very wet and compact and will give a good consistency to the whole mass. Manure so kept will have the minimum of loss when the plant food will be ripened by the action of the bacteria in it, and thus made ready for immediate use by the growing crops when it is added to the soil.

The main objection to being remembered in storing manure are, first, to prevent leaching; second, to keep it well packed down and moist. Prof. D. W. Jones, O. A. College, Duluth.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapensin" neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time 1st In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapensin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapensin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how useless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

TARA

"Tara has passed its objective of $15,000 for the Victory Loan. Arran Township has subscribed less than half of their objective of 106,000. The township will have to do much better by the end of the week if it is going to make a good showing."

The churches re-opened on Sunday after being closed for three Sundays in the Methodist Church a memorial service was held for Pte. Howard Spear who was killed in France early in September. Rev. W. S. Daniels, pastor of the church, conducted the service and very fittingly referred to the deceased.

Mr. Wm. Campbell, of Holland Man, who visited with friends in Tara and Arran last summer and has been at the Warkenton Hospital the past three months with a very bad case of appendicitis, underwent a final operation on Saturday. The Timescope says, "Mr. Campbell is doing nicely now and to terminate his tedious illness and return to his home in the West."

Two cases were heard at Division Court, on Wednesday, before Judge Greig. The first case, George Gowan vs John Robinson, was a dispute over a quantity of hay which Robinson sold to Gowan and the latter not taking the hay in specified time Robinson resold the same and the action for damages followed; judgment for plaintiff to the amount of $18.60. The second case was an action on account, Coldwell vs Putman, judgment for plaintiff to the amount of $23.40.

Word was received on Tuesday of the death of Mrs. Will Crawford and daughter Sarah, at Delia, Alberta, which sad event occurred on that day. Mrs. Crawford's death taking place in the morning and that of her daughter at noon. Death was due to influenza. Mrs. Crawford before her marriage was Miss Maggie Turner, a well known Tara girl and a daughter of the late Mrs. McCloskey. They moved from here to Richards Landing and afterwards to Calgary. Their daughter Sarah was about 25 years of age and their only child.

Guard The Children Against Colds

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds will not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR WRIGLEY-JOHNSTON

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the Wesley Parsonage on Wednesday November 13th, when Ellen (Kellie) Mariah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnston, 701 Catharine St., became the bride of Norman Grant Wrigley of Wiarton, Ont. Rev. D. Laker officiating.

The bride who wore a dress of Navy Blue Tulle and Silk and a white velvet hat was attended by her sister Miss Nina Pearl Johnston wearing a grey silk poplin and black velvet hat. J. A. Bruce acted as best man. After the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch to the bridesmaid a gold brooch, and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links. Among the many beautiful presents received by the happy couple was a set of bakery from the bride's work mates, also articles of cut glass, silverware, linens, rare china etc.

The bridegroom was a member of the gallant 52nd and won the Military Medal while serving in France. The best man was also a returned soldier, having enlisted in an early battalion from Winnipeg.

The happy couple left on a late train for an extended visit to several American cities and on their return will take up residence at their new home 444 Bernard Street.

Sticking to Facts.

An agent approaching a house met a little boy at the gate and asked: "Is your mother at home?"

"Yes sir," said the boy politely. The agent walked across the long lawn and, after rapping, returned to the youth, saying:

"I thought you said that your mother was home."

"Yes sir, she is," replied the boy.

"But I have rapped several times without receiving an answer."

"That may be, sir," said the boy: "I don't live there."

Editorial

Canada raised $675,027,217 in the Victory Loan Campaign.

Bruce County subscribed $2,406,500 nearly one half a million dollars more than the objective.

Ottawa says that the cost of living is going up. Ottawa appears to be correct.

Demobilization among Canadian troops has already begun.

Well, now that the war is over let Wiarton get after the long promised Post Office. It is badly needed and the money was voted for the same years ago.

The Orillia Packet is one of local papers worth while. "Orillia" can put up a hockey game, and the Orillia business men are great advertisers.

If the defaulters under the Military Service Act do not receive a severe punishment then the conscientious objectors, who were sent down for 10 years, should have their sentences changed.

So far there is nothing to justify the hope that a drop in prices would immediately follow the end of the war. It looks as if prices in everything will be high this winter, and foodstuffs will not be cheaper until there is another crop. Perhaps not then, but not likely before.

Wiarton did honor to herself in the Victory Loan. The objective was $50,000, the amount subscribed was $113,850. There were 372 applications, 107 of which were for bonds for $50, and 15 subscribers took bonds of $2000 and over. North Amabel raised $11,100.

Can the soldiers return to Canada in County Battalions? Will it be possible to permit this by any system of demobilization? If so, this is the ideal way. Could all the Bruce boys return one day it would be the greatest day in the history of the County. The matter should be taken up with the Military authorities.

If the British cannot find a legal way by which they can get at the Kaiser and remove him from Holland it shows that the nation observes law better than the Kaiser would. Suppose the situation was the reverse what then would happen. Holland would get so many hours, possibly minutes to deliver the man wanted.

Dr. Watson, Toronto, says that inadequate burial of hundreds of thousands of bodies of human beings and animals on the battlefields of Europe is responsible for the Spanish Influenza epidemic. He claims that the noxious odors have polluted the atmospheric ocean and as a result people the world over are being poisoned. This theory seems quite plausible.

NORTH KEPPEL

School has re-opened and the boys and girls are going about with happy faces again.

Miss Bertha Marshall has returned to Owen Sound to renew her studies at Collegiate Institute, while Bertha Shier and Ethel Thompson have gone back to Wiarton.

Miss Eve Robinson was home from Kenilbe over Sunday.

Mr. Wilfrid Shier and family, of Wiarton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shier.

Miss Luella Skinner, who has been quite ill, is improving.

Rumor says that Mr. J. H. Thompson has bought the farm on which he has been living for the last three years.

Mr. Wright, of Wiarton, with his well-drilling outfit, has been doing good work at Mr. Alfred Ward's this week.

Mrs. John Haycock, who has been sick for some time, we are sorry to learn is still in ill health.

A number from here attended the Peace celebration in Wiarton last Monday.

The Girls Red Cross Club met at the home of Bertha Shier last Thursday. Arrangements were made for the packing of the Xmas boxes for the soldiers.

The Church, which has been closed for a month, was open again on Sunday. The memorial service for Pte. Jack Robinson, who was killed in action, together with hymns of praise and Thanksgiving were held.

Pte. Robinson was honored by all. Two of his brothers, Frank and Russell, enlisted early in the war, and are still in France.

DRASTIC TREATMENT

"What did you read while you were convalescing?"

"The German invasion of Belgium."

"Did you think that an appropriate book for a person in your condition?"

ART AND PRACTICE

Jack—Anybody here know anything about drawing?

Mazel—I do sir. I used to be an artist before the war.

Jack—Here, take this bucket and draw me some water.—Broadside.

War Service Badges

As there probably is a large number of returned men and other members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in your district, entitled to the award of War Service Badges, who have not applied for some, will you be good enough to call their attention to the fact that they should make immediate application to the A. A. G. Military District No. 1, (War Service Badges), London, Ontario. Further, returned men who have received Patriotic Fund Badges, who have not turned them in, in accordance with the Regulations, should be warned that they are subject to a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment for wearing them.

COLPOY'S BAY

The Misses Myrtle and Nora Farrow visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pettman at Allenford last week.

Born—At Colpoys Bay, on the 12th of November, 1918, to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown, a daughter.

Mr. Alfred Farrow spent several days in Owen Sound returning home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jansen and baby, visited Mrs. Lynas over the week end. Miss A. Edge, formerly teacher here, was the guest of the Misses Whicher last week and this year Miss Edge is teaching in Clifford, but has enforced holidays on account of the flu.

The funeral of the late Herb Hopburn was conducted by Rev. Mr. Emmons, Monday, November 11th, interment in Colpoys Bay cemetery.

Rev. and Mrs. Matthews spent Monday and Tuesday of last week in Owen Sound. They took in the celebration Monday.

Last Sunday morning the Patriotic Prohibition program, entitled "Canada for Christ" was partly taken up in the S. S., followed by pledge singing. There were sixty-five present.

The funeral of the late Miss Louise Sprague, of Winnipeg, formerly of Wiarton, took place on Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. E. Thompson officiating. The floral offerings were beautiful. Much sympathy is extended to the sorrowing relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. D. Couch and children, of Adamsville, attended the service Sunday evening.

See How Little it Takes to Put a Grafonola in Your Home at Once

Little excuse for any home being without a Grafonola when such an offer as we are making for to-morrow is available. Had to disappoint quite a number last time we presented this outfit, but we've secured another lot, and we should be busy to-morrow taking orders, for the offer is an unusually attractive one—as you see:

If You Will Buy Six Records To-morrow We Will Send This Grafonola and Record Cabinet Home and You Can Pay For It in Small Sums After You Get it

As a home entertainer the Grafonola stands supreme, and the instrument here illustrated is a Grafonola of unusual merit, having all the features of instruments of two and three times the price, such as New Bayonet-Joint Tone Arm, Columbia Tone Control Levers, Columbia Reproducer, Graduated Dial, Speed Regulator, Start and Stop Device, etc., etc. This Grafonola has powerful motor, plays two selections with one winding, beautiful oak case, with handsome panel door. Record Cabinet to match for holding records.

Grafonola and Record $45 Cabinet Just as Illustrated, Only

As stated above, you only need to purchase six records, costing only $5.40—and giving you 12 selections—and we will deliver the outfit to you at once, and you can pay for it in small weekly sums after.

This is a one-day offer only, so don't let it pass to-morrow unheeded.

Market Prices—On Monday the following prices were quoted. Butter, 42 cents per pound, eggs 62 cents per dozen, oats 68 cents per bushel, wheat $2.08, peas $2.10, barley 95c, potatoes $1 per bag, Powl, dressed, Chicken, 19-23; hens, 18-20, geese 20-22, turkey, 30-32, ducks 20-22.

In the casualty list Monday evening there appeared the name of W. B. Dargavel, Wolsley, Sask., who was a nephew of Mr. Thomas Dargavel, Warton. This young man was evidently killed in the last days of the war.

WANTED—Will every one who has had a relative killed in this war, belonging to this district from Hepworth to Tobermory, whether of the Bruce 160th or not, kindly send the name, date of being killed, and facts to The Echo Office. This information is important.

Mr. J. H. Thompson, Big Bay, brought 6 potatoes, of the American variety, into this office which tipped the scales at 8 1/2 pounds. And they were solid, all through, and A1 for table use. In a field of say 3/4 of an acre, he had 225 bushels. And it will be seen that not many potatoes are required to make a bushel.

During the end of the war there was naturally a little uneasiness among the farmers about the price of stock, and consequently bidding at auction sales was not keen. In fact cattle dropped about $25, but the outlook is for high prices for farm produce for a long time, cattle are up again. At an auction sale last week near Hepworth the highest prices yet paid were recorded.

"He has saved others, himself he cannot save." This was the text of a very impressive sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Hardy on Sunday morning in the Anglican Church, in honor of Sergt. W. Ruhl and Sergt. B. Blackman. The sermon was appropriate in all its bearings and was well delivered. The floral decorations were tastefully arranged in the chancel.

The Echo is pleased to hear of the promotion of Mr. Cecil Ames, Cobalt, to the position of Assistant Manager of the Mining Corporation of Canada, the largest silver mining corporation in the world. Mr. Ames has been in the employment of this company purchasing agent for a number of years. A few weeks ago the Manager, who was a passenger on Steamer Princess Sophia, was drowned when that Steamer went down on the Pacific Coast. This necessitated a re-arrangement and Mr. Ames was promoted.

The Warton deer hunters were all successful. They all found it difficult to keep the meat in good condition on account of the weather. The party composed of Messrs. A. W. Baines, Dr. Fisher and others, who went to the North Shore got 20, the party made up of Messrs. C. E. Byers, J. J. Tyson and others got their quota. They were at Horse Island and Collins Inlet, while Messrs. Jas. Sprague, C. Eldridge and others were on the Manitoulin got 8, and besides these there were other hunters who were equally successful.

The Red Cross girls have been very busy lately and a great deal of praise is due to the workers of that Society. In the past week they have packed over 200 boxes and each box has individual cards in it. The boxes contain 1 pr. sock, 1 chocolate bar, 1 Ninetto and Ringsting, 2 packages tobacco, 2 packages cigarette papers, 1 lb. fruit cake, 1 tooth brush and a tin of tooth paste. The cost is estimated at about $3.50 a piece. The girls have sent a great many of these boxes throughout the year and their hard packing is only a continuance of the good work.

Public School Inspector Mr. J. McCool, was in town Tuesday. He had intended visiting the schools in Amabel, but owing to the epidemic found them closed.

The rates of separation allowances payable to the dependents of private soldiers, non-commissioned officers, first-class warrant officers and lieutenants serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force has been increased, effective September 1, 1918. Dependents of private soldiers and non-commissioned officers from $25 to $30 per month. Dependents of first class warrant officers from $30 to $35 a month. Dependents of lieutenants from $30 to $40 per month. This is largely a matter of book keeping in relation to the men's pay. Most people will be agreed that the dependents are entitled to be as liberally dealt with by the government as possible.

Miss Annie Atkinson who passed away Wednesday morning was born in Warton, Ontario, November 17th, 1872, and took her nurse's training at the Barrie Hospital where she later graduated and at once became engaged in active service. She came to Edmonston eight years ago and has since followed her profession continuously. At the outbreak of the epidemic she at once offered her services and went to South Hall Hospital to assist. She worked so faithfully and hard that she became run down and contracted the disease. She was moved to the Edmonston Mission, 11717 93rd st., where she passed away Wednesday morning from pneumonia following the influenza. Miss Atkinson leaves a widowed mother and brother Bert, who is one of the staff of the James Ramsey Co., to mourn her loss, besides a wide circle of friends. The remains were taken to Spruce Grove where she had two sisters buried, for interment—Edmonston Journal.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When the Kaiser's ambitious project to dominate the world is considered, his consistent opposition to the universal disarmament proposals is easily understood. Without an superior army and navy, his whole plan would have to be abandoned and his dream of world-wide dominion would be shattered.

On one occasion when we were discussing the Carnegie peace efforts, the Kaiser disclosed very positively just where he stood on the proposition. "Look at the history of nations of the world," he declared. "The only nations which have progressed and become great have been warring nations. Those which have not been ambitious and gone to war have amounted to nothing!"

Shortly after Wilson had pointed the way to peace in Europe in one of his notes to all the belligerent powers the Kaiser called to me, and we discussed the situation.

"The way to peace now seems perfectly clear," I ventured. "Only your majesty's ever-ready army and navy stands in the way. If Germany will give up her armament, it seems, we would soon have peace."

"That is out of the question for Germany," replied the Kaiser, decidedly. "We have no mountains like the Pyrenees to protect us. We have the open plains of Russia with their vast herds endangering us. No, we shall remain armed to the teeth forever!"

CHAPTER X.

The Kaiser's Appraisal of Public Men. No one ever speaks to the Kaiser until addressed. As that monarch's opinions on most subjects are firmly fixed and he will stand no opposition, any erroneous idea he may entertain is very apt to remain with him. His advisers were not to leave him in error rather than arouse his ire by attempting to set him right. But for the fact that he was very fond of asking innumerable questions, and that information might have been extremely accurate.

In the course of my conversations with him he frequently expressed his views of men who were prominent in public life. Upon what basis they were founded he did not always enlighten me, but even when I knew them to be erroneous I realized it was useless to try to change his mind, and I did not often take issue with him. When I had his eyes would flash fire, but I had expected that and I continued just the same.

The Kaiser always seemed to take a particular interest in American affairs, and while he professed to despise our form of government he watched very carefully the careers of our public men. It is not surprising that he imagined, as I have pointed out elsewhere in these pages, that he could influence our elections by swinging the German-American vote in favor of the candidate he preferred, and he made a study of our public men in order that he might know which of them would be more desirable in office from the German viewpoint.

When Mr. Wilson was nominated for the presidency the Kaiser was quite positive that he wouldn't be elected. Perhaps the fact that Mr. Roosevelt, for whom at that time the Kaiser had the greatest admiration, was one of Mr. Wilson's rivals blinded him to the strength which elected Wilson, but the fact that the latter had had little experience in international politics troubled him. For the important office for which he was running.

I saw the Kaiser shortly after Mr. Wilson's election.

"I am very much surprised at the result of your election," he declared. "I didn't think your people would be so foolish as to elect a college professor as president. What does a professor know about international politics and diplomatic affairs?"

I haven't the slightest doubt that the Kaiser pictured our president as a counterpart of the typical German professor—a plodder, impractical, unbusinesslike individual with no hope or

and the war will be over! It is very simple."

There was no man of modern times whom the Kaiser seemed to admire as much, before the war, as ex-President Roosevelt. The Kaiser was convinced that Roosevelt had prevented war with Japan by sending the American fleet around the world and showing that it was his. This brilliant stroke of statesmanship, as the Kaiser termed it, was a topic that he referred to on several occasions. It was a forceful demonstration that was very much after his own heart.

"What I admire about Mr. Roosevelt most," he said, "is the fact that he has the greatest moral courage of any man I ever knew." The fact that Mr. Roosevelt had given Germany's fleet twenty-four hours' notice to steam from Venezuela waters didn't seem to lessen the Kaiser's admiration for him.

I heard him shower praise on Roosevelt many times and I haven't the slightest doubt that he was quite sincere.

After the war started, when Roosevelt showed very plainly that neither what nice things the Kaiser might have thought and said of him, he certainly didn't reciprocate the feeling, the Kaiser was very much disappointed.

"Why doesn't he allow them to fight it out among themselves. It is their affair, not his!" Germany had many financial interests in Mexico and looked with disfavor upon any move we made in that direction. When, however, the war in Europe started the Kaiser made every effort to have America mix in international affairs provided we fought on his side. When I used to hear after the war started he said we ought to seize the opportunity to annex Canada and Mexico.

"Can't your president see the wonderful opportunity now for combining with the Kaiser, he decided to be asked, "With our fleet on one side and America's or the other we could destroy England's sea power. This is America's great opportunity to dominate the world. England and your president must see the chance to take Canada and Mexico!"

As the war progressed and reports reached the Kaiser of our increased military ambitions to the silence, the Kaiser's impatience with Wilson became more difficult to repress, and there was hardly an interview I had with him in which he did not give vent to his feelings in that connection.

"My officers are becoming so incensed at America's attitude," he told me, "it will be impossible for me to restrain them much longer."

And when, on another occasion, he accused Mr. Wilson of discriminating against Germany, he made the remark: "Wilson's in the hands of the Wall Street group!"

But neither the most bitter denunciation I ever heard him make of Wilson was shortly after we entered the war. I had been summoned to the great army headquarters to see him. He had been sitting in the room he appeared to be in a towering rage. Indeed, his condition was so apparent that the Kaiser, who was also present, sought to excuse him with the explanation that he had been very much upset and had been sleeping very poorly, and she asked me to treat him gently and tried to soothe him at the same time, but he told her to leave the room and recognized her showing that she petted him.

We said little while I was at work, but when I was through and was preparing to leave, the Kaiser stepped forward and said to me:

"My Wilson is a real scoundrel!"

His face flushed, I suppose, at this insult to our president, and my remark was so apparent that the Kaiser immediately patted me on the right shoulder and said:

"I beg your pardon, Davis," he declared, in a quieter voice. "I know you're an American and I beg your pardon for hurting your feelings, but Mr. Wilson's rival blinded him to the strength which elected Wilson, but the fact that the latter had had little experience in international politics troubled him. For the important office for which he was running."

Whenever the sun shone for the Kaiser he grew so optimistic that he failed to pay the slightest attention to the clouds gathering on the horizon. After the Italian collapse, for instance, he was so enthusiastic about his military success in that arena that he failed to realize that America was slowly but surely forging the thunderbolt that was to strike him down.

"Now how foolish it was for your president to have your country into this war!" he said. "Americans will now see, when it is too late, what fools they made of themselves when they elected a professor for president. Now America must pay the price. It is my remark and others of the same import the Kaiser's expectation of being able to exact so enormous indemnity as part of his peace terms was clearly indicated, and he felt that America, having profited the most and suffered the least of any of the belligerent powers, would be in the best position to fill his depleted coffers."

The last time I saw the Kaiser when he mentioned the president was in the fall of 1917, shortly after Wilson had replied to the pope's peace proposal. Wilson is an idealist, and an idealist can accomplish nothing," was his comment. "He went into the war that he might have a seat at the peace table but he will never get it. I shall prevent it."

Of Wilson's peace notes, which were issued before Americans went into the war, the Kaiser remarked: "I think I am right, the others think they're right. America has all the money. If Wilson really wants peace, let him pay the bills and take care of the indemnities."

He referred to Hain several times subsequently and in the meanwhile I had ascertained that the man in question was the representative in Berlin of the Hearst newspapers and I subsequently learned that he had published a book called "American Rights and British Pretensions at Sea," which explained at once to me why the Kaiser was so embittered about him.

In the course of one of our many conversations on the subject of American intentions, the Kaiser paid his respects to Mr. Schwab.

"What do you think of Schwab, who is using the Bethlehem steel plant to wage against war?" he asked. "He is a Jewish Jew extraction and would work against anyone for the sake of the money that it is making."

"I'm following affairs in America very closely," he told me on another occasion, before we entered the war. "Not all of your senators are against me. Senator Stone, for instance, is taking a very strong neutral stand, I understand, and it is a pity there are not more like him."

Just before I left for my trip to America in 1916, the Kaiser called on me and I told him I was leaving.

"Well, Davis," he said, "be careful not to run against any mines or other things. You'll probably be pulled out of the country by way of war. We'll make all boats are taken there for examination." Then, with fire in his eye, he added: "If you should see my cousin the King, in England, kick him on the shin for me!"

CHAPTER XI.

The Kaiser.

Although I had frequently seen the Kaiser in the company of the Kaiser, I did not actually meet her until she became my patient, in 1912, from which time she visited me more or less regularly.

Without going deeply into her history, it may be sufficient to recall that when the Kaiser married her, in 1881, she was the Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, daughter of King of Denmark. She was a year older than her husband. She commanded so particular wealth and was not as prepossessing then, perhaps, as she became when she married her husband. She turned white and softened her rather large features and too highly colored complexion.

My first introduction to the Kaiserin came on Sunday afternoon at the Berlin palace, where she had been instructed to be at three o'clock. I was conducted up the stairway and, on the first landing I met the Kaiserin, who was waiting for me.

"Well, Davis," he said, "I hope I haven't spoiled your Sunday afternoon, but I assure you it was not for myself I sent for you, but for my wife. She has been suffering for several days and she has come to see to her health. Tuesday and I want you to get her in order, so that she can attend it, as it is one of the most important social functions of the season. Follow me, and I will take you to my wife and introduce you."

We accordingly entered a very large sitting room. The empress, in a negligee of her favorite royal purple, entered and sat down on a sofa. She looked very worn, and it was plain that she had been suffering considerable pain and loss of sleep. She had a handsome figure and was still plump and young. Her long flowing glory was a profusion of white hair. She was then fifty-four years old, but her hair had turned white many years before.

It was said, indeed, that the change had been brought about rather suddenly as a result of certain drugs she had taken in an effort to avert a tendency to avoidpains which had developed.

I saw her many times in the weeks that followed. On more than one occasion he had said to me as he bade me farewell: "Well, Davis, you have kept me here talking so long you have almost spoiled my afternoon. I shall have a walk through the Tiergarten just the same," and then he would add disjunctively, "where I presume I will have to greet all the fast Jews as the Kaiser."

But to return to the Kaiserin: The Kaiser's physician joined us, and there were several maids—very superior young women—in attendance upon their royal mistress. The Kaiser's physician was a Jew, and he was of the Jewish race.

After I had examined the empress and had given my advice, the physician explained to me in a low voice that it was necessary to be cautious and not to do much, as he was afraid of her physical condition.

"Anything you do for her majesty," he explained, "would require giving an anaesthetic. She is not in condition to hold pain without fainting. The only anaesthetic I can give her is chloroform. I've administered it to her eleven times and I know just what it means. I'm afraid of her heart at this time. She is not in condition to hold pain. I want her to go to Naumburg for the cure."

His alarming words caused quite a flurry among the maids and they crowded about the empress and begged her to have nothing done that day but to endure her suffering a little longer in the hope that relief would come without the necessity of an operation. At last, however, the physician prevailed upon the patient to postpone the treatment.

This made the Kaiser very angry and he walked up and down the room impatiently.

"Here," he said, "I've got Doctor Davis to come in on a Sunday afternoon, and you want to be in shape for the ball on Tuesday, and now you don't want to do anything! That's the way with the women!"

Then he turned to me and said: "Well, Davis, I'm sorry to have spoiled your day. And he dashed out of the room, apparently much provoked. I felt it was a very unpleasant and guarded, but the incident indicated to me that whatever hopes the Kaiser might entertain of one day dominating the world, he had not yet acquired undisputed dominion in his own household.

I did not see the Kaiserin again for nearly a year, when she came to my office with a lady-in-waiting.

She arrived in her own car. Its approach was heralded by the imperial "Tad-Tad," which latter was pronounced "Ta-Ta," which latter was received exclusively for the Kaiser, and not even the Kaiserin was allowed to use it.

The Kaiserin, "Tad-Tad-Ta-Ta" was the subject of much sarcasm among the proletariat, who maliciously put it to the words: "Celesrie-Salat-Ta-Ta," an allusion to the luxuries of the royal table, which was contrasted unfavorably with the simple meals to which they were accustomed; while the socialists showed their sentiments very plainly in improving the words: "Von Kaiserin-Ta-Ta," meaning, "From our money-Ta-Ta," referring to the royal immunity from taxation which was one of their bitterest plights.

It was not long after I had known the Kaiserin before she made clear to me that she possessed a most delicate woman, which was in contrast with that of the Kaiser, at least when he was in my office.

The doctor strenuously to removing her hat—and she usually wore a large one with a veil—finally yielded when I explained that I could not accomplish my work satisfactorily unless she did. "What a pity!" she exclaimed. "From our money-Ta-Ta," referring to the royal immunity from taxation which was one of their bitterest plights.

The empress never spoke on political subjects. She was not particularly brilliant and evidenced some reluctance to stir her very interesting affairs, as though she were not quite sure of herself. Certainly, she was not nearly as talkative as the Kaiser.

When she did speak she was usually in connection with domestic subjects. It was said in Germany that her only interest in life was represented by the "three K's," Kinder, Kirche and Kaiser, which meant children, church and the Kaiser, and there is no question about it that she seldom spoke on other subjects when talking with me.

In June, 1917, I received a letter from the Kaiserin's physician indicating one which he said had been written by the Kaiserin, which was both unsigned and addressed to me, requested me to visit the royal palace at Homburg v. d. Höhe, which is a conjunction with the adjoining town of Kreuznach, was the location of the great army headquarters.

During the time I was there I could not help observing how extremely tired the servants seemed to be of the Kaiserin. One expected to find the utmost servility toward the Kaiser's undertakings, but I confess I came rather as a shock to me to see the maids walking so timidly and talking so fearfully with the presence of the white-haired royal mistress. I was particularly very gently they knocked at the door before entering and how, after knocking, they immediately placed their heads against the panel that they might watch the Kaiserin's low command to enter the first time, and so make it unnecessary for her to repeat it. Their demeanor was particularly noticeable because the Kaiserin never seemed to display the slightest impatience or ill-temper when dealing with her servants. Indeed, she seemed to me to act no differently from the humblest hausfrau in the country.

Before I left Homburg, she asked me whether I was comfortably situated and everything was all right for me. I told her that everything was satisfactory and mentioned particularly how nice it was to have food exactly as we had had it before the war.

She replied: "I was very careful what I eat. I watch my health very closely."

I remarked, too, how wonderful it must be to have sixty palaces like the Homburg establishment, the beauties of which she so deeply impressed me, adding: "His majesty, I understand, has sixty of them, has he not?"

"Not quite sixty," she corrected. "Between fifty and sixty."

Between fifty and sixty palaces! I could not help thinking of the mark the Kaiser once made to me when talking of the manner in which American millionaires made their fortunes.

When the time came for me to return to Berlin, the Kaiserin bade me adieu, but uttered not a word of thanks for my having given up my practice for three days to work exclusively for her.

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Golden Tells How It May Be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—headaches, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so I was hard for me to do my work.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the aching symptoms have disappeared."

So annoying symptoms as best flashes, nervousness, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedily overcome and the system restored to normal condition by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any woman has these troubles, she can write the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions how to overcome them. The result of forty years experience in your service and your letter held in strict confidence.

The Crown Prince and Others.

I first saw the crown prince professionally in the spring of 1900, a few months before his marriage. He was then twenty-three years old. He was in the uniform of a German army officer but looked more like a corps attaché except for the fact that his face was not marked with a war-time disfigurement, as is usually the case with most members of the German aristocracy.

He had a habit of placing his hands on his hips and his coat was always slung in at the waist, which, with the sporty angle at which he wore his cap, gave him a swagger which was quite foreign to the rest of the officers of the army. He was of slender figure, which was accentuated by his height. He was nearly six feet tall.

He came into my office, I remember, with a copy of Life in his pocket. He took it out and opened it and showed me a cartoon of himself which apparently caused him considerable amusement and which, he said, bewitched him showing his family.

There were two beautiful things on his left hand and he wore a wrist-watch, although at that time wrist-watches were used almost exclusively by women. He seemed to be bright and quick, but by no means brilliant.

Perhaps the quality exhibited by him that impressed me most was that first occasion was his excessive nervousness. He trembled all over. It was plain to see he was dreadfully afraid of pain, and he evidently realized that I had noticed his condition.

"I suppose the crown prince and the future ruler of Germany ought to be brave at all times," he remarked, "but I just hate to have to go to a dentist!"

He asked me if I had seen any member of the court lately, and I told him that the Kaiser's court chamberlain, Count von Eulenburg, had been to see me the previous day.

"You not only see him, but he has to go to the dentist; he eats too much!" the crown prince declared. "He can't expect to have good teeth; he's always eating. As for myself, I eat very little. I want to remain thin. I hate fat people."

The crown prince and I did not get along very well at that time. Apart from the fact he was such a physical coward that it was almost impossible to work on him satisfactorily, he seemed to have no idea of the meaning of an appointment.

He would agree to be at my office at 9:30 and I would plan my department accordingly. He would then be late to call me up to say he would be on hand at eleven, and he would actually arrive about twelve. This happened several times, and I told him that I couldn't have my work broken up in that way.

My dear Mother—Received your letter of October 6th and glad to get it. I also got the two pounds, it will come in handy alright. I really do not need much money here as there is no place to spend it, unless I go to Reading.

By this time you'll know there's no chance of my being home for Christmas this year, but we will be next year. I got a letter from Roy yesterday this morning. Both he and Spot are getting along fine. I am getting along fine. The jaw bone is knitted together. I have had my mouth open a few times, without the Doctor's consent, of course.

I wish you could walk in and see me right now. You would say it was pretty soft. I have a nice little room all to myself, easy chair, table, nice coal fire on, and am sitting in front of it writing. They will bring my dinner in soon now. All I have to do is eat it. It will consist of mashed potatoes, meat, ground.

They call it minced bread and butter. I also will have Rice pudding. This is solid comfort. I can go to Reading when I like, and see a show. Don't worry about me Mother, for it is just like Heaven down here. This is the best part of the Army. The lady who owns the estate is very wealthy and also very generous with her money.

Hope you'll write soon. Lots of love to all.

Your loving son,
GEORGE

Kittering General Hospital,

Dear Friend—Just a few lines to let you know I'm alive. I got your most welcome letter yesterday, and was sure glad to hear from you. Since you want to know where I was wounded, Mother, I'll tell you. I got a piece through my right ear, and into my head, a piece in my left arm, two in my right arm, three in my right leg, and a piece through my left side, so you see I was very lucky. I was stunned when I got hit, and lay for over an hour and no one came near me. I finally got up and walked or rather dragged myself, with the aid of a pick for a cane, for about a mile I couldn't go any further, so some Fritz prisoners picked me up and took me out. I met Red on the train. I can't express my feelings when I saw his curly head at the other end of the car. He didn't know me until I spoke. I was worrying about him until I saw him. You know I would not trade Red, for a pal, for all the fellows in Canada, or anywhere else. He has always been so good to me.

You really don't need to worry about George for he's fine. He can't eat much yet, because his jaws are locked together, but the bullet hardly left a scar on his face at all. He came to the hospital to see me about a month ago.

Tell him I will write her soon. With love.

Spot.

S. B. I wish I was out having a trial on the boy now and getting some nice fresh trout. Do you remember how Buster, Red and I used to go out in Plante's sail boat, on farm furlough. That was the life.

When the crop is hard and yielding there is danger of the bird becoming egg bound.

When the joints are hot and swollen and the fowl is disinclined to stand, rheumatism has taken hold.

When the nostrils are clogged with dirt and the eyes watery, ward off a possible case of croup by timely treatment. If the case is bad apply the hatchet and bury the carcass.

When the bird seems lame and has a small swelling in its feet, remove to a house with no perches and oblige it to roost on a bed of straw. Humble-foot is easily cured in the early stages if the cause is at once removed.

When a hen seems to drown down behind and goes repeatedly to the nest without laying, she is usually suffering from a disorder of the oviduct, and might as well be killed and eaten.

When the hen seems giddy and turns round and round, she is probably suffering from spewery.

When the bird has leg weakness, with no disorder of the liver, feed lighter and give plenty of bone-forming material.

IMPORTANT TO GIVE VARIETY

Duplicate Spring Conditions as Near as Possible to Obtain Eggs in Winter Season.

Everybody gets eggs in the spring. Why? Because spring is the natural laying season. If we want eggs at other times of the year we must "fool" the hen by duplicating spring conditions as nearly as possible.

Variety is important in the winter ration. A hen craves and seeks different kinds of food. In the spring and summer when she ranges on the farm she gets a variety, but in the winter, when there is no grass or clover.

Good Farm Flock.

ver, no bugs or worms, when the water is frozen over, when the snow is on the ground so that she cannot pick up a bit of gravel and sand, these things must be furnished in her feed. A hen is inferior from most animals. She will balance her own ration if given an opportunity.

PROPER CARE OF MACHINERY

Farm Implements Degrade More in Value From Neglect Than From Actual Use.

Farm machinery depreciates in value more rapidly from poor care than from actual use. That is, a larger part of the 10 per cent annual depreciation is caused by exposure than by use.

A 100-acre farm needs about $1,000 worth of machinery. Ten per cent depreciation means $100 every year and more than $50 of this is lost through lack of care. Sheds for this machinery would cost about $200, which at 6 per cent a year would mean $12. The difference between $50 and $12 cannot all be credited to profit, for part of the care of machinery lies in labor and material. Still there would be a fair margin. Housing, repairing at the proper time, and painting the wooden parts are three essentials in the care of machinery.

GOOD RACKS FOR SEED CORN

Wooden Affairs in Which Ears Are Placed on Separate Shelves Are Convenient.

Wooden seed racks, in which the ears are stored in rows on separate shelves, are convenient dryers, have no drawbacks in a dry, breezy place, although the air cannot circulate freely so all sides and dampness may be held where the row of kernels rests on the wood.

WRINKLE VARIETIES OF PEAS

Soon as Ground Becomes Dry Enough for Thorough Preparation Plant Them in Garden.

While the smooth varieties of garden peas are capable of standing more cold and wet than the wrinkled sorts, they are scarcely worth the planting. As soon as the ground becomes dry enough for thorough preparation sow the wrinkle variety of peas.

Starting Plants.

On a small scale, vegetable seeds may be started in small boxes or flats, placed under the kitchen stove.

PARK HEAD

Mr. Crall Miller has gone to Palmerton, where he has secured a position as brakeman with the G. T. R.

Mr. Ernie Pringle leaves for Stratford on Saturday to enter the G. T. Railway shops as an apprentice.

At present Park Head district is almost clear of sickness. No new cases of Flu being reported. Churches and schools are opened again.

While returning from Owen Sound recently Mr. Walter Kirkland, accompanied by five other men, had rather a dangerous experience with a Ford car. A short distance west of 10th at Hill the driver apparently lost control of the car, which jumped out of a rut and turned turtle. The top being up saved the occupants from serious injury, other than a few bruises. Passing automobiles picked the party up and drove them home while the car was returned to Owen Sound for repairs.

On Sunday last, while going to Sunday School, a young son of Mr. John Foreman was knocked down by an auto driven by Mr. A. E. Cordingley, of Shallow Lake, and slightly injured. The accident happened near W. Rourke's farm. It appears the little boy, accompanied by other boys, stepped off the road to let the car go past, some to one side of the road and the Foreman boy to the other, and just as the car approached the boy stepped in front of the car and was struck. The boy apparently became confused and no blame can be attached to Mr. Cordingley.

Presentation to Town of Warton

Warton, Ont., Nov. 25th, 1918
The Mayor and Councillors, of the Town of Warton
Gentlemen,—We have pleasure in handing to you herewith the flag presented by His Excellency the Governor General of Canada to the Town of Warton.

This flag was donated to towns which reached their objective in the recent Victory Loan Campaign. Each crown represents an increase of 25% above that amount. The amount written was $113,550, which as you will see earned five crowns for the flag.

I am sure, with ourselves, you will feel proud of the generous and patriotic response of the citizens of Warton to this and former loans which have made possible the financing of our share in the terrible conflict which has just come to a close.

We are yours truly,
G. W. AMES, R. W. BRIGHT,
Canvasser for Victory Loan.

The Town Council

The meeting of the Council on Monday was rather quiet, only the Mayor, Revue, Wm. Irwin, A. D. Huribut and F. W. Plante being present.

The Mayor reported that he had three pieces of men working on the wood and from the present outlook it seems as if we will get our wood in good time. There have been a number of applications handed in for the hauling of the wood all at a moderate cost.

Under the suggestion of Councilor Plante, the Mayor is investigating as to where the coal, that is coming to town, is being placed. The Fuel Controller, E. Young, has received practically none so it is going somewhere.

Work on the sewer on Scott St. is progressing favorably.

A communication was read from the Hydro-Electric Railway Association of Ontario, and placed on file.

A communication was read from the canvassing of the Victory Loan presenting an Honor Flag from His Excellency, the Governor General. It was moved by W. Irwin and G. Kaster that the Honor Flag which was presented to the Town through Messrs. G. W. Ames and R. W. Bright, that the Clerk be instructed to acknowledge and a suitable reply be made to the above gentlemen.

The Resources Committee have sent The Echo a sample of a brochure which they are distributing to school children and all those who helped with the Food Production during the call which they sent out. The brochure is of silver, with Rylee stamp, and is very pretty. On it is inscribed "No Food Production Service." This pin is in the window of The Echo Office.

LION'S HEAD

We are pleased to report that Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wardrop and family are recovering as well as can be expected from the attack of "Flu" and pneumonia.

Dr. Walker accompanied by Rev. James motored to Tobemorey on Thursday on a professional visit returning Friday.

Mr. Hacking representing the Rock City Tobacco Co. called on the merchants of the village last week.

Dr. Hay of Warton was here last week in consultation with Dr. Walker.

Mr. J. Murray, representing the D. S. Perrin Co. Ltd., of London, was a caller in the village last week.

Last week the Board of Health of the village and the three townships met and secured the services of Dr. Walker of Toronto for the time being until Dr. Hacking would be able to resume his practice again.

Dr. C. A. Wigle, of Warton, made a professional visit here last week. Messrs. N. Hannah, A. Hannah, K. McLeay and W. Blackwood left Monday with the Str. Michipicoten for the North Shore.

The Str. Michipicoten called in port Saturday for supplies and men for the camps on the North Shore, but owing to a break in the machinery she was forced to return and remain in port over Sunday while repairs were being made.

We regret to report that word was received here last Friday that Bower, eldest and only son of Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, of this village, was wounded on Nov. 14th, gunshot in the left arm.

Messrs. John Brinkman and James Rouse of Brinkman's Corner delivered stock here last Saturday.

Mr. Anderson, representing Leron Bros. of Owen Sound, was here on Friday buying turkeys.

Mr. Geo. Ewald, of Warton, was in town last week on business.

Captain and Mrs. Wm. Curry, of Owen Sound, are visiting his father and friends in this vicinity.

Mr. Thos. Tyndall and family are visiting their parents here.

Misses Sutter and Ruhl, of Pike Bay, visited friends in the village on Saturday.

We understand that the Farmer's Club intend shipping their own produce this fall. The first load is expected to be shipped week after next. The following are the market prices here in town: Hay $10-$11 per ton, oats 60c. per bush, barley 85c., wheat $2.00, peas $1.50 to $1.75, potatoes $1.25 per bag, butter 40c. per lb., eggs 52c. per dozen, chickens dressed 19-23c., hens 18c., ducks 22c., geese 20c., turkeys 30-32c. (quality considered).

We understand that Mr. S. F. Warren who was hurt a couple of weeks ago is improving slowly.

Mr. Hacking, druggist of Listowel, is visiting his son here at present. We are pleased to report that Dr. Hacking, who has had several set backs is again improving, at time of writing.

The "Flu" was being closely checked until last week when several new cases broke out again. At least the patients were brought to their homes sick.

Mr. J. A. McLennan of Stokes Bay was in the village last week making arrangements for his sale.

We understand that the banks have decided not to collect any taxes this year so that means that the collectors will have more work to do.

The farmers are the busy men these times getting their produce ready and hauling it to the shipping points.

Miss Minnie Hannah, who has been in Detroit for some time, arrived home last week where she will remain until she recovers from the effects of her operation.

Mr. Jno. McKay, Light-house Keeper of Loyal Island, was in town Monday accompanying his daughter Edna, who was operated on by Drs. Walker and Hay of Warton.

Mr. A. A. McLaren, of Warton, was a visitor here last Monday.

Mr. Roderick, representing The Robert Hyslop Co., of Hamilton, was here on business last week.

Mr. Thompson of Dobbinston, lifted cattle here on Monday.

Mr. Bert Waugh returned from Toronto last week where he received his discharge from the army.

Mrs. Melvor, who has been home for the last month on account of the school being closed, returned to McIvor P. O. on Monday last to resume her duties.

The Presbytery of Owen Sound

An adjourned meeting of the Presbytery of Owen Sound was held in Knox Church, Owen Sound, on Wednesday, Nov. 20th. Owing to unfavorable weather and the fear of the epidemic the attendance was not large.

The call from Kemble, Sarawak and Lake Charles to Rev. J. H. Douglas was sustained and provisional arrangements were made for his induction of Monday Dec. 2nd at 2:30 p.m. The moderator, Rev. J. E. Thompson to preside and induct, Dr. Therlow Fraser to address the minister and Rev. C. S. Jones the people.

After the transaction of business the Presbytery listened with pleasure and profit to an address from Dr. R. P. McKay, of Toronto, Principal Dyke of Queen's College, Rev. W. J. Clark, of Montreal and Mrs. (Rev.) D. T. L. McKerrill, of Toronto, in connection with the Forward Movement. Strong committees were then appointed to bring the needs of the church before the local congregations.

Fined $400. and Costs

On Wednesday last Messrs. W. Moore and his son W. J. Moore, Oliphant, appeared before Police Magistrate Mr. B. B. Miller and the latter was fined $400 for making liquor and having it on his premises. The case against the father was dismissed. The latter was convicted on the two above mentioned charges and fined $200 for each, making a total of $400. Mr. C. S. Cameron, Owen Sound, appeared for Messrs. Moore, and Mr. Spearman, Owen Sound, for the ex-officio officer. There was no case against the father because the property belonged to the son. It was understood that the case had to be tried in Owen Sound, the district headquarters of the ex-officio officer, but the defendant's attorney stated that it must be tried here and could not be tried outside of the county.

ORDERS REGARDING WHEAT SUBSTITUTES REPEALED

In exercise of the powers conferred by order of His Excellency, the Governor General in Council, dated 12th day of March, 1918, P. C. 556, and of all other powers enabling, the Canada Food Board hereby orders:—
1. All orders and rulings of this Board requiring the sale, purchase, and use or consumption of substitutes for wheat flour are hereby repealed.

Dated at Ottawa, this 14th day of November, 1918.

Mrs. (Capt.) Chapman Passes Away

After an illness of four months Catherine Wilson, beloved wife of Capt. Wm. Chapman, passed quietly away at her home here. Mrs. Chapman was born in Keppel, on February 15, 1865. In 1890 she married William Chapman and after residing in Meaford for a short time, moved to Warton where she lived till her death.

On July 15th, while at Cape Croker Light House, deceased was stricken with paralysis. She was brought to Warton immediately where medical aid was obtained. She gradually improved until about a week ago when a change came and she grew weaker and lingered until death came on Saturday morning.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, three daughters: Phyllis, Grace and Estelle, one son, John, all at home; two brothers, John in Vancouver, and David in Warton; four sisters, Mrs. Ritchie, Clavering; Mrs. Stevenson, Vancouver; Mrs. White, Detroit and Mrs. Hudson, Springfield, Man.

The floral offerings were beautiful and numerous and showed the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Chapman was held. Interment took place on Monday to Bay View Cemetery, Rev. W. W. Prudham conducting the obsequies.

OLIPHANT

The November meeting of the W. I. was held on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. Dan Renshaw and was most satisfactory as regards attendance and business done. The gatherings are growing in sociability and when the rush of war work is over more time can be devoted to the purpose for which the Institutes were organized. It was decided at this meeting to make and send a number of Xmas bags to the sailors at Halifax. The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Reid on the 12th.

Mr. G. Porter and Pte. Wilfred McDonald returned to Warton on Saturday. Mr. Porter has finished his fishing operations and Mr. McDonald was spending some days with T. J. Walsh.

Mr. E. Longe and son Harry returned to Southampton on Wednesday. The splendid Thanksgiving sermon delivered here on Sunday by Rev. W. A. Matthews was thoroughly appreciated by a good congregation.

So far as is known all the Oliphant boys are safe and those wounded are making a good recovery.

Mrs. W. H. Wright, who has been visiting in St. Catharines, Toronto and Brantford returned home on Saturday and her friends hope she will remain here during the winter.

The house-cleaning done at Oliphant recently, was good work and we hope that it will not end here. Warton and several other places in North Bruce are sadly in need of the same drastic measures, and we hope that this abominable evil may be utterly rooted out.

MILLER LAKE

Miller Lake has been very fortunate as far as the dreaded "flu" is concerned. There have been four or five cases but they were of a very mild form.

A few of the farmers are hauling grain to Stokes Bay and Lions Head. Mr. W. J. Holmes intends to move to Pike Bay for the winter, he has a farm rented down there this season. He intends to move back again in March, but he will miss John and his family while they are away.

Mr. Henry Eech was down to Stokes Bay on Friday with potatoes.

Mr. Murdoch Martin of Stokes Bay is visiting friends here this week. Murdoch is still very lame and has to use a crutch to walk with.

Most people outside of the farmers think that the farmer is getting the best end of every deal, but we saw one farmer taking away ten bags of potatoes to pay for one hundred lbs. of fish, and it does not look as if he had the best end of that deal.

Messrs. Jim and Peter Brough made a trip to Warton the first of the week.

The most of the people here are behind with their fall plowing and it looks now as though plowing weather has gone for this year.

Walked All One Night To See Brother

Harry Primer, of Hepworth, writes home about his brother, Charlie, who had Arm and Leg Amputation.

France, 10, 28, 1918

My Dear Mother,—Here I am just came down yesterday to see Charlie, and when I arrived they informed me that he had been sent back to England.

Was sorry to find that I was unable to see him, but very pleased to learn that he was doing nicely. I had a talk with the doctor who attended his wounds and so learned how he was in. Charlie has sure been a marvel. Everyone in his ward was talking of him and the boys all told me what a brick he was and how cheerful and in what bright spirits he kept, even cheering the other patients up. I did not see Charlie's nurse as she was sick but was talking to some of the other sisters. They all spoke so well of him and assured me that he would be alright through time.

Now mother, Charlie has had a terrible experience but you need not worry because he will get along fine. Since getting back to England I am so glad to be able to write and tell you that I was talking to Charlie's doctor and the boys who were in his ward. Why the orderlies told all about him and in order to express what good stuff he was they told me he was a real tough stuff. They said he even joked about the chicken soup they were feeding him and told the Sister that it was made of rabbit.

Now mother, no need to tell you of my trip down the lines, but I had some time getting here. From the time I received the wire I made the trip in 24 hours. I walked all one night in order to get to a railroad station, but am none the worse for it. Although I have not seen Charlie I am happy at hearing such good news of him. It was owing to delay in delivering the wire to me or I would have been able to reach the hospital in time to see him before he was sent to Bighly. However, I trust he will keep on improving. There are many patients here who are too weak to be moved back to England, so you see Charlie is sure a marvel.

I trust you are all keeping well at home. Will write you again when I return to my battalion. Will be having a little rest of a couple of days before starting back again. Am stopping at a very nice place here. With much love to all.
Harry.

VICTORY LOAN CONGRATULATIONS TO COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Toronto, 19th November, 1918.
David Robertson,
Walkerton

Heartiest congratulations to you and all your men for your splendid contributions toward Ontario's wonderful total, three hundred and thirty millions or practically one half entire Dominion total. The enthusiastic and untiring work of your Committee men and canvassers is beyond praise. Please accept for yourself and convey to all your workers the deepest appreciation of our executive and the citizens of this wonderful Province of whose latest achievement we are justly proud. Sir Thomas White has just wired his congratulations and personal thanks which I take pleasure in conveying to you and those associated with you.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

WALKERTON

Walkerton hunter, who arrived back from the chase last Saturday, startled the natives by bringing home in addition to two fine carcasses of venison, a huge black bear. That it was a subject of frightfulness in its haunts north of Sundridge, where it was shot, was borne out by the scare a companion of the Walkertonian got when he suddenly exploded it near the cave in the mountain. Yelling like an Apache Indian and beating it down the mountain like a jack-rabbit before a prairie fire, he rushed towards our townsmen and breathlessly announced the find. He expected the local nimrod to follow him on the wild stamped home, but when the latter asked him "why he didn't shoot it?" he ceased spurring and came back to parley. He was finally persuaded to lead our townsman back towards the bear. A collar dog, which was the first on the occasion to see him, gave a yelp and struck for home. A hound, however, showed more spirit, and grappled with the monster, which was threatening to nuke short work of the dog, when the Walkertonian pulled on his bearship and with two well-placed shots, which penetrated its back, laid it out like a fur coat at the door of its own cave. On arriving in Walkerton it was donated to the J. O. D., and who will serve bear steak on the menu Friday. Mr. Abe Rowand bought an eight-months old calf this week from Mr. A. C. Hardy of Avondale Farm, Newcastle, which according to Mr. N. C. McKay is the best bred calf in Bruce County. The calf is a son of Champion Echo Syvilia, Pontiac whose half-brother Mr. Hardy sold a few months ago for the sum of $100,000. Its mother yielded 24-38 lbs of butter at 9 years 1 month old. The calf was paid by Mr. Rowand $650. Mr. Rowand's commendable enterprise will help a bit towards raising the standard of good stock in this district.

Influenza Has Later Dangers

Particular Care Needed When Patient is Convalescent, Says Expert

The influenza convalescent who has apparently recovered from the disease and is yet in a strangely weak and depressed condition should be the object of particular care, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the New York Health Department. In the opinion of Dr. Harris the after care of the influenza patient is most important. The co-operation of the patient, coupled with the willingness to see that the weakness and depression are a part of the illness, though coming after the disease itself has spent its force, is a big factor in effecting a complete return to full health. On the other hand, the determination to ignore this debilitated condition and to fight against it, will, Dr. Harris says, frequently bring serious consequences upon the patient.

After Effects Bad.

"The subject of the after effects of influenza," said Dr. Harris, "is one of particular interest to the scientist at the present time."

"First, and perhaps the most momentous condition to be considered is the striking depression, mental, nervous, and physical, complained of by most patients. Those attacked by the disease with moderate severity are almost always afflicted with this depression, which should be recognized and dealt with. Those who have had mild cases of the epidemic are little affected by depression, and their quick return to health and strength gives rise to the belief that influenza is trivial. On the contrary, influenza in its after effects is anything but trivial, and calls for the application of rules of common sense and sanitation which are the fruit of years of experience."

"The treatment, well chosen diet, and great care in not becoming over-tired or allowing the body to be chilled are necessary. Eggs may be eaten, but not more than two a day, for the average adult. In the contrary, it must be remembered that in many cases the disease tends to direct its force against the kidneys, and therefore we instruct patients to avoid eating a great amount of meat, eggs, or beef extracts. Eggs, soft boiled, poached, or beaten, raw, are advisable in limited number. The raw eggs should always be well salted before taking."

When Good Food is Had.

"With milk and eggs as a foundation the patient should eat good nourishing food, including meat, fish, and vegetables, simply prepared. Frying for instance, is out of the question. Good food prepared in an unassailable manner becomes bad food; especially is this to be noted in cases of convalescence from influenza, for the disease often manifests itself in vomiting, and in intestinal and gastric disturbances, and it is important not to weaken the digestive function by the eating of poorly prepared food, or even the best of food in ill-advised quantities. The quantitative distribution of foodstuffs should be so adjusted as not to overtax the stomach, but the patient should eat generously and frequently."

As a tonic to build up the blood and stimulate the shattered nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. These pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, improves the appetite, strengthens digestion and drives away the feeling of weariness and depression always following an attack of the grippe or influenza. Those who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial will be amply repaid by the new health and strength this tonic medicine always gives.

HOW TO GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

"Fruit-a-lives" Point the Way to Quick Relief

VERONA, ONT.

"I suffered for a number of years with Rheumatism and severe Pains in my Side and Back, caused by strains and heavy lifting."

When I had given up hope of ever being well again, a friend recommended 'Fruit-a-lives' to me and after using the first box I felt so much better that I continued to take them; and now I am enjoying the best of health, thanks to your wonderful fruit medicine."

furnishing bill of $500. McDermid, who places the amount of his damage at $23.00, sprang out of his bed on hearing the crash of glass, which occurred near midnight on Friday, Nov. 8th, and claims to have followed the intruder, who he alleges ran into Stanley's home, and who after entering the house struck a match to see his way, and enabled McDermid to identify him through the window. The lad's mother and three sisters, however, swore that the accused was in bed at the time he is charged with pulling off the crime. Sam Bruden, general merchant of Kinloss, and Frank Baechler, sawmiller, there, also gave evidence as to the probable cost to repair the damage done, and which was considerably below the figure set by McDermid, the latter of whom, however, maintains he got his estimate for the glass, etc., from two hardware merchants in Lucknow.

HANOVER

A sad death occurred in Elmwood on Friday last when Miss Ruby Bauer, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, passed away at the early age of 23 years, 2 months and 2 days. The deceased had been ill for almost a year and suffered considerably all through her illness. Her sweet and loving disposition endeared her to all who knew her, and her early death occasioned much sorrow among her wide circle of friends. She is survived by her parents and three sisters, Mrs. Ryan, McNally, of Blackstock, and Linda and Violet of Toronto. The funeral, which was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hallman, assisted by Rev. Mr. Brubacher, took place on Monday afternoon at the Evangelical cemetery at Elmwood and despite the inclement weather it was largely attended. The many flowers showed the high esteem in which she was held. Among those from out of town at the funeral were: Mrs. Henry Bauer and daughter, Mrs. McArthur, of Aetna; Mr. Adam Bauer of Kitchener; Mr. and Mrs. John Krueger and Mrs. Hunsinger of Hanover; Mrs. Val. Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer and family and Mr. George Bauer, of Durham; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Krug and Mr. and Mrs. W. Liebeck of Chesley; and Mrs. C. G. Meister and Miss Egid, of Hanover.

Mr. Ezra Kimpel arrived home on Wednesday last week from Cavalier, N. B., where he spent about three months. The crops in this region are simply great this year. Grain crops were excellent on the whole, and potatoes were so plentiful that considerable difficulty is being experienced in storing them, the elevators all being filled.

Col. and Mrs. Schnitzler, Carlgill, have received word that their son, Pte. Ed. Schnitzler, has died as a result of wounds. He was scarcely out of his "teens" at the time of his heroic death. He was a carpenter by trade prior to enlisting in the 160th Bruce Battalion.

J. H. Hopkins of Tobermory, in renewing his subscription to The Post, writes: "Here we are rejoicing over the good news that the war is over, and I hope there will be a lasting peace restored to the world. My only son is in an English hospital with one hand off above the right wrist—and, at that he got off lucky. I hope he will soon be home. I wish there were soldiers enough here in the summer time to take the woods in a row, and make a severe drive on the bears, for they are killing a lot of our sheep. I lost over $100 last year and $150 this year. We will soon have to do something to get rid of them."

Word recently received in town from France stated that Sergt. P. Leask, of Hanover, had been promoted to the rank of Major. Congratulatory letters to Percy for his promotion were sent to him by the rank of Private to this position. [Percy enlisted in the 72nd Battalion in August, 1915 and went overseas in April, 1916, going to France that Fall. He had not been wounded when he last wrote and we trust that he came through the closing days of the war unhurt. Percy has a host of friends in town who will wish him a safe journey home with the veterans.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brigham, of Allan Park, went to Toronto Saturday on receiving word that their son, Pte. Douglas Brigham, was dangerously ill with pneumonia at St. Andrew's Hospital. "Doug" was a former member of the Merchants Bank staff at Hanover and was well liked by everyone. He was managing a bank in the West and had a fine position but he resigned to enlist. A host of friends in this district hope for his recovery.

SOUTHAMPTON

Mr. Roy Thomson, eldest son of Rev. Fred Thomson, has enlisted with the Canadian Force for service in Siberia, and last week his parents received a letter from him stating that he expected to leave Victoria B. C. for Russia this week.

The Southampton branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund was organized in March, 1915. Shortly after organization a canvass of the citizens of Southampton was made for contributions to this fund, and very gratifying indeed were the results. A large portion of those subscribed then did so by monthly payments as the war should last, and it is with a pardonable pride that we announce that a large number of those subscribers have continued those monthly payments without a break up to the present month. The total amount subscribed is $5,366.94, and of this sum $5,352.94 has been forwarded to the headquarters at Ottawa, the balance of $14 being the entire expense incurred since March 1915, and this amount was entirely expended for postage used in canvassing and for correspondence. All of the work has been carried on entirely free of expense.

Some new cases of the "flu" have developed on the Saugeen Reserve since our last issue, and some missionary meetings which were being held have been stopped. Our Medical Health Officer, Dr. C. J. Laird, strongly advises against attending

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been under his personal supervision since his infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Last week Mr. Brock McAulay's tug 'The Silver' was up to Pike Bay to bring down a load of oats for Messrs. Fred Thomson and R. Homes.

Coming out of the harbor the tug's bottom struck rock, and the fanges were broken off her wheel and other damage done, just how much is not yet known. Mr. McAulay is intending to haul the tug ashore here to see what the damage is. The tug logic went up Friday and the cargo of oats was transferred and brought to town arriving here last Sunday.

Growing Old Together

THIS aged couple, mellowed by time and the experiences of life, are happily growing old together.

They are happy because they are healthy. Life is still full of interest to them, and they are wide awake to new ideas.

These are the kind of old people that everybody likes. For, in spite of the years, they are cheerful and optimistic.

It is only natural that the blood should get thin and vitality wane as age advances, but there are ways of keeping up the quality of the blood and maintaining health and vigor.

Very many men and women have found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food exactly what they need to restore energy and strength and keep them healthy and happy.

As an example Mr. Stephen J. Leard, North Tryon, N.E., writes: "At seventy-five years of age my heart gave out and became very irregular and weak in action and would palpitate. My nerves also became weak, and I could do nothing but lie in bed in a languishing condition losing strength and weight. In that condition I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and am cured. Had I not obtained this treatment I would now be in the box with the roof over my nose. At eighty-one I have an energy which means go, and I am writing this letter so that old people like myself may prolong their health and strength by using this great medicine."

There can be no doubt that this treatment contained exactly what was required to build up Mr. Leard's system.

We are constantly receiving so many letters of this kind that we can, with the greatest confidence, recommend people of advanced years to put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food on trial, as a means of restoring and maintaining health and vigor.

Here is another interesting letter. This time from a lady:

Mr. Joseph Lalonde, Hydro Glen, Ont., writes: "I have to thank you very much for what your medicine has done for me, especially the Nerve Food and Kidney-Silver Pills. I was so run down and nervous last year that I was in bed most of the time, unable to do any work. I have also been troubled with my kidneys for over twenty years, and tried every doctor I knew of without any permanent results, but I can say that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Silver Pills have made me feel quite different. Since taking this combined treatment I have been able to do my housework, and although I am now 76 years old, I feel better than I have for years."

("I know Mrs. Joseph Lalonde, and believe her statement regarding Dr. Chase's medicine to be true."—W. F. Plannery, Postmaster.)

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Only the genuine Dr. Chase's medicine and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on every box.

CHESLEY

A letter taken from the body of a dead German soldier by a young Teeswater soldier, Gordon Stewart, written by a young girl to her sweetheart, goes to show the deep hatred in Germany for the English. The letter says in part: "With intense interest I follow the struggle on the western front, and it is with positive satisfaction that I see England receiving her well deserved flogging for all the misery she has produced. The lustful English must be for ever heaved down and to all appearances this year will bring her domination to an end. Are you with the advance in Flanders, or do you still remain in your old place? Hung remains still at his old job. He received at Easter the E. K. 11, or Iron Cross of the second grade.

Rev. C. J. Bennett is back from the hunting ground in the Perry Sound District. Between the rain every other day and fear of the flu he had not much heart for the chase, and never put a shot at a deer. There were seven in his party and they got 9 deer. The one coming to him he gave to his son at Perry Sound. The reverend gentleman is a keen hunter and a crack shot. Last year he brought down two deer in three days.

When Dr. Gummer, a Kincardine dentist, suspected of pro-German sentiments, was taking the train at Ripley, he was treated to a dose of rotten eggs on peace-celebration night. On arrival of the train at Kincardine hundreds of citizens gave the dentist another pelting with the decayed hen fruit, and the trainmen hauled him into the station waiting room. Mayor Malcolm tried to quiet the mob who were not satisfied till Gummer signed a check for $50 payable to the Red Cross and walked up the street carrying the British flag.

At the last meeting of Arran Council a resolution was passed protesting against the tax on dogs being increased from one to three dollars, and urging the council to restore the old tax. It was pointed out that in 1917 the tax on dogs in Arran amounted to $329 and the loss of sheep by being worried was only $20. The Arran farmers should import some of those sheep-killing dogs from Bentinck, and the funds would soon be used up.

Miss Amy of St. Helaire, Isle of Jersey, one of the Channel Islands, sister of Mrs. (Dr.) Mair of this town, has been elected an honorary life member of the British Red Cross Society in recognition of her services in giving gratuitously twelve complete courses of nursing lectures for the society. Miss Amy, who has been a visitor at the home of her sister in Chesley, spent the first two and a half years of the war in the hospitals of England and Scotland. She had charge of the hospital in which Pte. Hilton Johnston of Chesley was a patient.

OWEN SOUND

In connection with the Anniversary Services at Knox Church on Sunday last an interesting feature was the fact that, in spite of the inclement weather, the collection for the purpose of reducing the church debt, was a large one, over $800 being subscribed with more still to come in. The mortgage will be reduced, it is expected, by $1000.

Mr. J. H. McInnis, the well known insurance man, was one of the guests at the Hotel Belvedere at London when it was burned early last Friday morning. Mr. McInnis was one of the last to leave the building and got out through dense clouds of smoke. He occupied a room on the second floor and was awakened by cries of fire. Although he dressed quickly he left his room none too soon, and had been a few minutes later might easily have been overcome by smoke. Mr. McInnis says that the cries of the women guests as they made their escape surpassed anything that could be imagined. There were 75 guests in the hotel and the noise and excitement for a short time was intense. This is the second hotel fire in Mr. McInnis' experience, having escaped from a burning hotel in Penbrooke a number of years ago. He is not anxious for any further exploits of this kind.

Saturday's market was again a very busy one and large numbers of both buyers and sellers made the square a very busy spot. There was a drop in prices in several lines, but particularly with this with regard to peas. With the war almost over peas dropped from $2.70 to $2.10 per bushel; potatoes sold at from a dollar to a dollar ten per bag and even butter took a slight drop, selling from 42c to 45c per pound. Eggs were the exception as far as increased prices were concerned, selling from 51c to 51c per dozen. Fowl was plentiful and prices were a little lower than for a couple of weeks; chickens sold from 22c to 25c, ducks, 22c to 25c, and turkeys from 23c to 32c; wheat maintained the regular price of $2.05 to $2.11; oats from 70c to 78c; barley from $1.00 to $1.05. Hides sold at $21.25 per hundred.

The Reeve of Carrick Must Pay $300

Warkenton, Nov. 21.—Moses Filinger, reeve of the Township of Carrick, which is almost entirely populated with Germans, was fined $300 and costs by Magistrate Chapman, of Port Elgin, and McIntosh, of Southampton, at the town hall here to-day for disloyal and seditious utterances made in the village of Mildmay early in June. Filinger, who was about to board the train at Mildmay as a delegate from Carrick to the Farmers' Convention in Toronto to protest against the drafting of farmers' sons, said in conversation with other men that Borden was selling Canadian soldiers in England for 88 pence like little pigs. He admitted in court making the statement, but claims to have heard it while attending a previous farmers' convention at Ottawa. The magistrate in imposing the fine, said they had seriously considered giving Filinger three months' jail sentence as well, but for further conversation had decided to forego the prison term.

It is more blessed to give than to receive—also more expensive.

Meaford Editor Is Not Guilty

(The Advertiser)

Of chief interest in the list at the Fall Assizes, which opened here Tuesday afternoon, was the action against Mr. Frank E. Secord, editor of the Meaford Express, who was charged with criminal libel, arising out of certain statements published in the Express last January regarding Capt. R. A. Spencer, a former officer of the 11th Battalion. The trial occupied all yesterday afternoon and resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

Capt. Spencer who was living in Meaford when the Grey Battalion was formed, was very active in recruiting and the statements in the Express, based on a letter from another officer, naturally aroused considerable interest in Meaford and vicinity. Information was laid by Capt. Spencer's brother, who resides in Welland, and a Mr. Secord was committed for trial. In March he published a letter from Lt. Col.—then Major—McFarlane, giving the facts regarding Capt. Spencer's service; and this publication was presented by the defence as evidence that there was no animus actuating the first publication.

Mr. German, K. C., of Welland, acting for the prosecutor, took little time. He merely proved publication of the article and Mr. Secord's responsibility for it, and left the rest for the defence.

For Mr. Secord, Mr. W. H. Wright called witnesses to show that the matter of which the article spoke was common rumor and of general interest to the people of this district; and sought to show that its publication was in the way of fair comment. That the publication was not maliciously done was supported by the production of a subsequent article, published as soon as possible after its receipt, setting out the real state of affairs.

His Lordship Mr. Justice Master, who presided, charged impartially; and after being out twenty minutes the jury returned the verdict of not guilty. The Judge at once ordered Mr. Secord's release; and ordered the private prosecutor to pay the costs.

SHOULD LET 'EM GROW

Mrs. Bridley was doing her morning marketing, and she was determined that the grocer should not take advantage of her youth and inexperience.

"These eggs are dreadfully small," she criticized.

"That's the kind the farmer brings; are just fresh from the country this morning."

"Yes," said the bride, "and that's the trouble with those farmers. They are so anxious to get their eggs sold that they take them off the nest too soon!"

END STOMACH TROUBLE. GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diaphepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of distress, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diaphepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how necessary it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

KNOW THE LADY.

When little Ernest was out walking with his mother one day he suddenly pointed to a lady across the road and said:

"Oh, mamma, I know that lady over there! She often speaks to me."

"Does she, really, darling?" answered the mother. "And what does she say?"

"She—she—well, she usually says, 'Don't you dare to throw stones at my dog again, you little wretch!'"—Chicago News.

Your Child's Cough

Is nothing? Is it to be neglected until it leads to that terrible scourge consumption? Peps stand between waler coughs and colds, and serious consequences. Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not absorbed down to the stomach, which is not all right.

By-law no. 216 naming polling booths was read a third time and passed as follows:—No. 1, McLeod's Hall, Elsinore; No. 2, Murray's Office, Allenford; No. 3, Hall, Park Head; No. 4, Alf. Millard's House, Con. 9; No. 5, Chas. White's House, Ames Survey; No. 6, Orange Hall, Oliphant.

By-Law no. 217 naming D. R. O. and P. C. was read a second and third time and passed as follows:—No. 1, Wm. Kidd and Ross Smith; No. 2, Jas. Sherriff and Chas. Arnett; No. 3, Wm. Hamilton and Thos. M. White; No. 4, Joseph Hughes and John Eldridge; No. 5, G. G. Stephens and R. E. Stacey; No. 6, James Hutchinson and Wm. Preston.

The Boat-Lake and Rankin River Drainage Award was laid over. Orders were passed for $1029.90. The Clerk was instructed to ask the Minister of Public Works for a grant to complete work on road on C. line. The Council then adjourned to meet at Allenford on Dec. 14th, 1918 to receive the treasurer's report and general business.

DYERS BAY

School reopened last Monday after being closed for four weeks on account of the "flu".

Mrs. Pilgrim returned to Dyers Bay after spending a few months with friends at Dobbinton.

Messrs. R. Bartley and S. Watson motored to Lions Head last Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. S. Bartley who will remain with Mrs. E. Wardrop during her illness.

Mrs. A. Wardrop sr. has returned from Stokes Bay and reports Mr. H. Wardrop improving.

McCallums Corners

A. Shearer did business in Lions Head on Saturday.

We had a light snow one day last week.

Duncan Shearer is now working for Mr. Forbes at Half-Way Rock.

School started Monday, our teacher Miss McKinney has recovered from the "Flu".

Mr. A. Shearer of our burg went to Warton last week with a load of pigs to ship in the club.

We are glad little Bobbie Blacklock is on the mend.

Jack Shearer was a visitor to our burg last week, he went back home taking big Prince with him.

Card of Thanks

Captain Chapman and family desire to thank their friends for their kind sympathy during the illness and since the death of Mrs. Chapman.

Years and Years of Glorious Music

The New Edison Diamond Amberola is a marvelous invention, even for a genius like Thomas A. Edison. So perfect is its construction and mechanism, that it will give you years and years of exquisite pleasure without the bother and expense of providing and changing metal needles.

THE NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA

has a diamond reproducer point that never wears out. And the AMBEROL RECORDS—almost unwearable and nearly unbreakable—have been played 3,000 times in laboratory tests without showing noticeable signs of wear.

How To Have Them, Free.

We want to put you in a position where you can decide that the entertainment, education and instruction your entire family would receive from this almost human instrument, are worth many times the cost of the Amberola. Simply ask us to send you an Amberola and a choice selection of Records. Play them in your own home, over and over again, and then if you decide to keep the outfit, we will arrange terms if you like. If you do not care to keep the outfit, simply notify us and we will send it off. That's all.

"The Buy Word for Biscuits"

Keeping Roots in Pits Over The Winter

(Experimental Farm Note.)

If roots are to keep satisfactorily in pits outside, it is of primary importance that, when steady cold weather sets in, they are in such a condition that they can stand being covered heavily and tightly and yet not heat. In other words, the roots should be given every chance to sweat thoroughly before the pits are covered over permanently.

In view of this it is not as a rule advisable to cover the pits completely immediately after the roots have been piled up. A layer of coarse and perfectly dry straw to a thickness of from four to six inches may be put all over the pit, but the following layer of earth, amounting to about six inches, should at first not be put over the top of the pit itself. In fact, it is essential that the top of the pit be left open as long as this can possibly be done without exposing the roots to danger of freezing, so that as much as possible of the moisture caused by the sweating of the roots be left out before it is necessary to cover up the pit permanently.

In the case of wet weather, the open top of the pit should be protected so as to prevent rain from soaking down through the roots. This can be done, for instance, by placing along the top two boards nailed together in the form of a 'V'.

The patriotic town of Markdale is already preparing to erect a memorial for their fallen heroes. Two suggestions, as to what form it will take, have been made: a drinking fountain and a monument with a Canadian holding aloft a standard.

On the day the armistice was signed Mr. H. B. Smith, of Owen Sound, lifted the mortgage on St. George's Church, to the amount of $3,000. Also the mortgage on Knox Church was reduced $1,000. This, on the heels of the Victory Loan, speaks volumes for Owen Sound.

At a meeting of the Red Cross Girls at the home of Mrs. Allen Ashley, on Thursday night, it was decided they would have their annual bazaar within a couple of weeks. The last three years this bazaar has been a success and from the formation of plans it sounds as though this year's bazaar will be even better.

Lucknow and Kinloss districts went 'over the top' in their Victory Loan campaign by subscribing $288,400, two hundred per cent. of their objective. The village of Lucknow with a population of 811 inhabitants, and whose objective was $27,000 raised $135,000 buying 50 per cent. of it's objective and $107,000 per capita.

Do not throw away frozen potatoes. An American Chemical Society bulletin says if they are kept frozen until they are used they will be just as wholesome, nutritious and palatable as if they had not been frozen at all. It is only when prematurely thawed that they are spoiled. It would be difficult to estimate the waste caused by the mistaken belief that potatoes are unfit for food because they have been frozen.

The clergyman was preaching a long sermon from the text, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." After an hour the congregation became impatient, and one by one began to leave, much to the annoyance of the preacher. At length as another was about to leave, he stopped his sermon, remarking: "That's right gentlemen, as fast as you are weighed pass out."

Electricity for heating purposes is not likely to go into general use, as the cost would be infinitely higher than coal, oil, or gas. A bulletin just issued from the Advisory Council at Ottawa, says it would need 900,000 horsepower to heat Toronto's 800,000 homes alone and Niagara's output is only 780,000 horsepower. The possible Ontario development is inadequate to heat the homes of the province. A further comparison shows it would cost $375 to heat an eight-room house, as compared with $90 for coal at Toronto. Coal would have to be $19.50 a ton before it would be as dear as electricity at 35c. a kilowatt hour. It may be used as an auxiliary in mild weather but the high cost will prevent it coming into general use.

There will be a business meeting of the Womens Patriotic League on Monday evening, December 2nd, in the Public Library. There will be an election of officers; reports of the work of the past year and plans will be made for the coming winter's work. A large attendance is requested. The meeting will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

A few years ago there was not a single linotype in a printing office in Bruce County. To-day six offices have this modern equipment which represents an investment of nearly $3000. No doubt all the offices, like The Echo, had any amount of type, but the labor condition, caused by the war, put the type on the scrap heap. "Sunday selling of gasoline is contrary to law," is an official warning coming from Ottawa. The Fuel Controller has been informed that since the removal of the ban on Sunday motoring some dealers have assumed that they could sell that day. This is a mistaken impression—Alvinston Free Press.

The harness makers will have to close their shops in the course of a short time if the thread situation is not eased up, was the announcement made by a dealer. He stated that thread which formerly sold for 80 cents a pound was now being offered, in very limited quantities, at $5 a pound. A ball, which was retailed at 10 cents a short time ago, cannot be bought for a dollar at present. The thread, in past years, has been imported from Ireland, but now the Government has placed a restriction on ships, and the produce cannot be sent overseas. The Dominion Government is bemoaning a company to manufacture the article in Canada, but it will not be in operation until after Christmas, and by that date the situation will be acute.

Satan Sanderson

The ghost was gone now before light and human presence, and Hugh, with a loud laugh of ugly irreverence, stood staring at the man before him. "Harry Sanderson!" he cried. His fifty eyes surveyed the other's figure—the corduroys, the high laced boots, the soft blue flannel shirt. "Not exactly in purple and fine linen," he said. The impudent swagger of intoxication had slipped over him again, and his boisterous laugh broke with a hic-cough. "I thought the gospel game was about played out that night in the chapel. And now you are willing to take a hint from the prodigal. How did you find me? And perhaps you can tell me who has been making himself so at home here lately?"

"You were something of a howling well as a person."

"I have," said Harry evenly. Hugh's glance, that had been watering about the next interior, returned to Harry, and knowledge and anger leaped into it. "So it was you, was it? You are the one who has been trying his hand as a claim jumper?" He reached toward the table and leaned upon it. "I've always heard that the devil took care of his own. The runaway rector stumbled on my manor, and with his usual lack-Satan's luck we called it at college—steps in just in time to strike it rich."

He stretched his hand suddenly and caught a tiny object that glittered against Harry's coat—the little gold cross which the other had tied to his watch guard. The thing snapped, and Hugh sent the pendant rattling across the doorway.

"You were something of a howling well as a person," he said to the "silly" who had not needed the cross now. "Harry Sanderson's eyes were not left Hugh's face. He was thinking swiftly. The bolt from the cloud had been so recent that this sudden apparition seemed a natural concomitant of the situation. Only the problem was no longer imminent. It was upon him. Involuntarily he turned back, and he tried to bleed him. I only meant to frighten him off. Then—then I was afraid, and I ran for it. That was when I came to you at Anston and we played." Hugh's words came in snips, and drops of sweat stood on his forehead.

"Well," said Hugh, with a sneer, "what have you got to say?" "How much will you take for the property?"

"That's your game, is it? But I'm not such a humbug! Whatever you could offer, it's worth more to me. I know you, Satan Sanderson," he sneered. "You were always the same precious hypocrite in the old days, pretending to be so sinfully virtuous, while you looked out for No. 1. I saw through you then, too, when you were posing as my friend and trying your best all along to queer me with the old man. I knew it well enough. I knew what the reason was too. You wanted Jessica!"

"Sent control left Harry suddenly, as a ship's sail is whipped from its gaskets in a white squall. Before the words could be uttered his fingers were at Hugh's throat.

"At that instant there was the sound of running feet outside. A hurried knock at the door and an agitated voice that chilled Harry's blood to ice. His hands relaxed their hold. He dragged Hugh to the door of the inner room, thrust him inside, shut and bolted it upon him.

"Then he went and opened the outer door.

The accusation of Prendergast had stunned Jessica's faculties. As in an evil dream she had seen, too, a light rise to his feet and methodically put the fragment of paper into his pocketbook. A moment later she was running up the dark path, her thoughts a confusion in which only one coherent purpose stood distinct—to warn him. They would know no need to hasten. If the man she loved had reached the cabin, she would be before them.

She stood before the door, her hands clamped tightly, her eyes on Harry's face.

"What has happened?" he asked. "What will be here soon after from the town. I overheard them. I want to let you know," she hesitated. It had grown all at once difficult to put into words.

"Coming here? Why?" "To arrest a man who is accused of murder."

If her eyes could have pierced the bolted door a few feet away, if she could have seen that listening face behind it as her clear tones fell, grow faint with recognition, amazement and evil suspicion—a look that her last word swept into a deadly gray terror! If she could have heard the groans from the wretched man beyond!

"Whose murder?" "Dr. Moreau's."

Jessica waited with caught breath, searching his countenance. It was told now, but he must know that she had not credited it. "For better, for worse," she must believe in him now. "I know, oh, I know," she cried. "You need not tell me!"

"No," he said gravely. "I am not the man they want. It has all come back to me—the past that I had lost. Such a crime has no part in it. Jessica," he said, "you have tried to save me from danger tonight. I need a greater service of you now. It is to ask no question, but to go ahead. I cannot explain why, but you must not stay here a moment."

"Oh," she cried bitterly, "you don't intend to leave? You choose to face it, and you want to spare me. You will go! Why, you would have no chance where they have hunted you so. Prendergast was killed robbing the silver tonight and he fled—fled—fled! He swore you did it, and they will believe it!"

He put back her beseeching hands. How could he explain? Only to get her away—to gain time—to think!

"Listen!" she went on wildly. "They will wait to carry him to the town. I can go and bring my horse here for you. There is time! You have only to send me word and I will follow you to the end of the world! Only say you will go!"

He caught at the straw. The expected might serve.

"Very well," he said; "bring him to the upper trail and wait there for me. He gave a sob of relief at his acquiescence. "I will hurry, hurry!" he cried and was gone, swift as a swallow flight, into the darkness.

As he re-entered the cabin the calmness fell from Harry Sanderson as a musk drop, and the latent passion sprang in its place. He crossed the room and drew the bolt for the wretched man who, after one swift glance at his face, groveled on his knees before him, sobbing and wailing.

"For God's sake, Harry, you won't give me up?" Hugh cried. "You can't! I didn't! Why, we were in the college together! I'd been drinking to night or I wouldn't have talked to you as I did."

"Harry drew his feet from the fringed hands that clasped them. 'Did you kill Moreau?' he asked shortly.

"It was an accident," moaned Hugh. "I never intended to. I went to heaven. I didn't! He bounded me, and he tried to bleed me. I only meant to frighten him off. Then—then I was afraid, and I ran for it. That was when I came to you at Anston and we played."

"When we played?" he echoed. "How have you settled your debt, the debt of honor you owe me?" he asked. "How have you lived since that? Have you paid me those days of decent living you talked and lost?"

"I have straight to my dying day. You don't know how I've suffered. Harry, or you'd have some mercy on me now. I'm me, me, Harry, for my father's sake!"

"Your father is dead," said Harry. "Then for old time's sake!" He tried to clasp Harry's knees. "They may be here at any minute! I must have been seen as I crossed the mountain! I thought it would never come out or I wouldn't have come! I'll go far enough away. I'll go to South America, and you will never see me alive again, neither you nor Jessica! For God's sake, Harry, listen! Jessica wouldn't wait to see me here! For her sake!"

"It was the son of Satan of St. James parish, of the scrupulous conscience—whose college career as Satan Sanderson had come to be a very one in his heart," he now spoke.

"Get up!" he said. "Have you any money?"

"If your child is cross, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, Loos, Maltolite if tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with 'Call-fortia Syrup of Figs'."

Mother can rest easy after giving Maltolite Syrup of Figs because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well-showered child again!

Sick children need to be coaxed to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know it seldom fails to soothe, soothe and soothe in prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "Call-fortia Syrup of Figs," which contains pleasant fruit flavor, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

By HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES, Author of "Hearts Courageous," Etc. COPYRIGHT, 1908, THE BOBB'S-MERRILL COMPANY

Hugh rose, trembling and ashen. "Hardly $10," he answered. Harry considered flatly. He was almost penniless. Nearly all his share of the strike had gone to repay the forged draft. "I have no ready cash," he said, "but the night we played in the chapel I left a thousand dollars in my study safe. I have not been there since." He took pencil and paper from his pocket and wrote down some figures hastily. "Here is the combination. You must try to get that money."

"What?" he added as Hugh's hand was on the latch. He must risk nothing. He could make assurance doubly sure. "A half mile from the foot of the mountain, where the road comes in from Funeral Hollow, wait for me. I will bring a horse there for you."

Hugh crushed the paper into his pocket and opened the door. "I'll wait," he said. He darted out, slipped around the corner of the cabin and stealthily disappeared.

Harry sat down upon the doorstep. The strain had been great. In the reaction he was faint, and a mist was before his eyes. The die was cast. Hugh could easily escape. Until he himself spoke he would not even be hunted. He, Harry Sanderson, was the scoundrel, left to play his part.

How long he sat there he did not know. He sprang up at a muffled sound. He had said a work to do before they came—for Hugh! He saw in an instant, however, that it was Jessica, leading her horse by the bridle.

"I could not wait," she breathed. "You did not come, and I was afraid!" Mounting, he leaped from the saddle and took both her hands in his. Still he did not kiss her.

"Jessica, you believe I am innocent?" he asked anxiously. "Yes—yes!" "Will you believe what I am doing is for the best?"

"Always, always," she whispered. Her voice vibrating. "Only go!" He released her hands and rode quickly up the grassy path.

As she stood looking after him a dog's voice came from the cabin. She ran and released the animal and took him up in her arms.

As she did so a spark caught her eye. It came from the tiny gold cross lying where Hugh had flung it near the lighted doorway. She picked it up, looked at it a moment abstractedly and thrust it into her pocket, scarce conscious of her heart's keeping time to the silence she had felt that was bearing the man she loved from danger.

"Where the way opened into the gloomy cut of Funeral Hollow, Harry dismounted and went forward slowly and lost, leading the horse, till a figure stepped from a clump of bushes to meet him with an exclamation of relief. Hugh had waited at the rendezvous in shivering apprehension and dismal suspicion of Harry's intentions and had not approached till he had convinced himself that the other came alone.

He swung Harry's hand as he said: "If I get out of this, I'll do better the rest of my life. I will open my soul, Harry!"

"You may not be able to get into the chapel," said Harry; "my room—'he felt his cheek burn as he spoke—'may be closed. On the chance that you fall, take this." He took off the ruby ring, whose interlaced initials had once fortified him in his error of identity. "The stone is worth a good deal. It should be enough to take you anywhere."

Hugh nodded, slipped the ring on his finger and rode quickly off. Then Harry turned and walked rapidly back toward the cabin.

Gave His Life To Keep Promise To His Men

Major "Bob" Pollock, a Credit to Grey County and the Newspaper Profession.

(Toronto Star Weekly) By W. C. A. MOFFATT.

So many gallant fellows have fallen in the world war that many are barely noted in the press. However, special significance attached to the announcement that Major Robert Pollock, of the "First Greys," had given his life for his country on the field of battle. Major Pollock was a newspaperman, associate editor of the Owen Sound Times, which, by the way, passes out of existence this week after thirty years in the field, and a worthy companion was he, too, of the other newspapermen who have given their all in this war, worthy to be classed with gallant "Hal" Gordon, of the Star; brave "Bill" Williams, of the News; the dashing Allan McGiffin and the others who in the days before the war did honor to the profession.

"Bob" Pollock was outstanding, inasmuch as it is freely admitted that, although still in his twenties, he would have upon his return from the field, specifically found his way into the Federal House or into the Ontario Legislature. A real fellow with the boys was "Bob" Pollock, a clever and versatile writer, and a man who knew more of public matters than many who to-day are holding down seats in either the Provincial or Dominion Parliaments. In the elections of 1911 he played a prominent part, although at that time only a reporter on a weekly newspaper, and as a "stump speaker" he established for himself an enviable reputation throughout the northern riding of Grey.

He was the first officer of his regiment to revert to lieutenant's rank in order to get across the Channel with his contract in the ranks, his remark at the time being that he would sacrifice every star, "every button, even," on his tunic if it would get him into the fighting line.

"Clean and straight as a whip" was the expression that has on more than one occasion been used to designate the chief officer of "The Greys." Sportsman, gentleman, scholar and soldier, he played a man's part to the end, and by his death a brilliant figure is lost to the political life of the Dominion and an ardent champion of clean sport, for there was not an amateur organization of sportsmen anywhere in his district in which he did not manifest a hearty interest.

As a result of a wound received on the Somme, three fingers were permanently disabled, but he succeeded in hiding these from the medical officer and continued to "carry on" until finally he found what he had never sought to avoid, and which, indeed, he always seemed ever to court—a soldier's grave.

He could have received honorable discharge, but "Big Bob" was a man of his word, and while in Canada, while recruiting men for his unit, he gave his word that he would stay with the boys whom he had induced to enlist until the end. And this promise the gallant officer kept to the letter; to its maintenance he undoubtedly sacrificed his life.

Goderich Is Preparing To Erect A Memorial

With the close of the war the suggestion of the erection of a soldiers' memorial, to commemorate the heroes from this town and district who have given their lives in the great cause, is taking definite shape. At the meeting of the town council on Friday evening President Edwards and other members of the Menestung Canoe Club addressed the council and in behalf of the club expressed their willingness to take hold of the project, or if the council should wish to undertake it, to give their assistance and co-operation. They stated that they had no definite plans as to the form the memorial should take; their idea rather was that a fund should first be raised, the various lodges, societies and other organizations being asked to give their assistance, and then a general committee representing all the contributing organizations, should be formed to decide as to the disposition of the fund.

The Mayor and council expressed hearty approval of the project, and asked the representatives of the Menestung Canoe Club to go ahead with their plans, and two members of the council were named to act in co-operation with the committee of the Club. This committee is composed of W. H. Robertson (chairman), H. T. Edwards, J. W. Fraser, W. T. Miller (treasurer) and Lorne G. Young (secretary). At a special meeting on Tuesday evening the Club subscribed $100 as an initial contribution to the fund, and members made additional contributions amounting to $25. Letters are being sent out to the various organizations in the town and district soliciting their aid, and for the present the objective of $5,000 has been set. Contributions will be acknowledged by the treasurer from week to week in the local press.

These Are Family Times.

and family ties and interests pervade everything. It is a time when the value of The Youth's Companion to the family is doubly appreciated. It serves ALL, every age, because youthfulness has nothing to do with years, and the paper appeals to the hopeful, the enthusiastic, those with ideals. The Editorial Page is for full-fledged minds, and the Family Page, Boys' Page, Girls' Page and Special Features delight all hands. The Companion is a friend, a servant, a storyteller, an informer, a physician and a humorist. It not only stands for the best things but it furnishes them. TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Dandruff right now—Also stops itching scalp.

This, brittle, colorless and egg-like hair is worse evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a thinning and falling of the hair which is not removed unless the hair roots to which it is attached are healthy. It is not a skin disease and does not cause the hair to fall out. It is a scalp disease and it is not removed unless the scalp is healthy. A little Dandruff—how any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandruff. Save your hair! Try it!

WILL BRUCE BOYS GO NORTH AND FARM?

SUB-COMMITTEE MEETS AND ADVOCATES THE TOWNSHIP OF SHACKLETON FOR RETURNED MEN.

Cleary, Nov. 16, 1918

The Sub-Committee appointed on the 20th of June last at Southampton by the Bruce Preparedness League to enquire into the question of soldier settlement is now ready to submit its report and the patriotic press of the County of Bruce is requested to publish this report for the information of the public. The report is as follows:

The Problem To the Bruce Preparedness League: Gentlemen—

With the end of the war in sight the problem as to how the County of Bruce can best deal with the returned soldier becomes more acute. It is estimated that over 300,000 soldiers will return to Canada to be absorbed in civilian life. Of these it is estimated that 100,000 will return to occupations leaving perhaps 200,000 for whom Canada is in honor bound to make some suitable provision. All that these men need is that they shall be given an opportunity to make good. They will return with their nervous systems more or less shattered by horrors and hardships through which they have passed. There will be a strong tendency to the profound unrest that in all ages has characterized the returning soldier. Army discipline destroys individuality and the men have to learn to break step and recover their individuality and the readjustment is difficult and sometimes dangerous.

The County of Bruce sent approximately 3000 soldiers to the front. Of these probably from 1000 to 1500 will not go back to their old occupations for various reasons. What preparation is the County of Bruce making for the day when some of them something must be done?

Prospective Plans

1. There is no doubt that vocational re-education of returned soldiers, who have been so disheveled as to prevent them from resuming their former occupations, will provide for quite a number. It is a system of free instruction given under the direction of the Government of the Province of Ontario.

2. Public works carried on by the Federal and Provincial Governments and municipalities will offer an opportunity for others.

3. The Civil Service and the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, preferential employment by corporations and manufacturing establishments will provide for others.

These are some of the plans which are now under way, but all outside of the County of Bruce. Another plan to which the County of Bruce may well devote itself is the settlement of the soldiers upon the land. It is the duty of the County of Bruce to honor its duty and honor summons us.

Why?

1. The returned soldier has asked for it. The G. W. V. A. at a Dominion Convention held in Toronto and Ontario unanimously passed the following resolutions:

"That the Great War Veterans Association of Canada in National Convention assembled petition the Government of Canada for the adoption of a land settlement scheme embracing these fundamental principles: (a) "That a cabinet minister be appointed whose special duty it shall be to evolve a scheme for the rehabilitation of the returned and returning soldier on the agricultural lands of the province of Canada in which the prospective settlers are domiciled. (b) "That areas of land be secured or acquired by the Dominion Government sufficient to meet the estimated requirements of Soldier Settlement of a quality suitable for successful farming within easy access of railway facilities, and that provision be made for the equitable selection of land by those who may desire to take advantage of the scheme at a later date. (c) "That the Dominion Government be requested to call a special committee meeting, at an early date, composed of representatives of the several Provincial Governments and the Dominion Government, to review the present legislation on soldier land settlement, with a view to drafting more equitable laws, and that representatives of the G. W. V. A. be present."

On the 20th of August last a committee of returned soldiers, composed of H. B. Fraser, 160th Batt., D. Kennedy, 54th Batt., and G. Reddon, 160th Batt., all of Bruce County, reported on a trip made through the township of Cleary. The report is lengthy and complete. Amongst other things the soldiers report favorably on Kapuskasing, in the same district, the Ontario Government's Colony for discharged soldiers. They report that all the soldier settlers are satisfied with the progress made and enthusiastic about the scheme and working with good will. Of the township of Shackleton they report that it is heavily timbered and should supply needs of the settlement for 50 years. The ground is rolling, with natural drainage and practically every acre suitable for agriculture. It is most adaptable for grain and grazing purposes and all kinds of vegetables and small fruit can be grown successfully, while strawberries, raspberries, and cherries grow in profusion. They conclude: "Our impression of the district and township is indeed very favorable. It is the land of opportunity to the man who is willing to put in reasonably hard work for a few years an independent future is in store."

The Ontario Government has asked for it. In 1917 the Federal Government issued an inquiry to the overseas soldiers to ascertain their views on land settlement. The question was discussed by the 160th Batt. as one of the units interested. The result was a committee outlined a plan and appointed Major Moffat, on behalf of his batt., to submit a plan to the Bruce Preparedness League and the County Council. Over 400 soldiers from the County of Bruce have applied in writing to join the Soldiers' Settlement when the plan has been properly completed.

2. Soldier Settlements have an historical basis. The settlement on the Assyrian Empire. Our ally, Roumania, had its origin in a settlement of Roumanian soldiers in Quebec several soldiers' settlements have been the warp and woof of the best that there is in the French Canadian life and character; the County of Glengarry is famous in Ontario because it traces its ancestry to soldier settlement. The principal world power of to-day are all busily engaged in formulating plans of settlement for returned soldiers. Great Britain has appropriated millions of pounds to provide 200 acres for each returned soldier who desires to avail himself of the opportunity. Australia and New Zealand have also spent large sums of money for the same purpose. In America a nation wide movement to provide farms for American soldiers on their return is in full swing. The Secretary of the Interior has also proposed to reclaim for farm production all the unused land in the United States. These lands run into millions of acres. The arid land in the west, the cut-over land in the north-west, lake states in the south, and the swampy lands of the middle west are to be reclaimed.

Secretary Lane says, "My program is that the men should reclaim their own lands, build their own homes; that it should not be a matter of bounties or charities but simply an opportunity." He advocates establishing group settlements of young virgins men who have had an opportunity of seeing the careful cultivation of European farms, and who will bring home a larger conception of their duties as citizens.

The Proposed Bruce Plan

The undersigned committee corresponded with the Federal Government and with the Provincial Government west of and including Ontario, asking terms for the settlement on land by returned soldiers. By far the most generous came from Ontario. The offer briefly is as follows:

1. To act as agent for Bruce soldiers the Township of Shackleton and a second township, if required.

2. To erect and equip in the township the necessary camp buildings, including sleeping house, dining room, blacksmith shop, carpenter shop, store room, and laundry and other buildings necessary and allow the use of same free of charge. The Government will have the buildings ready for occupation by the last of May, 1919.

3. To construct necessary roads through the township. The Government will, next summer, employ returned soldiers on this work, paying them the highest wages, and so finding employment for them throughout the winter season and enabling them to maintain themselves and families.

4. To provide free of charge experienced foremen to supervise and direct the work in the bush clearing.

5. There is $500,000 worth of merchantable timber in the township and in addition it is estimated there is $7,000,000 worth of soft pulp wood.

6. To maintain at a convenient point in the colony a sufficient number of horses, waggons, sleighs and farm machinery, for the use of the colony to be hired out, and ultimately the settlers can purchase these at cost.

7. To provide a sawing machine for cutting firewood.

8. To provide, free of charge, supervision of farming operations by trained specialists.

9. To give each settler, at the expiration of five years, on the performance of settlement duties, a free tract of a lot of about 125 acres. This lot will be the individual property of the soldier and his individual effort, energy and enterprise will have full scope.

10. To pay into the funds of the organization $500.

(a) When 10 acres are cleared.
(b) Made ready for cultivation.
(c) A habitable house not less than 16x20 ft. erected thereon.

11. Proportional payments will be made on progress estimates. Each settler will be allowed $150 in labor and material towards building a house.

12. To advance to settlers loans up to $500 at 5 per cent. The above offer will mean an expenditure eventually of over $1500 for each soldier. The Provincial Government has now spent over $100,000 preliminary investigation and is earnestly solicitous to promote the welfare of the returned soldier by active co-operation with the County of Bruce in this pioneer land settlement. Other counties having heard of this movement, are anxious to imitate it, and the provincial government with a view to similar action and it is essential to the success of the plan that the County give active assistance in its prosecution.

What the County is asked to Do 1. To finance each soldier to the extent of $50 to enable him to pay for transportation, which the Provincial Government has arranged with the Dominion Railway Board shall be one cent a mile and to maintain him until he can avail himself of the money to be paid by the Government. 2. A co-operative store will be opened either by the Government or by the soldiers themselves in the settlement to furnish the settlers with supplies. The financial assistance of the County will be asked, to assist in establishing this store.

3. A special name of the Legislature will be asked incorporating settlers under the name of "Bruce Soldiers' Settlement, Limited." Each soldier will have a share of $1 with a right to vote. No shareholder will have more than one share nor more than one vote. The directors will be on its Board ex officio the Warden of the County of Bruce, the president of the Bruce Preparedness League, a member of the Bruce Old Boys' Association; the other directors will be soldiers. The original applicants for the settlement will be: Major John Slater, 160th Batt., Whitechurch, Pte. James Leach, R. C. R. Walkerton.

Mr. John, himself an old Bruce boy of the Provincial Secretary's Department, has kindly offered to the County the assistance of his clerks expert in drafting legislation.

Applications All applications will be carefully considered. There are 400 applications for admittance to the settlement. Of 160 returned soldiers to Bruce County of which the Committee has a record of 40 have been applied and 20 of them are ready to go at once; 5 of them deposited money for the purpose. The Township would furnish homes for about 300 soldiers. In addition to those who would be engaged in farm work there would be occupations similar to those found in the ordinary towns and villages in the rural parts of Ontario. These will, however, be only with the growth of the colony.

the District of Temiskaming on the Transcontinental Railway, distance 820 miles from Toronto and 45 miles west of Cochrane. These are two railway sidings in the township and two small settlements. There is a good station erected and telegraph office installed. There are through trains to Toronto, Winnipeg and Montreal. There are two small experimental stations, producing the highest quality of farm produce in the province. The soil of the Township is clay loam, absolutely free of stone and wonderfully fertile. In the clearing there is richer pasture than is known in old Ontario. The Ground Hog River, three times as large as the Sauguenay runs through the township and is navigable for 20 miles; there are four small lakes.

The pulp wood in the township furnishes the best opportunity for the settler to provide himself with ready cash as it is worth 50c a cord in the stump, and $7 at the railway siding, and can be cut in the winter up to the 15th of January. The township is only 12 miles from Metagam, a modern village with every modern convenience, and the site of the famous Metagam dam which has a 45,000 h. p. development. The pulp mill at Metagam, which cost over a million dollars, furnishes a convenient market for pulp wood. The mill ships five carloads of newsprint every day in the township itself are two small mills each with a capacity of 10,000 feet a day.

Conclusion The sub-committee hopes that the people of Bruce will carefully consider the outline set out here and awaken to an active interest in the problem of the returned soldier. Criticism which finds fault with a plan and offers no alternative is valueless and harmful; intelligent criticism is welcome.

The Government has received the assurance of the County that Bruce will co-operate with the Provincial Government in carrying out this plan. The active sympathy and co-operation of the people of Bruce, with suggestions that may be helpful, are earnestly desired by the committee. The Hon. Hon. G. H. Ferguson has promised to go to Walkerton in January and address the League, the members of the County Council and the public generally on the plan now actually under way and on the resources of an remarkable development of the County of Bruce.

Yours, etc.
COMMITTEE—W. D. Carr, Wm. McDonald, W. D. Bell, D. M. Jermyn, A. E. McNab, C. J. Mickie.

Thanks many of our workers have gone from our midst, it is very gratifying to know that the work has been carried on very successfully this year showing an increase over last year's work.

Time and space will not permit us to give a detailed account of each individual's work, but we all worked together for one great cause "To win the world's greatest war and provide comforts for those who are giving the best years of their life for their King and Country." We are sorry for those who have been bereaved of their loved ones, and realize it was for us, their brave sons have made the supreme sacrifice.

We have to thank the Mens Patriotic League for financing our Society and many others who gave generous donations.

W.P.L. NOTES

The Refugee Countries Need You. At the annual meeting of the Women's Patriotic League Monday evening, the meeting agreed that all officers and committees remain as they are, owing to the fact that the War has ceased and the beginning of the end of the work is in view.

The meeting also decided to take up the Refugee work and make up all material on hand quickly as possible and send to them, as all reports tell us that thousands are dying daily from disease, cold and exposure.

We ask all our workers to continue their knitting, there will be socks needed for some time to come.

The W. P. L. will collect all waste paper from the offices and stores.

Wiarton, Ont., October 25th, 1918.

PIKE BAY

Messrs. J. and R. Harding drove a head of fine cattle to Wiarton Monday.

Mr. T. N. Law drove to Wiarton Monday.

Mr. F. Hill, our tax collector, visited this section on Wednesday.

Messrs. John Rodgers and Fred Bell were in business in Wiarton Monday.

Mr. J. Holmes, of Miller Lake has moved to Pike Bay on the McMaster farm.

Mr. G. Suter is preparing to build his barn on the foundation of the barn burned by the engine last fall.

Snow fell in this section on Saturday to a depth of eight inches.

Mr. G. Hayward has started a general store. This is a great convenience in this place.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Jean M. McCallum wishes to thank all the friends and acquaintances who have been so kind to her and her family in their recent and bereavement, also the Women's Patriotic League.

Roll of Honour Set Up In Town Hall

Headquarters, Military Dist. No. 1 November, 12th, 1918.

To Clerk of the Municipality

Sir:—It is desired that the various Cities, Towns, Villages and Municipalities of Canada should establish a Roll of Honour containing the names of the residents of the City, Town, Village or Municipality in question, who have enlisted in units of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

2. It is suggested that this Roll of Honour should be published, with addition thereto, from time to time in the local newspaper; and that a copy of such Roll, after verification and revision, be posted in the Municipal Hall of the City, Town, Village or Municipality in question.

3. It is further suggested that parents or other next of kin in the various localities, who have sons or relatives who enlisted in the units of the Canadian Expeditionary Force at places other than their own City, Town or Village, should furnish a list of the name to the person compiling the list in their own locality so that the Roll of Honour should be as accurate as possible.

4. Care should be taken in the preparation and revision of this Roll of Honour, so that the same should be not only correct as to names and so forth, but also that it should include only those who are honourably entitled to be upon the roll.

5. The preliminary Roll of Honour might be subdivided into those members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who have proceeded overseas, and those who are still under training in Canada.

6. It is also desirable that a list of these lists when completed should be sent in duplicate to the A. G. Military District No. 1 London, Ontario. C. O. FAIRBANKS, Major for A. G. M. D. No. 1.

CLAVERING

On Monday night a very cordial welcome was extended to Cpl. Wm. Smith, who returned to Clavering after being 3 1/2 years at the front. Cpl. Smith enlisted from Owen Sound with the 15th Battalion, and suffers from shell shock and a wound in the leg. A welcome was given him at the station which was followed by a reception in the hall.

Miss Ruby Perkins is spending a few days in Wiarton.

Miss Barbara Stumm spent the week end in Owen Sound.

Mr. Fred Jones made a trip to Palmerston Monday on business.

Mrs. Albert McIlveen and two little daughters, of Owen Sound, spent the week end the guest of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. G. Ottowill are visiting in Shallow Lake.

COLPOYS' BAY

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, of Pike Bay visited their son, Mr. Hugh Robinson last Thursday.

Miss Jessie Cotton left to take a situation in Toronto last week.

pleasing last week. We hope she will soon be better.

Mr. Edwin Kalbfleisch Sundayed at Pike Bay.

The bazaar held last Friday afternoon under the auspices of The Women's Institute was a great success in every way. People attended it from Purple Valley, Wiarton and other places. The chief attractions especially in the evening, were the Fish Pond, Art Gallery and Spelling Match. Earl Pruder and Eunice Poste were Captains of the latter.

The lunch room was well patronized. The Red Cross fund is richer by $125. The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Parke this week.

Rev. Mr. Matthews went to Zion and Oxenden with his auto last Sunday, but the season is over. The month of December is here.

On the snow the beautiful snow came down in real earnest last Saturday. Some caters and sleighs went out, but it was poor sleighing.

A man never poses as a hypocrite when he is alone.

OVER THE TOP—OLD FELLOW

Say you got a notice from The Echo one month ago that you were in arrears. You were not the only fellow there were lots more like you, but the difference is that they have since paid up and renewed for 1919, and The Echo has been furnishing you with home news knowing that you would eventually pay, but the newspaper commissioner has stepped in and said that you cannot get the paper unless it is paid for in advance. No doubt you have intended right along to pay up this month. Well the last month of the year is here, so do not delay another day, "go over the top" with a rush.

Yours for business this week, THE CANADIAN ECHO.

TO TAKE CARE OF RETURNED SOLDIERS

SOLDIERS AID COMMISSION FORMED MEN WILL BE WELCOMED HOME AND AIDED IN SECURING EMPLOYMENT.

A meeting was held in the Council Chamber at the Town Hall on Monday evening to discuss the advisability of forming a Branch of the Soldiers Aid Commission for Wiarton. Those present were Reeve G. Kastner, Messrs. J. J. Tyson, W. M. Tyson, J. Symon, A. E. Jackson, A. W. Baines, J. C. Moore, T. C. Allan, D. J. Byers, A. Logan, A. A. McLaren, D. J. Hunter, E. G. Burgess, A. W. Dallimore, Capt. H. R. Hay, Capt. F. J. Pickering, P. S. E. Foster, Rev. S. S. Hardy and Rev. W. W. Prudham.

Mr. Shaver, late of the 71st Battalion, C. E. F., and the Royal Air Force at present District Inspector of the Soldiers Aid Commission at London, Ont., gave a very complete description of the aims and objects of the Commission, and of the way in which the work was carried out. He described the way in which men returning from overseas were welcomed, and the steps taken to help them to return to civilian life, both in the way of vocational training and in securing positions for them.

After some discussion it was decided

LION'S HEAD

Mr. Morden, of Owen Sound, made his fortnightly visit here last week in the interests of W. T. Harris and Co.

Mr. W. Ellis, of Owen Sound, was a visitor here last week in the interests of McLachlin and Sons.

Mr. Anderson, of Owen Sound, listed dressed poultry last Friday for Lemon Bros. Their truck took them away on Saturday.

The first fall of snow of any account fell here last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The mail left Monday morning with sleighs.

Dr. Walker made a professional visit to Tobermory on Monday and Tuesday.

The Tug, Sanford, called here on Monday for Hay.

Word was received here last week from Guelph that Herbert, eldest son of K. C. McEay, of Lindsay, was operated on Thursday night at 12 o'clock and died Friday morning at 4 o'clock. Mr. McEay left Friday for that city and accompanied the remains to Kincardine, where interment took place on Saturday. The deceased has been in good health this fall and was busy threshing among the farmers through Lindsay and Easton. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved wife and parents in their sad hour of affliction, as this is the second death in very little time.

Th. Flu claimed its first victim here last Saturday morning, in the person of William, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Menary, of this village. He was a stout and healthy young man, aged 29 years, 4 months and 2 days, but the dreaded disease claimed him in spite of all medical help and assistance. At the time of writing his wife is not in the best of conditions, but the rest of the family are getting better. Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Menary and her two little boys, also to the parents of the deceased. On Sunday morning the body was taken to Meaford for interment.

We are pleased to report that the auction sale of Geo. McCutcheon's on Thursday last was a decided success. Last week while Mr. W. Gillies was taking down the scaffolding around his new residence in some manner it fell striking his right arm, and fracturing the bone, causing him to nurse his arm in a sling and take a rest for a few days.

We are pleased to report that Dr. Hacking is able to be out again. The Flu is gradually spreading instead of being confined. It is break-out in new places. The trouble seems to be a scarcity of nurses.

Mr. Robert Shaw purchased 4 nice head of Cattle from Mr. James Rogers, of Pike Bay. While driving them down Main Street, one of the animals became frightened and made for home. As several tried to head the animal off it became enraged, and a Mr. Malcolm who was across the street to try and head it off, became the victim. It charged at him striking him on the shoulder and knocking him down. He was not seriously hurt.

but still feels the effect of the charge on Monday.

We understand that the outside buyers are not anxious to buy dressed fowl after December 10th.

Only three more weeks until Xmas. Better secure your Xmas goods while there is plenty to select from.

Call on R. E. W. Tackberry for a full line of fancy goods, stationery, patent medicines, stock tonics, soaps, tobacco, groceries, chocolates and confectionery.

Ask Municipalities For Their Opinion

The Following Questions on the Subject of Soldier Memorials Will be Submitted.

(Owen Sound Sun)

At a meeting between members of the County Council and some citizens of Owen Sound the question of a suitable memorial for the soldiers from Grey County who gave up their lives for liberty and freedom and unity, was thoroughly discussed and it was decided to ask for the opinions of every municipality in the county, particularly under the following heads:

In view of the undoubted desire of the great majority of people of the County to have an opportunity of contributing to the cost of a Memorial to "The Fallen," and that irrespective of municipal boundaries, and in order to ascertain the wish of the people, you are asked to indicate which of the following alternatives you favour:

1. A Memorial, purely local in scope, and in honor of those who enlisted from your municipality only.
2. A Memorial to be erected in the Market Town in honor of those who enlisted from that town or village and part or parts thereof—Specifying which township or townships, or part or parts thereof.
3. A County Memorial alone, recording the names of "The Fallen" by municipalities.
4. A combination of No. 1 and No. 3
5. A combination of No. 2 and 3.

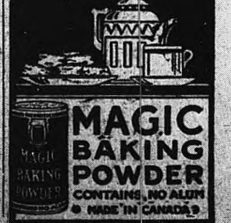

NOPE.

GREAT FIFTEEN DAYS XMAS. SALE

Beginning Saturday, Dec. 7, and lasting until midnight, Dec. 24

Our entire stock, which at a very low estimate is worth $15,000, will be sacrificed during the next 15 days. We have gone through the entire stock, marked everything down to the GOOD OLD PRICES, and we advise the public to take the advantage. A great many people have thought that goods would become cheaper when the war was over. Goods cannot be cheap for a long time yet. The manufacturer has been obliged to purchase raw material at a high price, so until all the soldiers get back into productive employment goods will be dear. In some lines there has been advances since the war stopped. After we had made this advertisement we received a cablegram from Europe that cotton goods had advanced 25 per cent. But we have too large a stock to take any risks, and so we have decided to sacrifice the goods. It is your opportunity, and you will be wise to read this advertisement.

Compare these prices with any mail order house catalogue

Furniture! Furniture!

In nothing has the advance in prices been more marked than in furniture. The manufacturer's are raising the price every month. Lumber is high, wages are high, so furniture cannot be cheap. However, as we are over-loaded and must make room to move about we have decided to sacrifice and to give our friends the benefit of these low prices. Compare them with the catalogues.

OXENDEN

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Loney, Miss Hilda and Vernon and Mrs. J. T. Reeve, Mr. Will Kent, Mrs. Fred Carder, Mrs. A. T. Baldwin and Mrs. J. T. Reeve autographed to Owen Sound last Wednesday.

Miss Belva Flarity is visiting in Owen Sound having returned with Mr. and Mrs. Foster, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Flarity last week.

A present of a gold watch and chain was made to Mr. Robert McKinnon of the Naval Service, Thursday of last week, when a number of his friends met at the home of Mr. Wm. Walpole. Miss Tena Hill read the address, and Mr. J. T. Reeve made the presentation. Mr. McKinnon made a suitable reply. The evening was pleasantly spent in games, music, sociable time and a light lunch was served. Mr. McKinnon left Friday for Halifax with the good wishes of his many friends.

A collection for the Children's Aid was taken up in the S. S. last Sunday and amounted to $4.17.

Rev. W. A. Matthews gave a very forceful talk on 'Missions' last Sunday afternoon.

Editorial

Warton needs a Public Building
The War is over, let us get after one.

It is generally agreed that we must erect a fitting memorial for those who gave their lives at the call of their Country. In the opinion of this journal, it should not reach a conclusion hastily upon the matter. It would appear that the Town Council might appoint a committee to look into the matter and bring a report. We want something fitting, something good, and in keeping with our means. Perhaps a committee would not recommend a monument. They might suggest something else.

From now on we will be having returned soldiers coming home at most irregular intervals. If we should attempt to give a reception to each one it will soon develop into something unworthy of the occasion. In the opinion of this paper it will be far better if the returned soldiers are met by representatives of the Town Council and others from the Patriotic Societies, and the public receptions be held over until we can welcome a number at one time. The public welcome should be a good one, and if we are to have twenty to fifty it can easily be seen that the people will not take an interest in them until the end.

During the past week the letter of the Hon. Walter Scott, Regina, and the banquet given to Hon. Robert Rogers, indicate that both political parties will try to break up the Union Government. In times past, Warton has taken a deep interest in party politics, but the time has come when we should all take a deep interest in the politicians. What has politics done for Warton? And yet the fires have burned more fiercely here than in any other spot in Bruce. In all probability we have been the biggest easy marks in the political game of any place in Ontario. A Union Government for Warton is now quite in order. How many are prepared to line up?

Conditions In United States

A few days ago the writer visited a district in New York State, where he resided for several years, and the 20 years ago, and the following are a few of his observations.

It costs less to live in the United States than in Canada. Here are a few prices: Box of Matches in U. S. is 6 cents, Canada 15 cents; pound of coffee in U. S. 28 cents, in Canada 60 cents. It is true that turkeys were selling for the Thanksgiving trade at 60 cents a pound, but meats, generally speaking are cheaper there. There are no doubt articles we can obtain at a less price in Canada, but on the whole it costs less to live there.

Canada is not now a poor man's country, and unless we can get the war taxes off the poor man's diet, and get them shifted to some other spot where they properly belong, they will interfere greatly with our legitimate development. There are some who are always wanting to tax incomes, this is no doubt one solution. A few days ago it was mooted at Ottawa that there would be a land tax so as to raise $100,000,000, but in view of the recent platform of the farmers it is not likely that Ottawa will poke a stick into a hornet's nest.

During the last twenty years there have been many changes in rural New York, but no where has the change been greater than in the roads. The State roads are simply ideal and extend for hundreds of miles. They are made of asphalt at a cost of say, $12,000 per mile. No doubt the auto is responsible for this highway. It is perfect. But then in the township, where the writer was visiting, every concession and cross road is practically as good. Statute labor was abolished long ago, and the roads have all been built of crushed stone, over which the roller had been put, and the road at last is a solid pavement. The farmers would not return to the old system. They claim that the expense is not any greater. Every year about 10 miles of roads are constructed and the cost is charged to the taxes. The work is permanent. Where the writer was visiting the road had been built six years ago and nothing had been done to it since by way of repairs. An Ontario farmer, accustomed to mud and hubbub would simply think that he had struck another world. I was told that these roads cost from $1000 to $1200 per mile. It is true that all the land there is more or less productive, and that there are townships on the Bruce Peninsula where it might be inadvisable to adopt this system, but it is well worth thinking about. Possibly a printer's error will create more fun than anything Mark Twain ever said. In a print shop, not 50 miles away, a novice recently got out an auction sale bill and one thing he had offered for sale was a brood horse. The war has brought many changes, but nothing this great so far as we are aware.

Beginning on Sunday and continuing each evening until Thursday there will be a series of meetings in St. Pauls Church in connection with the Forward Movement. Rev. C. A. Myers, M. A., of Toronto, will speak on Sunday at which time the speakers for other meetings will be announced.

The Echo was pleased to note that among those who received prizes at the graduation ceremonies at the Sick Childrens Hospital, last Friday, in Toronto, the highest award for general proficiency was won by Miss Marjorie Miller Paterson, of Warton. This carries a cash prize of $50. On account of the donation by Mrs. H. H. Williams, of a $400 Scholarship, this prize of $50 reverted to Miss Irving, London. This Scholarship entitles Miss Paterson to a six months course at Columbia University, N. Y.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

After the Kaiser had his sleep, I was summoned to his dressing room. I entered the room attired in a red flannel undershirt. It was the first time I had ever seen him in such a state of plebeian negligence, and I received more or less of a shock. I had been so accustomed to seeing him in uniform, both in pictures and in person, that it had never occurred to me that underneath that symbol of pomp and power the Kaiser probably dressed the same as we lesser mortals. I noticed incidentally that when he put on his military cap he put it on right over his undershirt.

Homburg was much nearer the firing line than Flers, although, of course, at a very safe distance. I noticed, however, that here anti-aircraft guns had been placed, but apart from that there was hardly any more activity than there had been at Flers.

While walking down the corridor I was stopped by a soldier and asked who I was, but, as a rule, I came and went without molestation and seldom had to show my pass, which one of the Kaiser's adjutants had given me and which permitted me to enter and leave army headquarters for the whole year 1917.

When I was driven through the streets of Homburg, with a German car and going to the railroad station, in the Kaiser's motorcar, and the second man, or bugler, on the front seat, blew the horn, people came running out of stores and from after the gates of the important persons who occupied the Kaiser's own car. Many of them saluted me or raised their hats, and I thought how angry they would have been had they known they were greeting themselves to such a much less exalted an alien enemy.

The ridiculousness of the whole thing impressed me very much. At the moment I was part of the Kaiser's retinue, but I was not a part of the Kaiser and was being made to feel that I was a part of the Kaiser's retinue.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Kaiser and Things American. Among the Germans generally there is a surprising degree of ignorance regarding conditions in America. The untravelled German has but the vaguest ideas concerning our country and our institutions. I have had patients at intelligence and education ask me how we are able to cope with the Indians. In view of the extent of German rule in America, it is not surprising that many of our commercial transactions between the two countries, it is almost unbelievable that such erroneous notions should prevail in these enlightened days, but they do.

This fact partially serves to explain how easy it was for the Kaiser and his inspired press to pull the wool over the people's eyes regarding the ultimate outcome of America's entry into the war. It doesn't explain at all, however, how completely the Kaiser himself underestimated us and our power. For I doubt whether there is any foreigner living, who has never visited America who knows more about our country than the German emperor. So, indeed, he was more familiar with many of our problems than many of our countrymen, and he frequently revealed to me in the course of our conversations how thoroughly posted he was on American conditions.

Long before the subject of forest conservation was taken up seriously in this country, the Kaiser pointed out to me what a great mistake we were making in not devoting more attention to it.

"Can you tell me, Davis, why you have so many forest fires in your country?" he asked, after a particularly destructive conflagration in the West had destroyed many acres of timber. "How does it happen?"

I explained to him that most of the forest fires came from sparks from locomotives. Careless lumbermen allowed the branches that they lopped off the trees to remain on the ground and when they were ignited by sparks the fire sometimes spread to the uncut timber. As the facilities for extinguishing fire in these unpopulated regions were practically nil and the climate made the timber particularly inflammable, these fires usually attained serious dimensions.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can harm tender little stomachs, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When perils, constipation, sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently pour out of his little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains no dangerous drugs for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

"That points out again the inefficiency of your form of government," he commented. "You have the regular railways to use appliances to arrest the sparks from your engines, haven't you? Why don't you enforce them? Your people don't seem to realize that smoke from your engines does not do any harm to you, because you have more than you need today, you make no preparation for tomorrow. For every tree cut down another should be planted, if you don't adopt such measures the time will surely come when America will have to turn to Germany for timber."

The Kaiser was a harsh critic of our election system. The idea of a four-year term for the president was naturally repugnant to one who held such sacred notions as to the rights of rulers. It would be too much to expect the Hohenzollern mind to approve of a constitution which provided for the ruler's return to private life after a period of four years at the head of the government.

He declared that with a constant change of administration it was quite out of the question for this country to follow any definite policy. It was bad enough even so far as internal affairs were concerned, he said, but such a system made it impossible to expect for America ever to take a prominent place in international politics. "You can't expect the nations of the world to do with America as they deal among themselves when the next change of administration may mean the adoption of an entirely new foreign policy," he declared. "There can be no such thing as a permanent policy of a nation whose leaders change every four years."

American party politics were a constant source of embarrassment to the Kaiser. He always seemed undecided as to just how he should receive an American of prominence. If he happened to be of the same political faith as the Kaiser, he seemed to be afraid to do him too much honor for fear of offending the opposing party, and if he were not of the same party as the Kaiser, he seemed to be afraid to honor him lest more immediate resentment be stirred up in America. Thus he refused to receive Bryan on two different occasions when a Republican president was in power.

He criticized very strongly, too, our election methods. "Instead of discussing principles, your political candidates exchange personal attacks," he said. "My people would be shocked at the sort of speeches and accusations which figure in all your political campaigns. Over here, nothing of the kind is even thought of. In our country, the Kaiser is more interested in our negro problem. It seemed to have a great fascination for him, and he frequently referred to it. He told me that he understood there were 15,000,000 negroes in this country, but they were dying off in great numbers through consumption and other diseases to which they offered but poor resistance."

"The negro will always be a great problem in your country, however," he added. "They don't mix socially with the whites, and there will be constant friction between the two races (I mean, of course, when he returned from his visit to America, told me a lot about these negroes. Indeed, one of the most impressive things he heard there was a choir of negro voices. He said they sang some wonderful melodies, and their voices were as clear as bells."

After the war started, the Kaiser referred to the negroes again. "Now we are going to settle your negro problem," he declared, half facetiously, of course. "If America insists upon coming into the war, why doesn't she send her negroes across and let us shoot them down?"

When a fleet of our battleships visited Kiel some six years ago the Kaiser paid them a visit and was very much interested. When he called to see me shortly afterward he told me of his experience.

"I went over the ships from top to bottom," he declared. "They are excellent vessels, every one of them, and I was very much impressed with the way they are manned and officered. I have only one criticism—the little water-cooling towers, or fighting masts. The only possible use I can see in them would be to train vines on them and install an elevator inside, and serve tea in the afternoon to the ladies on top—the most beautiful place for serving afternoon tea I can imagine."

"But, seriously speaking," he went on, "I can't see that these masts have any practical value. On the contrary, I can see very serious disadvantages in them. For instance, when a nation might be fighting your enemy would always be able to recognize you at a distance, before you could identify him, because the masts of all other nations look very much alike at a distance."

"They say those cooling towers are absurd," he went on. "But you would never get close enough to your enemy to see such small things. As for the masts, you must be hit by them and a shower of steel about the heads of the men on board, and would not only put many of them out of action, but would be a very serious loss to the fleet. The masts were struck down and hung over the side! It would drag seriously impeded the vessel, but would not cause the ship to list and expose a larger area on one side than would be safe. No, Davis, your fighting masts, as I have said, might attract first-rate for sailing tea, but I don't think much of them for active service."

But if the Kaiser saw much in American ways and customs to condemn, he likewise saw much to commend, and he was very liberal in his praise of many of our qualities and achievements. He was very much interested, for instance, in the experiments and discoveries of Southern Electricity. To make Germany self-supporting as far as food resources were concerned was one of his dearest ambitions. He realized that in the event of a world war a scientific way to help solve general food problems. When attending dinner given him by his officers, his wishes respecting simple mutton were always carefully followed.

The Kaiser enjoyed American food. He was very fond of Mark Twain, and he followed one of two of the American specialties and weeklies more or less regularly. He told me that he was reading while he was sitting in the Berlin palace, reading something in an American magazine, he ran across a story which caused him to laugh so much, and so loud that the ladies of the court who heard him in an adjacent room, came running to his kitchen to see what the matter was.

The Kaiser had little respect for our architecture. He thought our skyscrapers, of which he had seen illustrations, were hideous. "How terrible to decorate the landscape with such buildings!" he commented. "They hurt the eye. How can people live in them?" I explained that most of the buildings to which he referred were office buildings, but that we did have a few and often-story apartment houses and hotels, and even higher ones, in which the upper floors were used for living purposes just the same as the lower ones. He couldn't believe it possible that people would consent to live so far above the ground, and from his own aversion to visit a place that was even one story above the ground, he said that he was afraid of height. Under the building laws prevailing in Germany no building of more than five stories may be erected.

Perhaps the quality that he envied most in us was our inventive genius. When Orville Wright was flying at Peppelhofter Field, in Berlin, in the early days of aviation, the Kaiser could not refrain his admiration. "I wish I could encourage my people to become great inventors, such as America has produced," he declared, rather hesitantly. "I admire your wonderful inventive genius."

The Kaiser objected very much to the fact that many of the foreign opera singers were attracted to New York City to receive the highest salaries paid at the Metropolitan opera house. Despite the fact that the Kaiser accused us of spending our money too lavishly, he was greatly charmed by the thought as well as ourselves with his money-worshippers. "The Anglo-Saxons worship money, and they try to gloss it all over with a show of religion," he said. "Your rich Americans have so much money, Davis, that they really don't know what to do with it. Why, recently one of your millionaires saw my castle at Corfu and sent one of his representatives to the court with the presumptuous message, 'Please let the Kaiser that I will buy his castle at Corfu, and ask him what his price' had the word sent back that the castle was not for sale. The American then told my representative that he wouldn't take 'no' for an answer. The check at the time would be $1,000,000. I sent word back to that man that there were not enough dollars in the world to buy that castle. There are some things that your dollars cannot buy, and one of them is my beautiful castle at Corfu!"

CHAPTER XV.

The German People. The oath of allegiance which every German soldier and public official takes binds him first to support the Kaiser, with his life and his money, and then to the fatherland. That is what the Kaiser referred to when he said, in the course of an address to a body of recruits at Potsdam:

"I command you to shoot your fathers and your mothers. . . . you must follow my command without a murmur."

HANOVER

On Thursday, Nov. 31 Mr. Rufus Foster of town had his right leg amputated about four inches from the hip by Dr. Taylor, assisted by Dr. Stalker. Gangrene of the foot developed after an attack of the "flu" and in order to save his life, amputation was necessary. He rallied splendidly from the shock and is doing well. Dr. Leonard gave the anesthetic. Capt. Linton Douglas of Owen Sound and well known in Hanover has been awarded the Military Cross. On August 28, Capt. Douglas had to take command of his unit after his commanding officer had been wounded and for his work received his captaincy and later the decoration.

A change in the operation of the Bell Telephone Co., whereby the different districts are doubled up, has placed added responsibilities on the company's manager here, Mr. W. P. Harris. Up to the present Mr. Harris has had charge of the offices in what was known as the Owen Sound district, including Warton, Chesley, Markdale, etc. The Warton district has recently been added and Mr. Harris now has practically all of Bruce County under his care, including Walkerton, Fenton, Hanover, Port Elgin and Southampton. Altogether he has about 15 offices in his district, each of which will be visited every month.

Lieut. N. W. Helwig of Hanover, who was recently reported missing and later a prisoner of war, was reported in the daily paper to have been repatriated. Lieut. Helwig was originally with the first Grey unit, but afterwards transferred to the R. A. F.

Mr. George E. Gruetzner, undertaker and furniture dealer of Hanover and popular man about town, passed away on Monday morning last at the early age of 30 years. It is no exaggeration of the truth to say that George was one of the best-liked young men in town. Big of frame and of heart, frank and genial in disposition, eminently exemplary in his home life, a thorough sportsman and a good fellow, his death has caused genuine regret and sadness throughout the town. The old adage that death leaves a shining mark is exemplified in his case, for his home ties were such—he leaves a wife and three little children, and a father suffering with paralysis to whom George was devoted (self). It is to be hoped that he could all be spared. But death is no respecter of persons and in spite of all that medical skill and expert and devoted nursing could do, he succumbed to pneumonia, preceded by influenza, after an illness of about ten days. In no stereotyped sense, but with admiration and appreciation of the many fine qualities of deceased, we join with the townspeople at large in extending our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved ones. We can pay deceased no higher tribute than to say that George was a real man—kind and considerate to his intimate ones at home who need his protection and honest, unselfish and public-spirited in his general sphere as a citizen of the town. He had lived here practically all his life and was known and respected by everyone. In the recent epidemic in the nature of his business he was conspicuously exposed, and it is believed that his recognition during the war, his untiring efforts and his untiring work, left his system an easy prey to the contraction of the disease. Besides his wife and children and father mentioned, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. A. Buerman and Miss Ruby Gruetzner of Newark, N. J. to mourn his death. Deceased was a member of the Presbyterian Church, of the I. O. O. F. Society and of the Tamarac Island Club. An ardent fisherman, he took great interest in the latter club. The funeral which was private, took place on Tuesday afternoon at the Hanover cemetery, Rev. W. J. McLean having charge of the obsequies.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Stomach, Bowels, Sour Stomach, Headache, Biliousness, etc. Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headache come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to many miseries—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental depression, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will give you feeling good for months.

Ontario to the Empire's call for increased production in the season of 1918. This is a call to action, a call to national service, and to encourage a continuance of the work next year and as long as the world's need of food is urgent. The badge may be awarded for other services besides gardening. Boys or girls who have helped materially in farm work during their holidays; those who have worked with their parents in a worth-while home garden scheme, or those who have raised poultry or produced pork will be entitled to the badge. The badge, a sample of which may be seen at this office, will be cherished in after years as a very interesting wartime souvenir.

We call upon you to record the passing of an early pioneer in the person of Mr. Henry Byers in his 85th year. He arrived in Galt from Drumfrieshire, Scotland, on Aug. 12, 1833 and spent 8 years as a farm laborer. He married Amelia H. Carr, daughter of the late Mr. David Carr of Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Byers spent the next two years on the Thompson farm one mile east of Roseville, thereafter moving to the bush and settling on lot 21, 17, Normansburg where he lived out a comfortable home for himself and family. Here he remained until five months ago. Mr. Byers held the position of Postmaster of Hamilton for 27 years and also J. P. during the Laurier regime. In religion he was a Presbyterian and in politics a staunch Liberal. Mr. Byers was the last member of a family of eight brothers and three sisters, all predeceased. He had been in declining health for the past year and a half. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. M. W. Byers, on the home, "Bonnie View Farm" and three daughters, Mrs. Lyons of Toronto, Mrs. Little of Ayr, and Mrs. Collington of Dundas.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash. "After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. Johnson, R. No. 8, Ellensburg, Wash.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are often who have done good work during the past season. It offers the badge to War Production Clubs, Agricultural and Horticultural Societies, Resources Committee Branches, School Boards, Teachers, Women's Institute, Sunday School Clubs, or any other group of responsible persons at a fraction of its cost for distribution locally at public meetings. 100 YEARS and more, people with chest and throat troubles have tried to cure them by inhaling steam, syrups, lung tonics and the like into their stomachs. All a mistake! The Peppermint Cure is different. Peppermint is made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—where the trouble is. It is not a stomachic, which is not alluring. Try a 5c. box of Peppermint for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores or Peppermint Cure, Toronto, will supply.

The Dying Days of Council Disturbed by Canada Casket Co.

THE LAST SESSION GOT EXCITING

Discussion regarding the situation in connection with the foreclosure proceedings against the Canada Casket Co. and the hearing of a delegation requesting a grant for the Soldiers Aid Commission were the chief items which occupied the attention of the Town Council Monday evening.

CANADA CASKET CO. AGAIN

Considerable interest was taken by all members of the Council when towards the close of the meeting, Councillor Pope said "I would like to call the attention of this Council to the present situation regarding the foreclosure proceedings in connection with the Canada Casket Company. I understand that as yet no notice has been served of our accepting the six month's option. The town solicitor admitted this morning that he had not sent the necessary notice of our choice saying it had slipped his mind. As a result, instead of securing possession in February, as we expected, it will be June before we can do so, as the time dates from the day we send our formal choice of two months' option."

It will be remembered that when the Judge gave his decision there were two choices for the town. (a) The town could obtain possession within three months if there were a buyer in view, by carrying on foreclosure proceedings. (b) By waiting six months the town would obtain possession without any proceedings. The town was notified that the three or six months did not date from the day that the Judge gave his decision, but from the day that the town stated which privilege it wanted. From four to six weeks were lost before the town decided what to do, but on August 8th, a decision was reached to wait the six months, and immediately after the Clerk notified the Town Solicitor that this was the course they had taken. The Town Solicitor was, of course, expected to notify the proper authorities.

Immediately following Councillor Pope's remarks, Reeve Kastner said: "I believe Councillor Pope is right, and was under the impression the notice had been forwarded and if not someone has been asleep at the switch."

Mayor McEwan remarked "Mr. Moore was our solicitor and it was his duty to protect our rights and interests, and he has not done so. The sending of this notice without any further directions from us." He then had the Clerk look up the minutes of the August meeting and read the minutes regarding the acceptance of the six month's foreclosure. The Clerk then stated that he had written to the Solicitor to instruct him to outliving him of this choice and that he had a file copy of the letter in his letter book.

TAX COLLECTOR THREATENED

Collector Young then appeared before the Council requesting an extension of the time set for the return of his rolls from December 14 to January or February as has been the custom in previous years. He stated that there was $38,000 on the roll $33,000 of which had been collected, and that some more would come in. Mr. R. Young was ordered to return his roll next Monday evening. This is unusually early. The whole reason is due to the unpaid taxes on the Canada Casket Co. He had been instructed to seize the liquid assets and make a sale, but the parties who purchased them, persuaded him to take a different course viz: to allow these assets to go out of the building and that they would pay the taxes if the Court said that Mr. Young was liable. They contend the taxes cannot be charged to the liquid assets. The present Council do not want to hand this matter over to their successors lest the taxes should be returned against the building, so evidently proceeding will be begun against Mr. Young by this Council, but it will be the Council of 1919 that will settle the matter.

Councillor MacDonald was strongly opposed to the Collector's request and said "We should get the roll returned immediately and if necessary have a lawsuit to collect the taxes. We can easily fix the responsibility upon the proper person, who is Mr. Young, and he should be made to make good the deficit on the rolls." Councillor Pope stated "I understand that Mr. Young was anxious to get the taxes collected at one time but eight or ten creditors of the firm approached him and dissuaded him from the course of seizing the liquid assets, guaranteeing him that they would not see him suffer from this action."

Councillor McVannell said that in his opinion the taxes had a right to be collected and that he wanted to see it done.

Councillor Haribut expressed the view that he believed it was up to the Collector to get the taxes, not the Council.

Mr. Young then said that when he had approached the Mayor regarding the legality of the course he took, that the Mayor informed him the town had no solicitor and that when in conversation with various members of the Council on the subject, with one exception, they had all given him evasive answers. The one exception he stated, was Councillor MacDonald, who informed him he would support him in any action he took to get the taxes. Councillor Pope then claimed this was incorrect and that the minutes would show his stand on the matter.

Mayor McEwan remonstrated, saying, "Did I not tell you I had legal advice on the question and for you to go to the Clerk and see a copy of it?"

"You did not, and it was not till some weeks after I saw the letter you refer to," replied Mr. Young.

NOT BUSINESS OF COUNCIL

"Well, let us go on with our business, we are not here to-night for this kind of a discussion," said Mr. Haribut, and the matter was dropped.

GRANT TO SOLDIER'S AID

Requesting that the Council grant one hundred dollars to the Soldier's Aid Commission, Messrs. D. J. Hunter, D. J. Byers, Capt. F. J. Picking appeared before the Council. They stated that the work of this Commission was the welcoming and caring for soldiers on and after their return. The Commission act as a free employment bureau, securing suitable work for disabled men, and that they relieved those in temporary distress and helped any who desired to learn new trades. His Worship said that he believed the work was deserving and that he was in favor of it. With no discussion the request was granted. Authority was given Reeve Kastner to have the partition for the room in the fire hall built up to the ceiling, in order to conserve heat and to keep out the numerous children who were breaking into the room and destroying property. This was done as a result of the representations of Mr. C. Wright, and the chief was instructed to arrest any children whom he found around the room in the future.

A request for a grant from the hospital at Walkerton was filed. Reeve Kastner said the hospital had been given $2,500 by the County Council and stated that as far as Walkerton was concerned the town had as much right to support the one in Walkerton as the one in Walkerton. To a query from the Reeve the Mayor stated that he believed that the men were now at work at the bush lot. He stated that work on this was being delayed owing to the tardiness of the contractor.

Frozen Earth Falls Two Men Injured

David Dunlop and James Greer Hurt. When Working on Scott St. Sewer.

Wednesday last owing to the fall of a large piece of frozen earth from the wall of Scott St. sewer David Dunlop suffered a fractured leg and James Greer severe bruises about the collar bone and chest.

The earth, which caused the damage, had apparently thawed out while they were working and fell about seven feet before striking them. Owing to the work being almost completed the props which had been protecting them had been removed. The foreman stated to The Echo that in his opinion it was the extra freezing which broke the bank.

Grocer's Sign—"We will not deliver eggs alone." Quite right. Should have a corporal's guard at least.

LION'S HEAD

The Spy Womens Institute intend having an open meeting in the Orange Hall at Spy, Dec. 18th, at 8 p. m. Special program is being prepared. Everybody welcome.

Mr. A. W. Baines, Wiarton, was a visitor to town a couple of days last week looking after insurance.

The boats are calling more regularly now than they did all Fall.

Mr. Wardell and son, of Owen Sound, remained in town over night on their way to attend the auction sale and wield the hammer at Cape Chin.

The Farmers were the busy people on Saturday and Monday shipping the Grain through the Gash, by the steamer Michipicoten.

Mr. D. S. McEay, Lindsay, was a visitor to town on Monday.

Mr. D. A. McDonald, Councillor of Lindsay Twp., was a visitor to town last week.

The greatest gloom that was ever cast over our village occurred on Dec. 5th, when the grim reaper again visited the home of the late William Menary, who departed this life on Saturday, November 30th, and his remains were conveyed by the Tug Molly (which he worked on all the time) to Meaford on Sunday, Dec. 1st leaving his wife and family in critical condition. His remains were interred in Meaford Cemetery on Sunday after the arrival of the boat.

His wife, Christina, aged 28, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ackermann, who, at the time of his death, had to be carried to see his remains before being taken away, gradually grew worse in spite of all medical aid and nursing, until last Thursday, Dec. 5th, death relieved her of suffering. She leaves to mourn her two small boys, Melville and Milton, aged 6 and 2 years respectively.

On Thursday evening after a short service conducted by the Rev. W. James, the remains were lifted at 7:30 p. m. to Meaford, and interred by the side of her late husband, on Friday. As the immediate relatives of the deceased were still ill with the dreaded disease, her brother, George, accompanied by Mr. E. Darraugh and Rev. James, accompanied the remains, returning on Sunday. Mrs. Menary leaves behind her to mourn her loss her mother and father, three sisters and four brothers. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved children, parents and family, by The Echo, its correspondent, and the people of vicinity.

Pte. Ernest Poore, who enlisted with the Buffs (180th Bn., and who was wounded while on active service in France, and convalesced in England, returned home on Monday and received many a warm handshake.

Mr. H. Currie, who was with the R. A. F. in Toronto and Camp Borden received his discharge and returned to the village, to visit his parents here. The number of men here attended the auction sale on Monday, of Samuel Bestward, at Cape Chin.

The sale was a success, everything going at a good price. Cows sold from $90 to $120.

Mr. W. Irwin, Wiarton, was in town on Monday on business regarding the shipping of grain from the Farmer's Co-operative Co.

The thaw on Saturday and Sunday put an end to the sleighing for a few days.

Miss Hilditch, of Cape Croker, is visiting Miss B. Amos.

Dr. Foster, of Wiarton, paid us his usual monthly visit here on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

We are pleased to see Mr. S. F. Warren able to be around again after being confined to the house for three weeks or more.

Dr. C. A. Wigle, of Wiarton, made a professional visit to Ferndale on Monday of this week.

Mr. James Parker, who had spent the last few months in Calgary and Alberta, returned home on Friday, well pleased with his visit West.

Miss Ida Tackaberry left on Tuesday morning for a visit to Toronto.

Mr. John Noble, of Miller Lake, made a business trip here on Monday.

R. E. W. Tackaberry is opening up a display of new Christmas stock, chocolates and confectionery, cigars and tobacco, stationery and supplies, patent medicines, Stock Foods and Tonics, also fruits and groceries. Farm produce taken in exchange as cash. C. F. Board License No. 8-7774. If you cannot find time, his phone number is 2-1812. Special attention given mail and phone orders.

Mr. Donald McIvor, of Lindsay, accompanied by his daughter, Christy and son Donald, were visitor to town on Saturday.

AWARDED MEDAL OF ROYAL HUMANE SOCIETY

On Thursday evening before a large audience in the town hall, Mr. Wm. Irwin had the medal of the Royal Humane Society pinned on his coat by Master Lyle Kain, whom he had rescued from drowning.

The story is familiar to all. Last July St. Pauls Church had their Sunday School picnic at Oxenden. Some of the scholars got there before the adults, and it was not long until the boys were in swimming. Young Lyle Kain, who could not swim very much, got into deep water, and sank. It was just at this moment that William Irwin was landing a party from Wiarton at the dock. He heard the cry that there was a boy drowning and immediately swung around his launch, steamed to the spot where he saw a boy deep down in the water. He made the dive, brought up the boy, and with one arm held him and with the other swam ten feet to his launch which had moved away. After considerable first aid work Lyle Kain was brought ashore, and to-day is as lively as a cricket, but he knows that he owes his life to William Irwin, who, although accustomed to indoor life, and beyond middle age, did the heroic act.

The attention of this rescue was brought to the attention of the Royal Humane Society. This was during the holiday season, and it was not until the early Fall that the Medal was engraved. And it had not been possible to make the presentation before last Thursday evening on account of the "Flu." This presentation was made at the bazaar of the Young Ladies Red Cross, when eulogistic references to the heroic act were made by Mayor McEwan, Sheriff Jermy and A. Logan.

Councillor Irwin is probably the first Wiarton citizen, who has ever been awarded the medal of the Royal Humane Society, and when Lyle Kain pinned it to the lapel of his coat there was appropriate applause.

PURPLE VALLEY

On Sunday morning Dec. 1st, there passed from our midst one of our worthy and laborers, in the person of Pte. George W. Fox, of the 1st Battalion, in his 30th year. The sudden removal of such a life from our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all who knew her and will prove a serious loss to the community. She was a member of the Methodist Church and the Red Cross Society, where the wisdom and ability, which she exercised in their aid by her services and contributions, will be held in grateful remembrance, and it is with deepest sympathy with the bereaved ones that we express our hope that so great a loss to all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

MARRIED

FOX-WARD In Owen Sound, Tuesday December 3rd, Mr. George Fox, Oxenden to Mrs. Marion Ward DERMOTT—DAVIS In Owen Sound on Friday evening, December 6th, 1918, by the Rev. We are pleased to report that Miss Etta MacKay is able to be around again after her operation.

Born—in Estmor, on Dec. 7th, to Mr. and Mrs. R. Shoultice, a son.

Mr. R. Shaw made a business trip to Toronto and other points last week.

Mr. R. Ackerman passed through here on Monday with a load of hogs for Wiarton.

The storm on Monday night on the lake delayed the Steamer Michipicoten for a time.

Education, Religion, Morality Needed For Perfect Democracy

DECLARES MINISTER IN ST. PAUL'S PULPIT SUNDAY EVENING.

"President Wilson said the Americans entered the war to make the world safe for democracy. Canada has been made safe for democracy, but is democracy safe for Canada? What has democracy done for Russia? The effects have been horrible. We know what it has caused China and Mexico," said the Rev. C. A. Myers at St. Pauls Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, in the interests of the Forward Movement in the church. Beyond all doubt the speaker is one of the most intelligent and eloquent visitors the town has had for some time, and his original and new thoughts were listened to with an appreciative congregation.

"What is democracy and what is the difference between autocracy and democracy?" asked the speaker in commencing his address. Americans like to say democracy began with the American Revolution, but we Britishers like to go back in British history, which is also the history of the U. S. A., as the Americans are beginning to realize more than ever, to the time of Cromwell and his Ironsides; to the time of the old Anglo-Saxon Council of Wise men, who ruled the land, and claim that there were earlier examples of democracy. We can go to the days of the Reformation which gave religious and political liberty, two streams, which spring from the same source, back to the time of Knox and Luther and as a result can go back to the time of Christ, the real founder of democracy" he continued.

He spoke of Christ, explaining to the two sons of Zebedee that greatness did not consist of dominating, the real meaning of autocracy and saying to them "He that will be great among you, will be a servant of all, even as I." He being a representative in the Kingdom of God, which is the real democracy.

"This war was not a war of guns, but rather a war between two ideals, on one side was the upholder of domination, and on the other the upholders of service, those who lived to serve others. The latter won because God was with them. He is always on the side of right ideal. Where the poor serve the rich, the weak the strong, the many the few and the sick serve the well, we have autocracy and where the opposite occurs we have the real democracy. The latter is the spirit of Jesus Christ."

"We thank God that no outside power, in this world, may now threaten the democracy of Canada. The question now arises, is it a safe thing for people to rule themselves? It depends on the people. If they are going to bring into the governing of themselves the spirit of Jesus Christ, 'Service among men' it is safe. In order for the government to be safe the people must be intelligent. All people, not just some, Canada is an empire composed of many smaller empires or nationalities such as Italians, Greeks, Poles, Russians and Finns. Are we going to let them grow up in ignorance and poverty? Is that the kind of democracy that we want? Will conditions be better here than they were in Germany unless we have an intelligent population and poverty and ignorance are non-existent?"

"The Department of Education is striving to have every child receive its British birthright of an education and a fair share of opportunities of citizenship in this great country of ours. We must assist it."

"Intelligent citizenship is not enough alone. There are two foundations on which citizenship can be built. If it is on one only it will fail. It must be built on both. There are: 1. Intelligence, and 2. religion and morality, which make the whole substantial," he continued. Mr. Myers compared the amount of damage done by a well educated Kaiser without religion and morality, to what could be done by an ignorant savage with a club, to illustrate the necessity for the foundation to be built on religion and morality as well as intelligence to make the structure of citizenship complete.

"In order to do this we must create a right atmosphere for a child to live in, right thinking, speaking and living in street, home, school and business. It is the church's business to originate this and if growing boys and girls are to have this influence they must be under guidance of the church to a far greater extent than they are now. At the present time the tendency is for children to drift away from the church. Less than 20 per cent. of the Protestant children under 18 darken the doors of a church in this respect the Roman Catholic Church has the right idea as the children are trained well while young and as they grow older there is less drifting," stated Mr. Myers.

In concluding the speaker made an appeal for more family worship, teaching and instruction of the Bible in the home, where the lives of the children are moulded. He also spoke of the crying necessity for more men and women preachers and missionaries, stating that while Canada's population in 25 years had increased 50 per cent and the membership of the Presbyterian Church 94 per cent, there were less graduates in the colleges for ministers now than then. Twenty five years ago there were sixty four graduates, last year but twenty four were ordained. The need was also greater as over 350 ordained ministers and students in training, had gone overseas and many of these would not come back and some who will are to be bodily maimed to continue with their former work.

The above sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Myers, Toronto, and was one of a series of addresses on the Forward Movement recently inaugurated by that denomination. The Rev. Dr. McGillivray, China, spoke Tuesday evening, but we have not space to report his excellent address.

Sergt. W. Smith Welcomed Home

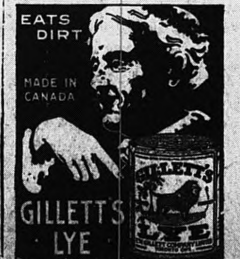

After over three and one-half years of service in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, Sergt. William Smith, Clavering, was welcomed home by his friends last week. "Bill," as he was better known was one of the most popular boys in the township before going overseas and had a large number of friends who were glad to see him return.

At the outbreak of war he volunteered for guard duty at Tobernory and while there was one of those who made conditions better for all as he was always ready with a merry laugh on a humorous joke. He secured his release from this service to volunteer in the C. E. F., and in May 1915 he went in training in Owen Sound. After a short time in Training School at Niagara he proceeded overseas with his battalion. He remained in England but a short time and volunteered for a draft for France which left before the battalion went over from England.

Bill put in eighteen months in France and went through many interesting experiences before he was wounded in the thigh and suffered shell shock. As a result of these he spent many months convalescing in English hospitals. He is now home and will have to report at Toronto shortly and it is expected will receive his discharge before long.

As a token of their appreciation for his services his friends are tendering him a reception and presentation this evening at the Orange Hall, Clavering.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

OWEN SOUND

Mrs. Eddie Lunn, of Shallow Lake, has received word that her only brother, Pte. Robert Edwin Hannah, whose home was at Shallow Lake, a number of years ago, had been killed in action on November 3rd. Pte. Hannah was a son of Mrs. John Fair of Matheson, New Ontario, and was called to the colors in 1918 and sailed for England in the early summer. Pte. Hannah had been in France only two months, serving with the 4th C. M. R. when he was killed. The young soldier was very well known and a great favorite around Shallow Lake and Cruickshank where he attended school. Seven years ago the family moved to the Manitoulin and 2 years ago to Matheson, where a memorial service was held on Sunday for the gallant soldier, who, at such an early age, gave his life for his country. Pte. Hannah was a member of the Orange Order and took an active interest in all the young people's activities of his home town. He is survived by his mother, one sister, Jean, at home in Matheson and another sister, Mrs. E. Lunn, of Shallow Lake. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved family by their old friends in Shallow Lake.

With the advent of winter Hockey is again a subject of considerable prominence amongst the lovers of game and amongst the players. Owen Sound will have a junior O. H. A. team here and it should be equal if not superior to any that has represented Owen Sound in the junior series. At a meeting on Thursday night the election of officers will take place and the whole matter fully discussed. The players of last year and some others who have grown up will strengthen the team considerably. It is not known what rink will be used. With weather conditions favorable ice is only a matter of a few weeks.

Saturday was another busy day on the local market, with prices showing little change from last week. Butter was a trifle up, selling at 45 to 49. The same might be said of eggs, which brought 53 to 56. Fowl was plentiful and prices a shade easier; chickens 25 to 28, ducks 20 to 25, geese 20 to 22, and turkeys—almost the first of the season—32 to 35. The grain market showed very little change, but tendency appears to be lower. Wheat was stationary at $2.05 to $2.11, oats 70 to 73, barley 90 to $1.00, peas $1.50 to $1.75. Hay brought $20.00 a ton; potatoes $1.20 to $1.30 a bag. Pork dressed, $22.00.

A cable from London, England, on Wednesday evening announced that Lt. Col. W. A. Bishop, V. C., Owen Sound's famous aviator was resigning his appointment as head of the new Canadian Air Force and is undertaking a tour in lecture tour in Canada and the United States. Lt. Col. Bishop's successor in command of the air force in Ontario will be Major Col. John D. S. O., and D. F. C. with a bar on each. He is from British Columbia and before he was served as an officer of a fishing patrol boat. Only recently Col. Bishop was gazetted an honorary independence to his Excellency the Governor General of Canada. Undoubtedly Col. Bishop has had a very attractive proposal to see on the lecture platform and will undoubtedly make good in his new sphere of effort. His new work will present many opportunities for service to his country and to the allied cause and he will take full advantage of them.

Strong Men

The Nation needs strong men and the right time to begin to build up strong manhood is during the growing period of childhood. Many mothers remember, with keen satisfaction, the days when was one of the determining factors in building up the strength of their children. Scott's is a source of nourishment and strength that ought never be overlooked by the mother of today who is anxious about her fast-growing boy or girl.

Scott & Bower, Toronto, Ont.

of the Merchants Bank here, arrived in town on Saturday and has taken over his new duties.

Mr. Jos. Grant purchased from Mr. Fred Mallet on Tuesday 36 turkeys weighing 392 pounds. The price paid was 32 cents a pound which netted for the 26 birds $125.44.

Mrs. I. S. Colwell and family are moving to Owen Sound to-day where they will make their future home. They will be much missed especially in the Methodist Church where Mrs. Colwell was an ardent worker. On Thursday evening of last week the Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. R. Shannon and presented Mrs. Colwell with an electric iron accompanied by an address. Mr. Colwell will remain in Tara for a few weeks to wind up his business.

Capt. (Dr.) John N. Humphrey, M. C. R. A. M. C. of Arran Twp., has recently been awarded a second decoration, receiving a bar to his Military Cross. An English paper says: "As bearer officer, Capt. Humphrey repeatedly led his men up to the front line under very heavy fire. When the normal line of evacuation was broken he carried out a reconnaissance in full view of the enemy and established a new means of communication, himself assisting to remove a tree across a road which was being heavily shelled. By his courage and resource he contributed largely to the rapid evacuation of the wounded and saved many lives." Captain Humphrey is an Arran Twp. boy and well known in Tara.

HANOVER

A case which has created considerable interest was tried this week at the Warkenton assizes. Mr. Allan Bell, a farmer of Con. 10, Bruce, entered an action for $7,000 damages for injuries received in an automobile accident at Port Elgin on July 2, 1917, against William Hunter, head of the Hunter Bridge & Boiler Co., Kincardine. After hearing a number of witnesses on both sides the case was settled by agreement between the parties, $2,400 being paid by the defendant, each one having to pay their own costs. V. Forrester of Paisley and Hartley Dewar, K. C. of Toronto appeared for the plaintiff and P. A. Macdonald of Kincardine and Wm. Proudford of Goderich for the defendant.

Mrs. Fred Binkley of town received the sad news last week of the death of her brother, Wm. Sperling, which took place at his home at Wichita, Kansas, on November 25. The late Mr. Sperling was well known in and around Hanover before going to the States. He was about 63 years of age, and leaves a widow and seven children. The funeral took place on Nov. 29 at Dewitt, Nebraska, where interment was made.

Mr. C. E. Henning went to Guelph to-day to attend the Winter Fair & Fat Stock Show. He is showing a big string of exhibition poultry. Mr. B. Foster is also exhibiting Partridge Rockers. Duffin, who recently underwent a serious operation, is the gamest little chap in town.

Pte. G. D. Lunney, formerly teller of the local branch of the Royal Bank, was in town for a few hours recently renewing old acquaintances. He had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Lunney of Chesley (formerly of Elmwood) and returned to the Military Hospital at Whitchurch where he is taking advantage of the free courses in training available for convalescent soldiers. Pte. Lunney went overseas with the 147th Coy., was gassed at the village of Vimy on September 5, 1917, was in the hospital in England for 13 months and expects to be able to resume civil occupation early in the new year.

CHESLEY

At the County Council this week Reeve Brown presented a bond signed by 38 responsible citizens of Chesley for the care and safe keeping of the 160th Batt. band instruments now in Chesley, and permission has been given for their use by Chesley band. With a lot of instruments, bandsmen are wanted to increase the band. Those who are inclined to get into Chesley's big musical organization should send in their names to Rev. C. M. Farney for players on a bass horn, cornets, altos, slide trombones and cymbals are needed.

J. C. Milne of the 7th Con., Elderlie returned from France from a month's stay at Hannah, N. D. where he owns a half section and has it leased. He goes to North Dakota every fall.

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-lives"

"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.

I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I began to improve. This medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

rian, had died of the flu in Saskatchewan, and their son Norman who was an employe in the corner store before leaving Chesley had lost his wife from the same disease.

On Monday, George Somers of Dayton, Ohio, called at our office and became a subscriber to the Enterprise. He was called to Brant by the death of his father-in-law, the late Mr. Curtis. Mr. Somers has been away from Chesley ten years and has prospered in the bricklaying and mason contract work. Before the war he had 125 men in his employ and 40 this summer. Dayton has a population of 200,000 and is the home of the National Cash Register, the Aeroplane, Weigh Scales and Auto Self Starter.

MEAFORD

There have been various gatherings held in Meaford during the past four years for one purpose or another, all of them being of a patriotic nature with the object in view of helping along different war charities and helping win the war, which were of a most worthy character, but none are of so far reaching a nature as was the gathering held in the Town Hall on Friday evening last when in response to the call issued by the Board of Trade the citizens turned out en masse. Now that the war is over, the business men of the town are beginning to devote their energies along other channels and to create a renewed interest in the affairs of the town and secure, if possible, new industries, and carry out other schemes which will have for their aim the betterment of the community as a whole and share thus in the prosperity of Canada brought about by the reconstruction activities. It was felt that a thoroughly re-organized Board of Trade, with every member a booster, would create a personal interest in the larger affairs of the town and redound to the greater benefit of the community. A live wide-awake Board of Trade offers opportunities for usefulness to live business men who other wise take no part in civic government. This fact and the thought that these are days when co-operation is urgently needed—was undoubtedly what inspired every man to join the Board, that his "bit" might be added to their total in the advancing of his town's interest, commercial and industrial through the agencies that a Board of Trade is peculiarly fitted to perform.

WALKERTON

Mrs. Isabella Klein, only sister of Judge Klein and Lawyer O. E. Klein, of Walkerton, passed away in the Bruce Co. Hospital on Tuesday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock, or just about three weeks after her aged father, the late John Klein, for whom she had been keeping house for a great many years. The deceased, who was 63 years of age, was born in Wellesey, and came to Walkerton with her parents about thirty-five years ago, where she has since continued to reside. Although for a long time an invalid, she bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude and resignation, and her death, which was caused by stomach trouble and other complications, removes a splendid, noble character. She leaves five brothers, Judge and O. E. Klein of town, Isadore and Edmund in New York and Theodore of Cleveland. The funeral, which was private, will take place from the home of Judge Klein on Friday next at 9.30 a. m. to the R. C. Church and Walkerton cemetery.

Signaller Victor Bell, of Walkerton, who has been a prisoner in Germany for over two years, has been released under the armistice and is now safe in England, according to a message received by his sister, Mrs. Henry Williams, here on Saturday last. Prior to being taken prisoner, Victor was twice wounded, being hit in the shoulder and shot through the hand. A brother, Wilfred Bell, was killed in Action, while another brother is still at the front.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Janet Muir, was born in 1883 on the Island of Sandy, one of the Orkney Islands, Scotland, and left there with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Muir, at the age of 18 years and came to Fonthill on the Niagara Peninsula, where she was married in September, 1885, to Mr. James Flett, also from one of the Orkney group, and came as a bride that fall to Walkerton, where Mr. Flett carried on a successful boot and shoe business until 1887, when they retired to their farm in Brant and remained there until her husband's death in 1895, when she returned to Walkerton with her two youngest daughters and has remained here since. Hers was a fine Christian life and shed a beneficial influence upon those she constantly came in contact with. She is survived by her two sons, James of Warton and John of Vancouver, and three daughters (Helen) Mrs. W. J. McNally of Brant and Misses Elizabeth and Janet of town. The funeral was held on Tuesday to the Walkerton cemetery, Rev. W. H. Burgess, pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, of which deceased was a devoted member, officiating at the house and grave.

Mr. David H. Taggart has accepted a position in a furniture factory in Hanover and is preparing to move with his family to that town, after a residence of nearly a quarter of a century in Walkerton. Their departure will be generally regretted here. Mr. Taggart being a prominent official of Knox Church for many years, and Mrs. Taggart being an active worker in the L. O. D. E. and other patriotic societies. The best wishes of our citizens will go with them to their new home in Hanover.

The December session of the County Council, which is being held in Walkerton this week, marks the close of an historical year's work, for during the annual Bruce gave more in patriotic grants than was ever dreamed of in the past, and was on the job when the greatest war in the world's annals successfully closed. Other councils may come and go, but if they ever get anything on this bunch for being right there when the big doings are happening, they will certainly have to go some. A few of the members have had enough to last them a lifetime, but the greater number are thrilled with the martial spirit and will break the lance, if necessary, to get back. The contest for next year's wardenship promises to be between Reeve Brown, Chesley, and Jos. Grant, Tara, with Jas. Douglas, of Hegworth, a possible aspirant if he decides to come back.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Dr. H. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. DYERS BAY

Mr. J. N. Tackaberry visited Tyn-dall Bros. last Sunday. Returning he was accompanied by Mrs. Thos. Tyn-dall, who has spent the past two months here.

Tug Pedwell called at our port on Wednesday and took away some 1500 bags of grain.

Dr. Walker made a visit to see Mr. Arthur Tyndall, who was indisposed Monday, but has quite recovered.

Mr. F. Bruin visited our community looking after his grain last Friday.

Mr. R. Ward, Warton, and business here last week.

Mr. Scott Watson is ill with the Flu at Taborney where he went to look after his brothers, who were ill.

A Stitch in Time

There is a homely old proverb which tells us that "a stitch in time saves nine."

If the man who said it first had been thinking of health, he would probably have said that a stitch in time saves nine hundred and ninety-nine, so important is it to repair those first tissues that become impaired by ill-health.

This is a new doctrine. It is as old as man. Unfortunately (to paraphrase another proverb), we too frequently put off until to-morrow what we ought to do to-day.

Failing to repair the first tissues that need repair, allowing the malady to continue unchecked, other tissues become impaired, for all parts of the body are sympathetic.

The trouble spreads. And—then comes the rent. Nervous disorders may show themselves in various ways, such as sleeplessness, headaches, neuralgic pains, nervous prostration and exhaustion, while later developments take the form of paralysis, locomotor ataxia, or some form of helplessness.

Strangely enough—all these symptoms are preventable. If that stitch had been taken in time. It is here that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food becomes important. We do not say that it is the only means of preventing the rent, but we do say that many years of experience have proved its value as a repairer of wasted nerve tissues that have become weakened by overwork, anxiety, or other causes.

When we say that the value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been proved we are speaking by the book. We might, at considerable length, tell you why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will make that stitch if taken in time and prevent the rent, but we have always proceeded upon the idea that people are more interested in knowing what has been done in cases similar to their own.

Mrs. W. T. Abbott, 236 Paterson street, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "My system was in a run-down condition, and I was troubled with nervousness and sleeplessness. For some time also I had been bothered with neuralgia, and although I tried many remedies, it was without success. Upon the advice of a friend I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and soon found that my neuralgia was cured, and I have not been troubled since. I also find that now I can eat and sleep well, and I feel full credit for this great benefit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I might also mention that I had lost considerable in weight, but after using the Nerve Food I gained back the flesh I had lost."

You can obtain Dr. Chase's Nerve Food from any dealer at 25 cents a box, six for $2.75, or from McEwen, Ltd., 100 St. Catharines, Ontario.

Great 15 DAY'S XMAS SALE

Beginning Saturday, Dec. 7, and lasting until midnight, Dec. 24

Our entire stock, which at a very low estimate is worth $15,000, will be sacrificed during the next 15 days. We have gone through the entire stock, marked everything down to the GOOD OLD PRICES, and we advise the public to take the advantage. A great many people have thought that goods would become cheaper when the war was over. Goods cannot be cheap for a long time yet. The manufacturer has been obliged to purchase raw material at a high price, so until all the soldiers get back into productive employment goods will be dear. In some lines there has been advances since the war stopped. After we had made this advertisement we received a cablegram from Europe that cotton goods had advanced 25 per cent. But we have too large a stock to take any risks, and so we have decided to sacrifice the goods. It is your opportunity, and you will be wise to read this advertisement.

Compare these prices with any mail order house catalogue

COUNTY COUNCIL

The December Session of the county council of the County of Bruce, was held at Walkerton, opening on December 3rd.

The statement of the County Treasurer was presented early in the session showing receipts and expenditures for the year up to November 30th. This showed a total expenditure for the eleven months of $193,143.31. This of course is very largely in excess of the annual expenditure. The chief items were for Patriotic Grants, $39,874.18, and on County Highways $29,874.51. Deducting these two items brings the expenditure down materially and about on par with that of pre war days. The other main items were, Public Schools $14,507.46 and on maturing debentures $3125.48. There are considerable amounts to be paid during December for Patriotic Grants, on County Highways and debentures but this will largely account for the heavy tax rate this year and show where most of the taxes went. A communication was read from the Canadian Patriotic Fund saying that they did not expect to have to ask this County for further funds and warmly praising the County as one of the banner counties in the Dominion in the matter of contributions for patriotic purposes.

It was decided to petition the Legislature to repeal the Ontario War Tax Act and the Moratorium Act. Both of these were considered war measures only and the war being over they should be repealed.

The County Highways Committee and Superintendent presented their reports. The Committee report they found it very difficult to get as much work done on the County Highways as they desired owing to the great trouble in getting labor and machinery. They had done what they could with the resources at hand and hoped now that the war was over that the situation would materially improve and that next year considerable progress could be made. The discussion on this report took up much of the time of the Council as the roads to be comprised in the system were again discussed. Mr. Phelan had a strong delegation present to protest against the dropping of part of the 5th side-road of Greenock from the system and Mr. Craig, of Amabel, made a determined fight against dropping a road in Amabel from the system, but the Committee, after going over and seeing the whole situation recommended dropping these two roads and the Council agreed with the Committee. A by-law was passed changing the description of the roads and adding the parts in town and villages that it is agreed to have placed on the system since the original by-law was passed. This By-Law must be confirmed by the Lieut.-Governor before it becomes effective.

The Warden in his report congratulated the County on the very successful termination of the war and expressed his appreciation of being Warden of the County that had so nobly done its full share in every way in the good cause. He also expressed the deep sympathy of himself and the County with those who mourn through the war.

Captain Coles, Judge Greig, Judge Klein and Messrs. D. Robertson and Lay were a delegation asking for a grant to the Canadian Navy League to assist the men and the orphans and widows of men of the mercantile marine, pointing out that the whole Allied cause had depended on these men and nothing had yet been done for them. Council decided that a grant of $20,000 should be made, this being of about the rate of 50c a head of Bruce's population. This grant to be provided for next year.

John Niven, Lucknow, and Peter Ackewauke, Cape Croker, were recommended for the appointment as County Constables.

Council decided to ask that the Durham road, the Elora Road, the Sauguen Road and the 30th Side Road from Allenford to Hanover be assumed by the Department as Provincial County Highways.

The usual large number of Committee Reports of the work done since June Session and large number of accounts closing up business for the year were attended to.

A record was made with the work and no time was lost with the result that Council was able to adjourn on Thursday instead of, as usual, on Friday.

P. A. MALCOLMSON, County Clerk

Meaford is endeavoring to get a share of the after war trade. It is a good time for towns to start right. Perhaps not immediately, but eventually we will have a big immigration and every town should be in a position to get a share of the trade.

Card of Thanks

Mr. George Hunt wishes to thank all his friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended himself and his family during their recent bereavement.

Men's Fur Driving Gaiters from $5.00 to $15.00 a pair.

A splendid range of Men's Fur Coats in pieced Coon, Australian Bear and Siberian Dog, at from $25.00 to $60.00 each. A few furlined Coats which will be cleared at last year's prices, a saving of at least 25 per cent.

Ladies' Coats

We still have a good range of Ladies' Cloth and Plush Coats at prices which will appeal to you as being very cheap. From $15.00 to $25.00 for Ladies' Cloth Coats; $40.00 to 75.00 for Ladies' Plush Coats, many wool, with natural Opposum Collar. Regular price $55.00, Special price $40.00, sizes 36-38-40, colors, dark Green and Nigger Brown.

20 Job Cloth Coats, last season's styles, were sold at from $15.00 to $25.00 to clear at $4.95 each. A very special bargain.

6 dozen Ladies' Blouses inorgette and French Crepe, beautifully embroidered, some with silk and others with beads, price $5.00 to $7.50 each. Colors—White, Cream, Maise and Pink. Sizes 36-38-40-42, put up in Separate Boxes suitable for mailing. 5 dozen Ladies' White Habitauk Silk Blouses, assorted styles. Priced from $3.50 to $5.75. The most serviceable Blouses in the market, sizes 34 to 42.

An endless variety of Ladies' Handkerchiefs at from 5c to 75c each. A very special line with colored embroidered corner, put up in Holly Boxes at 25c each.

Ladies' Kid Gloves, Silk Neck Scarves, Silk Hose, Collars and Neck Wear in new styles, Boudoir Caps, Vanity Bags, Shopping Bags, Toilet Bags, Towel Racks made up in Fancy Ribbon, Lace, etc., all very suitable for Gifts and reasonably priced.

A very attractive lot of Linen Doyleies, End Scarves, 5 o'clocks, Serviettes, Fancy embroidered and Drawn work at pre-war prices. Some of these are slightly soiled but the values are O. K.

Gents' Furnishings

Our Gent's Furnishing Dept. is in good shape to cater to your needs at this season. Many lines in Mens' Ties, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Sox and Underwear having been bought before the recent advance in prices. The stock of these goods is large and well assorted.

Boot and Shoe Department

Our Boot and Shoe Department is provided with the necessary to fill the wants of the Xmas shopper. Ladies' Fancy Slippers of many styles. Children's Fancy Slippers in a good variety of styles and prices.

We have a few pairs of the celebrated Dr. Reed Cushion Sole Boots, at the old prices. If you have ever worn these goods we need not tell you how good they are. To those who have not yet availed themselves of the pleasure of wearing a pair of these boots, we may say that they are admittedly the best made in Canada. Try a pair.

Ordered Clothing Department

We are still offering Suits and Overcoats at less than the same goods will cost you for a long time to come. While we regret to be obliged to say it, the facts are that woollen goods, of every description, are likely to be considerably higher for the next few months at least than the prevailing prices at present. This is in a larger measure accounted for owing to the fact that the British Government, who control practically the wool output of the world state that they will not allow a pound of wool to be used for civilian use, until the soldiers have been provided with civilian clothing. This is as it should be, but means that we need not reasonably expect any relief in prices for some considerable time. In the meantime we are offering Tweeds and Worsteds, bought before the war, at prices which mean a saving to you of from $10.00 to $20.00 on every Suit or Overcoat. This may sound to you an extravagant statement. Put us to the test. We have a good range of Suitings, Overcoatings and Pantings to select from, and if you need anything in the clothing line, you are certainly doing yourself an injustice if you fail to see our stock before buying. Remember we guarantee a perfect fit.

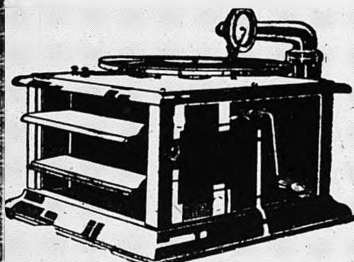

75 pairs large size Saxony Blankets, worth $5.50 per pair, while they last, $3.98 per pair.

GRAPHIC STORY OF VOYAGE: THE AWFUL PINCH OF HUNGER, SICKNESS AND DISEASE MET WITH MARVELOUS FORTITUDE AND COURAGE.

(Teleswater News)

The seating capacity of the Council Chamber was taxed on Saturday afternoon last, when Mlle. Malval, of St. Margaret's College, Toronto, addressed the ladies, giving them a graphic account of her journey and four months visit to France.

At Easter, when Mlle. Malval was her before she told of how the Franco-British Society was established, its purpose, work etc. On Saturday she opened her address by telling the difference in politics, religion, and social standing of the management and how harmoniously they had worked together for the common good of suffering humanity without word or thought of self, or self interests, raising $4,000, themselves by their entertainments, and plays. She then went on to tell of her visit, which she hesitated to take lest the room she would occupy or the food she would eat might be depriving someone else who needed it worse. However, many were anxious to have first-hand news of the needs in France, so Madamgale on June 12th

Look, Mother! if tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children won't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

left Toronto for New York where she would embark for overseas. After considerable difficulty, signing papers, etc., she eventually got to the waterfront and found the docks a veritable where if you passed a certain guard you would not return again. She told of boarding the steamer where the only passengers to be seen were six ladies, and as time passed and nothing transpired they felt some anxiety as to what would happen next. After some hours of waiting a few officers came on board and then as by a magic hand the same plank was thrown out and two thousand soldiers vanished into the bowels of the big ship and they were out in the ocean all inside of half-an-hour. For four hours not a soul was to be seen and then two thousand men appeared on deck and cheered and cheered, they were safely out. They were twelve days in crossing with the usual life-saving drill, in life-belts, traveling in the dark, often in such danger no one was even allowed to speak. Wonderful Y. M. C. A. activities for the benefit of the men on board were conducted.

Landed at Bordeaux.

They landed at Bordeaux where the Americans have transformed the coast, making it like a huge factory working at top speed. The congestion in most of the French territory is terrible, owing to the number of refuges who were obliged to leave their own districts. The food was next to nothing, yet no one complained as long as the soldiers were well fed and comfortable. Often the children of two or three families living with one woman was struggling along trying to look after them all. She spoke of hospitals with 10,000 beds, the work being done by the Chinese from French French colonies, the lack of money, stamps being the only coin in circulation, and the dreadful moral degradation by the enemy, the conditions being too appalling to speak of. Imagine our own darling little Canadian girls of 12 years so abused by the beastly Hun that they have disease, unspeakable of soul and body. The education of the maimed soldier was also touched on, 400,000 of whom have large families depending on them.

These and many other phases of life were touched. The awful poverty and sufferings endured so patiently by these people making every one present feel how little we know of the world's real agony. Notes of thanks were extended to Mlle. Malval for her picture talk. Her zeal and enthusiasm for the maimed and suffering was contagious and none could listen unmoved to this gallant little French Lady who has literally "moved mountains" in behalf of war-torn France.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scanty hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink loose and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine to-night—no—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

The Future of the Live Stock Industry

The arrival of peace has created new conditions in the export of meat and produce and some uncertainty in their minds of Canadian farmers as to future markets. Information in the hands of Honourable T. A. Crear, Minister of Agriculture, convinces him that the export market will continue to absorb at firm prices, as compared with the prices for all other animal products, every pound of beef, bacon and other animal products that Canada can supply. In discussing the situation the Honourable Mr. Crear said: "In view of the great scarcity of cattle and live stock of all kinds in Europe, and because of the great demand for live stock and live stock products of all kinds sure to continue for some years at least, I am going to ask the farmers and live stock men of Canada to maintain their breeding operations on a war time scale, to properly finish all feeding stock, and to conserve all good breeding females, and to still further improve their herds and flocks by using even greater care in the selection of the sire."

Finish Your Cattle

While there has been a numerical increase in live stock in Canada and the United States, owing to advanced cost of feed and the eagerness to realize on the high market prices, there has been a tendency found in all the live stock markets for farmers to ship cattle and hogs before they are properly finished. Loss of weight approximates 10 per cent. Far-sighted live stock men make every effort to finish their cattle before marketing.

EUROPEAN LIVE STOCK

Enormous Shortage of Cattle, Sheep and Hogs in War-ridden Countries. Figures showing the enormous deficiency of live stock in the principal countries of Europe most affected by the war, with the exception of Austria, Hungary, Russia, Turkey and the Balkans, reliable figures for which are impossible to obtain, were given out by Chairman H. B. Thomson of the Canada Food Board at a recent Live Stock Conference in Ottawa. These decreases are as follows:

CATTLE	SHEEP	PIGS
France—2,365,000	2,558,000	2,815,000
Italy—995,000	138,000	354,000
Denmark—345,000	45,000	1,873,000
Sweden—595,000		252,000
U. S. A.—2,788,600		948,200
Germany—1,200,000		19,306,000
Holland—200,000		162,000

LIVE STOCK MEETING

Important Conference Held in Ottawa to prepare for Big Business.

Leading Live Stock Producers, including the members of the Canadian Live Stock Council and representatives of the Meat Packing industry of the Dominion, in conference at Ottawa as to the live stock shortage in Europe, drew up a memorandum to the Government in the form of five resolutions which include the following points.

That a policy of rural credit be sanctioned and supported by the Federal Government.

That steps be taken to establish credits in this country with France, Belgium and Italy.

That a Government agent, preferably Mr. H. B. Thomson, Chairman of the Canada Food Board, in the continuation of his present capacity, be sent to Europe to secure fullest possible recognition of Canadian interests in supplying agricultural products.

That the Government provide necessary marketing facilities, including adequate controlled temperature space in railway cars, storage, warehouses, and ocean going vessels.

That the Government give encouragement to a campaign throughout Canada for increased live stock production, in view of the enormous opportunities now presented to the Canadian live stock industry.

In his reply Sir Thomas White, Acting Prime Minister, said many of these points were being provided for and whatever further possible would be done.

"Did you stay long in New York?" No, I got short very quickly."

MILLER LAKE

(Crowded out last week)

Mr. T. Brown, of Warton, was up here on Monday and lifted a bunch of young cattle he had bought from Charles and William Sadler.

Mr. David Brough and his two sons Allen and Alex of Fensdale and Chas. Graham, of Colpoys Bay, came up here on Monday to take out the saw logs and wood for Mr. J. Bridge on the Steep property. Dave is boss of the job and as he has had experience at this work he will likely like it.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes moved to Pike Bay on Tuesday. They will live there until March and then move back again.

Mr. Fred Bruin, of Lions Head, was here on Tuesday delivering bags to the farmers who sold their grain to him. He is having the grain delivered to Myers Bay.

D. C. Holmes took a load of lambs to Lions Head the first of the week. There is one of the unfortunate ones, who held on to his lambs too long, and had to sell for a smaller price.

Mr. C. Butler and party of friends passed through here on Thursday from Tobermory on their way South.

Mr. James Brough attended George McCutcheon's sale on Thursday and reported that it was a good sale and fair prices for everything. Cows sold well, as high as $100, being paid. W. J. Rouse passed through here Thursday on his way to attend the McCutcheon sale.

The "Hu" patients are all recovering.

Mr. John Boyle made a trip to Lions Head on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brough and family have moved to the Beckett farm for the winter.

Miss Maggie Dawson is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. S. Hawke and his son, Harry, of Pine Tree, went to Stokes Bay on Friday.

A few of the Miller Lake people attended Mr. John McLennan's sale at Stokes Bay on Friday and report a large crowd and good sale.

Mr. John Bridge, of Lions Head, made a couple of trips to his farm here. He has hauled all his grain out and sold it at a good price.

Judging by the way the sales go, cattle are a good thing to have to sell although there was a big cry a short time ago that cattle were going down in price. A fair young cow will sell for $100.00. At the McLennan sale a cow 12 years old, sold for $97.40 and a good cow is better property than a poor horse.

Mr. R. McCutcheon and son Richard, of Fensdale, were business visitors here this week.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 250,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

SOUTHAMPTON

On account of the prevalence of the "flu" the trustees had their schools closed last week, to remain closed until the first of next week, when they will re-open providing conditions are well improved.

Lieut. Fred V. Seibert of the Royal Air Force came up from Toronto on Wednesday. He has received his temporary discharge but does not expect permanent discharge for some months yet.

There are nearly one hundred persons in our town at present suffering from the "flu". Fortunately the attack in nearly all cases is mild, and there seems to be no development of pneumonia in connection with it this time.

Mr. Alex. S. McCaulay, who has been engaged as wharfman on a tug on the Great Lakes during the summer, arrived home last week, and on Monday of this week his wife and young son arrived here from England.

No, the new factory proposition is not any further advanced than it was three weeks ago. The factory promoters have the town's terms furnished through the Town Council but have not as yet accepted them, although they seemed inclined to accept the terms when furnished with them.

COLPOYS BAY

Oh the snow! the beautiful snow! it vanished like a dream last Sunday. People who went away in the morning with a cutter wished for wheels long before the evening.

Word was received lately of the death of Alf Gentry who made his home with Mr. A. Cotton for some time from Spanish influenza. He volunteered in the Siberian Expeditionary Force, and was taken sick en route.

Miss Craig visited her friend Miss Davey, the school teacher, at Oliphant last week.

Pte. Alex. Caudle Sundayed at Mr. M. McKenzie's Oliphant.

Mr. Joseph Kerr arrived home last Friday for the winter. He has been sailing all summer.

Cadet L. G. Bryce, of the R. A. F., Toronto, spent last week at Mr. J. B. Farrow's.

Wedding bells will ring before Christmas. Colpoys is to supply both the happy bride and groom. Guess who they are?

Couch and Weir—That Wm. Convey be instructed to repair some dangerous places in the road on the 20th Side Road opposite 13th and 14th Concessions, said repairs not to exceed $8.00. Cd.

Lencke and Craig—That D. M. Couch have repairs made on 10th Side Road between 8th and 10th Concession as there have been complaints made to this Council by H. Bull, Rural Mail Carrier, and others, that it is in a dangerous condition and we there fore authorize Mr. Couch to hire two teams for one day to haul gravel to cover the holes in the said road. Cd.

Weir and Craig—That the application of John Hurst for a ten year lease of the Side Road between Lots 30 and 31, Con. 1, W. B. R., for the sum of $7.00 be granted, provided that any time, in the opinion of the Council, the said roads be required for public use, that this lease shall be annulled and cancelled, accordingly. Further that the Clerk be directed to have a lease duly drawn and executed. Cd.

Craig and Weir—That owing to keeping the roads in a passable condition for the accommodation of mail in the winter months, the following parties be instructed by the Clerk to take down their rail fences before any blockade of snow should obstruct the roads. Viz: Rerford Rydall, on the road between Cons. 5 and 7; Chas. Gilbert and John Crawford on 30th Side Road between Lots 30 and 31, Con. 8; George Howe, Robt. Hepburn and J. C. Lencke on road between Cons. 8 and 10; George Richardson, on North Side of Lot 11, Con. 10; Jas. Given and Oliver White on deviation road between Lots 20, Con. 3 and 4, E. B. R.; Herb. END STOMACH TROUBLE. GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapasein" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs suitably feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is moping on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent box of Pape's Diapasein from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

HEPWORTH

Arrangements are now being made by Wm. McKillop to have the village piped for gas within a short time. Last week he went to Tilbury to purchase the necessary pipes. When the pipes arrive drilling will be commenced on the last 100 feet of the second well and the two will be joined together. As some of the instalment operations cannot be carried on until the frost has left the ground it will be early summer before the village will have full service from the wells. Messrs. Sherman and Rowntree have now shipped over twenty cars of potatoes from this district and expect to ship almost as many more. A great amount of money has been left here from the purchase of these roots as the prevailing price of these roots per bag, and earlier in the season was as high as $1.25. It is expected, that owing to the supply being great it will drop a little during the coming week.

Interment took place at Richard son's Cemetery, Thursday last, of Pte. W. Walker, son of H. Walker of this village, who died in hospital in St. John's, Quebec. Pte. Walker, who was well and favorably known in this vicinity, was a member of a Quebec training depot and was engaged in clerical work in the depot staff, when he was taken ill with the disease to which he finally succumbed. Burial service was conducted by Rev. W. Almack following the arrival of the corpse on the noon train.

George Fenton, Allenford, was in the village last week purchasing a car of wheat. The price paid was $2.12 per bushel.

Mrs. (Dr.) Carr, Hamilton, was in the village last week attending the funeral of her nephew Pte. W. Walker.

Sleighing has helped travel generally here a great deal. Several loads of hay have been disposed of at as high a price as $17 per ton. Oats have been selling at 70 cents per bush.

There have been heavy shipments of hogs from this point these past few months, and last week the price was $17.85 per cwt., but practically no cattle have been sold. The price has dropped about $1 per cwt. It is stated, and no prices have been made. Several farmers have large herds on their hands and will not sell at the present rate as they claim it will be at a loss and they are holding them hoping for a raise. The drop in the price of beef cattle has to date not caused any lowering in prices by butchers.

Vincent Downs, who has been engaged in the undertaking business in Toronto, is now home on a short holiday.

The Flu epidemic is practically over in the village and to date there have been no deaths caused by it. But a few isolated cases of a mild type of the disease exist in the village at present. Shallow Lake has not been so fortunate as there are still over twenty cases there, some of which are regarded as serious.

Although the Municipal elections are but a few weeks off, there is little talk about them in the village and apparently little interest is being taken in them. It is generally believed that Reser Douglas will be re-elected if he desires it, and it is stated by some, conversant with the situation, that he will likely go by acclamation. It is believed however that there will likely be a contest for some of the seats in the Council but no one has definitely announced that they are seeking Municipal honors, as yet.

SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR

Under the auspices of the Box and Sox Club, the bazaar, given on Thursday evening, was a big success. This bazaar has been an annual event now for four years, and the response with which it meets shows how the public regards it.

As usual, the bazaar was held in the Town Hall. Upon entering the hall, one saw here and there, booths, each one vying the other for beauty and workmanship. To the left was the Baking Booth, whose pastry would tempt the heart of the most hardened. Homemade bread, pies, cake and tarts. This booth was under the auspices of Misses N. Vickers, M. Parke, E. Sym, T. Dargavel and L. Mitchell. To the right was a very pretty booth worked in tones of golden brown. This was donated to fancy work, and the display was as fine as has been ever seen. The convener of this booth was Miss Margaret Ewing, and her helpers, Miss R. Fielding and Miss Madigan. All the dainty knick knacks at this booth were sold in short order.

Then came the Fish Pond. One could hardly find a fish pole for the number of both grown ups and kiddies around this attractive well. The workers in this booth were Misses M. and G. Chapman, and A. Taylor. The fish pond netted over ten dollars.

Beside the Fish Pond was stationed the Candy Booth. It was very attractive being done in pink. At this booth also was a plant, donated by Mrs. Hunt, and won by Mrs. Ashley, and a yoke donated by Miss M. Parke and won by Jesse Miller. Mrs. A. A. Ashley, Miss J. Lawrence and Miss H. Parke and Miss McCannell were the workers in this booth.

The Fortune Telling Corner is always an attractive and gruesome spot. There the fire place, smothered with evergreens, upheld a big black kettle. Here three fortune tellers, one who read by means of cards, (Miss S. Ty and two palm readers (Mrs. W. T. Brown and Miss Weller) and still another who saw into the future by the reading of the tea cups (Miss Ora McCannell). Their costumes were attractive and suggested all that those who are able to look into the future should.

The stage, which was centered as the tea room was, perhaps because of its central position, the most attractive spot. It was done to represent a Dutch Inn. The canopy was a Dutch blue and white, intermittently, and a lattice work fence of blue and white was around the outside. Inside were tables and chairs, a piano and to the tinkle of the cups, were Dutch waiters and waitresses moving quickly back and forth. Here and there was a pedestal with palms, while poinsettia graced the vases. The convener of the tea room was Miss Margaret Sutherland, who along with Miss Margaret Kastner and Ola McDonald were dressed as Dutch boys, and Misses C. Ruhl, Ola McDonald, Pearl Burby, Muri Davidson and Jean Logan were dressed as Dutch girls.

Miss Clara Miller, as the old woman with the hundred pockets, had to be a sprightly old lady to keep pace with her many customers.

The bazaar was formally opened by Mayor McEwan at 8 o'clock, after which the Town Band gave several selections. At 9.30 Mr. D. M. Jernyn auctioned a pig which was donated by Mr. W. Dobson, and sold first to Mr. H. Irwin, then as he returned it to be auctioned again, to Mrs. Moore.

At 10.30 when the bazaar was over, the girls were tired but very happy, for they could not have wished for a better attendance. They netted about $180 and it, as their former money was, will be well used.

Vol. XXXIX—No. 24

WIARTON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18th, 1918.

Price: $2 per year, $1.50 if paid in advance

NO ECHO NEXT WEEK

Next Wednesday being Christmas day, and as we have not taken a holiday this year, we have decided to do so next week. The next issue of The Echo will appear Tuesday Dec. 31 and our correspondents will please govern themselves accordingly. That is we want all correspondence on hand Monday, Dec. 30th. Excepting Wednesday, Christmas day, the office will be open for the transaction of business.

The Municipal Outlook

During the war there was a municipal truce, but now that the war is over it is felt that there is no binding obligation, consequently there is going to be considerable of a shake up. At the present an election in every municipality appears a probability.

AMABEL Reeve Craig has held down his job for a number of years, and Amabel never allows any man a life lease or anything approaching a life lease. Frank McDougall and the late Richard Rusk, both popular and good reeves, found that the job was one that they could not bequeath to their successors. Reeve Craig has been a good official, but the municipal pot always boils at Allenford, and it is reported that part of that township is making a move for a change in the reeveship. It is stated that aspirants for this office may include the Messrs. Davidson or Jones.

KEPPEL This township is the most conservative of all. A good job here can hold office for life. There was an adjustment last summer following the retirement of Reeve Johnston, who became the good roads officer for the county. In order to avoid an election Mr. James Cruickshank consented to serve the balance of the year. Now the year is up and what? Councillor George Perin intends to be a candidate for that office, while it is rumored that Messrs. Wyburn, Dawson and Pringle are retiring from the council altogether. Possibly they will change their minds but The Echo is informed that this is now their intention.

ALBEMARLE An election is pretty sure, for Albemarle looks forward to an election as regularly as to a Christmas dinner. All the old councillors will be in the field and it is currently reported that Coun. Craig may try a race with Reeve Whitcher for the honor of sitting next year at the head of the Council.

EASTON Reeve Landon will stand again, but we have no time up on the Councillors.

LINDSAY There is a probability of an election in this township.

ST. EDMUNDS Reported that an election is a sure thing.

WIARTON Looks like Coun. Irwin for Mayor next year. S. W. Pope will be out for the Reeveship again, but who will stand for the office of councillor is an unknown quality.

PIKE BAY

Mr. Frank Bellmore is home after spending the summer in Toronto.

Mr. John Dickie, ar. did business in Lions Head on Monday.

Mr. G. Sutter is very busy at present getting out barn timber. His brother Bert is helping him.

Mr. Richard Harding drove to Fern dale on Friday with a load of calves. Mr. I. Waugh, of Hopetown, preached in the Methodist Church here Sunday.

WANTED!

Basswood, Pine, Poplar or White Balm Bolts, 5 inches and up, 56 inches long, good quality, $9.00 per cord, f.o.b. cars, Wiarton.

Four Bruce Batts. Men Return

PTE YOUNG, WOUNDED IN HAND AND PTE SIMPSON, BOTH FROM TOBERMORY, ARRIVE TUESDAY

Wearing a wound stripe on account of a wound in his left hand, Pte. W. A. Young, who went overseas with the 160th Batt. and went into France with the 47th, arrived here yesterday en route to Tobermory, where he will spend two weeks furlough. He was accompanied by Pte. Lindsay Simpson, who also went overseas with the 160th, but was hindered from entering France by an injury received while in training in England. He also will spend two weeks at Tobermory before going to London.

Pte. Young, who was wounded by machine gun fire on Sept. 3rd last, was one of the fifteen men in the 160th who went in a draft to the 47th Batt. In the draft there were but three others from near here, Garney Jernyn, who was later killed in action, and Veste Keeshig, Cape Croker, and another of the members of the Indian platoon.

After being wounded he was sent to England to recuperate and while at Epson was in the same convalescent home as Earl McVannell and Isaac Norris. When he last saw them they were both feeling well and progressing favorably.

Just prior to leaving for Canada Young and Simpson saw Jack Allan, who is now at Witley Camp and in good health. Jack is hoping to return to Canada shortly.

Owing to no word being received in advance of the arrival of these men there were no representatives of the Soldiers Aid Commission at the depot to greet them, but while in town they are the guests of the Commission. They returned to Canada on the Olympic. Another Bruce Battalion boy who returned with them was Ed. Diss, of Walkerton, who was one of the men on guard duty at the Tobermory wireless in 1914 and 1915.

On the evening train Tuesday Pte. Roderick Smith, Stokes Bay, and Pte. M. Mallow, Barrow Bay, who were also members of the 160th, arrived in town en route to their homes. They were met at the train by Capt. F. J. Pickling, who welcomed them on behalf of the Soldiers Aid Commission and the G. W. V. A. and while in town they were the guests of the former body.

Both of these men were in France. Pte. Smith, who is a brother of Miss M. Smith, of Wiarton, was transferred while in England, to the Forestry Depot, and later was in France with a company of the Canadian Railway Troops. While there he became ill, and as a result was returned to England and later to Canada. He has two weeks furlough before reporting to London for his discharge.

Pte. M. Mallow went into France with a draft for the Canadian Engineers and was there eight months before being wounded in the arm by machine gun fire. He is now feeling fine and expects to receive his discharge after having two weeks leave. Smith returned to Canada on the Minnedosa and Mallow on the Olympic.

OXENDEN

(Crowded out last week)
The Women's Patriotic League wish to thank Mr. W. Reckin, of Zion, for a lovely quilt top, also Mrs. J. Cameron, of White Cloud Island, for her donation of feathers for filling cushions. The ladies of the League met at the Orange Hall and quilted two quilts last week.

The memorial service that was held for Elizabeth Fox last Sabbath was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Matthews spoke from the text, 2nd Kings, 4th Chap. 25th verse: "Is it well with the child, and she answered 'It is well'."

Mr. George Fox and bride were calling on old friends and receiving congratulations this week.
Mr. and Mrs. James Atkey have gone to their daughter's, Mrs. T. Davidson, near Lake Charles, to stay for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Stephens, of Zion, Sundayed with his parents last Sunday.

Butter Wrappers for sale at The Echo Office.

HEPWORTH

Flu in mild form is again raging here, and there are twenty cases and they are all confined to young children. As a result the school was closed Monday and will not be reopened until early in the New Year. There have been no deaths from the epidemic at time of writing. It is reported that in Shallow Lake the epidemic has disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cruickshank and family, who have been living in Saskatchewan, are now in the village. Mr. Cruickshank is in ill health, and will likely remain here for some time.

R. W. Shaw, Lions Head, was a business visitor here last week.

Potato buyers are about through business in this section for the year. There are possibly 12 car loads of potatoes being held by farmers who are not satisfied with the prevailing price which is $1.00 per bag. W. Symon has left the village after shipping two car loads and Mr. Rowen tree, who has shipped the same number during the week, intends leaving to-morrow.

Coun. John Davidson, of Zion, was a business visitor here on Tuesday.

Harry Jones had the misfortune this week to lose a mare, valued at $150. The animal died while grazing. A severe epidemic of Flu has broken out around French Bay, where there are now over 35 cases. In some instances, it is reported, whole families are victims of the disease. There has been no deaths in the district from the plague, and the school has been closed to assist in preventing a spread of the disease.

Mr. Jacklin, teacher at French Bay, passed through here Tuesday en route to his home in Hanover.

Reports have been received that the epidemic of Flu, which was raging on the Saugeen Reserve, is subsiding, but that there are still many cases of it. It is stated that one day there were as many as seven deaths when the scourge was at its height. It is believed that forty per cent of the Indians have succumbed.

Vincent Downs, who has been ill in Toronto with blood poisoning, is recovering, but very slowly.

At the special meeting of the Council Monday there was little business done. The time for the return of the collector's Roll was extended to the 23rd inst., in order to allow some of those in arrears to make up their deficits.

There is but little talk in the village regarding municipal elections, but it seems probable that there will be a contest for the Reeveship. It is believed that Reeve Douglas will stand again and the names of James Atchison and E. J. Downs have been mentioned for this office.

A large party of naval soldiers are expected to arrive in town at any time now, as they reached Halifax some days ago. Those who will be home shortly are George White, Thomas Cleve, Clark Sackert, Johnnie Rogers, Frank Johnston and Earl Harris.

With the exception of Rogers, who went over with the 148th all were members of the Bruce Battalion. Over sixty dollars was realized at the concert held in Downs' Hall Monday evening by the Women's Institute. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of materials necessary for the ladies engaged in manufacturing comforts for the boys overseas. Rev. W. Almack was chairman and the program, which consisted of numbers by local talent and four well staged motion picture tableaux, was excellent. During the evening a quilt was drawn for and the lucky ticket, number 315, was held by Mrs. Thomas Lombkin. Those who took part in the program were: Mrs. Cameron, Misses Eldridge, Cunningham, Goetz, and Hughes, and Messrs. W. Barber, B. Hughes, Sockett, Sinclair and G. Eldridge, and a number of others who were in the tableaux.

BORN

BAKER—At Liberty, N. Y., to Rev. J. Archie Baker and wife, (nee Laura McGarvey) a son (Archibald William.)

D. P. McDonald, whose next of kin resides in Kincardine, has been reported according to recent casualty lists. Pte. McDonald was one of the first to enlist when the 160th Bruce Bn. was formed and was taken prisoner by the Germans during the summer offensive.

Presentation And Address to Cpl. W. Smith

Residents of Clavering and vicinity turned out en masse Wednesday evening last to tender Cpl. W. Smith, late of the 15th Bn., a cordial welcome home. The meeting was held in the Orange Hall and the building was packed to capacity with friends of Cpl. Smith.

Mr. A. Guest, who was chairman, in a few brief words explained the purpose of the assembly and he was followed by Messrs. F. Moore and J. Wilson, who on behalf of those gathered, presented the returned hero with a purse of seventy five dollars in gold.

In reply Cpl. Smith thanked the donors and stated that while he appreciated it he thought it was unnecessary as the people of Clavering had taken care of him well while he was away, sending him many comforts. He then, for half an hour, delighted his audience with an account of his experiences overseas. This was a great treat, it is seldom the privilege to hear, as it was, a lucid account of the life of the "Tommy" by one who has gone through it.

Cpl. Smith was followed by Dr. S. E. Foster, Messrs. E. Featherston, G. Perkins and L. Guest, who made brief addresses extremely complimentary to Cpl. Smith, and all who went when the first call came. They also touched on the subject of taking care of returned men and seeing that they get their old positions on return. During the evening there were selections from a male quartet, a solo by Mrs. McCrabb and a reading by Miss Soper.

The Town Council

FUEL SITUATION DISCUSSED—TIME EXTENDED FOR COLLECTOR'S ROLL

"I'm going to fulfil my contract and get the money. I may lose some money, but I'm not going to holler," said R. E. Crane in addressing the town Council Monday evening. Mayor McEwan, the Fuel Controller, made a report to the Council of his operations on the bush lot. From the figures submitted it was shown that the cutting of 47 cords of short wood and 28 cords of cordwood had cost $3.98 per cord to cut. Reeve Knaster opened that this would be very dear wood and in this he was supported by the rest of the Council. Mr. Crane stated that he was having difficulty in hiring men, as the town employees working beside him were able to make more cutting at a rate of so much per cord, then he was prepared to pay per day to his men. In connection with this the Mayor was advised to cease hiring men for the town and discontinue his operations if Mr. Crane would put on more men. This the latter promised to do, saying he would hire all he could secure.

Collector Young reported to the Council that he was unable to return the roll at the meeting as delay had been caused in the final closing of it by the non-arrival of some necessary forms and by people coming in to pay their taxes at the last minute. He stated that in a couple of hours on Monday over $1000 had been paid. Alderman McDonald stated that he thought possibly more could be collected if the time was extended a few days. Mayor McEwan opposed the proposal saying it was unsystematic and not business. However a motion of Councillors, Irwin and Hurlbut, to extend the time till Monday, Dec. 23, when the last council meeting of the year will be held, was carried.

On motion of Reeve Knaster and Alderman Pope the Council decided to memorialize the Provincial Legislature requesting that they discontinue the Provincial War Tax of one mill after 1918. This is being done by other towns and municipalities. It was also decided to memorialize the Dominion Government requesting that widows with children, in straitened circumstances, be pensioned. There is a Dominion wide movement for this purpose.

Another job has been found for the Chief. It was decided that he will have to attend to the measuring of wood and coal for the town and collect money for the same. No wood will be delivered without cash in advance and it is likely that orders of less than three cords will be taken.

Mrs. S. Bartley, who has been nursing sick patients in our midst left last week for her home in Dyers Bay. Mr. and Mrs. James West of Cape Chin were visitors to town on Monday.

Council meeting was held here in the Hall on Monday evening the 18th to finish the business for the year.

Word was received last night from Mr. Burnet Butchart formerly of the Royal Bank Staff here, but now of Guelph, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Butchart of town, is in St. Joseph's Hospital Guelph, with the flu. Messrs. Chas. Webster of Port Elgin, and Everett Gaden, who has seen service in France, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Webster of town. The Str. Miclipicon and Podwell are loading grain here this week. It is rumored around that wedding bells will be ringing shortly.

It looks like Christmas trade in our village to see the various stores decorated.

Mr. Wilfrid Everett passed through the village on Monday on his way to Wiarton.

Messrs. McIvor Bros.' team took a load of merchandise from the harbor here to Stokes Bay.

Mr. James Rogers, of Pike Bay, was in town on business last week.

Mr. William Gillies installed his telephone system in his new office last week and intends moving into his new residence on Main St. this week.

Tackaberry has opened up his new line of Christmas stock, papeteries, chocolates, confectionery, patent medicines, stock tones, also groceries and is open to buy your produce consisting of butter, eggs and dressed fowl for which he will pay the high cash price for choice birds. His phone number is 8, ring 2. Canada Board License No. 8-7774. Mail and Phone orders promptly attended to and filled.

Mr. Alex. Hepburn is relieving our stage driver G. Hummel for a few days this week.

Miss Ida Tackaberry returned this week from a visit to Toronto.

Mr. C. Pedwell is commencing operations on Gun Point with Mr. Jas. Myles as foreman.

SIGN OF PEACE APPEARS IN DISTRICT

A sure sign of peace which is not in the least akin to the proverbial dove or olive branch, has been seen in this district within the past week. At Hepworth it was first sighted and while it is not reported to have been in Wiarton as yet, there are many who are eagerly looking forward to its appearance. The emblem is always contained in a glass or china receptacle and its color is white.

Recently it was placed before us at the hostelry of J. J. Downs and seeing in it an old friend we received it with extended arms. Seizing the largest spoon within our reach, we made three separate attacks upon it, with excellent results. After the strict Food regulations and the strict war time rationing, with heart-felt gratitude we welcome back in our midst the common sugar bowl within easy reach on the table of the public eating houses.

The Germans boasted about their fast colors, but we know now that their colors run fast.

DYERS BAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bartley, Jr., attended Mr. S. Bestward's sale on Monday.

Mrs. S. Bartley, who has been ill with the flu has returned home from Lions Head. We are glad that she is improving.

The annual Xmas entertainment will be held in the church at Dyers Bay Dec. 20th. The programme is being prepared by the children and promises to be very good.

Mr. A. Turner has gone to Mr. Amos' Camp for winter.

Two Fawcett called on our port on Friday morning to load grain, but owing to rough weather had to leave without her load.

Former Wiartonian Wins D. C. M.

John Bukhoven, who formerly lived in Wiarton and who is a brother of Mrs. Lamers, who recently moved to London, has been decorated with the Distinguished Conduct Medal according to Pte. L. Simpson, recently returned from overseas. While he does not know all the details in connection with the award, he has heard that Bukhoven was captured by the enemy and that he later broke away from them, making good his escape to the British lines, carrying valuable information.

A Poultry Fair

The Wiarton Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association will hold their first annual show in the Town Hall, Wiarton, January 7-8-9-10 1919. Competition will be open to the world. Entries will close January 4th. This will be the first poultry show ever held in Wiarton, and as a lot of show birds from outside points will be here there will be a steady stream of spectators to see the birds. The members of the association are doing all that can be done to make it a success, and the farmers from all the surrounding country should bear these show dates in mind, so as to patronize it. They will be able to see good birds and improve their stock.

NORTH KEPPEL

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, with their daughter Mrs. Baxter and little son, have re-opened their winter home. Stanley has remained at the light house for a few days to put everything in order before closing up for the winter.

Mr. E. Robinson, who spent the summer sailing, and Miss Eva, of Kemble, are home for the winter. Miss Maggie Ferguson, who has been at Oxenden during the summer months, has returned home.

A number of young men from here are helping to take out timber for Mr. Knaster, on Griffith's Island. The Superintendent and officers of the Sunday School have decided, contrary to custom, the school shall remain open for the winter.

EDDIE HYDE WRITES HOME

Canadian Y. M. C. A.

London, England.

Dear Mother—Just a few lines to let you know I am now in England and in the very best of health. We certainly received a very fine reception on landing here. I am now in Dover and only waiting for my leave which I expect to receive in a few days time. I passed through Germany without any trouble whatever, right through the West front, and believe me it was a sight for sore eyes to see the square heads retiring back over the Rhine. They were going back in thousands and then some. I hope to be back in Canada in about three months time, but will let you know later on.

I will close now hoping this finds you all well, with love to all.
Your loving son,
ED.

Last Thursday evening Capt. Dicks Toronto, who had been a Chaplain at the front, gave a most interesting address in St. Pauls Church, possibly the best address on war conditions in Europe, and post war conditions Canada, that has been delivered in this town. The address was the last of a series in connection with the Forward Movement in the Presbyterian Church.

With mild weather and excellent aleighing the market on Saturday was very well attended. Eggs were scarce and those that were on the market sold at a high price. Butter was in great demand, and the price kept mounting as the morning went on. Fowl, including young and old birds, geese, ducks and turkey, were much in evidence. The demand was not great, and the supply was greater than the demand, although the price was higher than last week. Eggs went at around 60 cents; butter from 47 to 51 cents. The price for fowl was up, turkeys, 35c, geese, 25c, to 28c, young chickens, 25 to 32c, old birds, 20 to 25c, ducks 25c. Some fine apples were offered at $4.00 per barrel. Potatoes were going from $1.00 to $1.10. Grain was not as high as last week, wheat selling from $2.00 to $2.05. Peas were offered at $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel. A load of hardwood containing 90 ft was offered at $13.00 for the load which comes to over $18 for a cord.

Sergt.-Major Stanley Taylor, son of the late Jeremiah Taylor, of Chatsworth, arrived in town on Saturday and will spend a short time visiting friends in this district and particularly with his brother who is a school teacher at Shallow Lake and who is now ill with influenza. Sergt.-Major Taylor spent 18 months in France, where he had an extensive experience in the use of gas as a weapon against the enemy. Last July he was sent back from France to the States, and since then has been stationed at a military camp in the States, where he has been kept busy giving instruction to the Yankee soldiers in the use of gas. He has great praise for the American soldiers and their eagerness to learn the new methods of warfare and says he was royally treated by them. Sergt.-Major Taylor's father for many years owned and operated the planing mill at Chatsworth up to 13 years ago when the family removed to Owen Sound. After living here for three years, they removed to Toronto, where Mrs. Taylor and several of her children reside.

Without any stir or commotion the Wm. Kennedy and Sons, Ltd., have gone about building a big addition to their already extensive plant here. The new building is almost 50 by 100 feet in ground area and about 33 ft. high. It is very substantially constructed of concrete, stone, brick and steel, and will be used as an erection shop for marine machinery, a business in which the company is now actively engaged. The new building is now rapidly nearing completion and will be a decided acquisition to the many industrial buildings in Owen Sound. It will be specially equipped for handling the heaviest machinery, expeditiously, a modern electric travelling crane, with a capacity of from 15 to 20 tons, being one of the installations. The building will be completed by the end of the year, and will be in use soon after. The building and equipment will probably cost about $25,000. It is located to the south-west of the business office and to the north of the machine shop.

The Wm. Kennedy and Sons Co.'s big steel plant at Collingwood has been practically closed, only the electric furnace being now open. For the past three years the plant has operated in the neighboring town on a very extensive scale, producing steel bullets for large size shells. Until the past few months their output was the result of a contract with the Imperial Munitions Board, but since then, they have been working on an American contract and now it is understood that this has been cancelled. About 350 employees, in which the plant employed a number of them, were laid off on November 30th, and a further number were laid off on Thursday last.

The company paid the highest wages of any industrial organization in Collingwood, and the closing down of the plant will be a considerable blow to the commercial interests in that town. The Collingwood plant is a modern one and represents an investment of about half a million dollars. It is expected that it will not be idle many months.

WALKERTON

Rev. Robt. Laird, M. A., of Toronto, Secretary of the Finance Board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and a former professor of Practical Theology at Queen's, spoke on Missions in the morning at Knox Church and showed that for our own interests a patriotic citizens that we should support missions, quoting the example of the natives of Fiji Islands who sent three contingents to the front, which were wiped out, and of India, which was formerly a heathen country and which through the influence of the missionaries have brought to bear upon that people, had sent about a million men to fight for democracy. In the evening the reverend gentleman spoke on the forward work of the missions, and on the need of men and money to extend the Church's work in Canada, and made a strong appeal for recruits for the ministry.

Mrs. Irene Smith, of Allenford, was brought to the Walkerton Jail on Tuesday on the charge of throwing corrosive fluid in the face of Oswald Howard Baker, while he was walking on the street about 11 o'clock last Thursday night, thereby painfully burning him. Baker is a drug clerk and son of Postmaster Baker, of Allenford. The woman, who is a small, frail body, assigns as an excuse for her act, that Baker had been telling lies about her character. Her husband's father had been with the army overseas and she, with four small children, reside in Allenford. She was released from custody shortly after arriving here on a bail of $1000 being furnished that she would appear when called upon for trial.

George Wayland, of Kinloss township, will be tried before Judge Klein in Walkerton, on Monday morning next, for non-support of his wife and four small children, who are stated to be in necessitous circumstances.

Mr. John Longmire, of Hepworth, passed away at the House of Refuge on Monday in his 88th year, death being due to senility. The body was taken to Hepworth to be buried from his son's home.

There will be no election in Brant's year until Reeve Willoughby fails to carry out his pledge made to the electors last year, that he asked for the reeve ship only for one term. But as Mr. Willoughby is now reported to be making longing eyes at the second term, the prospect of a contest. If Mr. Willoughby retires he will be succeeded by Deputy-Reeve Rowland, who has not for a number of years been in the County. The ratepayers showed their confidence in Mr. Rowland at the last vote two years ago, by giving him a tremendous majority. In case Reeve Willoughby forces an election, Ex-Deputy Archie Weir might possibly try the present Reeve another heat. Coun. Walter Findley will, we understand, be a candidate for the Deputy Reeve's Chair when Mr. Rowland steps higher.

David Sims, a Cape Croker Indian was brought down to the County Jail on Thursday to serve a two month's sentence for beating his wife. The sentence was imposed by Magistrate B. B. Miller, of Warton.

Messrs. B. Beingsmeyer and L. Kramer, of Kramora, Executors of the Frank Kramer Estate, have sold the farm of 148 acres near Formosa to Mr. Joseph Rumiog for $11,650.

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

The Wonderful Medicine, Made From Fruit Juices and Valuable Tonics.

MADAME ROSINA POISIZ

29 St. Rose St., Montreal.
"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-lives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well. I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good. I read about 'Fruit-a-lives'; and tried them. After taking a few boxes, I am now entirely well. You have my permission to publish this letter, as I hope it will persuade other sufferers from Dyspepsia to take 'Fruit-a-lives' and get well."

MADAME ROSINA POISIZ.
"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine in the 14th Grey and later of the 4th C. M. R. in France, has been appointed solicitor for the Department of Militia and Defence. Major MacFarland will no doubt be able to perform the duties in connection with this important appointment admirably and his friends here are delighted that he has been given this well-deserved honor, after his splendid service overseas.

CHESLEY

The council of Normanby, which had an assessment of nearly two and a half million dollars lost its deputy this year on account of decrease in rural population. At County Council Shallow Lake, and other small places have the same voting power as Bentinck, Normanby and Sullivan. An application will be made at the next session of the Legislature to have assessment, not population, made the basis of representation at the county council.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fishleigh received the sad news by wire on Monday that their only son, Earnest, had died of pneumonia on Sunday. He had been ill only a short time, and it is very likely pneumonia followed an attack of the flu which is rampant in the West and is causing many fatalities. Mr. and Mrs. Fishleigh, who are in delicate health, are almost heart broken by the sad news. Earnest was about 35 years old, and was married about 8 years ago, his wife being a Miss Christie, of Owen Sound. Besides his widow, he leaves a child four years of age. Much sympathy goes out to the parents, widow and fatherless boy in their bereavement.

The funeral of Mrs. Hopkins, who died from pneumonia following an attack of the flu, took place to Chesley cemetery on Monday, her brother-in-law from Hepworth, and five members of the Patriotic League acting as pall-bearers. It was a particularly sad case, the husband and father who is a soldier, is convalescing slowly in an English hospital. There are eight in the family. The eldest daughter was married this summer, and she will look after some members of the family while the others will be taken care of by relatives in Hepworth. She was a soldier's wife, and as such the officers of the Patriotic Association showed their respect for the defender of his country who is overseas, by attending in a body. Rev. J. H. Moore conducted the service at the church and grave.

J. C. Milne, of the 7th cen. of Elderslie, has a half section of land at Hannah, Cavalier County, North Dakota, and he has just returned from his annual visit to his old home. He tells us they had a better way of raising their last Liberty Loan than we had in our last Victory Loan campaign. A levy was made on every section, half section, etc., and also on the town people, according to their means, and if they did not subscribe up to the mark, they were set down as German sympathizers, and it has been made uncomfortable for the non-subscribers ever since. Mr. Milne hands us a copy of "The Moon" published at Hannah, in which the names of the 25 who did not subscribe at all, or did not take their allotment, are given, the post office address of six of them being Munich, which is named after the capital of Bavaria in South Germany. The names of the first three pro-Germans are: Michael Janowski, Jacob Janzen and Michael Wirth. We could judge by the way the loyal Americans of Cavalier County went about their last loan that there is a hot time coming to the pros. in North Dakota.

Mr. Horace Block Gets "Some" Present

Father Gives Him Seats on New York and Chicago Exchanges for Birthday

(Owen Sound Sun)

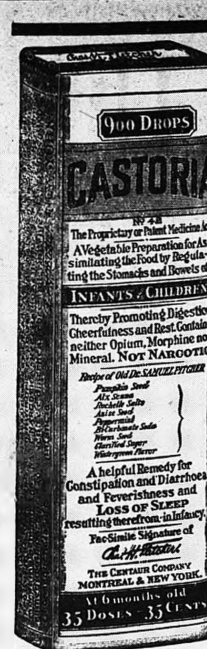

Mr. Louis Bloch, the well known piano dealer in Owen Sound, has a brother, Mr. Benjamin Bloch, who is a power in the financial world represented by Wall Street, New York. Mr. Benjamin Bloch started out a decade ago with little of this world's goods, and his wealth is now a matter not of thousands or hundreds of thousands, but of millions. Evidently a very shrewd man he went among the shrewdest in the country, the bulls and bears of Wall Street, and through a close study of conditions, he was able to match his wits against the best and he won. In a letter received by Mr. Bloch here, the information is given that Mr. Benjamin Bloch has just given his son, Horace, who is 21 years of age, and has just been discharged from the American Army a seat on the New York Exchange, and a seat on the Chicago Exchange, the former costing $50,000 and the latter $10,000 and has probably given him an interest in the business as well. The young man is getting a good start in life.

HANOVER

It is understood that Major G. F. MacFarland, formerly commanding officer of the 14th Greys and later of the 4th C. M. R. in France, has been appointed solicitor for the Department of Militia and Defence. Major MacFarland will no doubt be able to perform the duties in connection with this important appointment admirably and his friends here are delighted that he has been given this well-deserved honor, after his splendid service overseas.

There is strong talk of acclamation in Brant township this year. No fault finding of any account has been heard with regard to the way the rural ship of state has been run and it seems to be the general opinion that the same crew should man the boat for another spell. We believe that all the old Council are willing to retain their old positions on the Board and on the principal of leaving good enough alone. We think Brant might commemorate the great peace year by foregoing their annual melee at the polls. From this angle all seems harmonious in the township and unless some agitator sends the dove of peace screeching up a tree, there'll be no canvassing done in the township this Christmas.

Corporal Thomas Chard, a former member of the 14th Greys, has been awarded the Military Medal, according to official announcement made on Saturday. Corp. Chard, who comes from Elphinstown, enlisted in the Grey unit early in 1916 and was promoted from the ranks until he held the rank of Sergeant. After the battalion broke up in England he was kept there for several months as an instructor, but during the summer of 1917 he reverted and went to France as an infantry unit. Here his efficiency again showed itself as he was not long in France before he was a gain promoted. No particulars of

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once! When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gratefully moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

An advertisement by The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada to improve PARTY-LINE SERVICE

Co-operation: Each subscriber should co-operate to better the service on his line. The practices suggested below have been found to greatly improve party-line service:

1. Before calling, find out whether the line is in use. If it is, hang up your receiver promptly.
2. Emergencies will arise. If a party-line subscriber desires to make an emergency call, the persons using it should give up the line temporarily.
3. Do not allow children or others to listen or interrupt your neighbor's conversation when the line is in use.
4. Make your calls as brief as possible. Short talks will keep the line open and make the service of most value to everyone.
5. Answer promptly when you hear your ring.

LETTERS FROM BOYS OVERSEAS

LETTER FROM LIEUT. F. BOLTON TO HIS MOTHER

France, 13-11-18

Dear Mother—Great events have happened the last few days. On the 11th an Armistice was granted Germany at 11 o'clock. We were on our way into the line, preparatory to going over the top again the following night. Just a couple of days before when going over the top, I had as narrow a shave as I could wish, all of which makes me the more thankful that Peace has come at last. The warning had just gone out, that morning to cease fire at eleven and stop moving forward (you know we were chasing the Hun). There was very little firing and at eleven aeroplanes dropped many white flags as a signal that the firing was to cease and the war was over. It seemed so good that we could hardly believe it, and many of our boys were sceptical. There was not a cheer though every one was greatly excited. But if we were sceptical, the Belgian citizens were not, and were greatly worked up. We moved up forward to take up defensive positions, and going through the villages the civilians lined the road and cheered us. Only the night before the Germans were among them. Talking with the people, who by the way are not Flemish like the people around Ypres, we have learnt first hand what kind of a life these people really led under German rule. They depended chiefly upon the American Relief for rations, but the Germans took a great deal of this from them at times taking all their potatoes, and cutting down their bread ration. Last winter they suffered severely from hunger, and were dreading the coming winter. The Germans would commandeer anything they wished and send them out of their own beds to give them to the soldiers and officers. If they were found to have more than the amount permitted of anything such as potatoes, they would be fined severely. The civilians became very clever at hiding things, and now that the enemy has gone, they dig up all sorts of things from china to cigars. The farmers were permitted to keep cows, but all their butter was commandeered. Butter sells at about $2 a pound here. Their horses were nearly all taken, and copper, in any and every shape, was taken: door knobs, decorations, copper lamps, etc., etc. The people sometimes managed to conceal some of their copper utensils and now dig them up with great glee.

The first soldiers coming into one of these towns have a very joyful reception. The people all flock out and embrace the soldiers, kiss them, press coffee and food on them, and are so insistent in their ministrations that in the days preceding the Armistice, officers had great difficulty in getting their men through a village. It seemed very strange indeed, to be receiving coffee and bread on going over the top. (By the way there are no trenches in this open warfare there is no such thing as going over the top, but it merely means a fresh advance). The night before the Armistice I was in a larger village than ordinary, and being able to choose my own billet, I got a fine one. The last officer there had been a German cavalry officer, I had a beautiful room with a fine bed with white sheets, etc. a good fireplace, a room for my batman and the good lady of the house, gave us a large loaf of bread and in the morning eggs for breakfast. Eggs are around eight pence each. When I wanted to pay her she refused any, saying that she was delighted to give things to friends. These people wherever we go, keep giving food to the soldiers although I guess many of them have not any too good for themselves. Nothing is too good for the boys. Everywhere we go it is "Vive les Canadiens".

Yours with love,
FRANK

LETTER FROM SERGT. PILGRIM TO HIS SISTER, MRS. C. MATHIE-SON, DYERS HAY.

France, 7-11-18.

Dear Sister—Received your letters O. K., and am very sorry to hear that Mother is not so well. Don't let anything happen to her until we get home now, for I don't think it will be long and I hope to be home by April, any way.

Just at present our Battalion is having a rest and we are having a real quiet time. We could hear plenty of shell fire up until midnight last night, but everything is still since then, and we think that the armistice is on—hope so.

I have not quite decided on my future yet, but I intend to hit the Peace River Country, in fact I have already been offered a position with a big corporation Co., going to operate there and I will take them up, but first I will have a month or so with you and Eastern friends. I have made many friends in the army and no enemies.

There is not much to tell about our recent operations. We liberated dozens of towns in our advance and thousands of civilians and it sure was a pleasant sight to see them and witness their joy, after four years of slavery. They would run out to meet us with coffee, and hug and kiss us although machine gun bullets and shells were often flying around thick in fact some of them were killed. One shell killed fourteen, mostly girls of sixteen or thereabouts. The Huns were fighting a rear guard action and often we would run into pretty heavy machine gun fire, but we advanced from ten to fifteen miles a day. We would have nothing to eat from morning until maybe midnight, but we didn't mind that, it was a "bon" war compared to 1915. In our last day, our company got a little too far ahead of our flank and were practically surrounded by Hun M. Ys. Our artillery, not knowing where we were, and knowing our flanks were held up, opened up a barrage in a bush, which we were in. As a matter of fact there were lots of Huns in this bush, but when this barrage started creeping up behind us, and Fritz playing up on us, from in front with M. Ys, and us with no cover, things began to look rather blue. We had to stay there, for we would have run into worse danger by moving. Well, I figured out that we had only about three hours to wait for darkness, and I have learned out here, that all things come to an end sometime, so I didn't worry at all. Our barrage finally stopped just short of where we were and darkness fell and then we did get it. We were so close to Fritz we could hear him giving artillery orders. His M. Ys' opened up full speed, and he threw over some pineapples, which are not fruit, but a very nasty species of bomb. We had a few casualties, but only two killed.

Finally we got word to withdraw as our position was made untenable. We were not sorry, so we worked our way back under heavy fire, hugging the earth at intervals of very intense fire. We were very wet, but we got a good dinner (only about eight hours overdue) and a drink of rum, and things soon looked a little brighter. Later on in the night, we advanced again, and chased Fritz out of a town in front, and that day we were relieved, and are now in good billets and really resting.

This is a splendid country though here, and is not much destroyed. Fritz dropped a few heavy bombs on every town but only blew up a few houses. The people are very friendly towards us. The officers and N. C. O's are in good billets. I am in a real bed with sheets on. The men are in houses, but of course there are not beds for all. I met Elmer during the Cambrai affair and spent one morning with him. Did you know he was recommended for the M. C.? I don't know whether he got it or not. This was in the Amiens scrap I think. I am mighty glad I came back. I wouldn't have missed that last bit of scrapping for anything. Just at present I have a severe cold, the result, I suppose, of sleeping in a house, and getting no rum. We don't get an issue while out of the fighting you know, and there is nothing to drink but coffee, but I feel more fit than I ever did, and I consider that the time I have spent in France has been really beneficial to me, mentally, physically and morally.

Hope to see you soon, I am,
Your loving brother,
HOWARD

LETTER FROM CHAS. THOMPSON

TO HIS FATHER, MR. JOHN THOMPSON

Belgium, Nov. 12 18

Dear Father—No doubt you will be anxious to hear from me. Well, I have come through it all right and am still alive and well. I hope you are all well at home. No doubt you were a happy bunch when you heard this old war was over, but no happier than this bunch out here, I'm telling you.

I went over the top the last day of the war, and we also took Mons. That is something I will never forget the rest of my life. Quite a lot of our poor fellows were killed that morning it was sure tough luck to get knocked over the last day. Our Battalion has the credit of taking the last Hun prisoner that was taken by the Canadian corps. Pretty good don't you think?

We are having a few days rest now which sure needed. We are in one

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Purred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, neuralgia, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleaning and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

In a few days we are going to Germany, as an army of occupation. I will likely have some experiences there. Must close now.

Your son,

TOBERMORY

Mr. Lawrence Belrose, wireless operator, arrived home last week.

The Flu is almost over here now. Mr. and Mrs. Munn wish to thank their kind friends and neighbors for their kind attention and help during their illness.

Mrs. Golden and Miss Minerva are improving after an attack of the Flu. We wish to thank Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Pogrove for their kindness in helping the sick, in their time of need.

Mrs. Hodge arrived home after spending the summer with her son in Samia, who died from the Flu leaving a wife and child.

Another Poem By Col. McCrae

Before the war Col. McCrae was unknown as a poet. Now his memory is revered wherever the English language is read. His poem, "In Flanders Fields" is generally well known, but many of our readers have not read the other, "The Anxious Dead". It is appended:

THE ANXIOUS DEAD
O gun, fall silent till the dead men hear

Above their heads the legions pressing on!
(These fought their fight in time of bitter fear

And died, not knowing how the day had gone.)

O flashing muzzles pause and let them see
The coming dawn that streaks the sky afar!

Then let your mighty chorus wail
To them, and Caesar, that we still make war.

Tell them, O guns, that we have heard their call:
That we have sworn and will not turn aside;

That we press onward till we wind or fall;
That we will keep faith for which they died.

Bid them be patient, and some day anon,
That shall feel earth unwrapped in silence deep—

Shall greet in wonderment the quiet dawn,
And in content may turn them to their sleep.

Keep Them In Bruce

Southampton Beacon

The Bruce Preparedness League are behind a scheme to place our returning soldier boys from Bruce County on farms in New Ontario. There may be many of the returning soldier boys who will be willing to take up farming on their return, and with some government assistance to get them off to a good start, they may stick to farming and make a success of it, but why send them to New Ontario?

We are quite sure a large majority of the Bruce boys would prefer to make their home in the old county on their return, and with reasonable assistance they can all manage to get away to a good start here. There is any amount of grass farms in Bruce County, good land at that, and with modern conveniences at the door, to be had for all our returning Bruce boys who will follow the farming business for a livelihood.

By all means let the boys settle in Bruce County.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair soon falls out, loosens and dies; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

S. J. CAMERON, THE CLOTHIER

W. P. L. NOTES

The W. P. L. work rooms will not be opened on Christmas day and New Year's day; but on the Friday afternoon of each of these weeks instead.

It will take January and February for the Women's Patriotic League to demolish.

The ladies of the W. P. L. have repeatedly sorted and packed their paper away in their waste rooms and put padlock on their door and fastened everything up securely, only to go back and find their rooms broken into and all their previous work undone, the papers all scattered everywhere. Who does this?

OUR LAST APPEAL

Now the war is over and the British Red Cross have sufficient supplies to meet their demands. They have asked the women of Canada to turn their attention to the making of clothing for the Refugees who are returning to their homes devastated by the enemy.

The Warton Women's Patriotic League have a large quantity of flannel and yarn on hand, and are putting on a special campaign for January and February and want to get all this material made up into boys and girls suits and dresses and Womens and Childrens clothes.

We are making a special appeal to all the women of the town to respond to. To come out and help us in our final campaign and bring a four year's successful work to a grand completion.

Save your waste paper, the proceeds of these collections will go to some other good cause.

The W. P. L. would like the loan of a number of sewing machines for the next month.

SORRY SHE SPOKE

She—My father is very good at reading faces.

He—In that case I suppose I'd better not print any kisses there.

COLPOYS' BAY

What might have been a bad accident happened here last Friday when Mr. Geo. Voigt, of Adamsville, was going to the Evans' Mill with a wagon with a load of lumber the wheels slipped on the icy road, and man, horse and wagon and lumber turned turtle in front of Mr. Clifford Winch's. Fortunately no harm was done, only a few breakages, but Mr. Voigt had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt if not killed.

Don't forget to come to the S. S. entertainment Thursday December 19 if for nothing else come to see "The Price of Victory, or Let Us Forget" the allied nations in costume.

The sad news was received last week of the death of Miss Eleanor Neill, aged 18, at Salford, of Spanish Influenza, after a sickness of only five days. Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Neill lived in the Parsonage here some years ago, and much sympathy is extended by their many friends, in the loss of their eldest daughter, a very clever girl.

It was very slippery for several days, more than one sat down sooner than they expected, but no serious damage was done, only the dignity hurt.

Special Christmas music and Xmas sermon next Sabbath at Service 7.30

Married—On Dec. 18th, 1918 at the Rectory, Lions Head, by Rev. Mr. James, Miss Eva Cranford to Mr. Herbert Gilbert, both of Colpoys.

Mr. D. Pruder and Mr. Michael Cunningham are home for the winter after sailing all summer. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farrow spent Thursday and Friday in Owen Sound. Mr. and Mrs. W. Gilbert and daughter spent the week end visiting relatives in Owen Sound.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held last week in Cunningham's Hall. Mrs. Bolton, of Warton was present and gave a help ful talk.

Albie Arnold, of Lions Head, spent several days visiting his sister, Mrs. E. Kalbfleish.

Last Friday afternoon members of the Women's Institute and a few others met at the home of Miss Edith Poste and gave Miss Eva Crawford (the bride to be) a miscellaneous shower. Some very pretty, as well as useful articles were given, and embryo-Tennyson's, Longfellow's and Shakespeare's poems were much in evidence in the poetic effusions, accompanying each gift. Miss Crawford thanked the donors for their kindness.

Mr. J. Harry Thompson (former resident of Colpoys) has purchased the McKenzie farm in North Keppel on which he has been living for nearly three years. Mr. Thompson's old friends here wish him much success in his new venture.

THE WARDENSHIP

There is an erroneous idea that if the Warden one year is chosen from the North, then the next year it must be from the Central or Southern part of the County. What difference does location make? The Warden for 1919 should be Reeve Douglas, Hepworth. It is true that he represents a small municipality, but by length of service at the County Council he is entitled to the honor. There are many, who have come in later, who will undoubtedly get there in time, but in the meantime they might gracefully wait. By virtue of age, experience, Mr. Douglas is entitled to the position and he has the ability to fill the position with credit to the County.

A Good Recipe

Chocolate Potato Cake

¼ cup butter or other fat.
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup dry diced potato
1 egg
¼ cup milk.
½ teaspoonful salt
1 square chocolate
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup white flour
Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, then the well beaten egg and dry arm potatoes. Beat well. Sift the flour, salt and baking powder, then add to the first mixture with sufficient milk to make the cake dough. Bake about 35 minutes in a moderate oven.

The Canada Food Board has issued a very useful and practical book on the use of Potatoes, which may be obtained from them for the sum of five cents. In it are recipes which would suit the most thrifty housekeeper. The Government is still urging the great need of saving wheat for export and the use of potatoes in its stead. One recipe which sounds tempting is Possibly no section in this district is doing as much for its returned soldiers as Clavering. To date two soldiers from that section have returned and both have been given a welcome and presented with about seventy dollars. There are 16 to return to the village yet, and the residents are planning to treat all in the same manner and see that they get their old positions back.

W. SYMON & SONSPractical Useful Gifts

Our large stock is brimful of Goods—Suitable for "XMAS GIFTS"—Goods that will make practical, useful gifts.

Our Stock of Fur Goods is particularly attractive, and what would be more suitable for father, wife, sister or sweetheart than something in Furs. The climate in this northern zone makes Furs almost indispensable to comfort. We claim to carry the largest and most complete stock of manufactured furs in North-Western Ontario.

Ladies' Sets in Alaska Sable, Persian Lamb, Canadian Mink, Isabella Fox, Black Fox, Black Wolf, Grey Fox, Black Siberian Bear, Hudson Seal, Dyed Coon, and a splendid range of White Iceland Fox Sets, suitable for Misses and Children's Wear—also many lines of odd muffs in all the popular Furs. We have 3 only, Ladies' Fur Lined Coats still unsold—1 size 40, lined with Northern Muskrat, large collar of Dyed Sable, Shell Black Beaver cloth, price $67.50; worth $110.00. 1 size 38, lined with Siberian Squirrel, Sable Collar, Shell made of Black French Broad Cloth. Price, $55.00, worth $75.00. 1 size 42, lined with Dyed Coon, Dyed Marmot Collar, Black Cloth Shell. Price $45.00; worth $65.00.

Men's Wear

Men's Fur Caps in Persian Lamb, French Otter, Canadian Otter, Black Astrachan and Nutria at from $2.50 to $20.00 each.

Men's Fur Driving Gauntlets from $5.00 to $15.00 a pair.

A splendid range of Men's Fur Coats in pieced Coon, Australian Bear and Siberian Dog, at from $25.00 to $60.00 each. A few fur lined Coats which will be cleared at last year's prices, a saving of at least 25 per cent.

Ladies' Coats

We still have a good range of Ladies' Cloth and Plush Coats at prices which will appeal to you as being very cheap. From $15.00 to $25.00 for Ladies' Cloth Coats; $40.00 to 75.00 for Ladies' Plush Coats, many wool, with natural Opposum Collar. Regular price $55.00, Special price $40.00, sizes 36-38-40, colors, dark Green and Nigger Brown. sizes 36-38-40, colors, dark Green and nigger Brown.

20 Job Cloth Coats, last season's styles, were sold at from $15.00 to $25.00 to clear at $4.98 each. A very special bargain.

6 dozen Ladies' Blouses in Georgette and French Crepe, beautifully embroidered, some with silk and others with beads, price $5.00 to $7.50 each. Colors—White, Cream, Maise and Pink. Sizes 36-38-40-42, put up in Separate Boxes suitable for mailing. 5 dozen Ladies' White Habitu Silk Blouses, assorted styles. Priced from $3.50 to $5.75. The most serviceable Blouses in the market, sizes 34 to 42.

An endless variety of Ladies' Handkerchiefs at from 5c to 75c each. A very special line with colored embroidered corner, put up in Holly Boxes at 25c each.

Ladies' Kid Gloves, Silk Neck Scarves, Silk Hose, Collars and Neck Wear in new styles, Boudoir Caps, Vanity Bags, Shopping Bags, Toilet Bags, Towel Racks made up in Fancy Ribbon, Lace, etc., all very suitable for Gifts and reasonably priced.

A very attractive lot of Linen Doylies, End Scarves, 5 o'clocks, Serviettes, Fancy embroidered and Drawn work at pre-war prices. Some of these are slightly soiled but the values are O. K.

Gents' Furnishings

Our Gent's Furnishing Dept. is in good shape to cater to your needs at this season. Many lines in Mens' Ties, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Sox and Underwear having been bought before the recent advance in prices. The stock of these goods is large and well assorted.

Boot and Shoe Department

Our Boot and Shoe Department is provided with the necessary to fill the wants of the Xmas shopper. Ladies' Fancy Slippers of many styles. Children's Fancy Slippers in a good variety of styles and prices.

We have a few pairs of the celebrated Dr. Reed Cushion Sole Boots, at the old prices. If you have ever worn these goods we need not tell you how good they are. To those who have not yet availed themselves of the pleasure of wearing a pair of these boots, we may say that they are admittedly the best made in Canada. Try a pair.

Ordered Clothing Department

We are still offering Suits and Overcoats at less than the same goods will cost you for a long time to come. While we regret to be obliged to say it, the facts are that woollen goods, of every description, are likely to be considerably higher for the next few months at least than the prevailing prices at present. This is in a larger measure accounted for owing to the fact that the British Government, who control practically the wool output of the world state that they will not allow a pound of wool to be used for civilian use, until the soldiers have been provided with civilian clothing. This is as it should be, but means that we need not reasonably expect any relief in prices for some considerable time. In the meantime we are offering Tweeds and Worsteds, bought before the war, at prices which mean a saving to you of from $10.00 to $20.00 on every Suit or Overcoat. This may sound to you an extravagant statement. Put us to the test. We have a good range of Suitings, Overcoatings and Pantings to select from, and if you need anything in the clothing line, you are certainly doing yourself an injustice if you fail to see our stock before buying. Remember we guarantee a perfect fit.

75 pairs large size Saxony Blankets, worth $5.50 per pair, while they last, $3.98 per pair.

Chapter 26

"The sound of steps in the hall corridor and the harsh grating of the key to the lock, Harry rose hastily from the iron cot whereon he had been sitting and took a step forward.

"Jessica!" he exclaimed. She came toward him, her breath hurried, her cheek pale. Tom Felder's face was at her shoulder. "Leave a little matter to attend to in the office," he said, nodding to Harry. "I shall wait for you there, Miss Holme."

She thanked him with a grateful look, and as he vanished, Harry took her hand and kissed it. He longed to take her in his arms.

"I heard of it only at noon," she began, her voice uncertain. "I was afraid they would not let me see you, so I went to Mr. Felder. They were saying on the street that he had offered to defend you."

"He had not been here an hour when he came," she said. "I know you have no money," she went on. "I know what you did with the gold you found. And I have begged him to let me pay for any other counsel he will name. I have not told him what I am to you, but I have told him that I am far from poor and that nothing angel from heaven could give you life. He says you have forbidden him to do this—

"forbidden him to allow any help from any one. Hugh, Hugh! Why do you do this? The money should be yours, not mine, for it was your father's! It is yours, for I am your wife!"

He kissed her hand again without answering. "Haven't I a right now to be at your side? Haven't I told them?"

He shook his head. "Not yet, Jessica."

"I must obey you," she said, with a small smile, "yet I would share your shame as proudly as your glory! You are thinking me weak and despicable, perhaps, because I wanted you to go away. But women are not men, and I—

"I love you so, Hugh!" "I think you are all that is brave and good," he protested. "I want you to believe," she went on, "that I knew you had done no murder. I saw the angel from heaven and came to declare it I would not have believed it I only want now to understand."

"What do you not understand?" he asked gently. She half turned toward the door as she said, in a lower key: "After you had gone many things came back to me that seemed strange—something common in your manner. You had seemed wholly surprised when I told you you were accused. Why did you shut the cabin door and speak so low? Was there any one else there when I came?"

He averted his face, but he did not answer. She was treading on near ground.

"My horse came back this afternoon," she continued. "He had been ridden hard in the night, and his flanks were cut cruelly with a whip. You did not use him, but some one did."

She waited a moment. Still he made no reply.

"I want to ask you," she said abruptly, "do you know who killed Dr. Moran?"

His blood chilled at the question. He looked down at her speechless. "You must let me speak," she said. "You must answer that. Then you do know who really did it. Oh, I have thought so much since last night! For some reason you are shielding him. Was it the man who was in the cabin—who rode my horse? If he is guilty, why do you help him off and so make yourself partly guilty? The whole town believes you are guilty—I see it in all their faces. They are sorry, many of them, for they don't hate you as they did, but they think you did it—even Mr. Felder, though I have told him what I suspect and though he is working now to defend you!"

"Jessica," he urged, "you must trust me and have faith in me. I know it is hard, but I can't explain to you as I can't tell you yet—why I do as I am!"

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time fits in five minutes all stomach distress, due to indigestion, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomachic ever in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how useless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

doing, but you must believe that I am right."

"You speak as if you were sorry for me," she said, "and not for yourself. Is it because you know you are not to real danger—that you know the truth must come out, only you can't tell it yourself or tell me either? Is that it?"

"It is not that, Jessica," he said gravely. "yet you must not fear for me for my life. Try to believe me when I say that some time you will understand and know that I did only what I must."

"Will that be soon?" she asked. "I think it may be soon," he answered.

Her face lighted. The puzzle and dread lifted. "Oh, then," she said, "oh, then, I shall not be afraid. I can not share your thoughts nor your secret, and I must rebel at that. You mustn't blame me—I wouldn't be a woman if I did not—but I love you more than all the world, and I shall believe that you know best. Hugh, she added softly, "do you know that you haven't kissed me?"

Before her upturned, pleading eyes and trembling lips the iron of his purpose bent to the man in him, and he took her into his arms.

A frosty glow came over the city of Warton, moon and stars hidden by a cloudy sky, from which a light snow, the first of the season, was falling down. The streets were asleep. Only occasional hurried pedestrians were to be seen in the chilly air. These saw a man, his face muffled from the snowflakes, pass hurriedly toward the fountain square, from whose steps a clock was just striking. The wayfarer skirted the square, keeping in cover of the buildings as though avoiding chance observation, till he stood on the pavement of a Gothic chapel fronting the open square.

On the night of his flight from Smoky Mountain, Hugh had ridden hard till dawn, abandoning the horse to find its way back as best it might. He had slept through the next day. For two days after his arrival he had been about outside the town in a fever of impatience, for though he had really ascertained that the prisoners were unoccupied, the first night he had been frightened away by the too zealous scrutiny of a policeman, and on the next he had been unable to force the door. That morning he had secured a skeleton key, and now the weather was propitious for his purpose.

After a moment's reconnoitering he scaled the frost-fretted iron palladium and gained the shelter of the porch. He tried the key anxiously. To his relief, it fitted. Another minute and he stood in the study, the door locked behind him, his veins beating with excitement.

Crouching down before the safe, he took from his pocket the paper upon which was written the combination.

The match scorched his fingers, and he lit a second and began to turn

"You speak as if you were sorry for me," the knob. The lock bore both figures and letters in concentric rings, and he saw that the seven figures Harry had written formed a word. Hugh dropped the match with a smothered exclamation, for the word was Jessica! So Harry really had loved her in all the days! He swung the massive door wide and took out the canvas bag with the thousand dollars. With this and the ruby ring it must easily be worth as much again—he could put the round world between himself and capture.

He closed the safe and with two bags of coin in his hand groped his way to the door of the chapel. It was less dark there, for the snow was making a white night outside, and the starlight glared as it was glimmer across the aisles. He greatly needed sleep, and tonight in the open that was out of the question. He could gain several hours' rest where he was and still get away before daylight. He drew together the altar cushions and lay down, the canvas bag beside him, but he was cold, and at length he rose and went into the vestry for a rug. He wrapped this about him and, lighting a cigarette, lay down again. He was very tired, and in a few minutes he was sleeping heavily.

The last half consumed cigarette dropped from his relaxing fingers to the cushion, where it made a smoldering nest of fire. A tiny tongue of flame caught the edge of a wall hanging, ran up to the dry oaken rafters and speedily ignited them. In fifteen minutes the interior of the chapel was a mass of flames, and Hugh woke gasping and bewildered.

With a cry of alarm he sprang to his feet, seized the bag of coin and ran to the door of the study. In his haste he stumbled against it, and the dead lock snapped to. He was a prisoner now, for he had left the skeleton key in the inside of the outer door. Clutching his treasure, he ran to the main entrance. It was fast. He tried the smaller window. Iron bars were set across them.

He made haste to wrap the surplice about his mouth against the stifling smoke and fiery vapors. The bag dropped from his hand, and the gold rolled about the floor. He stooped and clutched a handful of the coins and crammed them into his pocket. Was he to die, after all, like this, caught like a rat in a trap?

Uttering a hoarse cry, with the strength of despair, Hugh wrenched a pew from the floor and made of it a ladder. Reaching the cold window, mounting this, he beat frantically with his fist upon the painted glass. The crystal shattered beneath the blows, and clinging to the iron supports, his head hurled to the sky, he set his face to the aperture and drew a quivering breath of the sweet, cold air. In his agony, with that fiery hell opening beneath him, he could see the mad people watching from the safety that was so near.

LIVE HORSE AND YOU'LL GET GRASS

Mr. R. Young, coal dealer, received a letter from the Fuel Controller last week saying "We regret that we cannot supply you with anthracite coal. The allotment to Warton was placed at 500 tons and up to this time of the year you are credited to receive 265 tons, while you have actually got 350." This makes people sit up and think. However, the town has a bush lot, so there is no need of shivering.

The Last Eruption of Mount Royal

The last eruption of Mount Royal occurred many ages ago, but the heart of the mountain has become known during the construction of Mount Royal Tunnel, which was opened on October 21st, on which date the Canadian Northern Railway established through train service between Toronto Union Station, Ottawa Central Station and Montreal Tunnel Terminal, 415 LaSalle Street. St. W. two blocks from the Windsor Hotel, Windsor and Bonaventure Stations. Rail, sleeping and parlor car tickets are obtainable at all Canadian Northern Railway Ticket Offices.

Perhaps there are good reasons why the price of wheat for 1919 should be fixed by the government, and perhaps there are not. A great many consumers and buyers are tired of fixed prices and would be glad to see the old law of supply and demand regulate prices again.

LOCAL NEWS

The fishing season has practically finished for the year. Trout and whitefish have been fairly plentiful, but not such large catches as former years have been made. There was practically no herring fishing.

Owing to a rush of job work we have not been able to correct our subscription list to date. However this will be done shortly and anyone who is anxious to have his label read January 1920, will do well to remit at once.

Just arrived 500 new records, Columbia, Victor and Brunswick, all new and fresh. We invite the purchasing public to drop in and examine our stock, as we carry a large assortment to pick from. McLAREN'S MUSIC STORE.

As a result of representations made by Rev. Matthews, and Messrs. W. M. Newman and C. A. Slee on behalf of the Warton Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association, the town Council on Monday evening granted the association the use of the Town Hall for their winter fair in January.

A fourth teacher in the High School after Christmas is more than a probability. The High School appears to be one institution which is flourishing, and the number in attendance will demand a fourth teacher. As this is the condition, it will be far better for the School and for the Town that a Commercial Teacher be secured. There should be a Commercial Course in the High School because this is what is needed. The students could be taught shorthand, typewriting, book-keeping, etc., which it costs $300 and more to learn elsewhere.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE

The Echo takes this opportunity to thank the many scores of subscribers who have so cheerfully remitted their arrears. We knew it was largely oversight, and the new arrangements under which we now work, will make an oversight impossible. Again we say thank you. There are a few, who have not yet "Come Along" and the issue of December is now here. We will be obliged to receive the amount due as well as a renewal for 1919. It is not prudent to defer this matter any longer.

THE CANADIAN ECHO

While sleighriding on Berford St. Thursday evening, Kenneth, young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Symon, sustained a badly broken limb. Kenneth was walking up the hill and in attempting to get out of the way of an oncoming sleigh, slipped and the sleigh passed over him breaking the limb above the knee.

Under the direction of Mr. August Miller, the leader of the local company, the Boy Scouts held quite an exciting Shooting Match at the Pump House on Wednesday. The prize winners were: W. Ward, B. Greig, M. Bennett, I. McAulay and R. McKinley. Those who donated the prizes were S. J. Cameron, Ewing Bros., Symon and Sons, Bremner's Fair, and Kyle and Hunters.

By March 1st 1919 each school in North Bruce may submit in prize contest from one to four essays on following topics: 1. How Boys and Girls may best serve their Country; 2. School Fairs and Gardens; 3. Canada's part in the War. First prize in district $3.00, second $2.00, third, $1.00. Address MRS. M. BOLTON, President, or MRS. A. LOGAN, Sec. WIARTON.

While the early furs this season were not in as good condition as those of previous years, owing to the mild weather, those being offered for sale now are in excellent shape, report local buyers. Of the furs offered, there are many Mink and Skunk, some Fox and a few Coon. To date there has been as heavy shipments out of town as in former years.

Medical practitioners state the "flu" epidemic is almost a thing of the past in this district. There are a few isolated cases of the disease but of a very mild type. Fortunately the most virulent form of the disease was not prevalent in this district and as a result there have been but very few deaths which could be attributed to it.

The Spanish Influenza has been the cause of 20 deaths at the West Bay Indian Reserve on the Manitoulin Island, but the crisis seems to be well over by now, according to the Gore Bay Recorder, there being no cases reported since Friday last. The following are the victims: Two children of Mrs. Jos. Onaquet, Leasa Corbiere, daughter of Wm. Corbiere, who is now overseas; Mrs. Edwin Lambert Alex Pheasant; Mrs. John Green; Mrs. Alex Shabins; Mrs. Jos. Megwans; Mrs. Eli Deboskey; Mrs. Harry Corbiere; Virginia Deboskey; two children of Harriet Panick; Joseph Corbiere; Susie Shabina, child of Antoine Megwans, Peter Corbiere, Simos Wasigig; Mrs. Louis Bebosing and a child of Mrs. Dave Megwans.

On Saturday afternoon the ladies of the Willing Worker Society of Trinity Church, held a very successful bazaar in the empty rooms next to the Express Office. Very attractive were the decorations of evergreen of course the Baking and Fancy Work Booths were both well patronized and some very toothsome dainties and fancy what-nots were secured at these counters. In the Baking Booth Mrs. B. McFadden and Mrs. J. Brundith presided, while in the Fancy Work apartment were Miss Ashley, Mrs. L. M. Ely, Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. Weller. There was a mystic corner reserved for fortune telling by different devices, Mrs. G. Clason, Miss Ora McCannell and Miss S. Tyson being the revelers of the future. Miss Kempf was kept busy at the Fish Pond, while Miss Thelma Pope supplied hot popcorn to a great many. In the tea room were: Mrs. Pope, Miss Wood, Miss Brundith and Mrs. Kyte. The bazaar, as is usual with all that the energetic ladies of the Trinity Church undertake, was a thorough success and over was realized.

Attention Grand Trunk

Without delay the attention of the Grand Trunk Railway Company should be brought to the entirely inadequate heating of the local depot. Since the installation of the present system there has not been a year in which the travelling public have not suffered as it has not been satisfactory. During the war people have borne with it with little complaint, as it was felt that all expenditures that could be done away with should cease. Now these conditions are over and the public should receive better service.

With the exception of a few days now and then the building is as cold as one that stands vacant and is never used. This inconvenience is necessary and is not conducive to the good health of those travelling. As trains in the Winter months here are usually a few hours late, and as the weather is generally very inclement, it is decidedly an uncomfortable place for those who have to use the waiting-room while awaiting the arrival of a train.

In other towns of this size the Company also accommodates the public by having a telephone installed at the depot. Here are two accommodations for the public that the Board of Trade or Council should do their utmost to secure.
